REVIVE POLO SPORT ON PACIFIC COAST

Some of the Action Which Thrilled the 8,000 Spectators at the Recent Meadowbrook-Bryn Mawr Championship Contest at Philadelphia.

Polo, virtually nonexistent during the war, will experience a revival during the coming winter and spring which promises to place it again among the leading outdoor pastimes in California. Many of the West's prominent players served in the army and the return of these men will serve to stimulate interest in the game.

Coronado and Del Monte, as in former years, will be the center for polo enthusiasts. Already stables of polo ponies are arriving to be prepared for the various tournaments.

To Draw Best Teams. Three tournaments, two at Del Monte and one at Coronado, it is believed, will draw the cream of teams from the United States and Canada.

The principal events of the season will be the invitation tournaments at Del Monte, February 1 to 10; the annual spring tournament at Del Monte, March 28 to April 15, and the fourteenth annual polo tournament at Coronado, March 1 to April 1.

For the first time since the season of 1917, the Pacific Coast All-American polo trophy will be competed for during the coming midwinter tournament at Coronado. This trophy was won in 1917 by the Meadowbrook four, composed of G. M. Kecksher, C. P. Beadleston, Malcolm Stevenson (captain), and Carlton Burke. The Meadowbrook four won the trophy by defeating the Miami Valley team, captained by Max Fleischmann.

Season Opens January 1.

The season will officially open at Coronado on January 1 with the inauguration match. Weekly cup matches will follow every Saturday and Sunday. During the tournament from March 1 to April 1, in addition to the All-American trophy, players will compete for the California challenge, Pacific Coast junior championship and Joseph Jessop challenge trophies.

At Del Monte during the coming season there will be two regulation fields in addition to a practice area. The fields are said to rank among the best in the country and plans are being made to care for a large number of players.

EDDIE M'GOORTY GETS COIN

Boxer, Now in England, Should Come Back With Roll That Will Make Rivals Envious.

Boxing is the most popular sport in England right now, and promoters and fighters worth while are getting rich. Eddie McGoorty has picked up a bundle over there, and if he does not spend the wad should come home with a roll that will make his rivals in the States exceedingly envious.

They charge as high as $50 for ring-side seats in London without anybody squawking, and the guys in the back rows sometimes have to plunk down the equivalent of one of our $5 notes for a distant peek at the doings. This price scale prevails in all classes where the matches are attractive enough.

Can you imagine Pat Moore and Jimmy Wilde boxing to an American audience that slumped down from five cases up to a half century to see the midgets perform? If you can, you have a vivid imagination! Yet they can get away with it over there.

ORIOLES TO TRAIN IN SOUTH

Manager Dunn of Baltimore Looking Up Place to Take His Team for Conditioning.

Jack Dunn trained his Orioles at home last spring and then walked away with the pennant in the International league race, but he does not plan to do any more home training. He is now angling for a location in the sunny Southland.

COLLEGES RACE BY AIR IN CROSS-COUNTRY TRIP

Aerial racing as a recognized sport is under consideration at Harvard, Yale and Columbia universities, according to members of the Aerial club at the last named institution. Invitations will, in all probability, be sent to other colleges, asking their active cooperation in this movement.

A three-cornered cross-country race by airplane next spring between Columbia, Harvard, and Yale, modeled after the recent New York-Toronto flight, is planned.

GOSSIP AMONG SPORTS

Cleveland chess enthusiasts have organized a league.

Connie Mack's Athletics were last for the fifth consecutive year.

Yale won the freshman cross-country run, defeating Harvard 22 points to 33.

"Babe" Ruth declares he may tour the country with an independent team next year.

Shorty Miller, former star quarterback at Penn State, is playing professional football.

Transshipping in the United States will be supervised in the future by a committee of ten members.

Max Carey is said to be much benefited in health since going to Cuba with the barnstorming ball losers.

Frank J. Marshall, chess expert, plans a tour of the country, taking in the leading centers, including Canada.

Manager Mike Kelley has returned to St. Paul without signing to boss the Seattle club of the Pacific Coast league.

Freak pitching is to be abolished by the majors. The pitchers would also like to see the kibosh put on freak batting of the Ruth order.

John McGraw, manager of the Giants, denies the story that originated in the east that he is trying to make a trade for "Rabbit" Maranville of the Braves.

The Interstate League, involving Wellsville, Olean and Jamestown, N. Y., Bradford, Oil City and Franklin, Pa., is to be revived with Pat Dougherty, the old White Sox outfielder, a president.

COLT BRINGS $50,000

Galroy, a two-year-old colt by Royal Realm, out of Gallinuli, by Gallinule, out of Serenata, by Chavening, was sold for $50,000 at the October Newmarket sales. This is one of the biggest prices ever paid for a youngster in England. Other big prices were realized at the sale.

STANDARD BALL IDEA STIRS GOLF PLAYERS

Rule Would Meet Hard Opposition in U. S. and Canada.

No Definite Action Taken at Meeting of Royal and Ancient Club of St. Andrews—Matter Seems to Be in Abeyance at Present.

Although the Royal and Ancient club of St. Andrews at its last meeting took no definite action on the standardization of golf balls, the matter was discussed. Prior to the meeting it was reported on seemingly good authority that it was the intention of the rules of golf committee to introduce a rule standardizing the flouter, writes Joe Davis in Chicago Tribune.

In order to give the golf trade a chance to unload its stock of heavier balls, it was proposed to make the change take effect at the close of the present season.

For the time being the matter seems to be in abeyance, and while the matter of standardization never has been officially discussed by the United States Golf association, the national body would have to take official action if the British authorities decided to adopt a standard ball.

Although the U. S. G. A. and the Royal and Ancient club differ in their interpretation of the amateur rule, the only difference in the playing rules is that the U. S. G. A. sanctions the use of the mallet-headed putter, which is barred in Great Britain.

Commenting on the proposed legislation the Canadian Golfer says: "It is sincerely hoped that the rules of golf committee will not be so ill advised as to adopt such a radical departure without first consulting the powers that be in this and other golfing countries. In Canada the rules and regulations of the game as laid down by St. Andrews are faithfully followed, but it is a grave question if any such change as that mooted in connection with the standardization of the ball would be acceptable here. The rules of golf committee must hasten slowly, very slowly, before making any such rash decision. It certainly would be retrograde legislation."

"The chief objections made to the rubber-cored ball are that it gives a good response to a half-cut shot; that it makes recovery from hazards too easy, so that the bad shot does not receive the punishment it deserves, and that its resiliency makes it much harder to control on a hard green and so introduces an element of luck in approaching and putting."

"All these objections apply most strongly to the flouter and much less strongly to the small, heavy ball, which it is proposed to abandon. One thing is sure: If St. Andrews does attempt to standardize the 'flouter' its ruling will not be observed in Canada or the States. It will commit golfing suicide as far as its influence here is concerned."

United States Golf association is nearing the 500-club mark.

Harry Williams, former Western League player, is now a heavyweight boxer.

There are approximately 25,000 sporting goods stores in the United States.

Harvard boasts thirteen freshman eight-oared crews, a record for the Crimson.

Brown university students must learn to swim as part of the physical training there.

Sam Vlek will stick with the Yankees next season. If he sticks around 300 we'll say he'll stick.

Cleveland pitchers last year failed to strike out Eddie Murphy, pinch hitter for the White Sox.

A judge's stand for race tracks that is revolved by an electric motor is the idea of a Kentucky inventor.

Harvard will send varsity, second varsity and freshmen crews against the Navy on the Severn on April 24.

President John Heydler says there is no real sentiment in his league for a schedule longer than 154 games next year.

Dennis F. O'Connell, Jr., of the Dorchester district of Boston has been elected captain of the Harvard track team.

The College of the City of New York will have a football team again next season. The sport has been dead there ten years.

University of Virginia will organize a "V" club of 500 living members of the alumni who won varsity letters in major sports there.

Jimmy Viox, who stands suspended by the Salt Lake club of the Pacific Coast league, did not play a game this year. He failed to show up, hence the suspension.

Cynwyd club, outside of Philadelphia, will add six to nine grass tennis courts to its equipment for next season's play. Its clay courts are among the finest in this country.

Gene Paulette is going to play first base for the Phillies next season. Fred Luderus will be retained as a pinch hitter. He is slowing down, so the younger man gets the job.

as the world's greatest promoter, was disappointed over the way things turned out.

"After settling for the arena and paying off the boxers there wasn't enough coin left to buy a square meal. I also noticed that it was stated that the Toledo boxing commission's share of the proceeds was something like $30,000. That's a dream. I am sure that there was nothing for the commission after all expenses were paid."

ARRANGING GROUNDS FOR OLYMPIC GAMES

Scene of the 1920 Olympic Games at Antwerp.

The site of the 1920 Olympic games is a busy place these days. The Olympiad will be held on the grounds of the Beerschot Athletic club, located about ten minutes from the city's center. The place is being enlarged so that between 30,000 and 40,000 spectators will be accommodated. Everything is being done to improve the track. Special approaches to the grounds are being built to handle the great throngs which are sure to attend. This photo shows the grounds being put into shape for the coming event.

LORD GLENELG'S HORSES LEAD LIST OF WINNERS

Horsing in England has enjoyed a wonderful revival this season, large crowds patronizing all the courses throughout the country. Lord Glenelg still leads in the list of winning owners, so far having won in stakes the large sum of $125,197. His chief winners are the Derby sensation, Grand Parade, Dominion, Bright Folly, Seatwell, Skyrocket and Lady Juliet.

Lord Derby comes next, with $101,052. Steve Donoghue, with 114 races won, leads in the jockey championship, and is certain to win the honor for the sixth year in succession.

COACH WILCE IS A SURGEON

Football Mentor of Ohio State University Received His Sheepskin Last Summer.

Why do they call John W. Wilce, Ohio State coach, "Doctor Wilce"? Very simple. Because he is a graduate M. D., having received his sheepskin in surgery at Ohio State last June. Wilce graduated from the University of Wisconsin before accepting the position of Ohio State football coach. He was one of the greatest guards that ever played in the Big Ten.

Doctor Wilce entered the O. S. U. College of Medicine the first year he served as football mentor, and graduated last June. The coach does not have to seek expert medical advice now whenever a player is injured. He gives it himself.
