The Irrigation Matter Again Before the Senate.

The House Passes the Railroad Land Grant Forfeiture Bill—Other Washington Notes.

Associated Press Dispatches.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—The senate today resumed consideration of the sundry civil appropriation bill, the pending question being on the amendment to add to the appropriation of $300,000 for topographical surveys, a provision that half that sum be expended west of the 101st meridian, and that the act of October, 1888, reserving irrigable lands, be repealed.

Call continued his argument of yesterday against the amendment. He argued in favor of the continuance of irrigation surveys, and said all the irrigation schemes on a large scale that had been successful had been established by the government. The repeal of the irrigation law would, Call said, open that vast area of arid lands of 200,000 square miles to the operation of foreign syndicates, who would seize much of it under the desert land and timber land laws, and the people would be deprived of their use and occupation.

Moody argued in favor of the amendment and spoke of its transcendent importance to the people of South Dakota. He ridiculed the pretensions of Major Powell, and spoke of him as a "Tycoon of many tails," who knew as much about the arid lands of the west as he did about the mountains of the moon, and not one whit more. The region in which he (Moody) lived, and for hundreds of miles west of it, which Major Powell designated as arid land, was as fine an agricultural country as the sun ever shone upon. There was not an acre of desert land in it. It was as well watered as any part of New England, or as the state of New York. He denied, however, that these lands were withdrawn from settlement under the construction given the irrigation act. If they had been, the people of South Dakota would make themselves heard by congress.

Reagan spoke in opposition to the amendment, and in favor of continuing the irrigation survey.

Without finishing his remarks, Reagan yielded the floor for a motion to adjourn. No progress having been made with the bill today, Allison offered a resolution making it in order at any time to move that the debate on any amendments to appropriation bills be limited to five minutes for each senator, the question on such motion to be determined without debate. He remarked that such a resolution had been frequently adopted by the senate.

HOUSE PROCEEDINGS.

The Railroad Land Grant Forfeiture Bill Passed.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—Immediately after the reading of the journal the house went into committee of the whole on the land grant forfeiture bill. A short debate ensued, but the heart of the chamber was so great that the majority of the members sought the breezes in the lobby, and little attention was given to the business.

Anderson, of Kansas, offered an amendment forfeiting railroad lands not earned at the time limited by the granting act. Lost—yeas, 37; nays, 58.

Holman, of Indiana, offered an amendment forfeiting all lands not earned within the time limited by the granting act. Lost.

McRae, of Arkansas, offered an amendment directing the attorney-general to institute suit against persons holding land opposite to the constructed portion of a road which was not constructed within the time specified in the act. The amendment was defeated, and the bill was reported to the house.

Holman moved to recommit it, with instructions to the committee on public lands to report it back with a provision forfeiting all lands not earned within the time limited in the granting act. Lost.

The bill then passed. The bill, which is the senate bill, with house substitute therefor, forfeits all lands granted to aid the construction of a railroad opposite to and contiguous with the portion of any such railroad not now completed.

In the course of the debate on the bill Bynum referred to the colloquy between Cannon and Houk the other day, in which they referred to each other as nuisances. This reference was omitted from the record, and Bynum called attention to a speech by Cannon during the fiftieth congress deprecating the mutilation of the record.

Cannon said he and Houk said things in the heat of debate which they agreed afterward to have left out of the record. This had been done in personal matters from time immemorial. Cannon scored Bynum sharply, and expressed the opinion that he was the only representative in the house who had the heart on one hand or the malignity on the other to obtrude himself where, under the parliamentary usage of the house, he did not belong. As to his speech in the fiftieth congress, that had been a controversy between Bynum and himself. Bynum had not come to him and agreed to strike out what had been said, but struck it out without consultation.

ITALIAN IMMIGRANTS.

A Denial Entered that the Padrone System Exists in America.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—The house committee on immigration today heard a statement by Dr. Verdi, of this city, himself a native of Italy, upon the subject of the padrone system. The statement was mainly in refutation of those made by preceding witnesses respecting the existence of a system of Italian slave labor in this country. He said he has lived forty years in the United States, and never yet found an Italian laborer who worked under a padrone. The Italians were not fools, and not to be gulled so easily into surrendering themselves voluntarily into slavery. The Italian government appointed a commission to examine the emigration system, and as a result a law was passed which, while recognizing personal rights, guards against unrestricted emigration, assisted by unworthy persons for personal gain. Prohibition is placed upon the emigration of any class of persons whose immigration is forbidden by the laws of the country to which they seek to go. Italy needs all her citizens, and is doing all she can to keep them.

Representative Oates, who had been a member of the Ford committee of the last congress, said he had little doubt that the Italian restrictive law cited by Dr. Verdi, which has not been in operation before this year, will be of great benefit in preventing the immigration of the undesirable element.

MINNESOTA TERRORS.

Great Alarm Caused by Wednesday Night's Storm.

ST. PAUL, July 17.—Another heavy storm visited parts of the state yesterday evening. At Red Wing and Lake City a heavy beating rain did considerable damage to crops. Marine, a little town near Stillwater, as well as Stillwater itself, was reported wiped out, but the latest advices contradicted that report. The worst effect of the tornado was in North St. Paul, a suburb of this city, where it played havoc with property for a few minutes, but fortunately no loss of life resulted. The storm struck there at 3:20 o'clock, and for a few moments the southern limits of the suburb were wrapped in a dense cloud of mist, driving before a furious gale with cyclonic conditions. A large crowd of people had been on the lookout, and there was the wildest consternation, but the storm steered to the east and passed on. A two-story brick building was crushed together like an eggshell. The loss will probably reach $10,000.

WHO MURDERED KNEALLY?

The Mystery Cleared by a Death-Bed Confession.

PORTLAND, Ore., July 17.—The Evening Telegram today publishes an article claiming that the mystery surrounding the murder of Thomas Kneally in this city on September 6, 1886, in the basement of the Villard hotel, has been cleared up. Kneally was believed to have been murdered for his money. A clipping has been received from a Springfield, Mass., newspaper, in which it is announced that Patrick H. Dolan, before his death, which occurred in the county hospital at Springfield, made a confession to a priest that in the latter part of 1886 he and another man murdered a stranger in the basement of the Villard hotel at Portland, Ore. That stranger is believed to have been Kneally.

SHOT HIMSELF

Because His Wife Accepted Her Former Husband's Caresses.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 17.—Fred Geizeke died today from the effects of wounds inflicted upon himself Saturday last. He had been employed by the Spring Valley Water Company in the capacity of a laborer. On Saturday night he returned home and found his wife in the embrace of Charles Smith, her former husband. Smith escaped and Geizeke shot himself. It is stated that Geizeke carried a debt of $20 due a man known as "Hog Pete," living at Oceanview, by firing the house of S. V. Seastrom, who lived near him, on the 4th of July last. The police were looking for him, and he was on his way to Oregon when he stopped to see his wife and committed the tragedy as related.

STARVING REDSKINS.

The Sissetons and Wapetons Suffering From Want of Food.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—The secretary of the interior has transmitted to congress a letter from William McKusick, Indian agent at the Sisseton agency, South Dakota, stating that the Sisseton and Wapeton Indians of the Lake Traverse reservation, were in the most destitute condition, the drouth of last year having almost totally destroyed their crops, and asking that $5,000 be appropriated for the purchase of provisions to keep the Indians from starving.

Appointments.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—The president sent the following nominations to the senate today:

General appraisers of merchandise—J. Lewis Stackpole, of Massachusetts; Henderson W. Somerville, Alabama; Ferdinand N. Shurtieff, Oregon.

Oliver L. Spaulding, of Michigan, assistant secretary of the treasury, vice George C. Tichenor, resigned.

Justice Edward P. Seeds, Iowa, associate justice of the supreme court of the territory of New Mexico.

Arthur J. Shaw, postmaster at Spokane Falls, Washington.

Must Rebuild the Levee.

SACRAMENTO, July 17.—Supervisor Snyder, of Yolo county, says the board will probably have to rebuild the levee at Paine place, across which the river, or a great portion of it, washed until stopped by the work that the government has been doing there. Mr. Snyder says there is more than two million dollars' worth of land that will be ruined or damaged if the water is permitted to run over the brush dam built by the government. He stated that it will not be an expensive undertaking, especially if the water on the river side continues to recede as it has done since the dam got above the water in the river.

Ready for Trial.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 17.—Captain Goodall received a telegram this morning from Lieutenant Delhanty, of the United States steamer Hassler, at Santa Barbara, asking him when the cruiser San Francisco would be ready to go down to make her trial trip. The dispatch stated that the trial course had been laid out, and everything is now in readiness for the cruiser's trial port. Captain Goodall submitted the message to the Union Iron Works, and it is probable that the day for the San Francisco's departure is near at hand.

A Scheme that Miscarried.

BOSTON, July 17.—It is announced that a scheme whereby all the soda-water and beer apparatus interests in the United States were to be amalgamated into a trust and sold to English capitalists has fallen through, the broker who was engineering the deal having cabled from London his failure to organize the necessary combination.

Edwin Arnold's New Poem.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 17.—The manuscript of Edwin Arnold's new epic poem, "The Light of the World," has been received in this city from Japan, and is now in the hands of the parties who have been entrusted with the right to publish the poem in the United States.

Napa Assessments.

NAPA, Cal., July 17.—The total assessment of Napa county this year is $13,934,000, being $66,000 less than one year ago. The increase in this city is about $300,000, but the agricultural districts fell off nearly $400,000.

Three Barns and Forty-Three Horses Burned—The Marysville Fire Victim, Etc.

Associated Press Dispatches.

RED BLUFF, Cal., July 17.—At 1:45 o'clock this afternoon fire broke out in a restaurant in the Corrigan building and burned furiously. Darrough's drug store and the offices overhead, Dany's tailoring establishment and Ketsner's restaurant and lodging house were completely destroyed by the fire, which baffled the efforts of the entire fire department, reinforced by the railroad company's fire engine, for more than an hour. At 3:30 p. m. the fire was under control, having been confined mainly to Corrigan's building.

The losses and insurance are about as follows:

- E. Fish, damage to building, $1,000; fully insured.
- H. Darrough, loss to stock, $2,500; insured for $6,000.
- M. Corrigan, loss to building, $5,500; insurance $7,000.
- P. R. Kestner, restaurant and furniture; loss, $2,000; insurance, $1,150.
- Other losses amount to more than $1,000.

H. S. Crocker & Co. Scorched.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 17.—Early this morning fire was discovered in the top floor of the building occupied by H. S. Crocker & Co., stationers and lithographers. Fire engines were quickly on the scene, and the flames were subdued, but considerable loss was caused by water leaking through to the valuable stock of goods on the floors below.

The fire, which occurred in the fifth story, in the book-binding department, presumably originated from a coal oil stove left burning by the employees. The damages are estimated at $1,000, and but for the new chemical engine, Mr. Crocker states, the loss would have been $100,000. George Burr, of hose company No. 2, had his shoulder dislocated by falling from a ladder.

Killed by Fire and Smoke.

MARYSVILLE, July 17.—An examination of the remains of George Ball, manager of the soda works, which were found on fire yesterday, shows, it is claimed, that he was not killed by blows on the head, but met his death in the fire and smoke of the burning straw. A coroner's jury has been enrolled. It is claimed that two men were seen running away from the place just before the fire was discovered.

Barns and Horses Burned.

CHICO, July 17.—A telephone dispatch received this morning from the Glenn ranch states that three barns and forty-three head of valuable work horses were destroyed last night by fire. The horses were valued at $6,000, the barns the same amount; insured for $10,000. The cause of the fire is presumed to be careless smoking.

A Whole Family Cremated.

QUEBEC, July 17.—At 2 o'clock this morning fire broke out in a bar-room owned by Delamange & Quietie. After the fire was extinguished, it was discovered that a family of five, consisting of Pierre Meranda and his wife and three children, were burned to death in an upper room.

Two of his children had the disease; for about six weeks he tried four different patent medicines without benefit, but he finally got hold of a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which he says completely cured them, and is confident it will cure any case when the printed directions are followed.
