FINES FOR FLIRTING.

They Are Imposed in Various Cities of the United States.

Course of True Love is Made Rough in Many Localities, Whose Lovers Have Evidently Been Made by Misanthropes.

The course of true love is made rough for sweethearts in many towns in the United States by the interference of the law.

At Scranton, Pa., lovers are apparently regarded with especial disfavor. The shaded streets of the aristocratic section of the town known as Green Ridge are favorite resorts of courting couples.

Atlantic City has also adopted repressive measures. The policeman who patrols the beach each evening was last summer furnished with a baton which by touching a button could be converted into a brilliant incandescent lamp.

Trenton, N. J., is another rough place for the courting lovers. Not long ago the residents of West State street called on the police to take action against strollers, and now any man or woman found billing and cooing in that section is taken into custody.

Lovers will do well to steer clear of Suffolk, Va., another town which presumes to regulate courtship, for seven young men, who were all members of prominent local families, were recently prosecuted there for flirting with some of the college girls.

The dog barked with delight when several of the farm hands set off with him to see what was up. The men found Reegan almost unencumbered and suffering greatly. The unfortunate man was released, and was found to have suffered no serious injury.

Tiger is now a great hero.

A PULPIT ROMANCE.

Preacher Asks Congregation for Mate for Brother Divine and Is Accommodated.

For two Sundays Rev. Willard N. Streeter, who has a pastorate in a Vermont village near the town of Roxbury, Vt., preached in Emmanuel church, at Springfield, Mass., in the hope of receiving a call to the vacant pastorate.

by paying court costs and apologizing to the lady principal of the college.

At first thought it would seem that cemeteries would be anything but suitable resorts for sweethearts, but in Germantown, Pa., the Northwood cemetery became so popular as a rendezvous that the directors found it necessary to interfere.

Courtship in Russia sometimes involves couples in very serious consequences quite in accord with the tyrannical rule which there unfortunately prevails.

A few years ago, says the New York World, two young men and two young women were arrested in Odessa for this terrible offense.

Having heard the evidence, the judge declared that the prisoners had been guilty of "shameless conduct in a public place." He therefore condemned them to imprisonment for several days, whereon they promptly appealed to a superior court against his decision.

Served His Master Well.

A real hero died recently at the South Barbara mission, in southern California, at the age of 83. During the yellow fever plague of 1878 Father Aloysius Wiesew, with 21 other Franciscan priests, went to Memphis, and there ministered to the sufferers, white and black alike.

Was a Remarkable Man.

A remarkable man died recently in England, at the age of 58. We refer to Evelyn Abbott, the Greek historian, of Balliol college, Oxford.

SAVED MASTER'S LIFE.

Farmer Was Imprisoned Under Fallen Tree and Dog Took One of His Boots Home.

According to a Susquehanna (Pa.) correspondent of the New York World, John Reegan, a farmer of Gulf Summit, went out upon a hill near his house Thursday to cut down trees, taking with him his dog Tiger. He cut a tall oak, which fell in such a way that it knocked him down and imprisoned him in a little depression.

He shouted and his dog appeared. Tiger apparently realized at once the dangerous predicament in which his master was placed, and also the fact that he could do no good on the spot.

Arriving at the farm house, he set up such a howling that the attention of every one on the place was attracted to him.

The dog now made off back to where his master lay, and a few moments later was again heard howling at the farm house door.

Among the exhibits we note the following: State Colored College, and the Jenkins Orange Machine Gun.

The operation is very simple. Mr. Burkins was 23 years of age Dec. 31, 1901. He is a bright and intelligent gentleman, taking great interest in his work.

Emancipation Day at the Charleston Exposition.

The day was an ideal one, the people came from miles around and there was a general suspension of work. The parade was large and grand with military and civic organizations in line with the military on the right.

The Orator of the day was Hon. Thos. E. Miller, LL. D. of Orangeburg, S. C., which was a most elegant tribute to the great Emancipator and the cause, viewing the results and noting the progress of the race since that eventful occasion.

The music for the occasion was rendered by the State Colored College, and the Jenkins Orange Machine Gun.

At night the second part of the program was carried out at the Emancipation Church, where the Proclamation was read, verses recited and the Emancipation Oration delivered by Rev. M. W. Gilbert, D. D.—a masterly effort.

The Negro Building has been completed and the visitors repaired thereto. One of the most interesting exhibits is the Burkins Automatic Machine Gun.

MARVELOUS GROWTH OF HAIR.

A FAMOUS DOCTOR-CHEMIST HAS DISCOVERED A COMPOUND THAT GROWS HAIR ON A BALD HEAD IN A SINGLE NIGHT.

Startling Announcement Causes Doctors to Marvel and Stand Dumbfounded at the Wonderful Cures. The Discoverer Sends A Free Trial Package to All Who Write.

After half a century spent in the laboratory, crowned with high honors for his many world-famous discoveries the celebrated physician-chemist at the head of the great Althenheim Medical Dispensary, 5465 Butterfield Building, Cincinnati, Ohio, has just made the startling announcement that he has produced a compound that grows hair on any bald head.

There can be no doubt of the doctor's earnestness in making his claims nor can his cures be disputed. He does not ask any man, woman or child to take his or any one else's word for it but he stands ready and willing to send free trial packages of this great hair restorative to any one who writes him for it, enclosing a 2 cent stamp to prepay postage.

Paving of Herring.

You would hardly think that red herrings, or any other sort of herrings mixed with oil of pine, would make good street paving; yet that is what the smooth streets of Herald square—and all over the city where asphalt is used—are made of, according to the opinion of scientific gentlemen who are always delving into the origin of things.

It was at Compigne, where the czar is being entertained, that the king of Rome, the Eaglet, granted the first petition that was presented to him. He had reached the mature age of six months, when an old soldier who had already received many favors from the emperor, decided that he wanted more, and thought it would be a good scheme to address his petition to the heir to the throne, and thus work on Napoleon's sympathies.

The King's Consent. It was at Compigne, where the czar is being entertained, that the king of Rome, the Eaglet, granted the first petition that was presented to him.

Subsequent Reflection. The man who had gained a worldwide celebrity by refraining from swearing when the cudgats of his wagon gave way and allowed a load of apples to roll to the bottom of a steep hill was talking about it a few years afterward.

Invitations to Dinner. The woman from New England buys a "table-spread," while her sister from the south buys a "tablecloth."

The woman from Nova Scotia orders the servant to "lay the table," while with most of us natives of the United States the command is to "set the table."

No Ground for Encouragement. Doctor (to Irish patient who has had both legs amputated)—There now, Pat. Don't worry. You'll pull through all right. You've got a good constitution, and you're having the best of care, and the chances are you'll live to enjoy life for many a year yet.

Nothing But Leaves. Mr. Snaggs—The leaves are leaving, my dear. Mrs. Snaggs—Is there anything odd about that? "Yes, in the spring time it was the trees that were leaving."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Should Be Pat Out. Sue—He said there was a fire raging in his breast. Belle—How dangerous! "Dangerous?" "Yes; he wears a celluloid shirt front."—Philadelphia Record.

Life Ruined by a Dog. The jealousy of a dog ruined the life of Miss Elizabeth Mayland, the prettiest of three charming daughters of a Yorkshire (England) family. She was engaged to be married to a young German army officer. Her fiancé presented her with a beautiful white Spitz terrier. Miss Mayland's favorite dog, a big Scotch collie, was insanely jealous of the little Spitz and made an attempt to kill it. Miss Mayland drove him off and soothed him severely. The collie sulked a few days, and waiting his opportunity sprang upon his mistress while she was petting the Spitz and so tore and lacerated her face that her beauty was gone forever. Miss Mayland released her fiancé from his engagement and entered a nunnery.

Pineat Street in Europe. The best-lighted street in the world is the famous thoroughfare of Berlin, Unter-den-Linden. It is illuminated by three lines of electric lights, which are separated by two lines of hidden trees.
