BEEF TRUST GREED.

It Floods Chicago with Lumpy Jaw Cattle and the Authorities Do Nothing.

This City the Dumping Ground for All the Bad Cattle in the West.

Does the Meat Inspection law protect the foreigner?

It certainly does not protect the Chicagoan.

Chicago is reveling in a feast of lumpy jaw beef, tuberculosis cattle and the like.

The new Federal meat inspection law is in force, but, so far as Chicago is concerned, it is a dead letter.

The United States law only applies to meat intended for export and for meat shipped to other States.

This is as far as the Federal authority can go.

It cannot interfere with local conditions.

These are wholly under the control of the local government and the local government believes that when the tubercular parts of the beef and the lumpy jaw or cancerous parts of the beef are cut out, that the rest of the carcass is good to eat.

No thousands of Chicagoans are eating lumpy jaw cattle every day, in blissful ignorance of the awful facts and the Beef Trust is getting richer than ever by purveying bad food to the people.

The most radical legislation is necessary to obliterate this evil and the people will get it when they wake up and realize the terrible danger that constantly menaces themselves and their families under present conditions.

Speaking of the supineness of the Chicago Health Department in this matter, the Chicago Tribune in a recently printed editorial declared:

"The Health Department should at once enact and enforce the regulations which have been prepared by the Department of Agriculture.

"If those regulations are necessary to insure the good quality of Chicago meat which is to be eaten by Englishmen they are equally necessary to insure the good quality of Chicago meat which is to be eaten in Chicago. If foreigners are deserving of protection the people of Chicago are also. They will not get the same degree of protection unless the local inspection is as good as the Federal inspection.

"There will be an attempt to work off on Chicago consumers inferior meats which cannot be marketed elsewhere.

Many of the smaller packers who have no outside trade will not maintain a high standard of cleanliness in their establishments unless they are forced to. There is need of vigilant municipal inspection to keep this city from becoming a dumping ground for poor meat and to enforce sanitary regulations in packing houses which are outside the scope of Federal supervision."

What an awful loss the daily newspapers make over the insurance accidents! And yet not one person in 1,000 is affected by them. Yet the daily newspapers have nothing to say against the Beef Trust, which robs every man, woman and child in the community every day.

The workingman and every other man for that matter is entitled to pure food and pure medicine. A government that does not protect a man and his family in these particulars deserves to be overthrown. The Beef Trust must go.

The Beef Trust is going to control the grazing business as well as the rest of the cattle trade. It is acquiring title to millions of acres of land in Colorado for the purpose of raising cattle.

The number of cattle afflicted with tuberculosis is said to be very large. The report of the Chicago Health Department for the week ending May 16 states that two cows suffering from tuberculosis were found among the herds that supply Chicago with milk.

President Roosevelt and the members of Congress first heard about the Beef Trust horrors from the Eagle last November, and they have heard more every week since then.

The Beef Trust is trying to stir up a war between Germany and the United States, because the Germans will not permit tuberculosis, cancer and trichina to be freely imported into their country.
