

CHURCH LUNCHEES.

The Restaurant Keepers Hold a Meeting.

They Say Their Business Has Been Injured.

A Strong Set of Resolutions Presented and Adopted.

Business Men Will Be Requested to Boycott These Affairs Hereafter, or They Will Be Boycotted.

Between fifteen and twenty proprietors of restaurants assembled yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, in upper Turn Verein hall, to take action regarding the church dinners which have been given of late in the business portion of the city.

R. Cohen, of the Vienna Bakery, called the meeting to order, and John Brink was selected as chairman and R. Cohen as secretary.

The chair stated that the purpose of the meeting had been called for the purpose of taking some action about the church members who persist in giving dinners in the central part of the city.

Mr. Durkee said he was a church member himself, but the time had come when a stop must be put to these church dinners in the city, or else the restaurants would have to close up.

Mr. Balzer thought that the aid of the newspapers would be more efficient than the resolutions, but something should be done at once.

Mr. Cohen said that he was opposed to the churches holding lunches down town, and he thought it was an injustice to the restaurant keepers and to every merchant in the city.

WHEREAS, All the churches of the city of Los Angeles have combined to ruin our business and deprive honest men and women from earning a livelihood, and thereby causing thefts, robbery and prostitution in our business.

Resolved, That we condemn the action of said church members for interfering with legitimate business, to the detriment of the same.

That we respectfully condemn the women of said churches for depriving their own sex of the means of making an honest living, thereby compelling them to become street-walkers.

That we condemn the City Council for partial legislation, for letting the said churches carry on a restaurant business without paying license.

That we pledge ourselves that each and every one who belongs to the Board of Trade or Chamber of Commerce will withdraw from the same, as we understand that they gave sanction and encouragement to the churches in such lines of business.

That we hereby invite the sympathy of every laboring man to help us in this good cause, for the sake of their fellow workmen, and we ask every grocer, commission merchant, milkman, butcher, baker, and every other business man, to stand by us so that we can make an honest living, be able to pay our rent and honest debts.

That we pledge ourselves to boycott every newspaper that will give the said churches running said restaurants free advertisement; and last, but not least, we ask the sympathy of those good and honest church members, and we recognize there are many such, to assist us in this matter, and we promise them that at any and all times, if they need money for their churches, that we, the restaurant people of this city, will give them a helping hand and prove to them that they can raise more money for their churches legitimately than running restaurants at 25 cents a meal.

Mr. Cohen said that he was satisfied that a number of the church people would look at the matter in the right light; that the action of the churches in giving lunches down town was driving men to thieving and women to street-walking he thought was true, for the restaurant forces were cut down owing to the lack of business caused by the church lunches, and the "hashers" were compelled to steal to live.

Several of those present objected to the resolutions, which they said were entirely too strong and it was suggested that a committee be appointed to draft a milder set.

Mr. Cohen said that he knew they were strong, but he thought if they were adopted and signed by all the restaurant-keepers the church lunches down town would be stopped.

We, the undersigned, restaurant-keepers and tax-payers of this city, do hereby publicly protest against the unjust and oppressive habit of the churches and various societies in giving dinners on every possible occasion, furnishing meals donated by these members, to the public at prices no restaurant-keeper can meet and live.

We condemn the action of the City Council for partial legislation in compelling us to pay license to do business, when these societies give dinners free of all expense, paying no license, tax, rent or help.

We condemn the newspapers for publishing the advertisements of these institutions free of charge, if they do so, where they compel us to pay for our advertisements and subscriptions.

We ask all the labor unions to support us in this contest, that is constantly injuring our business in dull times.

Yesterday afternoon a number of horsemen assembled at the Agricultural park track to witness a match race between G. H. Reed's trotting stallion Othello and Frank Monroe's pacer P. Q., for a purse of $200, best three in five heats.

The chairman thought that it might be well to appoint a committee to obtain the signatures of the rest of the restaurant-keepers to the resolutions.

Mr. Durkee moved that the resolutions be adopted. Carried, as also was a motion that all those present sign the resolutions.

It was stated it was probable that some of the ministers would discuss the subject from their pulpits tomorrow, and it was thought that they would advise against any more church lunches down town.

A committee was appointed to obtain signatures, and an adjournment was taken until Monday evening.

NEWS OF THE RAIL.

OPINIONS REGARDING THE HUNTINGTON-MANVEL INTERVIEW.

The Visit of President Huntington Set for the 6th of May—Mr. Snedaker Removes to San Francisco.

The story of the interview between President Manvel, of the Santa Fe, and President Huntington, of the Southern Pacific, said to have recently taken place at San Francisco, in which Huntington dared the Santa Fe people to try the issue in a rate war, excited a good deal of comment yesterday among railway men.

The statement that Manvel expressed discontent over the alleged fact that the Southern Pacific got away with the bulk of the orange freight, is not credited by the Santa Fe people.

As to Mr. Huntington's suggestion that the Santa Fe get "whipped" in the last war and had better not try another, the utterance is regarded as rather undignified and its correctness is therefore questioned.

When the pair faced the starter for the third heat they were going splendidly, and there was every indication that this would be the greatest heat of the three; but rounding the turn both broke badly.

Maben soon got the trotter down to work and forged ahead several lengths, but P. Q. went to pieces, and Othello was twelve lengths away before Monroe got him into his gait again, and although he made a brave attempt to decrease the gap between them, he was fully half a mile behind when Othello came under the wire.

The pacing gelding P. Q. is by Odd-fellow, out of a thoroughbred mare, whose name is unknown to his owner. Othello is one of the best bred stallions in the country, being by Sutton, out of Atlanta, a full sister to Beautiful Bells, being by The Moor—Minnehaha.

He is perhaps more like Sultan than any other of that sire's offspring, and his Sultan gait is unmistakable. Othello was recently purchased by his present owner from W. K. Robinson, of Santa Ana, for $5,000, and Walter Maben, who has driven him several times in trials, is of the opinion that he can easily beat the time he made in his first heat yesterday.

He will be shipped with Orin Hickock's string from San Francisco on May 1st to Lexington, Kentucky.

IN THE COURTS.

What the Judges, Lawyers, Clients and Witnesses Were At.

In the United States Court Bob Strawfenger, charged with preventing another man from crossing his ranch in Calabasas, was discharged by Commissioner Van Dyke, being able to demonstrate that he had a right to prevent such trespassing on his property.

Harry Herbert was tried for perjury by a jury, before Judge Ross. It was alleged that he committed this crime in swearing that S. A. Waldron had abandoned a claim to some Government land in Antelope valley, when, as a matter of fact, Waldron had the land seeded to grain.

The testimony for all this failed to show that Herbert did not swear in good faith according to the information and belief he was possessed of. Herbert swore that he did so think when he testified in the land case, and moreover the attorney who conducted the case knew what Herbert's information was and instructed him that under the circumstances he was justified in swearing that it was his opinion that Waldron had abandoned the land.

The court instructed the jury strongly in the prisoner's behalf, and acting under such instructions the jury very promptly returned a verdict of not guilty.

In Department 5 of the Superior Court the moral cesspool of the DeLurk divorce case was closed and the material cesspool of Pasadena's sewage was conducted as a means of purification.

The contention is between the City of Pasadena and T. B. Bishop, Esq., of San Francisco. It is to condemn a right-of-way over the lands of Mr. Bishop for the outfall sewer of Pasadena, on its way to the sewer farm, south of Mr. Bishop's property. It will take some time to settle. It is more than three years since this contention began, and at that time the Herald reported its beginning merely as a matter of news, with the forecast added that such a case was liable to stay in the courts for some time.

The Pasadena paper "jumped on the Herald with both feet" for this, alleging that it showed animus against the beautiful Crown of the Valley. It was not just to the Herald, which merely gave news it considered of importance, and the event proves how correct this paper was in its views.

The case is being stubbornly fought, M. E. Arthur, Esq., City Attorney of Pasadena, assisted by the Messrs. Haynes & Mitchell, appearing for the plaintiff city, and C. S. Wheeler, Esq., of San Francisco, assisted by Hon. S. M. White and Graves, O'Melveny & Shankland, for Mr. Bishop. Mr. Wheeler is a remarkably bright and able young attorney.

The Salvation Army matter came up in Department 1 and was continued until today. It would be a safe bet to make that the army will march again tonight.
