Graduation Exercises at the Hanna College.

Young Ladies Who Acquitted Themselves Well.

The Crown Hillites Meet and Discuss Several Matters.

The Water Question and the Grade of Streets on the Hill—Other Items of Interest.

The vast auditorium of the Simpson tabernacle, on Hope street, was crowded last night with the relatives and friends of the pupils of the Los Angeles college, the occasion being the annual presentation of prizes and diplomas to those who had distinguished themselves during the past year, and the holding of the commencement exercises.

The lower platform, which was tastefully decorated with flowers and evergreens, was more particularly graced by the class of 1890, which was composed of nine charming young ladies, most becomingly attired in white robes, of so many varieties of style, however, as to bewilder the uninitiated. The upper platform had been set apart for the programme only, and was occupied by a grand piano. The front seats in the center of the auditorium were occupied by the pupils of the college.

Shortly after 8 o'clock, the hour appointed for the entertainment, the proceedings were opened with an invocation, after which Miss Grace McNab and Prof. Willhardt rendered Flotow's overture of 'Mertha' arranged in the form of a piano duet, in a manner which pleased their large audience vastly. Miss Mary Morgan Chapin followed with a Latin salutatory, which, though utterly unintelligible to the majority of her hearers, was very well received. The first of a series of five-minute studies in essays was then read by Miss Tommie Melzer, whose vision of 'Poets' Homes and Haunts' was remarkably interesting paper.

'The University of Rhythm' was the title of another study by Miss Zoe Ballard, who handled her subject in a manner which was considerably above the average effort of the young lady graduate. Miss Mollie Adelia Brown's voice was heard to great advantage in a pretty solo of her own selection, and she responded gracefully to the encore which her audience demanded of her. A study entitled 'The Land of the Thistle and Its Heroes,' by Miss Sarah James, evinced a close research into the history of Scotland and its brassy songs on the part of that young lady, and her references to Scotch heroes, Livingston, Bruce, Knox and others fairly aroused the enthusiasm of the audience. Miss Anna Olive Henderson's 'Oratory, the Highest of Arts,' was a highly finished composition, and her fine delivery of the essay proved her to be an able exponent of the art she extolled. 'Fancy in Literature' was the title of a well-written essay by Miss Margaret Clark, which was followed by a finished performance of Raff's 'Polka de la Reine' by Miss Helene Dunn. One of the most interesting features of the evening's entertainment was Miss Mary Charlotte Vawter's study entitled 'Nature's Economics,' a subject which would at first sight appear to be beyond the ken of the average schoolgirl. Miss Vawter, however, proved herself to be remarkably well informed upon the matter in hand, and kept her listeners spell-bound during the reading of her strong essay. Miss Edith Oldridge followed with another very entertaining study, 'Imagination the Threshold of Accomplishment,' of which, unfortunately, lack of space forbids extended mention, beyond the fact that it was surpassed by none which had gone before. The first part of the programme was concluded by Miss Anna V. McNab, who sang Delibes's 'Chant de l'Amé,' and 'One Spring Morning,' in a very pleasing and effective manner.

The second part consisted of an open discussion on the subject of 'Pointings of Practical Thought in the Present Decade,' which was introduced and summarized by Miss Estelle Meyer, each member of the class responding; and Miss Kirkpatrick closed the entertainment with a very creditable performance of Raff's 'Cachucha.'

Remick prizes were then distributed by the Rev. Dr. Chichester, after a short introductory speech, to the following young ladies:

Highest General Standard—First prize, Miss Zella M. Jones; second prize, Miss Bertha Locke.

Highest Grade Grammar—First prize, Miss Sarah I. Shuttler; second prize, Miss Pauline E. Forman.

Department—First prize, Miss Lulu J. McCumber; second prize, Miss Mabel E. Guinn.

Primary Class—First prize, Miss Elizabeth J. Bonner; second prize, Miss Emma Donnell; third prize, Miss Adele Sentous; fourth prize, Miss Adele Flobert.

Head Class of One (juvenile)—Miss Anna M. McKel.

Professor Hanna then read an address, after which he presented diplomas to the following members of the class of '90: Classical course, Miss Mary Morgan Chapin; literary course, Misses Tommie Melzer, Zoe Ballard, Anna Olivia Henderson, Margaret Clark, Sarah Innes, Mary Charlotte Vawter, Edith Oldridge and Estelle Meyer; elocution, Miss Maud Remick; and music, Miss Helen Dunn. The benediction was then pronounced and the large audience dispersed, the majority of them remaining in the church to congratulate the graduates upon the successful conclusion of their school life.

CROWN HILLS.

Street and Other Matters Discussed at Length.

The Crown Hills Improvement Society met last night, C. M. Wells in the chair. Street matters generally were discussed, and it was decided to wait until the fate of the one in ten ordinance on First street had been decided.

Mr. Blanchard called attention to the plank on the pit at Second-street cable house. He said the place is becoming unsafe. Attention was also called to the water running over Second street, from Figueroa to Pearl, making the street impassable on the south side.

The water question was again very freely discussed. The fire at the corner of Belmont avenue and Temple street again fully demonstrated the short supply. During the fire no water was obtainable on the hills south or east of this corner.

Mr. Van Dusen called attention to the call to be made for a mass meeting, to be held in Temperance temple on the 18th, for the purpose of discussing the question of water supply and the city owning its own water system.

Mr. Van Dusen referred to the petition regarding fire hydrants, and stated that it was in the hands of the fire commission for action.

Mr. C. M. Wells will address this society on Tuesday evening next upon the subject, 'What We Have Done and What the Object of This Society Is.'

THE HIBERNIAN ORDER.

Yesterday Afternoon Spent in an Excursion to Santa Monica.

The state convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians met yesterday morning in the Y. M. I. hall, on Main street. The session lasted from 10 o'clock till 12, and was of course held with closed doors, as this is a secret organization.

The session opened with a prayer from Father Harkness. The committee on credentials then reported the following officers and delegates present:

Higgins; on resolutions, John Kenny, J. J. Donovan, O. C. Conlan, M. Fitzgerald, M. Conley; on reports to the press, J. P. Moran, P. J. Carr, P. J. Neill.

The committee on rules and order of business reported a code of rules for the government of the convention, which was adopted. The convention then proceeded with the work of the order, after which, at 12 o'clock, an adjournment was taken to 10 o'clock today.

The delegates then took the 1:07 train for Santa Monica. After a plunge in the surf, they dined at Bob Eckert's, at half-past four. At half-past six they returned to the city. The excursion, which was very thoroughly enjoyed by all, was in the charge of the local committee of reception, which consists of John P. Moran, John Moriarty, E. Tynan, W. J. Flattery, Andrew McNally, D. J. McCarthy, Hugh Smith, M. Hopkins and W. Powers.

The convention will hold sessions through the day today, and tonight will banquet at Jerry Illich's.

THE CELEBRATION.

Meeting of the General Committee on Arrangements.

The general committee of citizens on the Fourth of July celebration, which was appointed several days ago, held their first regular meeting last evening at the mayor's office. J. S. Van Doren occupied the chair, and Mayor Hazard acted as secretary. Both of these gentlemen were elected to serve as permanent officers in the positions which they held.

The first work was the appointment of an executive committee, which was selected as follows: Frank Marsh, R. F. Del Valle, P. Ballade, S. Hutton, W. H. Workman, Col. A. T. Palmer, Col. H. G. Shaw, Joe Messmer, Major A. W. Barrett, H. T. Hazard, S. M. Perry, J. Kuhrt, A. F. McKay, A. McNally, H. W. Patton, Charles A. Alexander, General J. R. Matthews, J. P. Moran, Horace Hillier, Frank Schibich, E. H. Hatcher, J. S. Van Doren, E. A. Forrester, Marco McGreggor, George A. Vignola, Barob Hellman, E. Germain, J. M. Johnston, Fred Eaton, T. W. Temple and M. E. C. Munday.

This executive committee was given full power to appoint all the sub-committees needed to make the celebration a success. Five were constituted a quorum, and the first meeting was called for Wednesday evening at 7:30. At that time the committee will organize and elect a president and secretary, appoint sub-committees and get down to work.

A resolution was passed to the effect that the Fourth be celebrated by a parade in the morning, literary exercises in the afternoon, and fire works in the evening.

A motion was passed requesting General E. P. Johnson, of the national guard, to have as many companies of the first brigade take part in the ceremonies of the day as could possibly be secured.

The committee then adjourned to meet again in two weeks.

RAILWAY MATTERS.

An Accident on the Atlantic and Pacific Line—Other News.

News came yesterday in the form of a rumor in railroad circles that an accident had occurred on the Atlantic and Pacific line by which an engineer had lost his life. The headquarters of the Atlantic and Pacific line are in Albuquerque, and no report of accidents is made to the Santa Fe headquarters in this city, except it be to send warning of the delay of the overland. Full information was, therefore, not obtainable.

The engineer who was killed was a man named Bowen, whose wife lives in Colton. She was informed yesterday that on Monday night her husband was killed by a bridge falling through the trestle beyond the Needles. He was running a water train. The only information received at the Santa Fe offices was to the effect that a water train was derailed, and that the overland would be several hours late.

Three trains of soldiers of the United States army passed through the city yesterday on the Southern Pacific, on their way to Portland, Oregon, from Arizona. Last Sunday five trains of soldiers went through from San Francisco to Arizona. This is the changing around of soldiers from one post to another, which the government causes to be made annually for some reason.

The belief appears to be general among railroad men that the recent purchase of the St. Louis and San Francisco line by the Santa Fe will bring about changes in the location of the general offices of the Atlantic and Pacific. These are now located at Albuquerque, and contain about twenty-five men. As this road, which was formerly owned in equal shares by the 'Frisco' and the Santa Fe lines, is now owned solely by the Santa Fe, it is not improbable that the consolidating policy which now prevails in the latter company will cause these offices to be taken either to Kansas City or to Los Angeles. The recent departure of General Manager K. H. Wade, of the Southern California line, for Chicago, is believed to have some connection with this matter. Railroad men here who understand the attitude of the Santa Fe officials toward Southern California and the regard in which they hold Mr. Wade, incline to the belief that the offices at Albuquerque will be brought to this city and consolidated with those of the Southern California, and the jurisdiction of Mr. Wade will be extended to Albuquerque.

BY TELEGRAPH.

At Biddeford, Maine, three French boys, aged 6, 8 and 16, were drowned. The Democratic convention of the Third Missouri district renominated Mr. Dockery for congress.

The National Association of Mutual Life and Accident Underwriters began its annual convention yesterday at New York.

At Niagara Falls a man jumped off the Goat-island bridge and swam to the brink of the American falls and disappeared.

The Oriental Mills Company of Providence, R. I., has made an assignment. Unsecured debts, $335,000; assets, $134,000.

The Western Passenger Association elected I. F. Goddard, formerly general manager of the Chicago, Santa Fe and California, chairman.

At Carrollton, Kentucky, the congressional convention to nominate Carlisle's successor, spent another day in fruitless wrangling and balloting.

Alderman James Pierson was fatally injured by an Erie train at Jersey City Monday night. Pierson was one of the 'boodles' aldermen of New York.

At Columbus, O., everything was quiet in the street car strike yesterday, each side waiting for the other to make a move. No attempt was made to run cars.

At Montreal, on production of Edwin Cowles's order in court yesterday, Mrs. Cowles was given the custody of the child. The case is bitter, and may die. The case against Hale, who shot him, has not yet been called.

At New York, Mrs. Mary Lester and her six-year-old son were brutally assaulted by the woman's husband last night. The physicians think both will die. Lester, who was drunk, has been arrested. He is an ex-convict.

Edward Jenkins, president of the Mexican Colonization Society of Lower California, cables to a friend in Washington: Please give an emphatic denial to the press to any connection of our company with the filibustering scheme.

At New York $2,000 worth of silk dresses and laces belonging to Mrs. Gleitman, of Montana, were seized at the custom house yesterday. Mrs. Gleitman arrived on the Arizona from Liverpool, and said the trunk which contained the goods contained nothing dutiable.

Australian Federation. MELBOURNE, June 10.—The legislative assembly of Victoria has unanimously approved the scheme for the federation of the Australian colonies, and has appointed delegates to the convention which is to consider the subject.

Successful National Banks. The Boston Daily Advertiser gives the following interesting account of the Maverick National Bank, of Boston, a bank which is as well known in business and financial circles as any bank in the United States:

The Maverick Bank was incorporated in 1854, and was one of the last, if not the very last, in which the old law of Massachusetts, which required the banking law of Massachusetts, had a local interest—that is, it was intended to advance the interests of East Boston, which, since 1830, had grown to be one of the most important outlying wards of Boston. It had established shipyards and other large manufacturing industries; it was the Boston terminus of the Cunard line of steamships, and it had arranged for a series of warehouses and dock privileges which have since become famous in the commercial history of Boston.

In 1875 the bank moved to its present quarters in the city proper, at the corner of Congress and Water streets, in Postoffice square. But the Maverick Bank of 1854 was but a mere shadow of what the Maverick Bank of today is—that is, in the great volume of its business. The capital remains today the same as it was in 1854, $400,000, but its transactions now are immense. When we take into account the surplus is over $600,000, the story of its great success is told.

In respect to its management at the present time is very much like that which has characterized the Chemical Bank of New York for three-quarters of a century. It has a strong, present president, is a born financier. He took to financing naturally, and his early education was in the study of the science of a fiduciary factor; and we do not hesilate to say that under the presidency of Mr. Potter few banks in the country have absorbed so much of the foreign and domestic business in exchange and credits as the Maverick National Bank of 1850.

The original directors were Samuel Hall, Noah Sturtevant, William C. Barstow, Henry N. Hooper, F. A. Sumner, Samuel Hall, the first president was the well-known shipbuilder of Boston. Capt. William C. Barstow was a genuine sea salt, and a capable commander. Henry N. Hooper was then at the head of the great cooper foundry firm of Henry N. Hooper & Co., on Commercial street; Noah Sturtevant was of the old coal firm of Newell, Sturtevant & Co., and a large owner of real estate in East Boston; Frederick A. Sumner was of the firm of Sumner & Swift.

The present directors are Asa F. Potter, president; Henry F. Woods, Jonas H. French, Thomas Dana, J. W. Work. See advertisement.

Ornithological.

A New Haven man placed a pigeon on a nest of eggs a short time ago. A week later a hen flew into the nest, drove the pigeon away, and, after destroying the eggs, laid one of her own. The pigeon returned and kept the hen's egg warm for twenty-four days, and a day or two ago a little white chicken was found in the nest. At the time the pigeon found some trouble in feeding the chicken, it was placed in a brooder, and now the pigeon is heartbroken.

Malaria

Is believed to be caused by poisonous miasms arising from low, marshy land or from decaying vegetable matter, and which, breathed into the lungs, enter and poison the blood. If a healthy condition of the blood is maintained by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, one is much less liable to malaria, and Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured many severe cases of this distressing affection.

A Wonderful Medicine.

"For malaria I think Hood's Sarsaparilla has no equal. It has kept my children well right through the summer, and we live in one of the worst places for malaria in Maryland. I take Hood's Sarsaparilla for that all gone feeling, with great benefit." Mrs. B. F. DAVIS, Maryland, Cal.

Break-Bone Fever.

"My daughter Pearl was taken with dengue (or break-bone) fever 2 years ago, and my friends thought I would lose her. I had almost given up hope until she began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. She took four bottles in four months, and gained 15 pounds. I thank Hood's Sarsaparilla for giving her back to me restored to health and strength." JULIA A. KING, Sherman, Texas.
