

DAILY HERALD.

SEVEN DAYS A WEEK.

JOSEPH D. LYNCH. JAMES J. AYERS. AYERS & LYNCH, PUBLISHERS.

DELIVERED BY CARRIERS At 20c. Per Week, or 80c. Per Month.

TERMS BY MAIL, INCLUDING POSTAGE: DAILY HERALD, ONE YEAR, $4.00

Notice to Mail Subscribers. The papers of all delinquent mail subscribers to the Los Angeles Daily Herald will be promptly discontinued hereafter.

The "Daily Herald" May be found in San Francisco at the Palace Hotel news-stand; in Chicago at the Postoffice news-stand, 103 East Adams street; in Denver Smith & Sons' news-stand, Fifteenth and Lawrence streets.

Office of Publication, 223-225 West Second street. Telephone 156.

TUESDAY, JUNE 17, 1890.

THE WAY TO DO IT.

Progressive communities must be foreseeing ones, and they must sometimes put out money that will not be profitable because of its direct fruits, but because the enterprise it backs has others cognate with it that will be of direct benefit to the community.

In other words, the policy that must see a dollar and a half in full view and attainable tomorrow before a dollar is risked today, is not the policy of wise people and will not lead to big results.

It is interesting to trace the derivation of words, and much instruction in a most practical sort often lurks behind a bit of philological research.

For example, take the word "rival." It is from the same root as the word river and came into being because of the intense jealousy of cities situated opposite each other, or near one another on the same stream.

The struggle for supremacy crystallized in that word rival is an old one; but it is a strong principle in the affairs of life today. And let us not dream that Los Angeles has no rivalry to contend with.

This city has a very strong position and manifold advantages in her favor; but these things are inoperative unless we improve them. They are not automatic in their action, but must be wisely used to bring about results.

Los Angeles has rivalry, and that of no mean strength. San Francisco is 500 miles away, and that fact discounts her population and wealth so far as we are concerned, provided we bestir ourselves and use the advantages of our position.

San Diego is only 100 miles from us, and she has an excellent harbor for commercial purposes. We are placed in the midst of a section of great possibilities, and the business of this rich valley belongs to us by every economic law; but we must be ready to do this business and to serve the interests of this community—that is, of ourselves—and to develop the resources of the valley.

The pawnbroker's method of doing business will not succeed in holding our own in this sharp rivalry in business. It will require a better than a hand-to-mouth policy if we are to succeed. Here is a little straw to show how the wind is blowing down at the silver gate of bay and climate.

San Diego has no opera house. No sane man would build a pretentious edifice there for such a purpose as a private commercial venture. It would not pay. But a lot of people who are interested in other matters in that city have taken the matter up and propose to build one of the finest houses in the state.

The sum of $500,000 has been raised and paid for a lot, and now the Sespé Brown Stone Company has an order to get out stone for the building. In giving the order the persons interested said to the agent of the company: "We may not be able to put the building up at once in these dull times, but send down the stone and we will pile it upon the lot for the present, and go on with the work at a near day."

The edifice when complete, with the lot included, is to cost $250,000. It will not pay one per cent. a year on the investment, but it will help to make other enterprises pay and it will build up San Diego. The Coronado does not begin to pay one per cent. on its cost, but it is of incalculable effect in its good to the city. And just such is the broad spirit of enterprise that has made most great cities. That was the spirit that made Chicago what she is.

Ralston's venturesome methods did a great deal to build up San Francisco. The same methods are being used with marvelous results at Tacoma, Seattle, Spokane Falls and Portland right now. We must not drop behind the procession a jot. Our place is in the foremost ranks, but supineness will not keep us there as things are going. To keep in place we must simply move.

There is a good deal of downright absurdity in the cry "The Chinese must go" as things are running in these "digging" at this particular moment. The unwary may take it for granted that we are writing in a political vein and intend to attack the Republican administration for allowing the wily Mongolian to creep into the country by way of Ensenada and Tia Juana.

But other reflections are coming to the surface in the light of present facts, and these reflections are under existing circumstances, industrial rather than political, John is not likely to go worth a cent. Here are our friends of the pure Caucasian and other supposedly superior races declaiming that the Chinese must go, while John is quietly renting land for which he pays as high as $50 a year rental, on which he is raising cabbages and potatoes and fairly coining money from the sale of the crops. He made as high as $500 an acre from his cabbage heads a couple of months ago, and now he is repeating the winning game on the crop of "spuds" that is being shipped to the east in train loads. The prices for cabbage last March set in at $20 a ton, which John shrewdly raised to $50 by May. So with the tubers. The price started a month ago at 90 cents a hundred, and as the demand developed little by little the price has been forced up until now it has reached $1.30, or an increment of nearly 50 per cent. To go in and compete with the Chinese in making some of this money, would be a rather more effective way of making them go, than is this repetition of the famous phrase that Dennis Kearney made trite and meaningless a dozen years ago by his senseless tirades all over the state.

The Chinese will not go so long as our own people remain idle and helpless, declaiming against fate, while they leave such rich fields to the Mongol to reap without competition.

Wilson Barrett at the Grand. A large and appreciative audience assembled at the Grand last night to greet Mr. Wilson Barrett in Claudian. Both play and star were new to our people, and the judgment given last night on the latter was necessarily a spontaneous one, in no way influenced by considerations other than merit. It is but fair to say that it was highly favorable.

The piece itself is a morbid theme, worked out with considerable melodramatic skill and not without a suspicion of plagiarism from the Wandering Jew and Dumas's conception of Castro. It is highly stagey, with a good deal of bathos, which it is intended to pass off for pathos, strained situations and highly improbable incidents. It is not too harsh a judgment to say that a play which calls in the accessories of miracle and superstition in the closing years of the nineteenth century has certain elements of weakness about it.

Yet, on the whole, it is quite effective and is not without a certain modern prize fighter or an ancient gladiator. One of the absurdities of the play is that, notwithstanding the virile make of Mr. Barrett, when he stabs people they either get up and sermonize, or curse for half an hour, or walk off at a gallop that would do credit to a sprinter.

The star with one exception—perhaps two exceptions—constitutes the main strength of the company. He is graceful and statuesque, and his posings are altogether admirable. At times he attempts to great energy of declamation, and he just stops short at the line of histrionic genius, if, indeed, he does stop short of that height. Of this Angeleño will be prepared to form a better opinion when they have seen him in Hamlet.

The verdict of our amusement-goers was favorable, on the whole, was shown by their repeated calls to Mr. Barrett to come in front of the curtain and bow his acknowledgments to a very enthusiastic greeting, which he very gallantly shared with Miss Eastlake, though why he should do so on any other ground than gallantry it would puzzle a Philadelphia lawyer to find out.

The principal merit of Mr. George Barrett, who played "Belos," is that he looks like a comedian instead of being one. The stage effects last night were frequently sensational, the sets were often artistic and the costumes of the principal characters exceedingly attractive. It would not hurt the piece or displease the audience if the players would talk so that they could be heard, which many of them, both male and female, often failed to do.

Claudian holds the boards tonight, and is well worth seeing, if only to enable one to say that they have seen it.

THE CENSUS TAKERS. A Kick From San Diego—The Case of Mrs. Davis. Seven out of the thirty-two enumerators who are at work in this city reported off yesterday, having completed their labors. The others will continue several days longer.

Douglas Gunn, mayor of San Diego, writes to Mr. Mosher complaining that the census work is not being done in a satisfactory manner in that city, and that many of the people there are not going to be enrolled. And Mr. Mosher answers back that the enumerators at work in San Diego report much difficulty in getting answers to their questions, and he suggests that the people there be stirred up to a proper understanding of their interest in the matter.

W. H. Hunter, of San Bernardino, who is wanted by the United States authorities, could not be found, and it is believed that he has come to Los Angeles. It is reported that on Decoration day he tore the flags off his house which some neighbor had given his little daughter and had assisted her to nail up. If the reports are true he is not possessed of a loyal spirit toward the United States government, which perhaps accounts for his alleged failure to comply with census regulations.

Mrs. Margaret Davis, of 553 1/2 Los Angeles street, who was arrested five days ago for failure to answer questions, tells her side of the story. She says that the enumerator called at 6 o'clock while she was at supper, which put her also to no little inconvenience. She says that she answered all the questions that were put until he asked her rather bluntly whether she was not "grass" widow, at which she took offense and refused to answer. It is reported that Mrs. Davis is an invalid, suffering from heart disease, and that the arrest has caused the lady a dangerous degree of excitement. A man by the name of J. J. Freeland, who is employed in a coal yard in this city, was reported to the authorities yesterday for failure to answer questions. The enumerator said that the man was inclined to be frivolous, and wanted to hold up the entire business to ridicule. After the warrant was issued for his arrest, Freeland came to the census office and disclaimed any intention of making trouble, but Mr. Mosher assured him that the law must take its course.

BLAINE ON SUGAR. HE IS NOT OPPOSED TO THE FREE ARTICLE. But He Wants the Countries Who Get the Benefit of It to Reciprocate With the United States.

AUGUSTA, Me., June 16.—A letter from Secretary Blaine to ex-Mayor Cony says: "You are in error in supposing that I am opposed to sugar being admitted free of duty. My objection is not to free sugar, but to the proposed method of making it free. If in the impending tariff bill sugar is placed upon the free list, we give to certain countries a free market for $95,000,000 of their products, while they are not asked to open their markets to the free admission of a single dollar of American products. We ought to have in exchange for free sugar from certain countries a free market for breadstuffs and provisions, besides various fabrics from all parts of our country. In short, we ought to secure in return for free sugar a market for $60,000,000 or $70,000,000 worth of our products. It will not require a reciprocity treaty to secure this great boon. The tariff bill can contain all the necessary conditions. The legislative power is able to secure the desired end. Within the last twenty years we have given to certain countries south of us free admission for nearly $60,000,000 worth of their products without receiving any advantage in exchange. If sugar be now made unconditionally free, we shall have given to the Latin-American countries free admission for $150,000,000 of their products. It is, I think, to look out for some reciprocal advantages. We are a very rich nation, but not rich enough to trade on an unequal basis."

Another well-known personage, who is at present "under curatelle," and whose name is well known in the United States, is Baron Victor Erlanger, once a magnate of European finance but now an exile residing on the shores of Lake Geneva in Switzerland. Only last week a suit was brought against the trustees of his bankruptcy, in the course of which the whole circumstances of his ruin were again made public.—Vienna Letter in N. Y. Tribune.

SOCIETY IN ENGLAND. The Standard of Morality Among the Upper Classes is Rather Low. There has always been prevalent a conviction that a higher standard of morality is common in the higher classes of society than is to be found in corresponding circles in continental Europe. This is altogether a mistake. In the early days of Queen Victoria's reign, when the court was presided over by a young woman of the severest virtue, matters were very different. The soiled doves existed then as now, and as they always will exist, but not in large numbers, and they were not permitted to flutter their sullied wings in the guarded precincts where royalty sat in state. We or they or somebody have changed all this. Rank and fashion can do as they like. I can mention, for instance, a beautiful and titled Englishwoman, one of the recognized leaders of London society, who is the mother of a child that cannot well be accounted for by any complication of her conjugal arrangements. Yet her husband's name is mentioned and unassailable. There is another well-known woman of high rank whose intrigues have been numberless and flagrant, and who is socially none the worse for her countless escapades. But it is of no use multiplying instances, for the list might be extended indefinitely. Only, if anyone who knew the inside history of the English nobility were to go carefully through that ponderous volume, the British peerage, annotating the pages as he read, the result would furnish some remarkably spicy reading.

The comparative and praiseworthy purity of English morals, as contrasted with those of the French, lies in the outward cleanliness of their literature and art. The novels and plays, and the columns of the daily newspapers are free from indecorousness, unless indeed the details of some peculiarly sensational divorce case disfigure the latter. For your British moralist does not disdain to write very nasty things, if only they be true, on such occasions. The publication, for instance, of the Colin Campbell divorce suit would have been as impossible for the French papers as would that of Zola's novel, "La Terre," in an unmodified form, for the English ones. But what is the use of keeping the British young person strictly secluded from all sight and knowledge of vice, if on her introduction to society, she finds herself face to face with vice itself, arrayed in velvet and diamonds and smiled upon by all that is most exclusive and severe. A dozen immoral novels and a score of improper pictures would hardly do that typical personage's principles half as much harm as does the spectacle of a fair female sinner, courted and caressed in fashionable society by just the very individuals whose notice is considered best worth having.

American society is far more particular in this respect, and long may it remain so. But the power of the reigning Anglomaniacs is very great, and under its influence some strange things have already happened. That a handsome ex-mistress of the prince of Wales did not meet with a rapturous reception in New York society a few years ago was largely due to chance. Still, she was not received—let the credit of our American hostesses be said. But British peers, traveling with the wives of other men and leaving their own at home, or else the heroes of the most hideous of European scandals, have found great social acceptance and lordly entertainments in our principal American cities. May these instances prove isolated ones, and may the experiences of the past teach our people a lesson for the future.—Lucy Hooper in St. Louis Post Dispatch.

"It is a fact," that Hood's Sarsaparilla does cure scrofula, salt rheum and other diseases or affections arising from impure state or low condition of the blood, overcomes that tired feeling, creates a good appetite, and gives strength to every part of the system. Try it.

Mr. Bernard Dubouche wishes to let his friends know that he has returned to his home at 1613 St. Johns street, and has entirely recovered from his late sickness.

Mrs. Rusche & Downey, boiled ham, tongue and cold sliced meats, 350 8, Spring street. Use "German Family" soap.

SOCIETY MEETINGS. LOS ANGELES CHAPTER, R. A. M.—STATED convocations on the second Monday of each month, at 7:40 p. m., at Masonic hall, Spring st., bet. First and Second. j6-14-90

FRATERNITY LODGE, NO. 79, K. O. F.—Meets on second and fourth Wednesday evenings in each month at Pythian Castle, 24 S. Spring st. j6-14-90

MERRILL LODGE, NO. 299, I. O. G. T.—Meets every Monday evening, at Merrill Lodge hall, cor. Broadway and Temple st. j6-14-90

LOS ANGELES LODGE, NO. 35, I. O. O. F.—Regular meetings held on Wednesday evening in each week at I. O. O. F. hall, Spring st., near First. j6-14-90

O. C. F. GUARDIAN COUNCIL, NO. 90.—Regular meetings first and third Fridays, at Pythian Castle, 24 S. Spring st. j6-14-90

JOHN B. FINCH LODGE, I. O. G. T.—MEETS Tuesday evenings, in Campbell's hall, East Los Angeles. j6-14-90

LOS ANGELES CHAPTER, R. A. M.—STATED convocations on the second Monday of each month, at 7:40 p. m., at Masonic hall, Spring st., bet. First and Second. j6-14-90

FRATERNITY LODGE, NO. 79, K. O. F.—Meets on second and fourth Wednesday evenings in each month at Pythian Castle, 24 S. Spring st. j6-14-90

MERRILL LODGE, NO. 299, I. O. G. T.—Meets every Monday evening, at Merrill Lodge hall, cor. Broadway and Temple st. j6-14-90

of an ordinary mortal, was far from adequate for a high and mighty prince who refuses to smoke anything but Havana cigars at $3 apiece. Under the circumstances it is not surprising that it should have been a tobacco merchant who first instituted the steps that finally landed his highness in the bankruptcy court and resulted in his being placed "under curatelle." This "under curatelle" condition is one that is exceedingly unpleasant. It is equivalent to a declaration of perpetual minority, and the person on whom it is imposed is not only declared incapable of managing his own affairs, but is practically outlawed and deprived of the electoral franchise and almost every other right of citizenship. No civil contract entered into by him is valid. His signature is of no account in point of law, and from the legal point of view he is nobody—as unsubstantial as the family ghost and as irresponsible as a babe unborn. Prince Trautmannsdorff was the president of the Austrian Jockey Club, where he lost in a single night $450,000 at cards. With a view of retrieving his fortunes, he straightway purchased for a rise a large number of options on wheat and other cereals, which, however, greatly to his dismay, took a downward instead of an upward course, rendering him thereby liable for differences to the tune of $8,000,000.

Another well-known personage, who is at present "under curatelle," and whose name is well known in the United States, is Baron Victor Erlanger, once a magnate of European finance but now an exile residing on the shores of Lake Geneva in Switzerland. Only last week a suit was brought against the trustees of his bankruptcy, in the course of which the whole circumstances of his ruin were again made public.—Vienna Letter in N. Y. Tribune.

SOCIETY IN ENGLAND. The Standard of Morality Among the Upper Classes is Rather Low. There has always been prevalent a conviction that a higher standard of morality is common in the higher classes of society than is to be found in corresponding circles in continental Europe. This is altogether a mistake. In the early days of Queen Victoria's reign, when the court was presided over by a young woman of the severest virtue, matters were very different. The soiled doves existed then as now, and as they always will exist, but not in large numbers, and they were not permitted to flutter their sullied wings in the guarded precincts where royalty sat in state. We or they or somebody have changed all this. Rank and fashion can do as they like. I can mention, for instance, a beautiful and titled Englishwoman, one of the recognized leaders of London society, who is the mother of a child that cannot well be accounted for by any complication of her conjugal arrangements. Yet her husband's name is mentioned and unassailable. There is another well-known woman of high rank whose intrigues have been numberless and flagrant, and who is socially none the worse for her countless escapades. But it is of no use multiplying instances, for the list might be extended indefinitely. Only, if anyone who knew the inside history of the English nobility were to go carefully through that ponderous volume, the British peerage, annotating the pages as he read, the result would furnish some remarkably spicy reading.

The comparative and praiseworthy purity of English morals, as contrasted with those of the French, lies in the outward cleanliness of their literature and art. The novels and plays, and the columns of the daily newspapers are free from indecorousness, unless indeed the details of some peculiarly sensational divorce case disfigure the latter. For your British moralist does not disdain to write very nasty things, if only they be true, on such occasions. The publication, for instance, of the Colin Campbell divorce suit would have been as impossible for the French papers as would that of Zola's novel, "La Terre," in an unmodified form, for the English ones. But what is the use of keeping the British young person strictly secluded from all sight and knowledge of vice, if on her introduction to society, she finds herself face to face with vice itself, arrayed in velvet and diamonds and smiled upon by all that is most exclusive and severe. A dozen immoral novels and a score of improper pictures would hardly do that typical personage's principles half as much harm as does the spectacle of a fair female sinner, courted and caressed in fashionable society by just the very individuals whose notice is considered best worth having.

American society is far more particular in this respect, and long may it remain so. But the power of the reigning Anglomaniacs is very great, and under its influence some strange things have already happened. That a handsome ex-mistress of the prince of Wales did not meet with a rapturous reception in New York society a few years ago was largely due to chance. Still, she was not received—let the credit of our American hostesses be said. But British peers, traveling with the wives of other men and leaving their own at home, or else the heroes of the most hideous of European scandals, have found great social acceptance and lordly entertainments in our principal American cities. May these instances prove isolated ones, and may the experiences of the past teach our people a lesson for the future.—Lucy Hooper in St. Louis Post Dispatch.

"It is a fact," that Hood's Sarsaparilla does cure scrofula, salt rheum and other diseases or affections arising from impure state or low condition of the blood, overcomes that tired feeling, creates a good appetite, and gives strength to every part of the system. Try it.

Mr. Bernard Dubouche wishes to let his friends know that he has returned to his home at 1613 St. Johns street, and has entirely recovered from his late sickness.

Mrs. Rusche & Downey, boiled ham, tongue and cold sliced meats, 350 8, Spring street. Use "German Family" soap.

SOCIETY MEETINGS. LOS ANGELES CHAPTER, R. A. M.—STATED convocations on the second Monday of each month, at 7:40 p. m., at Masonic hall, Spring st., bet. First and Second. j6-14-90

FRATERNITY LODGE, NO. 79, K. O. F.—Meets on second and fourth Wednesday evenings in each month at Pythian Castle, 24 S. Spring st. j6-14-90

MERRILL LODGE, NO. 299, I. O. G. T.—Meets every Monday evening, at Merrill Lodge hall, cor. Broadway and Temple st. j6-14-90

LOS ANGELES LODGE, NO. 35, I. O. O. F.—Regular meetings held on Wednesday evening in each week at I. O. O. F. hall, Spring st., near First. j6-14-90

O. C. F. GUARDIAN COUNCIL, NO. 90.—Regular meetings first and third Fridays, at Pythian Castle, 24 S. Spring st. j6-14-90

JOHN B. FINCH LODGE, I. O. G. T.—MEETS Tuesday evenings, in Campbell's hall, East Los Angeles. j6-14-90

LOS ANGELES CHAPTER, R. A. M.—STATED convocations on the second Monday of each month, at 7:40 p. m., at Masonic hall, Spring st., bet. First and Second. j6-14-90

FRATERNITY LODGE, NO. 79, K. O. F.—Meets on second and fourth Wednesday evenings in each month at Pythian Castle, 24 S. Spring st. j6-14-90

MERRILL LODGE, NO. 299, I. O. G. T.—Meets every Monday evening, at Merrill Lodge hall, cor. Broadway and Temple st. j6-14-90

LOS ANGELES LODGE, NO. 35, I. O. O. F.—Regular meetings held on Wednesday evening in each week at I. O. O. F. hall, Spring st., near First. j6-14-90

O. C. F. GUARDIAN COUNCIL, NO. 90.—Regular meetings first and third Fridays, at Pythian Castle, 24 S. Spring st. j6-14-90

FIVE CENTS A LINE. Situations obtained, help secured, houses rented, property of all kinds bought and sold, and money loaned by advertising in these columns. Everybody Reads Them.

WANTED—MISCELLANEOUS. WANTED—LADIES CAN MAKE MONEY by selling "Blush of Roses" for the complexion. Call at ROOM 205, 554 S. Pearl st. j6-13-90

WANTED—TO BUY SECOND-HAND wagons and carriages. 128 SAN PEDRO st. j6-13-90

WANTED—BY A YOUNG MAN OF 22, situation as salesman in a store; has a knowledge of book-keeping; speaks English, German and French. Address E. M., Prospect Park P. O., Los Angeles county. j6-13-90

WANTED—GERMAN GIRL TO GO GENERAL housework. Call or address W. W. ADAMS, near Grand avenue. j6-17-90

WANTED—NITTINGER'S INFORMATION AND EMPLOYMENT BUREAU; help free. 319 1/2 S. Spring. Telephone 113. m16-12m

WANTED—MALE HELP. WANTED—BOY ABOUT SIXTEEN TO learn the photograph business. Apply at GALLERY, No. 213 1/2 S. Spring st. j6-17-90

WANTED—SITUATIONS Male. WANTED—SITUATION BY GOOD JAPANESE cook, who can best do general housework. Address K. HARRY, Japanese mission, 219 W. Fourth st. j6-17-90

PERSONAL. "ECONOMIC" PRICES—SUGAR, 18 LBS. brown or 15 lbs. white, $1.45 rice, sugar or tobacco, 25c. 13 lbs. white beans 25c. starch, 4 packages, 25c. German 20c. silver corn, 15c. 10 lbs. cornmeal, 15c.; pickles, 10c. a qt.; good black or Japan tea, 35c.; sack flour, 80c. Frencho flour, $1.15; 10 cans salmon, $1.75; 10 cans of tomatoes, 25c.; can roast beef, 20c.; pruned tongue, 10c.; dried peaches or prunes, 5c. a lb.; 6 lbs. raisins, 25c.; bars soap, $1; bacon, 12c.; ham, 13c.; pork, 10c. ECONOMIC STORES, 509-511 S. Spring st. Telephone 975. m5-11

PROF. S. A. MORSE, HAS LOCATED PERMANENTLY in the city, any time during his absence an agent will be left in charge of business at 124 1/2 S. SPRING ST. j6-17-90

NEW YORK FIREWORKS FOR FOURTH of July—Chalmers & Moran, 215 S. Main st. Fireworks of all kinds, including the best of fireworks; they will be sold off wholesale and retail at lowest prices; call early while the stock is full and secure your supplies. j6-17-90

FOR LOST DOG HOME TAKE TEMPLE ST. dog, a few cents spent in an advertisement or sale, cheap. Ask cable conductor. j6-17-90

DON'T DISPOSE OF YOUR CAST-OFF clothes until you try Morris, who always pays full value for ladies' and gentlemen's clothing, orders by mail promptly attended to. Be sure to look for sign, "MORRIS," 215 Commercial st. m18-11

DIVORCE AND PROBATE LAW A. S. SPANGLY, HOLLAND & GARDNER, attorneys, 126 W. First st. Advice free. m29-11

PERSONAL—INTERESTING TO EVERYBODY. How to make and save money. Read the classified advertisements in the HERALD and you will find many interesting and profitable opportunities. You may acquire a situation; sell your house and land; invest your money; buy a business or sell to advantage; loan your idle money or borrow cheaper than from agents; and in a thousand different ways generate substantial advantage. On this page advertisements are only FIVE CENTS A LINE A DAY.

MCCARTHY'S DETECTIVE Agency will furnish reliable and expert assistance to private persons on short notice; we investigate all classes of crimes; locate missing parties; obtain evidence in civil and criminal actions; and all other legitimate business attended to with dispatch. All transactions strictly confidential. Best of references given when required; terms reasonable. Address all communications to JOHN MCCARTHY, Manager, Rooms 205 and 206, Larronde Block, 209 W. First street. m45-11

FOR SALE—LIVE STOCK. FOR SALE—THOROUGHBRED HOLSTEIN bulls, 1, E. DURKEE, Bonita Meadows, Washington st. j6-17-90

FOR SALE—BROOD SOWS AND A STOCK hogs, at BROCKERS STOCK FARM, or address E. R. DARTOIS, room 15, Wilson block. m10-11m

LIVE STOCK. STANDARD BRED TROTTER STALLION, S. Stamboul, Jr., No. 10, 142, sired by Standard, 12 1/2; dam by Arthurton, 305, sire of Arab, 2-15; will stand for service, season 1890, at Olive Stables, 628 S. Olive street. Terms, $50 season. T. H. REYNOLDS, Owner. m25-11m

LOST AND FOUND. ESTRAY HORSE—CAME TO MY PLACE in the latter part of May, 1890; about 15 hands high; light bay; white left side and vented. Owner can have same by proving property and paying charges. Address No. 416 HAY ST. j6-17-10c

FOR RENT—SECOND, THIRD AND FOURTH stories, No. 139 Broadway, 39 rooms. E. B. MILLAR. j6-17-90

FOR RENT—CHOICE FRONT AND 30 FEET back, 155 N. Spring st.; splendid stand for light business; also whole of store room, 213 N. Spring st.; choice for confectionery and fruit store; complete in the block. H. BURKE, 155 N. Spring st. j6-17-90

FOR RENT—HOUSES. FOR RENT—HOUSES ALL OVER THE CITY. C. A. SUMNER & CO., 7 S. Fort st. m10-11

FOR RENT—HOUSES. LA CLEDE HOUSE, 713 S. MAIN ST., NEAR Seventh; elegant rooms, newly painted and kalsomined, $4 to $5 per month, unfurnished; cheapest, best and most central in the city. AT THE HOUSE. j6-12-90

SUMMER RESORTS. WHERE TO SPEND THE SUMMER. HOTEL Metropole, Avalon, Santa Catalina Island. This resort is now open for the summer under a new management. The house has been put in perfect order, and we are prepared to insure comfort and pleasure of all guests. The island is too well known for its own unparalleled attractions in the way of climate, fishing, bathing, scenery, etc., for extended comment here. The culinary department will have special care, and good cooking will be the prime object of the new management. The dining-room is large, well ventilated and will be kept in perfect order. Terms reasonable. Address, CRAIG & BLINN, Avalon, California Island. j6-17-90

SUMMER BOARDING—A FEW DESIRABLE boarders will be received at St. Hilda's Hall (late Hotel Glendale), at very moderate rates. Take Glendale H. to Downey avenue. j6-17-90

SOMETHING NEW VIA RIO GRANDE Western railway, Missouri Pacific and Chicago and Alton routes, through without change, Broad Gauge Pullman tourist sleeping cars, fully and elegantly equipped, to Kansas City, Chicago, Boston and New York every Monday, commencing July 7th; the only personally conducted excursions via this route through to Boston. Call on or address, J. C. JUDSON & CO., 111 Central st., Los Angeles. j6-12-90

WALTERS' SPECIAL TEACHERS' EXCURSIONS leave June 11th and 25th. Personally conducted to Boston. 119 N. SPRING ST. m29-11

UNION PACIFIC RAILWAY WEEKLY EXCURSIONS to Ogden and Denver. Through tourist cars, fully equipped to Chicago, without change. Only one change to New York and Boston. For tickets and reservations, call on or address, JOHN CLARK, agent, 151 North Spring street, Los Angeles. m29-11

SPECIAL TEACHERS' EXCURSION TO THE Honoluli, leaves Los Angeles, June 26th, for Honolulu, via San Francisco. Personally conducted by H. B. Rice. Round trip only $110. Address care S. P. Co., 200 S. Spring st. m23-11m

FOR SALT LAKE CITY—EXCURSIONS will leave Los Angeles every Monday via Southern Pacific and Grand Western Railway for Salt Lake City and all points east. These excursions will be provided with all the conveniences of modern Pullman tourist cars. Call on or address WILLIAM HIXON, Excursion Agent, 138 S. Spring st., Los Angeles. m23-11m

PHILLIPS' WEEKLY EXCURSIONS TO THE east leave Los Angeles every Thursday. Pullman Tourist Sleepers, fully equipped, are run through to Boston. Office, No. 140 N. SPRING ST. m27-11

BURLINGTON ROUTE EXCURSIONS every Thursday. T. H. DUZAN, agent, 126 S. Spring st., Los Angeles. j6-11

SANTA FE ROUTE STILL AHEAD OF ALL competitors, both in time and distance, to all points East. Special tourist excursions East every THURSDAY. For full information, apply to or address agent, or CLARENCE A. WARNER, Exc. Manager, 29 N. Spring. j6-11

DOCK ISLAND ROUTE EXCURSIONS VIA Denver and Rio Grande R. Y., "The Scenic Line of the World," leave Los Angeles every Tuesday via Salt Lake, Denver, Chicago. Tourist Sleeping Cars fully and elegantly equipped. Solid vestibule trains between Denver, Kansas City, Chicago and St. Louis, Chicago. Magnificent dining and free reclining chair cars. For rates and sleeping reservations, call or address F. W. THOMPSON, agent, 138 South Spring st. m23-11m

TO REDONDO BEACH—Southern California railway (Santa Fe line), summer schedule, leave San Diego depot, daily