Speed Was Maintained for More Than a Dozen Miles

WACO, Oct. 20.—Aviator Rodgers, before his departure today, told of a bloodless encounter he had with a curious minded eagle, flying between Dallas and Fort Worth. Rodgers saw a thousand feet below him, the bird racing along with him. After covering a dozen miles at express train speed, the bird suddenly rose, soared upward, and made directly for the machine. When within a few feet of the machine, the bird suddenly dropped down and disappeared. Rodgers was greatly relieved, as he feared a collision. He thinks the eagle was frightened by the whir of the propeller.

WOULD CONTROL THE JUDICIARY

Roosevelt Would Have Judges of the United States Answerable to Peoples' Judgment

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—The judiciary of the United States must be brought within control, and made answerable to the judgment of the people is the opinion of Theodore Roosevelt, who spoke tonight on the "Conservation of Womanhood and Childhood" before the Civic Forum. This control, Roosevelt's judgment should be exercised more cautiously and in a different fashion than the control, which the people hold over the legislator or the executive.

"But control must be there," he said. The control of the judges, Roosevelt said was only half, but was by far the most important of the program which should be carried out for the proper conservation of manhood, womanhood and childhood. He urged the working women to organize and scored what he termed the "crying abuser connected with child labor."

WHALING INDUSTRY IN MEXICAN GULF

Yet Untried It Is Believed It Will Be Profitable One

HGUSTON, Texas, Oct. 20.—Some time ago it was announced that whaling was declared to be a future profitable venture in the Gulf of Mexico and that a Norwegian whaling fleet would attempt the work. However, the story of whales in the Gulf was scattered along the coast as well as in Norway, where whaling is carried on to the north. However, it has just come to light that great profits are being derived from whaling near Buenos Ayres, the work being conducted by a South American syndicate. Capt. Carl Larso, who is at the head of the work, in making a voyage around the Horn found the sea literally filled with whales off the coast of Buenos Ayres. At that port he prevailed upon a wealthy man to form a company, saying he could finance the balance in Norway. However, his story was scouted when he told in Norway and he was forced to return to South America to complete the financing. The new company put out a fleet of whalers and the venture proved more successful than even the stories of Larson predicted. As a result Norwegian capital is awakening and whaling companies are being formed for operation in southern waters. A total of 29 companies have been organized in Norway as a result and the industry will become general through southern waters.

A GAY SEASON IN WASHINGTON

"A Gay Time in Washington" heads the comic items at the Royal. "Tells of how 'George' gets away from his over watchful wife by telling her he is to dine with President Taft. Of course she is greatly delighted at the signal honor. He and his companions proceed to have a gay time in the capital city. But his wife finds out that the resident is not in Washington. Hence the trouble. Many excellent views of Washington are shown. 'The Hobo Cowboy' tells of a hobo who is befriended by a rancher and through the influence of the rancher's daughter becomes a reformed man and is afterwards elected sheriff of the county. During a trying time he comes to the rescue of rancher, and thereby proves his friendship. 'The Hand of the Law' a smuggling story, that shows many beautiful scenes. 'The Legend of Lake Desolation.' A little white child having been raised by Indians, finally returns to civilization, and when she leaves the tribe the sun comes to shine and the leaves on the trees wither and die, leaving a barren waste, deserted, against a black sky.

O'Neill and Sidney Osborn also spoke at Mesa tonight and were warmly received.

U. S. CORPORATION MAY CANCEL LEASE

Hill Says Great Northern Can Stand It If Steel Company Can

ST. PAUL, Oct. 20.—James J. Hill, chairman of the board of the Great Northern, made plain on his return from Washington today, that if United States Steel Corporation wants to cancel the contract for the lease of the Great Northern ore lands, it may do so.

Asked if he thought the corporation could afford to cancel the lease after the great expense it has had in the development of the property, Hill said: "If they can afford to do so, we certainly can." If they want to cancel the lease that is their privilege. The ore is there, and it's the steel that is made of. The corporation does not own enough ore to run its mills 25 years outside of our property."

MOVEMENT ERRATIC GENERALLY UPWARD

As on Previous Days Stock Market Interest Centered in Steel

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Erratic movements again characterized the stock market today, though it exhibited a somewhat firm undertone. Prices seemed to fluctuate in response to no well defined changes of opinion. This said the door open to large speculative interests whose operations have expanded considerably in the last few days. The market closed with a substantial gain, ranging from 1 to 2 points, among the active stocks, but the gain seemed to represent more than a temporary advantage of one faction than a general enhancement of market values. According to the gossip of the street, a large pool is at work in U. S. Steel. Whether there is any ground for such a report, evidences of speculation in various parts of the list are plain. Selling at the outset was unusually heavy. More than 50,000 shares of U. S. Steel were thrown off the market in the first fifteen minutes. The list weakened somewhat, but soon recovered. After a series of unimportant fluctuations the market took on renewed activity, and the close saw prices carried up rapidly. Metal stocks were the most conspicuous transactions in U. S. Steel comprised more than one-half the total business. Copper, after several months' inactivity, became prominent in speculation. Amalgamated rose two points, and Anaconda, Tennessee Copper, Utah Copper and American Smelting gained a point or more.

TEXAS COTTON CONDITION

Important Meeting to be Held at Dallas on Monday

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Oct. 20.—Governor O. B. Colquitt has wired an invitation to the governor of each cotton producing state to attend a conference to be held at Dallas October 23 to determine, if possible, how a further decline in the cotton price may be prevented. "The continued decline in the price of the staple, in the opinion of well informed men, is not justified by the supply," said the governor. "Inasmuch as Texas produces nearly one-third of the American crop, it is important to the cotton growers of this state to determine, if possible, to stop the decline in price."

The commissioner of agriculture of each of the cotton producing states is included in the invitation to the conference.
