Mrs. Edward Wallace is visiting with her mother, Mrs. Thomas McGraw, in Kingman.

Mrs. Edna Smith, who has been visiting with friends in Hackberry, is home again.

Miss Viola Hoffman left last Saturday for San Francisco, where she will take in the big fair.

Miss Fannie Lovin, who has been attending school at Hollywood, California, arrived home Thursday evening last.

F. A. Wilde, Sr., who has been on the coast the past month, returned to Kingman a few days ago.

William O'Dea, who has been out to his mines the past week, returned to Kingman Thursday last.

Melvin Carrow came over from Prescott a few days ago, bringing with him a Hup car for Dr. Bucher.

George Sullivan and little son departed to Sturgills, North Carolina, a few days ago, where he will place the child in the care of relatives.

Mart Little, one of the best known mine owners of the Wright Creek section, is in Kingman, coming down here to transact business.

Miss Bessie Thompson, who has been attending school at Sacred Heart convent, Pomona, California, returned home Saturday night.

John H. Ware, of Lovin & Withers Company, accompanied by his family, departed to the east Wednesday evening. They will be gone a month or two.

Frank Mur, manager of the local Harvey House, was called to Joliet, Illinois, last Sunday evening by the serious illness of his father.

Mrs. Jesse Tarr, accompanied by her sister, Miss Mabel Van Marter, departed last Tuesday for San Diego and San Francisco, where they will look in at the two big fairs.

Dan Angius, manager of the Arizona Stores Company at Oatman, was a Kingman visitor Wednesday. Mr. Angius has just been appointed postmaster for that bustling camp and is sure to make a most popular official.

Tom Bales, who has been one of the mainstays of the Kingman baseball team, departed to his old home in Berkeley a few days ago. Mr. Bales made many warm friends during his stay in Kingman.

J. N. Cohenour and family departed by auto, last Thursday evening, to Fresno, where the family will remain a month or so, Mr. Cohenour going on to San Francisco, where he has been called in a case before the federal court.

This week the MINER publishes the proposed raises of property valuations of the board of equalization in this county, which would indicate that the Assessor had done his work so well that only in rare instances is there any need of review by the board.

Mrs. Ralph Bulkely was a visitor from her ranch on the Big Sandy last Wednesday. She has taken over the Bee ranch and will hereafter furnish honey for the market. The honey produced on the Big Sandy ranch is the best in the country and commands a wide market.

Judge Carl G. Krook, who was called to his old home in Minnesota three months ago, by the serious illness of his mother, returned to Kingman Wednesday last. He reports his mother very much improved in health, and although in her 84th year, is in appearance not over 60 years. Judge Krook intends to now settle down and become a permanent citizen of this county.

Fire At Chloride.

Last Wednesday evening the Metropolitan hotel, at Chloride, caught fire from some unknown cause and was entirely destroyed. When the fire broke out Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Quigley and children were in the back yard. So rapid was the spread of the flames that not a single thing was saved from the building. Mr. Quigley tried to get into the family living room, but the fire drove him back, burning him severely on the arms and face.

The fire communicated with the building to the west, owned by J. P. Parisia and it was also consumed.

Neither buildings or contents was insured. Mr. Quigley lost 100$ in cash which he had in his room in the hotel, besides all the personal effects of the family. The loss will amount to about 5,000$. The loss to Mr. Parisia will be about 2,500$.

The county officers, who are going north to look into road and bridge conditions in the upper part of the county, passed through Las Vegas early this week. The men will take in a large section of the county to see just what is needed in the way of county improvements and to provide for bettering road conditions there. Northern Mohave county will soon be one of the important sections of the state and our county officers propose that if good roads will help they are entitled to that assistance.

Assistant County Engineer Lane is still at work improving Fourth street, and within a short time it will be in ideal condition. It is now up to the property owners along Front and Beale streets to grade that part of the city thoroughfare and oil it, that the annoyance of dust may be minimized. The sooner the work is undertaken the better it will be for the welfare of the town. A meeting of property owners should be called and a basis of grading the streets arrived at.

M. G. Ellis, J. Smith and W. F. Clark were brought up from Needles under the guard of J. L. Downes, Joe Carroll and F. Braf and duly initiated into the mysteries of Elkdod last evening. The three candidates were handcuffed together so that they could not wander away and lose themselves in the mountain fastnesses surrounding Kingman. With Downs in the party candidates are sure to get all that is coming to them.

R. P. Wheelock, who Wednesday last returned from a trip over the mining district at Oatman and adjacent thereto, reports visiting the News office and finding editor Musgrove and a big force of assistants at work getting out a big edition of that popular paper. The News office appeared to be one of the busiest places in the camp and the work that is being done by the paper and its able editor is everywhere appreciated.

The work of laying the concrete walk from the railroad depot to the new courthouse is under way, H. H. Watkins having a big force of men laying the walks in front and at the side of his residence. The work is to be carried on as fast as possible and by the time the courthouse is ready for occupancy the walks will be in.

It will be well for corporations having permits from the State Corporation Commission to take note of the fact that all permits expire on the 30th of June and that thereafter charters may be revoked should stock sales be made without a further permit.

L. L. Stevens, who is managing the Williams tungsten mines, departed yesterday evening to Los Angeles, where he will confer with associates on plans for the operation of the property and also to purchase additional machinery for the mines.

Fourth of July Barbecue.

A big time is to be had at Wallapai mountain on the Fourth of July, where a barbecue is to be given, to which every one who can find conveyance to get there is invited. George W. Davis is to barbecue the beef and he is to have a host of helpers in the furnishing all the other good things for the spread. Far up among the pines of old Wallapai the people of the valley will find themselves in one of the most ideal spots in the state. No one should overlook the opportunity of getting a breath of the pine-laden air and partaking of the enjoyable barbecue that only George Davis can furnish.

This week witnessed more automobilists passing through Kingman than at any time during the past year. More than one hundred cars passed here on the way to the coast. Some of these cars were marked "Lincoln Highway" and many came in from the Borderland or Sand Dune route. They report this the only real route across the continent. An Alliance, Ohio, tourist stated that the finest piece of good road he had traveled since leaving the roads of Ohio was that between Hackberry and Kingman. Through Indiana, Missouri and Kansas the roads were almost impassable, deep mud being found everywhere, owing to the heavy rains of the past two months.

Over in Los Angeles they have a man named Mulholland, he who built the aqueduct, and who is considered by the Los Angelans a far greater man than Col. Goethals, the man who built the Panama canal. Now, a week ago Mulholland gave out an interview explaining scientifically why southern California could not be injured by earthquake, because of the peculiar underlying formation of that country. And the next day a great earthquake came and destroyed a million and a-half dollars worth of property in Imperial valley.

It is reported that Frank Keith, George W. Long, and J. L. McIvor have perfected arrangements for the financing of the Telluride mines, at Catman. The mines have the best showing of any of the south end properties and with better financing these mines ought soon to be among the producers of the camp. During the past two years Pete McDonald has been superintending the work on the mines and has done wonderful things with the limited capital furnished him. Now with the mines financed he will be able to get results.

L. W. Barker, who is operating an auto stage between Kingman and Oatman, returned this week from Oak Creek, in the San Francisco mountains, where he and a party of friends had an enjoyable fishing trip.

Bids for Needles Bridge.

The War Department has given out the bids for the building of the bridge at Topock, which were opened last Saturday at Washington. The lowest bid was 74,450$ for the complete structure and a segregated bid ran over 75,000$. The proposals made it possible for bids to be received on the bridge and abutments separately.

It is understood that it will cost San Bernardino county 10,000$ to cut out a tunnel through one of the volcanic bluffs to get to the bridge approach on the west side of the Colorado and that a fill of some proportions will have to be made on the Arizona side.

It is expected that the contract will be awarded to the lowest bidder before the first of July, as at that time the government appropriation will revert back to the treasury.

Miss Elsa Sweeney, who has been attending school in Los Angeles, is home again.

J. P. Ryan, one of the well known mine owners of Cerbat, was in Kingman several days this week attending to business affairs.

W. K. Ridenour, one of the big mining investors of the Oatman section, has gone to Los Angeles for a short visit with his family.

J. N. Goodwin is in from his ranch at Round Valley. He brought with him samples of hay that was raised by dry farming method, which is the best hay ever seen in Kingman. The crop cut out three tons to the acre of wheat and rye. It is the belief of the editor that a crop of grain can be grown on the lands in that section every year without irrigation other than the rainfall.

The big garage building being constructed for M. G. Wagner by J. W. Thompson is fast approaching completion. It will be one of the largest garages in the town, being 60X125. Cement floors are now being laid and these will be in by the middle of next week, when the partitions for office and rest rooms will be put in and the place turned over for use. The building is of reinforced concrete.

Advertised Letters.

The following letters remain uncalled for in the Postoffice at Kingman, Ariz., for the week ending June 26, 1915. If not called for within two weeks will be sent to the Dead Letter office, Washington, D. C.

Catherine Castella, Aqelita de Tacio, Mrs. Tarabu, A. Saunders, Rev. J. M. Ochtree, Geo. M. Bowman.

Parties calling for letters please say advertised.

E. F. THOMPSON,
Postmaster.
