

FASHION'S WHIMS.

NUMEROUS POINTS FOR THE LADIES TO CONSIDER.

What is Being Worn at This Season of the Year—Dresses for the Summer, Robes de Nuit.

The dog-rose is a new pattern for rich white satin brocades.

Braided skirts are worn this season, though not so much as during the past months.

Checks are very popular this season. The newer checks are irregular or broken.

Gray and black form a stylish combination. Dresses for cool summer days are made with gray skirts.

Seamless corsages—which, however, are made to fit like a glove by some fine, subtle magic of the modiste—are in high fashion.

The short, rounding Spanish jacket is more popular than ever.

Laced-in girls will please take notice. There is indication that the fashionable world in London is about to encourage the waist.

Black lace over colored satin petticoats and bodices is a revived fashion that is destined to be popular this season.

A pair of bankers' shears, with long, slender blades and ornate silver handles, are used for cutting coupons.

Fences of birch bark, upon which are perched robin redbreasts, are of colored bronze, and are utilized as pen-racks.

The newest form of pen rack is made of silver wire twisted to form initials.

A silver tripod which might have been the property of a prophetic sibyl is destined to no more mysterious purpose than the holding of pens and pencils.

A paper-weight, worthy of more than a passing glance, is a recumbent bear in old silver.

There are pen and pencil holders in any conceivable design; one of the latter can contain an entire lead pencil.

A mucilage-bottle of silver and one of glass covered with a network of etched silver is of elegant design and workmanship.

Silver paper-clasps for holding bills are useful and substantial, as are also the blotters, with tops of silver repoussé work.

Monogrammed card-cases for the chateleine are very stylish, and silver-bordered ivory tablets for memoranda.

Pencils to hang at a lady's chateleine or to be worn on a gentleman's watch-chain are made in many new designs.

A set of literary candle-sticks are of rather low shape with adjustable lips which will hold any sized candle.

A check-cutter and rule of silver are suitable offerings to a railroad magnate or a bonanza king.

Robes de Nuit. Nightgowns deserve honorable mention in the list of gowns, for so elaborate and dressy are they that they are scarcely distinguishable from tea or matinee gowns.

Broad collars, frilled with exquisite fine laces, gathered on very full, turned down to the shoulders, and white cuffs of the same fold back to the elbows.

Editors HERALD—A few days ago this paper represented a well-known turf writer as having said that he regarded the blood horse of Australia as being superior to his congeners in both England and America.

"Yet," will say the doctrinaires upon the science of breeding, "you get your fastest horses from the four blue-grass counties of Kentucky, where the soil is all limestone; and still they are so deficient in bone that Mr. Haggin started in with the intent of remedying that defect through the male line and Mr.

Rose, of this city, through the female side of the house." So far it is hard to say which of these gentlemen is correct over the other.

But the blood-horse has a status beyond the mere hazard of a coup on the suburban at Coney island or the realization (of Senator Hearst's hopes) at Long Branch.

Did they blanch at the cannon's roar. When they burst on the guns of the Moscow? By the echoing Black sea shore? Where round about whistle and shrieples whiz And sabers flash and bare—

Hard, indeed, is it to say, at this late hour, what would have been the events of the great civil war had California been possessed of as many thoroughbred horses then as now.

A hundred washing bayonets. A hundred can march today. For some are asleep in Maryland swamps And some in Virginia's clay.

Well, it won't take long to settle this mooted question. Mr. Rose's Australian mares will soon be dropping foals on California soil.
