CHURCH ON WHEELS.
 The "Gospel Car" Accommodates Large Audiences.
 Folding beds, canoes, houses and coops have long been known of and many are in use, while the folding bicycle is seeking recognition. Among the latest inventions in this line is the folding "gospel car." It looks like an ord-

FOLDING CHURCH CAR.
 nary freight car when made up in the train, but which grows and expands into a comfortable, commodious chapel, with a steeple and bell tower, when the itinerant evangelist sets up his wheeled house of worship on a siding.
 These cars are run on parallel tracks side by side, the floor sections are swung down to fill the space between the cars, and are clamped together so as to make a solid floor. The roof sections swing out to within a short distance of each other, and extension pieces are clamped between, and the whole is inclosed by walls which are bolted and clamped in place. These walls have windows in them, and when the entire affair is put together the railroad chapel extends over two tracks and overhangs on each side.
 The machinery for raising a steeple over the queer church is capable of lifting the framework to a good height, and when this is put on there is nothing but the railroad track and car wheels to indicate the character of the house. Braces and rods strengthen the floor and stiffen the walls and roofs, and everything is made so that the meeting house can be set up or taken down in a short time.

 When railroad companies were reaching out over the prairies of the West, running new railroads through the great plains, armies of men were fed in the huge boarding cars that were important parts of the construction trains. These "boarding shanties" towered high over the box cars, some of them having three tiers of windows.

The Ideal Female Arm.
 "I find great difficulty in getting a model with good arms," said a well-known sculptor recently. "It is astonishing how very few women have arms that conform to the standard. A perfect arm measured from the armpit to the wrist joint should be twice the length of the head. The upper part of the arm should be large, full and well rounded. The forearm must not lie too flat, not nearly so flat as a man's, for example. A dimple at the elbow adds beauty to a well-proportioned arm.
 "From a well-molded shoulder the whole arm should taper in a long, graceful curve to a symmetrical and rounded wrist. It is better to have an arm that harmonizes even if the parts do not follow the generally accepted lines. For instance, a full, round upper arm which is joined to a flat or thin forearm has a very bad effect. It is only a degree worse, however, than a graceful, well-molded forearm tacked on to a thin, scrawny upper arm.
 "Correctness of form is not the only thing necessary for a good arm. The owner must possess the power of expression in her arms. As a general thing American women are deficient in this. Those nationalities which show the most expression in their arms are the Spanish, French and Italians. The warmest admirer of Sarah Bernhardt would not claim that she had beautiful arms, yet no one can say that the divine Sarah ever appears ungraciously in consequence. Much more lies in the faculty of arm expression than is generally supposed."

Shaving.
 Man is said to be the only creature that shaves. But this is not so. A South American bird called the "motmot" actually begins shaving on arriving at maturity. Naturally adorned with long blue tail feathers, it is not satisfied with them in their natural state, but with its beak clips off the web on each side for a space of about two inches, leaving a neat little oval tuft at the end of each.

Lions and Tigers.
 Caged lions and tigers, panthers and jaguars take no notice of the men and women passing in front of them, but if a dog be brought anywhere near the cage they show their savage nature at once.
