

TYPE STICKERS ARE TROUNCED BY OPPONENTS

[From Tuesday's Daily Miner] By Ring W. Van Loan

And there was weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth among the heathen tribe of Printerites, which dwelt in the Land of Kingman. For, verily, their prophets had been handed a bum steer and their people were sore of heart and did grieve. At the beginning their prophets had said unto them: "Behold, this Arizona Stores bunch are easy pickings." And the people had listened with great joy and had believed what was said of the prophets to be the real dope.

And on the morning of the seventh day while the Printerite tribe were pounding their ears and dreaming of great conquest did the crafty Arizona Stores tribe meet by stealth and practice among themselves the mystic art of the national pastime. And when the presiding elders of the Printerite flock did go among their people and seek to awaken them to lead them into battle, did they meet with loud protestations at being awakened in the middle of the night, it being then the ninth hour of the morning. They made protest unto the elders, saying: "Hath it not been said that we should remember the Sabbath day and keep it holy? How, then, do you come amongst us with much brawling and disturb our slumber?" But the elders replied unto them: "Holy, our eyes. If we do not wallop that outfit it will be a holy shame. Get up and get busy. We have warbled."

And the elders departed and went hence, with some anxiety and much wrath. At the tenth hour, the time of battle being near at hand, the elders made ready and cranked their respective fivvers and did again make the rounds to pick up the fighting men of their tribe who still snoozed.

And the warriors being ready, the tribe departed and went to the battle with joyous mien. And at the tenth hour they arrived at the battle ground girt for the fray. But, lo, the battle ground was as devoid of enemies as a snake is of hair, and they consulted among themselves and were exceeding elders made ready and cranked their elders, saying: "Where this enemy which thou wishest us to fight? Behold, we have crawled out of our warm bunks to do battle and now it seemeth that we have been bunked. Go to and bring forth the victims to the slaughter." And some among them did speak in loud tones and said: "Verily is the battle ours by default, for the enemy hath developed cold pedal extremities and hath taken to the tall and uncut."

But it came to pass that these people which claimed the battle by default had not knocked wood and the enemy crept upon them unaware and did make battle upon them. And a wise man arose amongst the rabble and discoursed in a learned manner. "Behold, shall a judge be appointed from amongst us; a judge who hath honesty writ upon his map, that we may know what is what. And he shall be called an umpire and his sayings shall be a law unto us. For whoever shall dispute him, saying 'Thou bonehead,' shall be swatted on the left jaw with a ball bat."

And the people of both tribes agreed and did appoint from their number one who was wise and just to sit on their disputes and likewise upon them, should any among them get gay.

That it might be fulfilled as written, "And an umpire shall not enter into the congregation of the Lord, even unto his twenty-ninth generation."

And it came to pass that the tribes did battle, one against the other, until the twelfth hour. And the Arizona Stores tribe did play a half-score and three of the Minerites, and the Minerites did scalp but five of their enemies. And the battle was declared ended by the wise umpire, who wist that the men of battle were hungered and athirst. And the time of the battle was declared five innings.

And the rules of battle, which were descended from the Marquis of Queensbury, were not departed from but one time. It came to pass that one warrior of the Arizona Stores tribe did dispute with much talk a decision of the umpire. This warrior was rebuked by the umpire, who said unto him: "Very, I say unto thee, I shall wallop thee on the coco if thou dost not make thyself scarce." And forthwith he became scarce.

And the news of the battle, as witnessed by the official prophet, was as follows:

MINERS' NINE GIVES KINGMAN TEAM TUSSLE

[From Tuesday's Daily Miner] (By HAM SMITH)

In the best baseball contest thus far this season, the Kingman club won over the Chloride team by a score of 6 to 5 Sunday on the local diamond. The Kingman boys played a fine up-hill game all the way and deserved to win.

The visiting players started out as if they were going to wipe the locals off the map. Venable, first man up, struck out, but Robinson dropped the last ball and he reached first. White singled, Venable going to third on the play. King hit one to Archibald, which the second-sacker let get away from him and Venable crossed the pan. White followed him shortly on a passed ball by Robinson. Roy Brashear, ex-big leaguer, struck out and Jacobson singled. In some kind of a general mixup "Dad" King crossed the plate, Jacobson worming his way around to third. Sais hit one to first and was out, but Hansen's throw was too late to get the fleet-footed Jacobson at the plate. Slate ended the agony by flying out to short.

In Kingman's half, Archibald got to first on an error. The coacher there used bad judgment and sent him to second. When he got there the ball was waiting for him. "Abie" Bale went out, Sais to Venable. Robinson started a small riot by hitting his first three-bagger of the day but Hansen ended it all by striking out. Chloride scored its only other run in the third inning. King, first up, singled and Brashear, with three and one on him, soaked the pill to deep left for a two-bagger. Jacobson brought King home with a single. The next three men went out in order.

Kingman's wonderful machine started moving in the fourth. Hansen went out, Brashear to Venable. Brown struck out. Webster, the new short-stop, here, showed why he was classed as a dangerous ball player by singling. Price brought Brown across the platter by sending out a triple. Grantham kept up the good work, coming across with a single, Price scoring. Clarke flew out to White, ending the inning, but not the scoring. In the fifth the Kingman boys came back again and made three more runs. Archibald struck out. Bale got some part of himself in front of the ball and ambled to first. Robinson came across with his second triple and "Abie" scored. Hansen doubled and Robinson registered at the home station. Brown went out, Venable to Knorr, but "Speck" moved on to third. Webster came across with his second hit of the day and Hansen came home. Price sent Web along to the next station with a single but Grantham spoiled the whole thing by popping out to the pitcher on the first ball thrown to him.

It seemed as the game grew older that Tommy Clark, the local slabster, improved and the visitors' pitcher grew worse. Clark only allowed the Miners four hits and they were obtained in the first three innings, while the Kingman bunch got 11 bingles, 9 of them after the third inning, showing who was playing the steadiest game.

In the seventh the locals made their last and deciding run. Robinson, the hitting star of the day, slammed out his third hit, another triple. Hansen struck out, but Brown came across with what was needed, a long sacrifice to right field, Robinson easily scoring after the catch.

In the last inning the visitors threatened to score but the play was nipped in the bud by one of the prettiest double plays possible. Perry hit one to Webster, who threw the ball by Hansen and the runner went on to second. Knorr sacrificed him on to third and Venable, one of the visitors' best hitters, came to the plate. He slammed a liner just over the short-stop's head, but Webster, leaping high in the air, pulled down the drive and caught Perry flat-footed off of third, ending the game.

The local club had the best aggregation on the field Sunday that has been seen on the Kingman diamond in years, one that will wallop any team in the county, barring none. With the two new additions to the infield, namely Webster and Brown, that department is brought up from the worst to possibly the best.

The Needles nine plays the champions on the former's ground next Sunday. The California bunch have not been playing up to standard this year but possibly they will have a better team at home than they have had on the road. It will be worth any one's time to make the trip to find out, anyway.

LUMBER COMPANY BASEBALL SQUAD ISSUES CHALLENGE

[From Tuesday's Daily Miner.] The Mohave Lumber company baseball team has asked that the Miner print the following challenge: Sporting Editor, Miner.

Dear Sir:—The Mohave Lumber company has just completed the organization of the fastest baseball team that has ever represented the above company in Mohave county and hereby challenges the Arizona Stores bunch to a game to be played on the local diamond next Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. Admission to game to be free and the entire proceeds (hospital bills for the unfortunate players) to be given to charity.

The Mohave Lumber company team is composed of "stars" of other days. Mr. Scott, manager of the company and a tower of strength, played for 18 seasons in the Epworth league and for several years lead the league in all departments. Mr. Clark, upon whom we depend for most of our pitching, is better than ever, so we have a battery in a class by itself—absolutely. The other members of the team, although not so widely known, have great reputations—to get. Their names are not mentioned for obvious reasons. We have never yet been defeated. We want your reply.

(Signed) MOHAVE LUMBER CO. BASEBALL CLUB.

The Daily Miner team, having reorganized and imported nine new players, challenges the winner of the contest, to be played any old time.

SOCIETY NEWS

(From Sunday's Daily Miner.)

One of the prettiest marriages of the season was solemnized at the home of A. E. Ware last Tuesday evening, when Virgie Lee Moore became the bride of Everett Warren Mattoon. Rev. Thomas H. Dodd officiated. A bower was arranged in one corner of the room, made of greenery and from which hung numerous white marriage bells. Mrs. R. L. Anderson played the wedding march. Miss Leona Hoffman was bride's maid and John A. Ware was best man. Many friends of the couple were present to witness the ceremony. The bride is a beautiful and accomplished young woman of Los Angeles and for several years filled engagements there in concert work as a singer. The bridegroom is a resident of Kingman, having become an assistant to the county attorney the first of the year, which position he has ably filled. Their many friends in this section wish them a world of good luck.

Mrs. J. A. Hoskins entertained at ten on Friday preceding and Monday following Easter Sunday. Guests present on Friday were: Mesdames John Ware, Leonard Hoffman, S. T. Elliott, A. M. Cook, W. A. Studley, I. M. George and Ellen Burns. Mrs. Burns assisted the hostess in serving. The favors were dainty candy baskets and the place cards little booklets with appropriate verses for each guest. Easter colbrs predominated in the decorations, many lilies and carnations adorning the rooms. The service was given in two courses. On the following Monday the guests present were: Mesdames Milton Sommers, G. R. Franklin, W. L. Linville, John Barry, James Parker and Ellen Walker and Miss Minnie Sawyer.

Misses Phyllis Smith and Emma Martinez gave a shower to Miss Vera De Lashmutt at the home of the former last evening. Refreshments were served and a general good time was had. The affair was occasioned by the recent announcement of the approaching marriage of Miss De Lashmutt to Mr. I. C. Stricker, which will take place next Wednesday. The young couple contemplate a honeymoon trip to the Pacific coast.

U. E. MINE IS MAKING GOOD ON BIG SCALE

(By C. F. SPILMAN)

OATMAN, ARIZ. April 14.—Official figures of the production of the United Eastern mine for the month of March give the realization as $156,962.59, a daily average of $5,232. During March the mill treated 6585 tons of ore, an average of 219 tons a day, of an average grade of $23.839 per ton, making an extraction of 96.15 per cent.

Big Jim Deal

This remarkable production from a mine in which the first strike was made but two years ago, and in the third month of the operation of a new mill, is very gratifying to stockholders, and especially to those who will secure stock in the company in payment for the Big Jim mine, recently sold to the United Eastern. Big Jim stockholders will receive one share of United Eastern stock for each six shares of Big Jim. At the present market price of United Eastern the market value of Big Jim stock is 80c per share, not taking into account the enhancement of value of United Eastern stock by acquisition of the Big Jim mine.

At the present rate of production United Eastern should earn $1.00 per share yearly. It is reported that a monthly dividend will be paid commencing in July.

To Develop Bluebird

In addition to the United Eastern stock, which will be distributed to stockholders as soon as the sale is ratified at the meeting of stockholders at Phoenix, April 24, stock of the Big Jim Consolidated, a new company, will be exchanged for Big Jim mining stock share for share. As soon as the Big Jim mine is turned over to the United Eastern, Superintendent A. G. Keating will devote his attention to the development of the Bluebird property, which will be transferred to the Big Jim Consolidated. This company will commence business with $20,000 in its treasury and a complete equipment of mine machinery.

The Bluebird endlines the United Eastern on the west and is considered one of the best of the inside properties along the big lode. It has a 2-compartment shaft down 240 feet which will be sunk to 600 feet as rapidly as three shifts of experienced shaft men can do the work.

Tom Reed Operations

Rapid progress is being made in the construction of the new Tom Reed mill and President N. P. Moerdyke, who spent the week at the mine, states that it should be completed and in operation in five or six weeks. Mr. Moerdyke says the old workings of the mine contain 10,000 tons of broken ore and 30,000 tons of developed ore, sufficient to keep the new 300-ton plant in operation four and one-half months. The 400-foot level of the Aztec is being put in readiness for stoping but no ore will be drawn from the Aztec other than the small tonnage extracted in development work until a tramway is constructed. The survey for the tram has been made and it will be 4,000 feet in length. A representative of the manufacturers will be here soon when the order will be placed. Prompt delivery is promised and in the mean time the company will build the twelve wooden towers from which the cable will be suspended.

Aztec is Rich

The Aztec workings have developed quite a bit of high grade ore and some beautiful specimens have been extracted. President Moerdyke says that in places free gold is frozen to the walls of the vein. In cutting out an ore pocket above the second level unusually rich ore was encountered, one sample assaying over $800 per ton. On the 400-foot level the ore shoot has been followed west to a connection with the Big Jim, which was made in ore of excellent grade. On the second level, 526 feet from the collar of the shaft, a drift has been extended 30 feet east and 25 feet west near the center of the vein in $15 ore.

The mine is making a great deal of water, 400 gallons per minute. A sump will be cut in the vein on the second level to hold the water from the shaft and sinking then will be resumed. A new hoist is to be installed on the surface and the old hoist set up on the second level, to facilitate sinking.

Nellie is Crosscutting

On the 500-foot level of the Nellie mine in the Black Range section the crosscut on the 500-foot level is out

PATRIOTISM KEYNOTE OF BIG MEETING

(From Tuesday's Daily Miner.)

A large and enthusiastic audience filled the Odd Fellows' hall Sunday night and many stood without the doors when the loyalty meeting was called to order by Rev. Thomas H. Dodd, the chairman. The hall was tastefully decorated with flags and bunting and patriotism was at high pitch.

An invocation was delivered by Rev. Dodd, followed by the reading of the governor's proclamation. Short and patriotic speeches were delivered by Judge J. A. Ellis, J. H. Rosenberg, Prof. W. L. Linville, W. F. Bowman and Judge Armour. A recitation by Miss Long was one of the features. Music was rendered by the Kingman octette, a local organization, whose many songs were greatly appreciated. All speakers urged support of the president and the government, and endorsed the plan of organizing a home guard.

DOUGLAS SPANIARD NARROWLY ESCAPES HORRIBLE DEATH

DOUGLAS, Ariz., April 17.—Anisetto Gastanaga, a Spaniard, told the police here tonight, after a fire had been extinguished in his grocery store with the loss of a few hundred dollars, that he had been robbed, bound, gagged, blindfolded and left lying near a case of gasoline by three Mexicans who piled papers around him and set the heap on fire.

Gastanaga said he was alone in the case of gasoline by three Mexicans entered, drew revolvers and ordered him to hold up his hands. The third man, carrying a big dagger in his hand, then entered and proceeded to tie his hands and feet while the others robbed the cash drawer and his trunk in a room behind the store. His eyes were then bandaged and he was thrown to the floor between a case of gasoline and a barrel of kerosene, after which they procured matches from behind the counter, set the paper on fire and ran out of the building. He managed to escape from his bonds. Gastanagas said he knew of no enemies who would make such an attempt on him.

New Boy in Town

There arrived at the home of Floyd Chamberlain in Kingman last Wednesday a baby boy weighing seven pounds. Mother and child are doing nicely.

half way to the vein and rapid progress is being made.

Conditions were very promising where the shaft cut the vein, developing 26 feet of $9 ore. The shaft passed out of the vein just above the 400 level. A better grade of ore is expected on the 500 level, where leaching, it is thought, will be less pronounced.

Banner Gold Meeting

Stockholders of the Banner Gold Mining Company which owns the Banner mine in the Union Pass section met on the 10th inst. in Kingman to elect officers. The shaft is down 300 feet from where a crosscut will be sent out and connection made with another vein. The shaft was sunk on one of a mill grade and better values should be found on the hanging-wall side of the vein, which yielded rich shipping ore near the surface. B. L. Vaughn is president and manager of the company.

At Goldroad

The big compressor at the Gold Road mine has been started up to supply air for the company's workings through the No. 3 or Billy Bryan shaft, and the Gold Ore mine. The Gold Ore is working three shifts sinking the winze from the 530-foot level. This winze averaged $40 a ton across five feet for 33 feet, where sinking stopped. Miners employed by the company state that free gold is visible all the way down the winze.

The Gold Road mine is developing a fine deposit of mill ore in the north branch of the lode 3,000 feet east of the main shaft. A force of forty men is employed on three shifts on three levels. The company is experimenting with flotation on Gold Road ores at the concentrator of the United States S. & R. Company at Needles, California.
