

A GREAT EVENT.

The Suburban Race at Sheepshead Bay.

Salvator Comes First Under the Wire.

Cassius in the Lead Until the Very Last Moment.

Fifty Thousand People Applaud the Finest Finish Ever Witnessed on the American Turf.

Associated Press Dispatches.

New York, June 17.—The most remarkable field of races has ever been contested in a race in New York, and the most remarkable crowd that ever went out of New York to see such a race, met at Sheepshead Bay track today to see the suburban. Fifty thousand people were present. Long before the hour the races began, and six hours before the great race was to be run off, the crowd began to leave New York. The sun kept out of sight, and so the crush, which would otherwise have been stifling, was not so severely felt. All these thousands had come down chiefly to see one race, the suburban, a mile and a quarter run.

When the bugle called the horses to the post Cassius was the first to appear, with Salvator next and the others straggling from all points. At the parade before the grand stand Salvator held the post of honor, and the others followed in this line: Strideaway, Firenze, Montague, Longstreet, Cassius, Tenny, Prince Royal and Raceland.

After two breaks, Caldwell flashed his red flag. A mighty roar arose from the immense throng. As they came bounding down past the stand, Cassius was in front, and in the short distance had already a lead of a length. Firenze was running second, and the others followed in a close bunch. Going round the first turn Cassius still had a lead of a length from Longstreet, who was a head before Strideaway, Salvator third, Firenze fourth, Prince Royal fifth, Raceland sixth, Montague last.

Past the quarter they went at a terrific pace, with Cassius increasing his lead steadily, while Longstreet kept second place from Strideaway, who kept his head in front of Salvator, with the blue and white of Tenny away in the rear. Now Garrison began to move up with Tenny, and as the blue and white began to move through the mass of other colors a great shout went up from the stand. Murphy on Salvator heard it and sent Salvator up in the third place. Going down the back stretch Cassius increased his pace, and at one time had a lead of four lengths. Longstreet still held second place, with a death-like grip. Salvator's yellow sleeves began to flash at a faster pace. Now Anderson set his pace with Tenny, and at the head of the stretch both were close on to Cassius, the Beverick stable candidate, though still holding a lead of three lengths; Salvator second, only a neck in front of Strideaway, followed by Longstreet, Tenny, Raceland and the others.

Now they were all ranged out for the race home. Inch by inch Salvator crawled up on the leading Cassius. Garrison was working desperately on Tenny but the little horse could not get up. Still Cassius holds his lead.

"Cassius wins," madly shout the thousands, as the last furlong pole is reached. "No, Salvator wins," shouted another faction, and then the gallant chestnut, under desperate urging, draws away. The wire is very near, and Taral and Murphy are riding for all they know. In the last jump Salvator gets his head in front, and wins by a neck, with Cassius a length and a half in front of Tenny, Strideaway fourth. Then came Raceland, Firenze, Prince Royal, Montague and Longstreet. Time 2:06 4/5.

BRUTAL BRUISERS.
Reddy McBride Put to Sleep by Jimmy Lynch.

NEW YORK, June 17.—Reddy McBride, of Philadelphia, and Jimmy Lynch, of New York, fought at Oak Point this morning with skin-tight gloves for $1,000 and an added purse of $500. Eighteen rounds were fought and both men terribly punished. For the first half of the fight Lynch had decidedly the best of it, acting on the aggressive most of the time, and punishing McBride severely. The latter, in fact, was nearly knocked out in the tenth round, but his wonderful rallying power kept him up. In the twelfth McBride took the offensive, and in that and the thirteenth rounds succeeded in inflicting severe punishment on Lynch. In the fourteenth, however, he was knocked down. In the sixteenth he nearly knocked Lynch down, but the latter rallied and from that time was on top until he put McBride to sleep in the eighteenth, with a right-hander on the jaw. McBride was a hideous sight, while Lynch was also badly used up.

STILL ENTOMBED.

No Hope for the Men in the Dunbar Mine.

Fire and Smoke Drive the Rescuers Back.

All Efforts to Reach the Death Chamber Prove Futile.

A Company of Cowboys Attacked by Indians in New Mexico—Other Eastern News.

Associated Press Dispatches.

DUNBAR, Pa., June 17.—All night long rescuing parties remained at the mouth of the man-hole at the Farm Hill mine, but their efforts were fruitless. When daylight broke they were no nearer the unfortunate men entombed in the burning mine, and all hope of rescuing the imprisoned miners alive, was abandoned. Efforts were made to enter the burning slope through the Mahoney and Ferguson mines, but it was found impossible to get near the men through the former, owing to the formation of the slope, and in the Ferguson pit the air was so bad that it was impossible to travel any distance. It has been determined to cut off all the fresh air, and let the mine burn itself out, that the bodies of the men may be recovered.

At 10 o'clock this morning there was very little change, except that the fire was fiercer, the smoke blacker, and the despair of the survivors deeper than ever before. The early gray of the morning only found the rescuing party driven further back from the death chamber. They could not penetrate within 100 feet of the place they reached last night.

Early this morning Martin Markey, pit boss of the Anchor mines, made a daring attempt to reach the right drifts of the Hill mines from the Mahoney entrance, one and a half miles away across the hills. He crawled over the drifts of fallen slate to within 100 yards of the fatal chambers and sounded again and again. He listened for a response in vain.

The sighs about the pit's mouth were all the more pitiable because of the twenty-four hours' anguish that has rolled over the heads of relatives and friends. Hundreds are steadily at the mouth, gazing at the columns of smoke that grow thicker hour by hour, indicating that coal is burning instead of timber and roofing. The mine inspectors are making strenuous efforts to enter from the Mahoney drifts. An air-fan to furnish ventilation to the mine will be put in operation this afternoon in the Ferguson pit, as work will be commenced there also.

At 9 p. m. smoke is issuing from the pit more thickly than ever, but the rescuers are hard at work and hope is still entertained that the imprisoned men, or some of them, may be alive in the rear chambers.

Another Explosion.
PITTSBURG, June 17.—By the explosion of fire-damp in the Mileville coal mines today, Samuel Carney and two sons were badly, perhaps fatally, burned.

ATTACKED BY INDIANS.

A Party of Cowboys Fired Upon by a Band of Redskins.

EL PASO, Texas, June 17.—A freight crew which arrived here this morning over the Southern Pacific road reports that when they arrived at Separ station, just this side of Lordsburg, New Mexico, at 2:30 this morning, they found the town in the wildest excitement over the arrival of a cowboy who had just reached there barefooted, his feet covered with cuts and blisters from having run ten miles from a ranch, north of Separ, where he and ten other men were camped. He stated that at 10 o'clock last night a body of Indians surprised them and shot them down as the men jumped out of their blankets to escape. He thought there were about thirty Indians in the band. The cowboys had been in bed but a short time when the attack was made. Some of them were armed, but did not have their guns handy, not expecting to find Indians on the warpath in that section. He saw three men drop, and thinks that the rest shared the same fate. A posse was organized at Lordsburg and one at Denning this morning, to go hunting for the Indians. Separ is 130 miles west of this place.

The next contest to occur here will be the match between La Blanche and young Mitchell at the California Athletic Club June 27th.

STATUS OF SILVER.

WILL THE HOUSE PASS THE SENATE BILL?

The Free-Coinage Men Are of the Opinion That It Will—The Matter Likely to Be Settled in Conference.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Opinions as to the probable action of the house on the senate silver bill differ very widely. There is a belief on the part of some that before any action is taken a caucus will be held to decide upon the course to be pursued. There is a sentiment, even among the friends of the bill as it passed the senate, that it will get into conference, and that out of that conference will be evolved a bill providing for the purchase of four and a half million ounces of silver monthly, the certificates issued in payment thereof to be legal tender, and redeemable in bullion. Such a measure, it is generally believed, would receive the president's approval. The free coinage advocates express the opinion that the house will pass the senate bill.

What the Senate Bill Provides.
The silver bill as passed by the senate today stands substantially as follows:

Section 1 provides that from and after the date of the passage of the act the unit of value in the United States shall be the dollar; this may be coined of 41 2/3 grains of standard silver, or 23 8/10 grains of standard gold; said coins shall be equally legal tender for debts, public or private. Any owner of silver gold bullion may deposit it any mint of the United States to be formed into standard dollars or bars for his benefit, without charge, but it shall be lawful to refuse any deposit of less value than $100, or any bullion so base as to be unsuitable for the operations of the mint.

Section 2 provides that section 3 of the act of February 28, 1878, is made applicable to the coinage provided by this act.

Section 3 provides that the certificates provided for and all gold and silver certificates already issued shall be of denominations not less than one nor more than one hundred dollars, and be redeemable in coin of the standard value. The provision in the act of February 28, 1878, requiring the secretary of the treasury to purchase, at the market price, not less than two nor more than four million dollars' worth of silver bullion per month, is repealed.

Section 4 sets forth that the certificates provided for in the act, and all gold and silver certificates already issued shall be receivable for all taxes and dues to the United States of every description, and shall be legal tender for the payment of all debts, public and private.

Section 5 provides that the owners of bullion deposited for coinage, shall have the opportunity to receive coin or its equivalent in the certificates provided in the act, and such bullion shall be subsequently coined.

Section 6 provides for covering into the treasury the funds held for the redemption of the national bank circulation.

A warrant was also issued for the arrest of Charles Mason, who refused to answer the questions of a census enumerator upon the plea that he had to attend a Y. M. C. A. meeting, and could not spare the time.

Theories of the causes leading up to the tragedy are numerous, but nothing definite in relation to the identity of the assassin disclosed. No motive has been established, and the officers are yet entirely at sea.

BOUNDARIES SET.

English and German Spheres in Africa.

Terms of the Agreement Just Arrived At.

The Tory Programme in the British Commons.

Cholera Becoming Epidemic in Spain. The Duchess of Fife's Mishap. Cable Flashes.

Associated Press Dispatches.

LONDON, June 17.—Lord Salisbury, in a dispatch to the British ambassador at Berlin, concerning the agreement with Germany, declines to allow Germany's claim that where one power occupies the coast another may not, without consent, occupy unclaimed regions in the rear. He says this cannot be allowed in cases where the country is already occupied by Englishmen, but where there are no English settlements, England has no title to advance against German claims. The agreement, in substance, is as follows: England retains the Stevenson road, which will be the boundary between the English and German spheres. A line is stretched from the mouth of the Bokun, on the west shore of Lake Nyassa, to the mouth of the Kilambo, on the south shore of Lake Tanganyika. Northward of this Germany retains the region as far as the Congo state, and along the first degree of south latitude; the boundary beyond diverging around the western shore of Lake Nyanza to include the mountain Mfumbiro, in the British sphere, in order to make the frontier coincide as nearly as possible with the region covered by Stanley's treaties. In all East African territories equal rights of settling or trading shall be conferred by the two powers, respectively, on their subjects. The details of the frontier between Nyanziana and Damorland remain to be settled, but it is agreed that in the latitudes of Lake Ngami, up as far as the eighteenth degree of south latitude, the German frontier shall coincide with the twenty first degree of east longitude. In Togoland the frontier is rectified, securing the mouths of the Volta to England, and giving Germany access to the Volta river at a higher point of its course. Germany cedes the islands of Manda and Patta and Somali, comprising the coast line of over 200 miles, to England; so that, except the Congo state, there will be no competitor with British influence between the first degree south latitude and the borders of Egypt along the whole country lying south and west of the Italian protectorate. Any concessions England shall assume exclusive of the protectorate in the sultanate of Zanzibar, including the islands of Zanzibar and Pemba, England will assist Germany to obtain a session of the German coast line hitherto rented from the sultan. England, considering Heligoland useless since she lost Hanover, will cede it to Germany, subject to the consent of parliament. The present customs tariff will be continued twenty years. Other colonial disputes in Africa are reserved for friendly settlement, and the status quo will be preserved pending the ratification of the present agreement.

IN THE COMMONS.

The Government Sacrificing Everything for the Licensing Bill.

LONDON, June 17.—In the commons tonight, Smith, government leader, said he will introduce Monday a motion for an earlier meeting of parliament, the curtailment of the debate on the queen's speech, and suspension until next session of complicated bills like the land-purchase measure. Gladstone gave notice of a resolution protesting against such a grave change in parliamentary usage and constitutional practices. He contended strongly that everything appeared to be sacrificed for the passing of the licensing bill. Smith admitted that if his motion was adopted he would ask an adjournment of the land purchase bill until next session. The government hoped to pass the licensing bill, notwithstanding obstruction.

a steamship yesterday, are tonight inmates of the police station on the charge of counterfeiting. Since their arrival they disposed of 1,355 francs in bogus Italian notes. A Grand Jury Scandal.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., June 17.—A sensational grand jury scandal was developed today when Justice Rumsey, sitting in the circuit court, called the grand jury before him, and, after informing them that it had come to his knowledge that an attempt was made to improperly influence the conclusions in a certain important case, and which could never have been made had the members of the jury not disclosed the proceedings of the jury to outsiders, administered a scathing rebuke, and finally dismissed in disgrace three of the jurors. He refused to discharge the rest, although their work was finished, sending them back to investigate the matter and find indictments against the parties implicated, if the facts warrant such action.

Assault to Murder.

SAN JOSE, June 17.—The trial of General H. P. Gordon, for assault to murder H. Potter, began in the superior court today. When the parties separated, Potter ran and Gordon drew a pistol and fired two shots, following Potter half a block. One of the bullets lodged in his side, making a flesh wound. The trial will be resumed tomorrow.

ORANGE BLOSSOMS.

MARY ANDERSON WEDDED TO ANTONIO NAVARRO.

Unostentatious Character of the Wedding. Baron Von Zedwitz Weds an American Heiress—A British Blood Alliance.

LONDON, June 17.—Mary Anderson was married this morning to Antonio Navarro in the Roman Catholic chapel of St. Mary's, in Hampstead. The wedding was strictly private.

Miss Anderson was driven from the house of her stepfather, Dr. Griffin, to the church in a close carriage. Curtains were drawn so that no glimpse could be caught of the bride as she left the carriage to enter the sanctuary. The ceremony was performed in as quiet and simple a manner as possible. There was no choir, the only accompanying music being that of the organ. Only the immediate friends of the bride and groom were present.

The interior of the chapel was decorated with a profusion of ferns, palms and white flowers. On the altar twelve candles were burning.

At 11 o'clock the bridegroom, accompanied by his brother Alphonso, reached St. Mary's in a cab. Both were in mourning garb in respect to the memory of their uncle, who died three weeks ago. A few moments later the carriage drove up the chapel, in which were Miss Anderson, her sister and stepbrother. This was followed by a carriage containing Miss Anderson's own brother Joseph and wife, the daughter of Lawrence Barrett. A third carriage contained Miss Anderson's mother and stepfather, Dr. and Mrs. Griffin. Behind this was Miss Anderson's carriage, with her stepfather, Blanche Griffin, who acted as bride's-maid.

Miss Anderson's gown was of white satin, heavily brocaded. She carried a bouquet of white roses, lilacs, stapanotis and ferns. Above the bridal veil was a tiny wreath of orange blossoms. Miss Griffin was also dressed in white.

The ceremony was performed by Canon Purcell. Dr. Griffin gave the bride away. After the marriage the party drove to Dr. Griffin's, where breakfast was served. The pair started in the afternoon for Venice, where they will spend their honeymoon.
