BOTH SIDES PREPARING FOR TORREON

Begins to Look Like Big Action; Federal Troops Are Moving to Protect the City; Villa Will Lead the Rebels

Diaz Conspiracy Nipped in Mexico City; Leaders Arrested; Number Said to Be Involved; Detective's Work

JJUAAREZ, Jan. 31.—Federal reinforcements were ordered today to Torreon, where the rebels made their next attack. General Garcia Hidalgo and 400 soldiers left Saltillo to join General Velasco, while General Gustavo Maas, with 3000 men was sent out to maintain the railroad between Torreon and Saltillo, which it is feared the rebels might destroy. As a precaution against rebel advance into Durango, General Arguendo has marched westward.

General Villa, who is still here, will assume personal command of the rebel campaign and plans to place the bulk of his army in easy marching distance of Torreon before the assault opens. Assurances from Mexico City that in case of attack the Spaniards of Torreon would be protected, are accepted as applying to Federal treatment of Spaniards. In occupation of Chihuahua City, General Villa ordered all Spaniards to leave the country. If he occupies Torreon it is not likely he will change his policy.

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 31.—Jose Luis Requena, leader of the National democratic party and candidate for vice president with General Felix Diaz in the recent elections was arrested at his home today and put in the military prison here. It is understood his detention is due to suspicion that he is implicated in some seditious movement.

Villar accompanied Diaz from Havana to Vera Cruz when the special mission to Japan was recalled. He is the wealthy owner of the principal theater in Mexico City. General Eugenio Rascon, whose name was mentioned in connection with the recently discovered plot alleged to be directed against the Huertia government, is said to be trying to flee the country. Rascon was a candidate for the vice presidency on the ticket headed by Gamboa in the recent presidential elections.

TRICKED BY DETECTIVE
Rebel Sympathizers Put Cards in the Hands of Blanquet—How Arrests Came About

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 31.—With the arrest today of Jose Luis Requena, chief of the Felix Diaz political organization, and two or three other men who were also prominent in his support in his late race for the presidency, and the discovery of several hundred rifles stored in the capital, the war department believes it has well in hand a new plot, which it is alleged, had as its object an attempt to overthrow the government tomorrow.

The case has been handled entirely by agents of General Blanquet. The Chief of Police many of whose men are alleged to be implicated in the treasonable plan, was inclined to doubt the accuracy of the war department's information.

The arrests came after submission to General Blanquet of evidence discovered by a detective who represented

TELLS LABOR THAT IT IS TIME FOR HARMONY — KERN IS APPLAUDED

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 31.—U. S. Senator John Kern was given an ovation today when he addressed the convention of the United Mine Workers. After the cheering died down and when he concluded, the miners gave him a rising vote of appreciation.

"I came here," began Senator Kern, "to bring you a message of good will from members on both sides of the U. S. senate, from that stalwart fighter, Jim Martine and from Henry Ashurst, William E. Borah, W. S. Kenyon and others. This is a crucial time for organized labor. Economics of labor are putting forth greater efforts than ever before to exert influence upon members of congress in an attempt to crush trade unions. It is a time when there should be harmony among yourselves."

ed himself as Juan Ortega, an active rebel operating in the territory of Tepic. The detective went to Francisco Serrano with a letter said to have been written by another revolutionist, which appears to have convinced Serrano of the bearer's identity as Ortega. The detective won Serrano's confidence and he offered to contribute $500, and 500 guns, promising 1000 men to join the new cause.

TAKE CARE OF SELF OR GET OUT OF THE MINES, IS COMING ERA

"The time is coming about, is sure to come, when men who will not take care of themselves will not be permitted to work in mines. The menace they represent to the safety of other men is constantly coming to be better understood and there is a rapidly growing feeling that they should not have jobs."

That was the substance of one of the crisp paragraphs of the Safety Supervisors McKeehan of the Copper Queen last night addressed more than 700 miners at the Safety First entertainment at the Y. M. C. A. It was greeted with murmured approval from all over the hall and the galleries by the tensely interested men.
It came with other striking sentences in between the numerous slides presented on the curtain, with each of which the Safety Supervisor pointed out the warning carried in each picture. Each one had its lesson. All were taken in the workings of Copper Queen. Some of them were posed; some illustrated actual happenings. Each carried its danger signal. Many of them were instantly understood by the men and greeted with murmurs of recognition and sometimes with a grim chuckling all over the hall, signifying that of course it was a fool trick that was shown and certain of resulting in somebody getting hurt. Humor is not lacking in Mr. McKeehan, of a dry, entertaining sort, and he used it, too, to advantage in bringing out some of his points. The danger of the candle left to burn to the timber, of badly piled timber, of testing ground, of tramping cars closely together, of the unguarded ladder—these and a multitude of other careless little things which may at any time cost life or limb, were brought out by Mr. McKeehan.

FEDERATION COMMITTEE BUSY BODY

Overlooks No Bets in Presenting the Constitutional Amendments, So Far as Radicalism Is Concerned

Measures Confirm Review of Report of Plans Made in Convention, Some of Which Met a Vigorous Denial

Phoenix Bureau of the Review, PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 31.—Starting and radical indeed are the constitutional amendments and bills to be submitted to the people of Arizona next November by the State Federation of Labor. Old age pensions, mothers' pensions, the abolition of the senate, a state banking system and a state printer are only a few of the things that the voters will be asked to consider.

After a session lasting several days the law and legislation committee of the federation has adjourned. The members, all of whom were present, are: George Powell, Bisbee, chairman; W. E. Holmes, Bisbee, secretary; P. J. Hippie, Globe; Kenneth Clayton, Miami; Alfred Madden, Phoenix.

Measures considered and given endorsement at the annual convention of the federation, held in Bisbee, were put into words. Steps were taken to have the bills printed and to send out initiative petitions.
To review readers there will be nothing particularly new in these bills for they carry out the inside formation reports made in the Review at the time of the convention, some of which were then denied by convention leaders, but are now confirmed. Among statements which drew denials was one that there would be a bill prepared compelling 80 per cent employment of American citizens. The convention did not dare face the foreign element represented in its body with this declaration and strenuously denied intent to further such a measure, but it is nevertheless among the bills the committee put through, just as the Review said it would be.

Of the constitutional amendments, the laboring men themselves regard as the most important one that to repeal or amend any initiated act. The legislature can submit an act or an amendment thereto to the people, but it can do no more. Any law or people place on the statute books will remain there till the people take it off. If this constitutional amendment is adopted.

Another proposed amendment is to abolish the state senate. The legislature shall consist of the house as now constituted.
A third constitutional amendment is to give the state power to bond itself in any amount necessary to meet deficits or new obligations created by law.

Of the bills to be initiated the most startling is one providing that where five or more persons are employed at least eighty per cent shall be qualified electors of the United States. Violation of the act, or misrepresentation on the part of an employer, shall constitute a misdemeanor punishable by thirty days in jail or a fine of $100.

The longest bill of all those drawn gives the state board of control power to do just about anything. The board can, if it sees fit, establish a state printer, a state sawmill, erect any kind of a factory, or build dams. It may establish a state banking system conforming with the national banking act. No state work shall be done by contract but by persons who shall be paid by the day.

Another measure provides pensions for aged persons and mothers who are citizens and have lived in Arizona five years or more. Any mother whose husband is dead or in an institution shall be entitled to $15 a month and $5 additional for each child under sixteen years of age. The pension provided for any person over sixty years of age without visible means of support is $15 a month. All almshouses in the state shall be sold and the proceeds devoted to carrying out the provisions of the act.

It was to be expected that an anti-blacklist bill would be drawn. The measure is practically the same as the one defeated in the legislature last spring. A blacklist is just any means of identification. The use of a blacklist, or the requirement from an employe of means of identification, shall constitute a felony punishable by from one to five years in the penitentiary. Any person against whom a blacklist is used can recover $1,000 by civil action.

The Kinney bill was scarcely touched upon during the sessions of the committee. Information had been received that the measure had been initiated in Gila county and it was not considered necessary for the federation to initiate it all over again.

JAP OMISSION RAISES STORM

Californian Makes Severe Criticism on Floor of the House

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Omission of Asiatic exclusion from the Burnett immigration bill precipitated a lively discussion in the house today, debate extending into the night session.
"Loose morals" declared Curry, of California "are universal among Japanese men and not condemned by Japanese women, their daughters being sold without shame into immorality. There are two million professional immoral women in Japan. The idea of marriage between white and Asiatics is revolting. The Japanese farmer is driving the American farmer out of business in California."

WORTH HALF MILLION, IS INSANE GIRL

Life in Los Angeles House Where Found With Dead Sister Lead to Belief That They Were in Poverty

The Third Deep Tragedy in Wealthy Toledo Family; Father Disappeared, and the Mother Died Suddenly

TOLEDO, Jan. 31.—The finding of the body of Mary Warren in an apartment house in Los Angeles with her sister, Nanette, revives one of the mysteries in local police annals. The sisters lived at the Warren home until they went to Los Angeles two years ago.

The mystery is the second in the Warren family. In 1878 Samuel Warren, father of the girls, a retired manufacturer, disappeared, detectives having scoured this and many other cities but he apparently dropped off the face of the earth. Five years later Warren's wife dropped dead of apoplexy. She was formerly Mary Von Gordon of Berne, Switzerland.

The discovery in California leaves only the sister, Nanette, to become the heir of approximately $500,000 in her own right. The property includes the Warren place in Toledo, farms on the Maumee river, best sugar interests in California and plantations in the south.

The disappearance of her father is said to have affected the mind of the younger child, Mary. They were spinsters and lived at the family home for twenty-five years. Nanette was manager of the fortune. Samuel Warren was a pioneer business man of Toledo, born in Tecumseh, Mich., in 1818. An orphan at 18, without relatives, he came here and began working in a livery stable. Later he became a noted breeder of fine horses and organized a buggy and wagon factory.

LIVING SISTER INSANE

Hope of Solving Death Mystery Abandoned Until She Recovers

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 31.—Miss Nanette Warren, 45, was found last night keeping lone vigil beside the body of her sister Mary, refused to talk when questioned by police surgeons, who sent her to the insane ward of the county hospital to await examination before a lunacy commission.

Coroner Hartwell will sign a permit for burial of the dead woman and try later, if the living one regains control of her senses, to obtain explanation of the death. Mary had evidently been dead for three weeks. After her death, the living sister stopped the cracks of the doors and windows of their apartment and sat beside her sister's corpse.

Moyer and Sullivan met last night in Chicago. Moyer was on the way to headquarters in Denver.

INCREASED BUSINESS ON THE STOCK MARKETS AND GREAT GAIN IN MONEY

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—World-wide improvement in the financial situation since the beginning of the New Year was reflected in the increased business on the New York exchange for the first month.
Sales of stocks in January approximated 19,500,000 shares, compared with 8,800,000 shares in January 1913, while bond transactions amounting to $88,800,000 show an increase of $32,700,000 for the same period.
As an indication of the increasing monetary ease at this center, banks of the local clearing house showed an actual cash gain of $76,500,000 for the four full bank weeks of this year.
