

FIRST UNIT TO BE BUILT

Dam Across Gila for San Carlos Project Will Be Built for $150,000

OF SOLID MASONRY

TUCSON, April 10.—A solid masonry diversion dam, costing $150,000 is to be built across the Gila river 11 miles below Florence and a distribution system consisting of laterals and a canal thirty miles in length, including a spillway extension from the river through 1,500 feet of mountain side to empty into the canal. The dam will be built by the farmers of Florence and the Casa Grande districts, and its construction is to be well under way a year from now.

These are plans of the Florence Casa Grande Water Users' association, as decided upon at the meeting of the association held in Florence Monday. The meeting began about noon on Monday, and lasted until eleven o'clock at night. It was attended by Judge John H. Campbell and S. A. Elrod, of Tucson, who returned from Florence today.

The water users determined upon the diversion dam as a necessary part of the San Carlos reclamation project, and as a means of furnishing irrigation water pending the completion of the project. The plans were suggested by Engineer Dunham, who is associated with Engineer I. H. Quinton, of Los Angeles. Mr. Quinton was unable to be present at the meeting, over which President J. P. Brown presided, but inspected the proposed damsite and prepared estimates recently.

As a necessary preliminary to the undertaking of the diversion dam, the water users plan to secure legislation allowing them to bond their farm lands for the required amount, or for a part of it, the remainder to be raised by assessment.

The canal, which is connected by the spillway tunnel to the river just above the dam, is to be forty feet wide and six feet in depth.

The meeting was attended by a large number of land owners, including many from Phoenix, Tempe and Mesa, and was characterized by enthusiasm throughout.

PERYAM WANTS NO MORE MINE

Entombed Miner Who Was Rescued from Cave-in Likes Sunshine for Ever More

TERRIBLE EXPERIENCE

The following article was published in the Globe Silver Belt, telling of the terrible experience and remarkable escape of Henry Peryam, while imprisoned in a mine near Miami:

Cold, half starved and incoherent as a result of thirst, hunger and no sleep, Henry Peryam, a native of Red Ruth, Cornwall, England, was rescued from the Five Points mine of the Manitow Copper company Sunday and brought into Globe Sunday night.

He had been entombed at the bottom of a hundred and thirty-five foot shaft for just fifteen minutes short of one hundred hours, his escape blocked by over twenty feet of rock and timbers. His rescue was the result of hard heroic work on the part of Fred Webber and other fellow miners, who labored day and night to get him out.

Early Wednesday morning Peryam was working at the mouth of a tunnel at the bottom of the Gracker, Jack shaft when he heard the cave-in coming. He rushed back into the tunnel, which is fifteen feet deep and six feet high, and narrowly escaped from the falling debris and rock.

He had three candles, several matches and a candlestick. He would strike the matches, light the candle and look at his watch the first day until his matches gave out, and then he lit the candle and kept the light burning until his candles burned out. The water in the meantime kept rising and he was compelled to seek safety on a ledge, crowding himself against the roof of the tunnel to avoid drowning.

On Friday the rescuers first established communication with the imprisoned man through a small pipe, and he told them of the water. Being water was resorted to prevent the water from rising, and had it not been for this, he certainly would have drowned.

The splendid quality of Peryam's nerve is shown by the fact that after facing almost certain death in several forms for three days, on Saturday he joked with the men through the pipe above him telling them that he was alright, not to worry about him, and said: "If I had a pick and shovel I believe I could get out myself." After this he became incoherent and told them that the pond down there was full of fish and that he had just caught one trout nine feet long. He held on to his candlestick until the last and it was necessary to force it from him he clutched it so tightly.

At times during the latter part of his confinement Peryam would become irrational and imagined that he was on a hunting trip, at other times he told the miners who were trying to rescue him that the falling was fine. Again he asked them to call off the dogs as one of them was trying to bite him.

Even after he was carried out he complained that he had had nothing to eat except gooseberries for four days, another fragment of an overwrought imagination and nervousness.

One of his hallucinations was that Dr. Wightman had brought him into the city and then carried him back and put him in the mine again, and even today he could not eliminate this idea from his mind.

While trying to get him out he thought that the rescuers were trying to drown him and would not release his hold on the rock to which he was clinging. And it was only through sheer strength and force that he was literally pulled out by Fred Webber.

Peryam, when brought into Globe Sunday was carried to Mrs. Slugg's boarding house on Paocoe hill where he was interviewed by a Silver Belt reporter soon after he became rational.

Lying comfortably propped up in bed and surrounded by a score of sympathetic friends he was eating poached eggs and toast with evident relish and was sipping a cup of strong coffee.

He stated that he felt fine and when asked if he would return to the mine to work stated emphatically that he was looking for a job where he could wear a white collar and stay on the surface the rest of his days.

One of his friends, who is a miner at the Five points also, said that he would not go through Peryam's experience for a hundred dollars and Peryam ventured the remark that it would take more than that to tempt him to go near a shaft again.

Dr. L. E. Wightman, who waited day and night at the entrance of the shaft to give medical attention to the entombed man as soon as he should be taken out, stated yesterday that when rescued Peryam was coughing and that he feared for a few minutes that pneumonia had set in. In a short time, after reaching pure air, however the coughing stopped and the doctor does not anticipate any complications or serious results from the trying experience his patient has gone through. One of the first men on the scene to offer his aid in helping dig Peryam out was Dick Quick, who was himself buried in the Old Dominion mine about a year ago for several days. Peryam, at the time helped to dig Quick out. Quick hearing of Peryam's predicament Wednesday was one of the first to volunteer his services to aid in rescue work.

SPEED LIMIT GOES MOTORISTS "PINCHED"

Bisbeeites Wake Up Staid Old Tombstone by Their Smoke

Walter S. Lanford, James Letson and Roy Morioot, prominent citizens of Bisbee, were arrested yesterday morning at Tombstone by Chief Hrozin, of the traffic squad, charged with exceeding the speed limit. It is seven miles per hour. No more. Despite its departed glory, the city ordinance of Tombstone are still as forceful and effective as they were on the day that they were passed, and when the three Bisbeeites mistook the avenues of the city for country lanes, they were rudely corrected by the chief of police.

"You are under arrest," said the chief, as the four-wheeled apparition, slowing down, resolved into an E. M. F. "38." "You are charged with exceeding the speed limit." This was the first intimation that the scorcher had that there were any city limits, or a speed limit.

The P. C.'s of Bisbee were escorted to the office of Justice of the Peace McFarland, where the constable made a complaint against them, charging them with scorching at the rate of 85 miles per hour.

"How fast were you driving?" the court asked Lanford.

"I do not know, judge, as the speedometer only registers as high as 65 miles per hour," he replied.

It is said to have been the first time that the speed limit was ever exceeded in Tombstone, and no complaint blanks could be found. The three offenders were marched across town to the offices of the city attorney, W. G. Gilmore, to get a blank complaint, but none could be found, and the case had to be dropped.

Why Should A Chicken Lay a Soft-Shelled Egg?

Because, Willie, the chicken don't know how to create a hard shelled egg unless it has some food with lime in it.

So chicken-raisers often provide limestone gravel, broken oyster shells or some other form of lime.

Let the chicken wander free and it finds its own food and behaves sensibly.

Shut it up and feed stuff lacking lime and the eggs are soft-shelled.

Let's step from chickens to human beings.

Why is a child "backward" and why does a man or woman have nervous prostration or brain-fag? There may be a variety of reasons but one thing is certain.

If the food is deficient in Phosphate of Potash the gray matter in the nerve centres and brain cannot be rebuilt each day to make good the cells broken down by the activities of yesterday.

Phosphate of Potash is the most important element Nature demands to unite albumin and water to make gray matter.

Grape-Nuts food is heavy in Phosphate of Potash in a digestible form.

A chicken can't always select its own food, but a thoughtful man can select suitable food for his children, wife and himself.
