SUPREME COURT DEFIED

The Beef Trust defies the Supreme Court of the United States every day of its existence. It defies and violates the permanent injunction granted against it by the highest court of the country January 30, 1905. And such is its power for harm, that no official can be found who will stand up for what the United States Supreme Court decreed on behalf of the people. The Beef Trust continues its existence as a combination in restraint of trade and commerce. It continues to fix and to maintain throughout the country a uniform and exorbitant price for meat in defiance of the mandate of the highest court in the land. The temporary injunction issued by Judge Peter S. Grosscup May 20, 1902, against the Beef Trust was made permanent by the United States Supreme Court in a decision announced January 30, 1905. The decision establishes these points: Traffic in live stock transported from State to State is interstate commerce and persons engaged in buying and selling such live stock are engaged in interstate commerce. The combination between dealers to suppress all competition in the purchase of live stock is an unlawful restraint of trade. The combination between dealers to fix and maintain a uniform price in the sale of meat throughout the country is an unlawful restraint of trade. The combination of dealers to obtain preferential railroad rates, is an unlawful restraint of trade. All combinations suppressing competition between independent dealers fall under the prohibition of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act.

Otto Griesbach is the proprietor of the restaurant and buffet at 188 South Water street, which is patronized by the best business men. Mr. Griesbach deserves their patronage, for he treats them well.

Solo Rye has been tested and never been found wanting. "The best on the bars."

The M. P. Byrne Construction Co. is one of the greatest, most successful and most reputable firms of its kind in this or any other city in the country.

The Riens is the place to go for an enjoyable afternoon or evening. Excellent music, fine cuisine, splendid service and beautiful garden and hall. Has no peer of its kind in Chicago. Clark street, Evanston avenue and Diversey boulevard.

is sold and consumed in Chicago, according to a recent article in the Chicago Tribune. St. Louis prohibits both the slaughter and sale of "lumpy jaw" cattle in that city, and Kansas City, while it permits the slaughtering of such cattle, prohibits the sale of the beef.

That Chicago has become the "dumping ground" for practically all the "lumpy jaw" beef in the country was revealed by food inspectors. On one plant are slaughtered every Friday from 100 to 200 head of "lumpy jaw" cattle. Of these only a small fraction is condemned as unfit for consumption. The rest, with the diseased parts cut out, is sold for prime beef, and brings the retailer as good prices as the best beef.

This is possible by reason of the fact that the consumer has no way of telling whether the beef he buys is part of a "lumpy jaw" steer or not. If the inspectors pass an infected animal, after the post-mortem inspection, the beef is placed in the cooler and sold just as any other beef.

Out of a total day's slaughter of 120 head of "lumpy jaw" and otherwise infected animals only twelve carcasses were condemned after post-mortem inspection. This means that at an average weight of 1,200 pounds each there will be sold in Chicago during the next few days at least 129,000 pounds of "lumpy jaw" beef. How much of the same kind of meat is shipped into Chicago from Kansas City and other places where its sale is prohibited would be difficult to estimate, but the quantity is undoubtedly large.

In most of the Eastern cities ordinances are in force prohibiting the sale of meat from animals with actinomycosis, the scientific name for "lumpy jaw." Thus Chicago remains as the only large market where that class of cattle may be slaughtered and sold with profit.

The average weekly receipts of cattle at the stock yards are 70,000 head, and among these always are found from 100 to 200 animals infected in one way or another.

The meat inspection law which was framed up to suit the Beef Trust, does not provide for microscopic examinations and no microscopic examination is made of pork for the purpose of discovering evidences of trichina.

No wonder that foreign governments with the good health of their subjects in mind are somewhat suspicious of Beef Trust pork.

The one benefit that Chicago and Illinois receives by the location of the slaughtering and packing houses here, is an unlimited supply of tuberculosis. Government inspection only applies to meat shipped to other States or foreign countries. No wonder Dr. Billings estimates the number of tuberculosis people in Illinois at 1,000,000.

People are commencing to see why so many Beef Trust men are put on the county grand jury.

MAN AND MONEY GONE.
Rock Island Beauty Finds Herself Penniless and Jilted.
 Rock Island is in a stir over a most sensational swindle, which places Mrs. Mary Cramer, a heretofore wealthy woman, and her niece, Miss Blanche Eldridge, a handsome young woman, in poverty, and leaves Miss Eldridge a broken hearted girl on the night she was to be wedded. The alleged swindler and man who was to wed Miss Eldridge is Jewett E. Warren, supposed to be from Atlanta, Ga. Coming to Rock Island a year ago he met Miss Eldridge and later won the confidence of Mrs. Cramer. Miss Eldridge was engaged at the time to another young man whom she loved. Warren, however, who thoroughly won the aunt, induced her to persuade the niece to accept him. Then all of Mrs. Cramer's business affairs were turned over to the man, and he was given checks signed by her to fill in as he pleased. The deed to the property of Miss Eldridge was also turned over to him. Great preparations had been made for the wedding, several thousand dollars being spent in the arrangements. Early in the afternoon it was suspected that something was wrong. Business men who had been given checks by Warren learned that all funds in the bank had become exhausted. Warren was sought, but no trace of him could be found, and his intended bride said she had not seen him. Miss Eldridge, heart broken because of the sudden development, is a nervous wreck. The police were informed, and an investigation proved that there was no money in the bank left to the credit of Mrs. Cramer; furthermore, that Warren had managed to take with him hundreds of dollars' worth of jewelry belonging to Miss Eldridge, and that he had in his possession the deed to her property. Unless Warren is apprehended and the funds returned to the now two penniless people they will be forced to seek assistance from their friends.

BOY WOUNDED; ANOTHER HELD.
Girl Said to Be Cause of Probable Fatal Injuries of Youngster.
 Walter Witwer, aged 19, was found unconscious and probably dying in the alley back of Nash's store in Casey, with a bad wound above his right eye and another on the back of his neck. He was taken to the city hospital. About the time he was found a young man was reported to have run to Davis' livery stable and to have excitedly said that he had something to do with the affair. Later Troy Toll, aged 16, was arrested and taken to the jail at Marshall. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Toll. The families of both boys are prominent and highly respected. There is said to be a girl in the case.

SAVES HUSBAND IN CLUB FIRE.
Jerseyville Wife Tries to Extinguish Clothing with Bare Hands.
 While the other guests, men and women, fled in terror, Mrs. Edward B. Griggs dragged her husband from the blazing Otter Creek Club house, on the Illinois river, near Hardin, and with her bare hands beat out the flames leaping from his oil-saturated clothes. Griggs was burned from head to foot and his injuries are believed to be fatal. The exclusive Otter Creek Clubhouse, which is the property of Charles W. Nugent and other wealthy St. Louisans, was destroyed. The loss is in the neighborhood of $10,000. The fire was caused by the upsetting of a lamp in the hands of Griggs.

STATE NEWS IN BRIEF.
 Melvin Watts, aged 19, was drowned while bathing in Rock river, at Oregon.
 William F. Ritter, a farmer, residing near Kinmundy, was kicked by a horse and killed.

ACTORS DRIVE BOY MAD.
Performers on Showboat Frighten and Insanity.
 Rejected by his father, George O'Leary, 15 years old, of Bath, who, it is alleged, was driven insane by grotesquely attired deckhands on a showboat, is proving a problem to Illinois officials. He is now in the Peoria county jail, where he will be tried the second time as to his sanity. The boy, clad in Indian costume, fringed and beaded khaki, buckskin gloves and flimsy blouse, became troublesome on the streets of Peoria three days ago. For two nights he remained in jail, smashing the furniture in the detention room to bits, tearing to shreds the bed clothing and his own garments and twisting the mattress springs into a shapeless mass. Then he was freed, but the middle of the next night threw a brick into a department store window. O'Leary shipped as a deckhand on a showboat, and one night the performers, garbed asimps and other fantastic creatures, pursued him about the boat until he leaped into the Illinois river. He was rescued. In the last two years he has been arrested in many Illinois towns and returned to his home. In a fit of anger he once shot an older brother through the arm with a rifle.

REFUSES TO HURRY DINNER.
Hotel Owner Shoots and Kills Cook When the Latter Attacks Him.
 H. de John, 35 years old, chef at the Transit Hotel, in East St. Louis, resented a demand to hurry dinner by attacking James Sheehan, the proprietor, with a meat cleaver. Sheehan shot and killed de John. Sheehan, wife of the hotel owner, is said to have gone to the kitchen and asked de John to hurry the cooking. The cook replied with an insulting remark. Sheehan went to the kitchen to rebuke de John, who attacked him with a cleaver. With the blood streaming from his face Sheehan ran from the hotel, with the cook at his heels. Darting into a nearby saloon Sheehan got a revolver. When de John appeared Sheehan fired three shots, every bullet taking effect. De John died on his way to a hospital. Sheehan is under arrest.

DROGGED TO DEATH BY TEAM.
Reins Are Entangled About Alhambra Man's Neck in Runaway.
 Henry P. Dauderman, 42 years old, a farmer, living near Alhambra, was killed in a runaway. Dauderman was moving a thrashing machine, and one of the wheels sank into a run, the jar throwing him from the seat. In falling the reins became entangled about Dauderman's neck, and the team ran away, dragging him half a mile. Dauderman was dead when picked up.

BOY LOSES EYE IN EXPLOSION.
Waterloo Youth Undergoes Operation in St. Louis.
 Freddie C. Josticke, 8 years old, who was severely burned about the face by an explosion of powder last June, was operated on in St. Luke's Hospital in St. Louis. The surgeon discovered that the sight of the left eye was destroyed, and the right eye was badly injured. The surgeon has hope that the boy may partially recover the sight of the right eye.

Tenement Children Treated.
 One hundred children from Chicago tenements were treated to automobile rides over the city of Pana, and supper at Kitchell Park. They will have a two weeks' outing in the vicinity.

Mrs. August Senn of Edwardsville ran into the burning house of her neighbor Mrs. Frank Schrammek, and, at the risk of her life, rescued the latter's 4-year-old son, Charlie, who was lying unconscious on a blazing bed, to which he had set fire by accidentally discharging a shotgun, the "kick" of which had knocked him senseless.

Alta Lentz of Jacksonville and Kenneth Reynolds of Buffalo were run over by a freight train on the Wabash in Hannibal, Mo. Lentz was killed instantly and Reynolds died within two hours. They were walking on the track and did not see or hear the approaching train. Both are young men and had just arrived in Hannibal.
