The many friends of A. J. Herndon will be pleased to learn of his appointment as postmaster at Prescott.

Mrs. W. L. Linville has gone back to her old home in Pennsylvania where she will spend the summer months.

Postmaster J. N. Cohenour returned a few days ago from Los Angeles, where he has been held as a witness in a U. S. case before the courts the past month.

Tom Pulliam was a Kingman visitor, coming down from Flagstaff the early part of the week in search of a stolen automobile. He traveled over a large area of this county, but failed to land his man.

Rev. Sprague Davis, of Needles, has exchanged pulpits with Rev. Deming for next Sunday and will preach in the M. E. church tomorrow evening at eight o'clock. All are cordially invited.

Tommy Clark played a crack game at Williams last Sunday, when the Prescott team totaled eighteen runs in six innings to only one for Williams. Williams got only three scattered hits off Tommy's delivery.

Ed. L. Shaw, of Phoenix, announces his candidacy for U. S. Senator to succeed Mark A. Smith. Mr. Shaw was at one time a traveling salesman and was a candidate for U. S. Internal Revenue Collector for the district of New Mexico and Arizona, but the job was given to Judge Carpenter. Mr. Shaw is a good fellow and has many friends in the state.

The big building that is to house the garage of Haskin and Talhard is fast assuming proportions. It will be one of the largest and best equipped plants in the state, which shows good business judgment on the part of the projectors of the plant. Kingman will be on the line of the most traveled automobile road across the continent and it will be necessary to have a plant that will be able to do all classes of work.

Judge C. G. Krook and County Engineer Wheelock went down over the new road a few days ago to see how the new work was holding up. The road to Yucca is in good shape, only a small amount of loose rock showing up. With a small amount of dressing this road would be a boulevard. As soon as money is available the road through to Topock will be gone over with drags and the bad spots fixed up permanently.

C. W. Herndon, County Attorney, was called to Phoenix this week to look after matters connected with the sale of Mohave county road bonds. The technical obstacles have all been removed and the money will soon be in the hands of the treasurer of this county. Supervisor Withers has been in Phoenix the past week looking after the sale of these bonds and will probably bring the money back with him.

Mike Burke came in from his camp at Union Pass this week after a new outfit of supplies and clothing. A few days ago a gasoline stove blew up, destroying all his camp outfit and clothing. A friend was at the camp and started to make a fire by pouring gasoline in the stove and when a match was touched to the combustibles an explosion took place, throwing the burning oil over everything and totally destroying the tents and other property.

Thursday night Needles had a fire that threatened considerable proportions for a time, but which was brought under control when five buildings were consumed. The fire started in one of the buildings on Front street, east of C, and destroyed the second hand store, the two story building owned by C. W. Welch, the Amann bakery, the Eye office and another building. We have to sympathize with our neighbor the Eye in the loss of its plant and hope that it will be able to put in another and better office.

J. A. Carrow, who has been in a hospital at Stockton the past few weeks, returned home on Wednesday morning's train. He is reported to be very ill at his home in Kingman. All the children have been called home and are at his bedside. Mr. Carrow has a host of friends in this county that are wishing for his speedy recovery.

Charles Russell, a brother of Frank Russell, of the Sandy, and attorney J. E. Russell, of Prescott, was in Kingman the first of the week, being one of the refugees from Mazatlan, Mexico. He reports conditions in that revolution swept country as very bad, it being just as hard to get into the country as to get out. Americans have no business there until the revolutionary atmosphere clears up, which will be many years to come.

Last Sunday afternoon the Needles office boys crossed bats with the Kingman juvenile team. The Needles boys were too much for the school boys, but during the battle they treated the home team with due consideration. The young fellows have considerable to learn about ball, but they will soon be in shape to make a better showing than that of last Sunday. The Needles team was composed of right royal good fellows and the people of Kingman will always have a hearty welcome for them.

The supreme court of Arizona has just handed down a ruling in the matter of the salaries of county officers, holding that the officers under salary when the territory became a state will continue to draw the same salary, and that the salaries fixed by the boards of supervisors for sheriffs and justices of the peace will remain as fixed. The new salaries will go into effect on the first day of January, 1915. We do not understand that the matter of the constitutionality of the new law was questioned when the case was brought before the Supreme Court.

A. M. Powell, who has been residing in Kingman the past six or eight months, departed a few days ago to his home in Santa Maria, California, and later will leave for Alaska, where he has mining interests. During his stay in Kingman Mr. Powell has written many interesting stories for the magazines. He has also been looking over the mines of this county and is very much impressed with the wonderful mineralization of our hills. He will remain in Alaska until December and then will return to Arizona, where it is possible he will remain.

Mrs. Kean St. Charles and Mrs. S. T. Elliott went up to Flagstaff Wednesday last to attend the commencement exercises at the Northern Arizona Normal school. Three Mohave county girls were graduated, the Misses Gertrude Miller, Gladys St. Charles and Mabel Van Marter. Yesterday the graduates and the Misses Beuna Hilty, Nadine Hubbs, Bessie Mulligan, and Olive Faucher and Leo Mulligan returned to Kingman. Mohave county people feel kindly toward the Northern Normal and will keep a number of students there during the years to come.

D. D. Whitney, who has had charge of the manual training department of the public school, has done excellent work, as can readily be seen by the many articles turned out by the boys. The work done indicates the necessity of a manual training department in the public school and the fitting up of a building away from the school room expressly for that purpose, and the introduction of tools and machines. Every child that passes through a public school course should be familiar with tools, and it is only having a teacher that is wholly interested in the boys can such results be obtained. Mr. Whitney has met with great success in interesting the boys in the work and his scope of usefulness should be further extended by giving him the necessary machinery and tools.

Whooping Cough! Oh! Oh! Give Foley's Honey and Tar Compound! It Helps.

A child that is feverish and restless, with an inflamed throat and spasmodic cough, needs special care and attention for whooping cough starts that way. Give Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for the distressing wearing cough—it helps wonderfully. Mrs. Shipps, Raymondville, Mo., says:—"I got fine results from Foley's Honey and Tar and it is a great medicine for whooping cough." H. H. Watkins, Druggist.

National Old Trails Road Convention.

Last week the National Old Trails Road Association and the National Highway Association met in convention at Indianapolis and had a most entertaining and instructive gathering. Rev. Father Vabre, of Flagstaff, represented Arizona, and L. V. Root was the representative for California. Judge C. G. Krook was elected vice president of the organization for this state and L. V. Root will act in the same capacity for the state of California, both excellent appointments. The next session of the associations is to be held at Grand Canyon. Father Vabre reports unbounded enthusiasm over the selection of the Grand Canyon as the next meeting place, and one hundred machines have guaranteed to make the trip from the east.

The National Old Trails Road will have the same officers this year that it has had since its organization, Judge J. M. Lowe being president, and Frank M. Davis secretary. These two men have done a world of good in enlisting the people in good road work and the way they have steadfastly upheld the autonomy of the northern route will ever be held in memory of our people. When they have made the trip over this route they will readily see that no mistake was made.

An action has been filed in the federal court at Phoenix charging C. W. McKee, Eugene Brady O'Neill and the Palomas Valley Canal company with conspiracy and fraud. The charge is brought by Mr. and Mrs. Lutz, of San Diego, the plaintiffs having put in about 2,000$ in the deal and friends of theirs as much more, and a note of 10,000$ figures in the deal. The lands covered by the corporation are on the Gila river, in Yuma county. Growing out of this proceeding an effort was made to implicate W. E. Ginder and E. E. Kirk, attorneys of San Diego, in the conspiracy. The Superior Court of San Diego county, or at least the Judge thereof, exonerated the two attorneys. On the other hand the defendants in the original action, McKee and Kirk, have brought action against Mr. and Mrs. Lutz for 50,000$ each for libel. Ginder was attorney for Mrs. Lutz and she alleges that he acted contrary to her wishes and in furtherance of the conspiracy. Ginder has filed an attachment suit against Mr. and Mrs. Lutz for 3,000 $ in payment of his services. Ginder practiced law in Kingman prior to going to San Diego.

Every day this week from three to five machines have gone through Kingman, some coming in from California on the way to the Grand Canyon, and the others making their way to the coast. Several machines have come in from Northern California, the trip west having been made over the Lincoln Highway. The motorists report that the Lincoln route is without interest, only hundreds of miles of sandy desert to be traversed. When this route of ours is properly advertised among the motorists the other routes will get little travel, unless it is to reach such scenic points as the Yellowstone Park. From the Santa Fe Grand Canyon Needles route the motorist can reach every scenic attraction in Arizona and then go by way of Mojave to Merced and on to the Yosemite and the big trees.

Rev. Father Vabre, who represented the National Old Trails convention at Indianapolis, is in Kingman. Father Vabre is one of the most enthusiastic good roads boosters in the state and his boosting is bringing the north the best results.

E. O. Daue, of El Paso, has been looking over the mines of this county for his company. He represented a big concern in Mexico but had to get out when the war began.

A. F. Harris, who had business in Los Angeles for the sheriff's office, came home Thursday last.

Dr. Tolar R. White has purchased the residence of Frank Guinn and will take possession in a few days.

Tomorrow Kingman will have a chance to see a good game of ball when Barstow brings on its team and fans to battle with the Kingman club. Kingman has an excellent line up, although the boys have not played their positions yet. But nevertheless the game will be well worth seeing and we expect a record crowd.
