"What does it mean?" he asked of the sexton, who had been explaining the inscriptions to him. The sexton peered towards it and, not wishing to show any ignorance, replied: "Well, it means that he was sick transiently, and went to glory Monday morning."—Tit-Bite.

The Dismissals. "You see," said the wise woman, con fidentially, "there's one difference be tween receiving men and women visi tors who are to stay for meals. When woman's coming I aim to have things looking awfully nice and don't care much what I have for her to eat. But when it's a man I aim to see how good I can make the dinner and don't pay much attention to the looks of things." —Los Angeles Herald. In the Near Future. The Cook—Oh, sorry, mum, but the walkin' diligitate av th' Suphrame Or der of Cooks hov ordered me t' throw up my job. Mrs. Subbab (tearfully)—Oh, No rah! What have I done? The Cook—Nawthin', mum; but yer foolish husband got shaved in a non union barber shop, th' day before yister day.—Brooklyn Life. The One Wise Man. Mr. Blinks—There goes Prof. Know all, the great phrenologist, psycholo gist and physiognomist. He is the wisest man in the world. Mrs. Blinks—Of all things! In what way? Mr. Blinks—He can tell whether a woman is an angel or a vixen without marrying her.—N. Y. Weekly. Room for One More. Tess—I told Miss Sharpe what you said about her sewing society—that you would not join because it was too full of stupid nobodies. Jess—Did you? What did she think of it? Tess—She said you were mistaken—that there was always room for one more.—Tit-Bite. Novel Part of It. Blowit—A man in North Carolina recently bought a farm for $90 and sold one walnut tree on it for $700. Wisewell—There is one thing about that story I really admire. Blowit—What's that? Wisewell—The tree, at least, wasn't a chestnut.—Chicago Daily News. High Hopes. "Hello! You're looking unusually happy to-day." "Yes," replied the optimist. "I have hopes of getting a fine job. I just an swered an advertisement in the paper offering a canvasser's outfit for one dollar that'll easily earn me $50 a week."—Philadelphia Press. The Discouraged Mathematician. Oh, figures are too hard for me I'll never try again. I play the horses 1-2-3-4-5 They finish 8-9-10. —Washington Star.
