

SILVER MEN FOILED.

The Conference Bill Severely Criticised.

Senator Daniel Calls It a Make-Shift Measure.

Cockrell Says It Is in the Interest of the Mono-Metalists.

Jones, of Nevada, Accused of Assuming a Change of Front on the Silver Question.

Associated Press Dispatches.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—In the senate today, the presiding officer (Ingalls) announced his signature to the bill for the admission of Wyoming. The bill now goes to the president for his signature.

On motion of Blair, the senate proceeded to executive business. The doors were reopened at one o'clock and the sundry civil appropriation bill was reported. Allison stated that he would ask its consideration tomorrow.

Consideration of the conference report on the silver bill was resumed. Cockrell continued his argument against the report.

Cockrell criticised the last clause of the second section of the conference bill, and said the language therein indicated preference for a single gold standard. The section so reads, and so would be interpreted. Until a parity between the metals was established, gold would be given the preference and legal tender notes would be redeemed in gold.

Teller contravened this assertion. Jones, of Nevada, read an extract from an article in yesterday's New York Evening Post, a paper opposed to the silver legislation in all its forms, to the effect that the conference report contained some features not embraced in either the house bill or senate bill, and tending to make it a better measure than either; also stating that the purpose of the silver men was foiled.

Cockrell—Precisely what I have said. That is from a very able representative of the gold interest, and it is a warning to the senator from Nevada (Jones) that he has abandoned the cause of the equalization of silver and gold. Under this conference report the secretary of the treasury can drive the country to part with every dollar of gold, and can lock up in the vaults of the treasury every silver dollar. That is the most dangerous power given the secretary of the treasury since the foundation of the government.

Platt—Does the senator mean to say that he would not give the secretary of the treasury discretion as to which coin he would pay in?

Cockrell—I certainly would give him that discretion. I would say: "Redeemable in coin."

Platt—That is all that there is to say. Cockrell—That is true, but there is within it a declaration which is a fatal thing, and that is that the gold standard still exists and must be maintained.

Taking up the third section of the conference bill, Cockrell entered a most earnest and solemn protest against it, as meaning the practical cessation of silver coinage after July, '91.

Jones, of Nevada—That is all we want.

Cockrell—In other words, the senator from Nevada is willing to abandon the double standard, to make silver a mere commodity, to stop its coinage, and to tell the people of the country that he has done something for them in the restoration of the double standard. The conference bill is a total abandonment of all pretensions to a double standard.

Mitchell, in the course of some questions involving Cockrell's consistency remarked that while he was in favor of the free and unlimited coinage of silver, he would support the conference bill because it was all that the friends of silver could get.

Cockrell, I believe, if the senate will reject this report, the house will in the end agree to the senate bill. We have made no determined effort to support the senate bill. We show no backbone. We show no disposition to stand by what we have solemnly done; and we give truth to the assertion of the mono-metalists of the east that the bill was only a project to furnish a market for silver bullion.

Daniel addressed the senate in opposition to the silver bill. The question, he said, was a great deal bigger than the president of the United States, whether the president's Council was consistent Harrison or Grover Cleveland. Daniel argued that under the conference bill, $70,000,000 worth of silver bullion would be piled up in the treasury every year; that a silver stream would be flowing in, and not a dollar could be coined to pay the bonds or the obligations of the United States, which were payable in coin. Such enormous discrimination against silver as never existed in legislation except when silver was completely demonetized. He admitted that it would be better that the conference bill should become a law than that no bill on the subject should become a law. But it was a mere makeshift. Sooner or later, Daniel said, congress and the executive had got to come into collision on the silver question. Why not let the collision come now? If the friends of silver stood up to the fight they could win it, and if they ran away they would lose it. If they believed in the free coinage of silver (as he did) they should stand by the senate bill and let the president of the United States take care of himself.

Morgan took the floor, but saw he could not finish his remarks today. An informal understanding was had that a vote should be taken tomorrow, and the senate adjourned.

SUNDRY APPROPRIATIONS.

What the Bill Reported to the Senate Provides for.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—The sundry civil bill as reported to the senate today by the appropriation committee, carries an appropriation of $31,241,680, an increase of $3,181,060 over the original bill reported; $6,552,172 less than the estimates, and $5,944,338 more than the bill of last year. The most important feature of the work of the senate committee on this bill is the elimination of the appropriation of $777,500 for irrigation surveys. This provision was vigorously attacked by a number of western senators, and they succeeded in defending it.

The Steamer Gaelic Arrives from the Orient.

A Corean Island Seized by the Russians.

Farmers and Merchants Elected to the Japanese Peers.

Forty-Nine People Drowned at the Launching of a Vessel at Osaka.

Associated Press Dispatches.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 9.—The steamer Gaelic arrived this morning, twenty-five days from Hong Kong and fourteen days from Yokohama. The Japan Mail states that a rumor was prevalent that Russia had seized an island off the coast of Corea, and that H. M. ships Leander and Severn were under orders to keep up steam and be ready to proceed to sea at a moment's notice if required.

The steamer Taising, from Hong Kong for Shanghai, which went ashore at Swatow June 6th, was gotten off and repaired, and was expected at Hong Kong June 12th.

The first election for the house of peers under the new Japanese constitution took place June 23d, some forty-four members being returned. Twenty-two of these are farmers by occupation; fifteen are merchants, and only one a noble.

At Osaka, Japan, fifty-nine people were drowned June 15th, during the launching of a new sailing vessel. The occasion excited considerable interest, and about two hundred and fifty people crowded on board the boat. The owner, Mr. Kino, however, became apprehensive, and ordered one hundred of them ashore. When the launch commenced it was cbb tide, and as the ropes used in securing were too short, the vessel keeled over. The people on board immediately rushed to the other side, which had the effect of turning the vessel completely over, and those on board were precipitated into the water. A terrible scene ensued. Those on shore rendered every assistance possible, but their efforts were generally unavailing. Fifty-five bodies have been recovered. Four persons are still missing. About twenty persons were more or less injured. The vessel was found to have had her bottom badly damaged.

The Japan Gazette states that the United States ship Palos left Nagasaki suddenly June 11th for Ninsen, Corea, and that it was probable that the United States ship Omaha would go on to Corea from Kobe.

DISREGARDED ORDERS.

A Terrible Collision Caused Thereby. Six Men Killed.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 9.—Disregard of orders caused a collision between a freight and a passenger train on the Louisville and Nashville railroad, forty miles south of this city, this morning. Five people were instantly killed and a sixth was fatally injured. The killed are: Engineers John Green and John Wobby, a colored fireman, Jim Armistead, and Bob Wilson, and a white pumpman named Par, Ben Swope, colored, extra fireman, was fatally injured. None of the passengers were killed, and so far as can be learned none were seriously injured. The passenger train had orders to take the siding at Clear Creek station for the extra freight. The order was not obeyed, and a mile beyond the station the trains came together in a deep cut. Both engines were broken to pieces.
