

PERSONAL.

The last Saturday picnickers had a great time at Green Lake.

Mr. L. J. Corbett of Cle Elum visited Seattle one day this week.

Mr. George H. Grose has returned and will not begin work until September.

Mrs. Sarah Gayles, of North Yakima, has been a guest of Mrs. Josephine Johnson during the past week.

Mr. Gustave Aldrich, one of Tacoma's prominent attorneys, was doing business in our courts this week.

Mr. Joseph Williams, of Franklin, was a visitor to the city this week, returning home last Tuesday evening.

Mr. H. R. Graves, who has been confined in the pest house with small-pox, is recovering and will be out in a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. John T. Gayton will within the next two weeks move in their new home on Twenty-sixth and Republican.

Mr. George L. Johnson, one of Franklin's most reliable men, owing to a few days' shut down in the mines, spent one or two days in the city this week.

Miss Clara Threat, who has the distinction of being one of the only two colored stenographers in the state, read the emancipation proclamation at Franklin last Tuesday.

The colored touts at the race track are so thick that you can stir them with a stick and they seem to think that they have a license to bone every colored man that enters the race track grounds.

Mt. Moriah Baptist Church, Cherry near Seventh avenue, preaching at 11 o'clock. At the evening services Dr. J. G. McPherson, superintendent of missions, will preach. The public is invited. Rev. Wm. Hammonds, pastor.

Mr. Andrew R. Black was the principal speaker at the celebration in Franklin last Tuesday, and is said to have covered himself with much glory. Mr. Black is one of Seattle's rising young attorneys and some day he will be heard from.

Dr. J. Gordon McPherson paid a flying visit to Everett in the interest of missions on last Sunday and preached to a large and appreciative audience both morning and evening. He will return Saturday to preach the opening sermon at the camp meeting.

The testimonial musical to be given at Ranke's Hall on Tuesday, 11th inst., promises to be a musical treat of the season. Many of the Queen City's favorites have consented to take part in the exercises, also Smith's monumental orchestra, thus insuring a most delightful time.

SECOND AND UNION

A large excursion party went to Franklin last Tuesday morning to participate in the usual Fourth of August celebration, which was held in commemoration of the emancipation of the slaves in the West Indies by Great Britain, which was in 1834, and was the work of William Wilberforce, who can be called the father of Negro emancipation in America.

Head Waiter Thomas Wood, of the Washington, is to be congratulated over his successful management of the dining room. The hotel feeds every evening from 300 to 350 guests, and often large excursion parties. One of such parties was at the hotel this week and declared in a newspaper interview that they had received better service in the dining room of the Washington than in any other hotel in which they had been guests since they had been in the West, which was quite a compliment to pay to Mr. Wood.

Lend a Hand

To Gustave B. Aldrich in his civil rights case, for you may be the next victim.

To driving "dirty nigger" barbers, who have set the example of refusing Negroes in public places from any social relations.

In building up enterprises among Negroes that you can point with pride to for their success.

In boycotting the man, woman or child who draws the color line in his business.

To encouraging young men and women into getting married and buying good homes.

To get more lucrative places for colored men and women in this city.

To induce good people to come to Seattle and not tenderloiners.

To wait upon the head push of the proposed new hotels with a view of getting them to employ colored help.

WHY WE ARE IGNORED.

(From Colored American.)

We fail to profit from adversity.

We are deficient in family home life.

Because we neglect our opportunities.

We live too far ahead of our resources.

The Negro lacks confidence in himself.

Because we imitate rather than originate.

Our financial honor as a race is below par.

Our idlers and loafers are too much in evidence.

The average Negro learns little and forgets nothing.

We do not place the proper estimate upon our women.

Education does not seem to increase our race cohesion.

We condemn lynchings but not the antecedent crimes.

Our best men and women are not known to the whites.

We are spies on our own race for the white man's purposes.

We do not consider what we are entitled to and demand it.

There are too many seventy dollar suits on five dollar men.

We have too many parlor organs and too few instructive books.

We have not learned that self-denial, like mercy, is twice blessed.

We yield control of our sons and daughters at too early an age.

The so-called big Negro is not much in supporting race enterprises.

We patronize our enemies rather than those who seek our trade.

Waywardness and wilfulness in our youths are not effectually rebuked.

We cannot enforce discipline at home on account of our own conduct.

When one man seeks a position all his fellows rush in for the same place.

We wait until the high tide is past before we realize its having been present.

We are too bent on destroying rather than building up the fortunes of the race.

We are too easy victims of insurance grafters and smooth installment solicitors.

We are blind to the virtues of the race while we loudly condemn their vices.

We have too much police court business and not enough bank transactions.

We too frequently use the livery of heaven to advance the purposes of the devil.

Every half-educated upstart feels he has a mission to preach or edit a newspaper.

Our new patent leathers and silk hats are too often projected before our creditors' eyes.

We are always ready to fight one another, but we are all afraid of the common enemy.

We claim we have too many churches, newspapers and leaders, and yet we give none the proper support.

Many superior cotton pickers and wood choppers are flattered into taking up the legal or medical profession.

Mob violence is the parent of anarchy.

The women of our race have its future in their keeping.

Color prejudice is not important if it does not hinder justice.

The confidence of a people is always given to the unselfish leader.

To him who sits down and waits, nothing comes but old age or death.

The tongue of the black slanderer is a blood relation of the white lyncher.

Negroes should remember that out of suffering have emerged the strength of souls.

Like the "poor white trash" of the South, our woes are of condition and not of race.

The power of an honest dollar is more effective than the eloquence of fifty race agitators.

Peonage of the body will be best removed by the education of the Negro's head and hand.

Race papers are no longer experiments. They have demonstrated that they are necessities.

Judge Lynch is the highest legal officer in too many states. He is impartial only that he knows no section.

Is Kentucky our "enemy's country?" All the National Negro Conferences have invaded her territory this year.
