

CENSUS TAKERS.

What L. E. Mosher Says About the Work.

Some Unpleasant Difficulties That Are Met.

A Government Job With Plenty of Drawbacks.

Shortage in Blank Schedules—Inaccurate Statistics—Enumerators Anxious to Resign.

In these warm days L. E. Mosher, who represents the United States government in these parts, in the matter of taking the census, is inclined to perspire freely and use strong language. A reporter of this paper, who dropped into his office in the Bryson-Bonebrake block yesterday to ask how the work proceeded, got an answer which was not calculated to make the temperature of the apartment any cooler.

"I suppose we are doing as well as could be expected under the circumstances," said Mr. Mosher after his first burst of wrath had blown over, "but as the circumstances are not particularly favorable we are having rather a hard time. The first difficulty lies in the fact that the government did not send blanks enough. I have sent out all the agricultural schedules that they let me have and have telegraphed for more, but none can be had nearer than Washington, and in the meantime I keep receiving notices from enumerators scattered about the country that their work is at a standstill. I telegraphed first to some of the northern districts, but found them in a similar fix. The government ought to have established a depot of census supplies at San Francisco for the coast and the western states, so that we could secure them in a day or two, instead of having to wait a week. The census authorities took such means as they had at hand for computing how many blanks we would need, but they entirely underestimated this district.

"But besides this, there is plenty of trouble with the 196 enumerators who are at work. When they started out they seemed to me a pretty well selected lot of men, but some of them are lamentably careless about obeying orders. Each one mails at the end of each day's labor a card bearing at the top the number of his district, and below a statement of the work accomplished. One copy comes to me, and another goes direct to Washington without passing through my hands. Now tell me why, out of the 196 there should be a dozen men who persistently leave off the number of their district, although I have written a warning to some of them several times over? Funny, isn't it? At Washington they are receiving 60,000 of these cards a day. They must have a hard time getting them straight with mistakes of that sort occurring everywhere.

"Is not the work very thoroughly systematized?" asked the reporter. "Yes, almost too much so. Such an immense amount and variety of data is to be secured that the work becomes alarmingly complicated for the enumerator, and I scarcely wonder that he gets so tangled up sometimes that he forgets the number of his district. Look at this agricultural schedule, for example. The farmer is called upon to make a complete statement of his business affairs for the year—such a statement as he could hardly obtain anywhere unless he had carried on a thorough system of book-keeping. Outside of the impertinent questions, which have frequently been commented upon, there appears to be a good many inquiries which are liable to be misunderstood and to draw out useless answers. I take it that the government wants correct information. Incorrect is worse than none, because it is misleading. So it happens that a great deal depends upon the judgment of the enumerator, whether he will record the answers that he receives or will mark the question unanswered."

"Do many of the enumerators report refusals to answer?" "Yes, several of them. One man who had a district down in Alameda street had to give up in a number of cases. Another enumerator, after working hard several days in his district without accomplishing much of anything, wrote to me and asked that he be allowed to throw up his job. He was much disgusted. But his request could not be granted, and if he refuses to do the work he will be liable to a fine of $500. Quite a number of the enumerators have declared that they would never have undertaken the work if they had had any conception of how hard it would be. I had a card yesterday from one poor fellow who is driving about the desert in a wagon. It costs him $4 a day and he only gets $6 for the work. All of which goes to show that working for the census bureau of the United States is not the beautiful job which the large number of applicants for work would have led one to suppose."

PUBLIC WORKS.

Recommendations to be Acted Upon by the Council.

The board of public works met yesterday, and decided to make the following recommendations to the council on Monday next:

That the petition of M. La Pointe, asking for cement walks on Flower street, west side, between Sixth and Seventh, be granted, and the city engineer be instructed to present the necessary ordinance of intention to do said work.

That the petition of property-owners asking that the name of Sepulveda street be changed to Jackson street, be filed, as the change will be included in the next ordinance changing the names of streets.

That the petition of Wither Bros. et al., asking that the grade of Third street, at Columbia avenue, be raised, be granted, and the city engineer be instructed to present the necessary ordinance of intention to change said grade.

That the petition of C. Huber, asking that the laying of sidewalks be delayed, also protest of J. W. Haverstick in relation to laying sidewalks on Broadway, and also petition of Percival & Chambers et al., asking that the laying of walks on Fourth street, between Main and Los Angeles, be postponed, be referred to the street superintendent.

That the petition of Stephen Nicoletti, asking that he be allowed to place a watering trough in front of his property on New High street, be granted, the work to be done under the direction of the street superintendent.

That the petition of L. N. Breed et al., asking that Breed street, between First and Brooklyn avenue, be graded under specification No. 5, be granted, and the city engineer be instructed to present the necessary ordinance of intention to do said work.

THE SUPERVISORS.

Coroner Meredith Appointed to Succeed County Clerk Dunsmoor.

The board of supervisors met yesterday, a full board present with the exception of Supervisor Rowan. The report of the viewers was received in the matter of the Old River Schoolhouse road, and was taken under consideration.

In the matter of the vacation of certain streets in Seabright, it was ordered that the streets be vacated as prayed for in the petition upon the filing of a proper map.

The clerk was instructed to advertise for bids for printing 3,000 or more copies of the great register, bids to be opened June 23d and to be accompanied by a certified check for $500.

The Adams-street extension was continued till July 12th.

The regular business of the board being completed, the matter of appointing successor to County Clerk Dunsmoor, resigned, came up. Supervisor Davis presented a petition praying for the appointment of J. M. Meredith, and moved the appointment of that gentleman. Mr. Dunsmoor appeared before the board and made a request for the appointment of Mr. Meredith. On the call of the roll the election of Mr. Meredith was found to be unanimous.

HONORABLY ACQUITTED.

THE DECISION IN THE RIDGES-BRAINERD CASE.

Charges Preferred Against a Prominent Congregational Minister—An Investigation Demanded.

There has been considerable excitement, both in and out of church circles, regarding certain charges brought by William B. Ridges against Rev. E. R. Brainerd, pastor of the Park Congregational church of this city.

In a letter printed in the Los Angeles Times of May 5, 1890, Ridges charged Mr. Brainerd with a number of misdemeanors, and insinuated far more than was written.

These charges were made the ground for so much gossip, that Mr. Brainerd demanded an investigation by the church.

In compliance with his request, a committee was appointed by the church to arrange for an inquiry, which was held Monday and Tuesday evenings, June 2d and 3d, before an arbitrating committee, consisting of Rev. Dr. Pendleton, representing Mr. Ridges, Rev. J. H. Phillips, representing Mr. Brainerd, and George Mannon, Esq., who was chosen by Messrs. Pendleton and Phillips.

After a most thorough and searching investigation the following conclusion was arrived at by the arbitrators, which was concurred in by the church committee and endorsed by the congregation:

"We, the undersigned, a committee in arbitration duly appointed to examine into the certain accusations made by William B. Ridges against Rev. E. R. Brainerd and published in the Los Angeles Times under the date of May 15, 1890, hereby submit the following report, to-wit: Having patiently and attentively listened to the statements and evidence submitted by Mr. Ridges, and to the answers and evidence submitted by Mr. Brainerd, we are of the unanimous opinion that Mr. Brainerd should be held guiltless before his church and before this community of having in any way caused alienation and separation between Mr. Ridges and his wife. Both for want of evidence in support of the charge made, and from the testimony of credible witnesses to the contrary, the accusation falls to the ground, and with it each and every specification.

"While Mr. Ridges may have had strong provocation to publish his statement of May 9th from a previous article in the same paper, beginning 'On Friday morning, May 2d,' etc., it is evident to this committee that he was laboring under an entire misapprehension as to Mr. Brainerd's responsibility for the first article or for the causes leading to it. On this point the testimony before us was ample and complete, wholly exonerating Mr. Brainerd.

"While this investigation has necessarily involved Mrs. E. R. Brainerd's alleged connection with this matter, and it appearing in evidence that she said Mrs. Brainerd did exert her influence on the side of peace and harmony as between Mr. and Mrs. Ridges, we are of the opinion that she, Mrs. Brainerd, should stand exonerated with her husband.

"Now, in conclusion, it is the unanimous advice of this committee that the Park Congregational church do continue their confidence in Mr. Brainerd, their esteemed pastor, for there has not appeared in this investigation the slightest occasion for disturbing their hitherto happy relations with him.

"We advise, also, that Mr. Brainerd continue his work as a Christian minister in all confidence and assurance, accepting this finding of the commission as a vindication from any aspersions that he may feel has been cast upon him and his. Acquitted by a Christian council removes him further from seeming or actual reproach than could any justification by any other tribunal.

"We advise further that Mr. Ridges no longer hold Mr. and Mrs. Brainerd responsible for the cloud under which he is placed, and that he pursue the honor of his way hereafter uninfluenced by any prejudicial he may have cherished against them.

WM. H. PENDLETON, GEORGE MANNON, J. H. PHILLIPS, Arbitration Committee."

Mr. Ridges and Mr. Brainerd were asked if they had any further evidence to offer, if they had received a fair and impartial hearing, and if they accepted the finding of the committee and agreed to abide by the same, to all of which they replied in the affirmative.

From the above it will be seen that Mr. and Mrs. Brainerd came out of this trying ordeal with flying colors.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS.

The Trial of the Castac Case Still Under Way.

Several Witnesses Examined for the Defense.

Photographs of the Vicinity of the Shooting Exhibited.

The Chamber of Commerce Sends an Exhibit East—Other Events of More Than Ordinary Interest.

When court convened in department 1 of the superior court yesterday, where the Castac case is being tried, Attorney McComas, for the state, made a motion that the jury be taken to Castac cañon, at the scene of the shooting, that they be the better able to judge of the merits of the case. Judge Cheney said that he would over-rule the motion unless the defense had no objection, and the attorneys for Chormicle and Gardner refused to consent to such a move until the testimony was all in.

The first witness called was John Hall, the surveyor, who had testified before. He drew a map on the blackboard of the section lines and various points at the scene of the shooting, showing the spot where Miss Martinez stood when she saw the shooting.

E. W. Fortune testified to taking photographs of the cabin and valley, and was examined at length as to the location of the various objects and the positions he had occupied while taking the photographs. A large lot of photographs were introduced in evidence, and the examination of Fortune occupied the remainder of the forenoon.

In the afternoon Surveyor Hall was recalled, and questioned as to the photographs, which he assisted Fortune to take. A graphoscope was brought in, and the jury spent an hour looking at the pictures.

L. E. Polk, receiver of the land office, was called. He testified that Walton made an application to enter on the south half of section 23, in January last. The prosecution objected to the introduction of this evidence, and Judge Campbell said that he wanted to show that Walton made application for the land, was refused entry and went on the section armed, to forcibly take possession of it.

The court allowed the testimony, and Mr. Polk proceeded to read the order from the general land office giving the reason why the entry should not be allowed, namely, that the land was in the railroad indemnity grant.

On cross-examination the prosecution attempted to show that the section in question was mineral land, and should have been withdrawn from the railroad's grant, but the court refused to allow such testimony. The prosecution expected to bring in the relative positions of the photographs in regard to the status of the title of the land, beyond the fact that Walton had applied for entry, had the prosecution objected to it. The court intimated that the matter was not material, in any case, as the title to the land was not the subject before the court.

Miss Hilda Martinez was recalled by the defense, and pointed out in the photographs where she stood when she saw the shooting. The defense asked the witness about a conversation she is said to have had with old man Barola, in which the latter said Cook shot in his direction during the fusillade at the cabin, but the question was not allowed. The cross-examination of Miss Martinez was very long, and consisted chiefly of questions in regard to the relative positions of points about the scene of the shooting. The court adjourned at 5 o'clock until this morning.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

Shipments to "California on Wheels."

Donations to the Exhibit.

Messrs. Wiggin and Rowland, who have charge of the permanent exhibit of the chamber of commerce, are not depressed by the warm weather, but are continually skirmishing for matter for the permanent exhibit and also to send to "California on Wheels." Yesterday they made a very creditable shipment to the east consisting of the following articles:

Five cases of oranges from Dr. Briggs' ranch; lemons from the Strong-Russell ranch; potatoes, C. W. Hicks; apricots, F. O. Cass; green corn, M. W. Sinnott; eight-foot corn stalk, sixty days from seed, H. Dorian; squashes, Jacob Miller; turnips, L. O. George; barley in sheaf, J. A. Whitaker.

E. B. Miller contributed yesterday a fine specimen of gold ore, assay value at $550 per ton, to the mineral display of the permanent exhibit. Thomas Shooter added to the curio-room specimens of butterflies, tarantulas, centipedes, beetles, horned toads, etc.

Other donations were as follows: F. O. Cass, ripe pears, apricots, canned strawberries, cherries and plums; J. H. Coffman, Los Angeles, potatoes, corn; Lewis Long, Los Angeles, apricots; George Dunham, strawberries; Mrs. C. H. Strong, Whittier, lemons, black and white mulberries; M. W. Sinnott, Cahuenga valley, green corn; Jacob Miller, Cahuenga valley, plums and potatoes; J. L. Plummer, Cahuenga valley, string beans; C. W. Hicks, new potatoes; H. J. Height, cucumbers; George French, turnips; Samuel Kline, cabbage.

Flowers were donated by the following: Mrs. Green, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Lewis, Mrs. Hannah, Miss Scott.

THE EXPERIMENT STATION.

Difficulty Experienced in Raising Needed Funds.

Phil Stein, of Pomona, was in the city yesterday working in the interest of the experiment station which it is proposed to locate in this part of the state. The matter was brought up at the meeting of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce several weeks ago. A letter was read from Prof. Hilgard, of the State university, offering to use a part of the fund provided by the government for the establishment of a station for Southern California, provided a sufficient amount of land and water be donated and the sum of $3,000 be subscribed for the construction of a building.

The people of Pomona responded promptly, and agreed to give land and water which is said to be worth $10,000.

Of the $3,000 cash the Pomona people agreed to give their share.

The secretary of the chamber addressed a letter to the supervisors of Orange, Los Angeles and San Bernardino counties, asking them to make appropriations to assist the enterprise, but nothing was done. The capitalists of this vicinity were then appealed to, but thus far without result.

At a recent meeting of the people of Pomona the sum of $500 cash was subscribed toward the $3,000, and the business men and fruit-raisers of that section agreed to double the amount if necessary. Mr. Stein is now making another attempt to raise the needed $2,000 or $2,500. He complains that very little interest is taken in the matter and that its importance generally fails to be appreciated. The proposed station would make experiments in the growth of various products and keep a careful record of results. In the course of time valuable data will be collected which would considerably assist the agricultural interests of the section. It seems unfortunate that more interest is not taken in the matter, for if the state authorities who have been induced to make the offer, find that it is not taken up they may decide to locate the station in some other part of Southern California.

The Preventive of a Terrible Disease. No disease, excepting the most deadly form of lung disease, involves such a tremendous destruction of organic tissue as those which fasten upon the kidneys. Such maladies, when they become chronic and none are so liable to assume that phase—completely wreck the system. To prevent this terrible disease, recourse should be had upon the first manifestation of trouble, to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which experience has proved to be the most effective as the means of imparting tone and regularity to the organs of urination, as well as to the liver, stomach and bowels. Another beneficial result of this medicine, naturally consequent upon its diuretic action, is the elimination from the blood of impurities which tend to produce rheumatism, gout, dropsy and other maladies. By increasing the activity of the kidneys, it augments the depurative efficiency of these organs, which are most important outlets for the escape of such impurities.
