

HER LIP CUT OPEN

By a Blow from a Man's Fist.

Mrs. Shane's Recent Exciting Experience.

The Story She Told at the Police Station.

Because She Declined to Take a Ride She Is Maltreated—She Refuses to Prosecute Her Assailant.

At 11:45 o'clock on Saturday night, while Sergeant Morton and a Herald reporter were chatting on the sidewalk in front of the police station, a well-dressed woman about 30 years of age, brushed hurriedly by them in the direction of Broadway, calling upon the officer to follow her as she did so. Walking very rapidly for a few yards ahead of the sergeant, the woman suddenly darted into the Herald office, and crouching behind the door sobbed hysterically for several minutes. While trying to pacify her Sergeant Morton noticed for the first time that she held a blood-stained handkerchief to her mouth, and as she seemed to be afraid of pursuit, he induced her to accompany him to the police station.

She was there accommodated with a seat in the sergeant's room, and an attempt was made to extract from her an account of the cause of her excitement. She was, however, very reticent at first, and when questioned, resorted to tears again. On regaining her equanimity she stated that she was a married woman and resided at No. 612 South Spring street, on the second floor of the Grand Army of the Republic building. That among her many acquaintances was a young married man, who frequently visited her, and with whom she had, on several occasions, been out riding. A short time before she sought the protection of the sergeant this man, she said, had called upon her and asked her to go for a drive; but as she had quarreled with him a few days ago she refused to accompany him. He then became very angry, and, after a stormy scene, struck her in the nose, left cheek and mouth with his fist, the last blow cutting her lip and making her bleed. Overcome with terror, she had fled from the room and out into the street, hatless and cloakless, and being, as she believed, pursued by the brute who struck her, she ran until almost exhausted.

In relating her story the woman took particular care to avoid mentioning either her own name or that of her cowardly assailant, and under no circumstances could she be induced to make herself known. By dint of much coaxing, however, she finally wrote down upon a piece of paper the name of the man whom she was so anxious to screen in spite of his cruelty, and this was found to be that of George A. Vignolo, the son of a well-known liquor dealer of this city. Shortly after 1 o'clock yesterday morning the woman was escorted to her apartments by the sergeant, making the statement that she would think over the matter of prosecuting Vignolo, but would not promise to swear to a complaint against him should the officer place him under arrest for battering her. Under these circumstances, and as, beyond the woman's bare statement, there was no evidence against Vignolo, no attempt was made to look for him, although one or two of his bosom friends called at the station in order to find out what steps would be taken by the police.

It was subsequently learned that the woman is Mrs. Shane, the wife of Sam Shane, who was at one time employed as a bartender at Harry Dougherty's and the old Pico house saloons, and who left the city for Portland, Oregon, a few weeks ago. She and young Vignolo have, it is said, been acquainted over a year past, during which time they have had innumerable quarrels, four of which resulted in his beating the woman as upon this occasion. Young Vignolo dispensed liquors behind his father's bar for some time, but not long ago developed a taste for fast horses; and showed a marked preference for the society of Mrs. Shane, to whom he presented a speedy black pacer, behind which she frequently drove along the streets.

A WARNING

Which is Inspired From an Official Source.

One of the police detectives on Saturday night saw too notorious "macs" in conversation with a young girl on Franklin, near New High street. The detective posted himself so that he overheard the entire conversation between the trio, and made a note of the appointment which was made; if it is kept the officer will be present. The two professional vagabonds will be taken into custody on the slightest move they make to carry out their hideous project. The girl is very young, too young to know the terrible predicament awaiting her. She is the child of respectable parents widely and favorably known in the city, who little dream of their daughter's danger. As said above, the police authorities have spotted the two "macs," and will arrest them or inform the girl's parents unless they at once relinquish their pursuit of their prey.

Sanford Goodwin Suddenly Loses Himself.

Sanford Goodwin is one of those men who suddenly seem to drop out of the world, leaving no trace of their destination behind them. He came to California some months ago from Edina, Missouri, and traveled about considerably. In April last he was staying at Sumner, and on the 20th was known to be there by several people in the next day he was not seen, nor has any one set eye on him or heard from him since. He is described as six feet high, 19 years old, medium-light complexion, black eyes and dark hair.

People can hardly believe it.

JERSEYVILLE, ILL., May 30th, 1883. I take pleasure to let you know that my boy is still all right, he has not had any of the spasms since about March 29th. The people can hardly believe it from the fact that he had as many as 15 a day or more. I believe he was a very nervous child all his life but did not show any signs of spasms until last December, after which he died in regular succession, and I had 3 doctors attending who could do nothing for him, not even tell us what was the matter. He had departed of his ever getting well, until I got Koenig's Nerve Tonic. After taking not quite a bottle he got quite well and has not had the least sign of spasms since. Respectfully Yours, MRS. E. LEYTON.

I testify to the facts as stated above to be strictly true. JAS. HARTY, Pastor.
