PERSONNEL OF THE TICKET.

The splendid nominations made by the Democratic county convention are growing apace in the favor of the people. A resume of the personnel of the ticket will show the kind of material of which it is composed.

For superior judges we have Frank H. Howard and Max Loewenthal, of Los Angeles; W. S. Knott, of Pasadena, and F. D. Joy, of Pomona. Every one of these gentlemen is well versed in the law and men of the highest integrity.

Frank H. Howard, Esq., has lived in Los Angeles for over twenty-five years. He is a son of that eminent jurist and statesman, General Volney E. Howard, and has inherited much of his solid ability. Mr. Howard graduated at Heidelberg, where he took the degree in medicine, and then turned his attention to the study of the law, of which he was a leading light for many years. He would bring to the bench a knowledge of medical jurisprudence unsurpassed by that of any other lawyer in the state. Besides being thoroughly equipped in the law, he is a linguist of no ordinary mark. French, German, Spanish, as well as the classical languages, he is thoroughly conversant with. He has attainments that are rarely seen in a judge.

W. S. Knott, Esq., of Pasadena, is another excellent jurist. He is considered one of the most able lawyers at the bar, and the firm with which he is connected is building up a fine practice. Mr. Knott has a strong, clear, judicial mind. He is a keen analyzer of statement, a sound reasoner and possesses a cool and equable temperament. Those who know him best say that he would make an excellent judge.

F. D. Joy, Esq., is the fourth candidate for superior judge. His residence for some years past has been in Pomona. He served this county once as deputy district attorney with great success and corresponding acceptance. He is an able lawyer, a man of mature judgment, of exceptional fairness of mind, and is very competent to preside over the court. He ought to poll a very large vote from those good citizens who desire to see legal acumen and personal integrity adorn the bench.

Max Loewenthal, Esq., who is one of the nominees for superior judge, has been a resident of this city and practicing before the courts here for several years. He came here from San Francisco with a most excellent personal and professional reputation. During his residence here he has not only maintained that good reputation, but he has steadily gained in the good opinion of his fellow lawyers and of the general community. He has a particularly high standing at the bar, being reported both a bright man and one learned in the law. There is every reason that he should poll every vote in his party in the county and draw many from the ranks of the Republicans, of those who prefer ability to party politics on the bench.

Mr. W. U. Masters, candidate for county clerk, is a strong nomination from every point of view. As postmaster of Pasadena, he has drawn to himself friends from all ranks and parties, by the business-like manner in which he has conducted the office, and by his suave and urbane treatment of the people. It goes without saying that Mr. Masters is a very competent man, and will bring to the county clerk's office the highest qualifications for the discharge of its duties. Beyond this, he is one of those men who are born to popularity and who win quickly and wear long. As a public speaker he has few superiors, and he is perhaps one of the most amiable, all-round good fellows in the county. He will play sad havoc with Pasadena's Republican majority.

Hon. M. E. C. Munday, for district attorney, has made hosts of friends since he removed, several years ago, to this city. He is a first-class lawyer, and is thoroughly equipped to conduct the district attorney's office in a way in which it has not been conducted since it was last in the possession of a Democrat. Mr. Munday pertinently said to the convention when he was nominated: "If elected, the supervisors will not have to go outside for legal talent to do the county's business; for I promise that it will all be done by myself and my deputies." It is not generally known that Mr. Munday, when in the legislature, laid the foundation for the irrigation laws that are now doing so much to develop the resources of this part of the state. Mr. Munday is personally very popular, and will make it very sultry for the callow and jejune youth the Republicans have put up.

Mr. J. W. Pemberton, for superintendent of schools, is a man of fine educational ability. He is the principal of West Vernon school, and is recognized as one of our best educators. He is a gentleman of fine character, wins upon all who meet him, and will bring to the office he is nominated for a capacity that will be of great value to our public schools.

Dr. H. Nadeau, for coroner, needs no introduction to the people of this county. For many years he has stood at the head of the medical profession in this city, and is immensely popular with all classes. He is the idol of our French colony, and for many successive terms has been the physician of the French Benevolent society. He has already filled the office of county coroner, and the people do not forget that he made a supremely efficient one. He will make a brilliant race.

Mr. L. Friel, for county surveyor, is a very accomplished engineer. He has made surveys for some of our principal railroads, and is deemed by all who are acquainted with him and qualified to judge, one of the best and most reliable surveyors in the state. He is a very conscientious man, and will conduct his office on the highest principles of propriety.

No portion of the Democratic ticket suggests more agreeable associations or kinder recollections than the name of Dr. Joseph Kurtz, the Democratic candidate for county treasurer. He is a tower of strength to the ticket. His long residence in the city and county, his spotless integrity and universal popularity assure him a phenomenal support. Our German-American fellow-citizens will vote for him to a man, the whole voting population of foreign extraction will follow suit, while he is, if possible, held in more regard by the native-born than by the foreign-born voter. His election ought to be looked upon as a foregone conclusion; and if he should assume this most responsible trust, Angeles of all parties will know that their money will be safe to the last farthing. He is a mascot to the Democratic ticket.

When the convention caught on to the happy thought of nominating Mr. J. C. Hannon for tax collector it not only showed its deference to the country districts, but recognized the worth of an especially capable and reliable man. Mr. Hannon has served the people as supervisor and given them a sample of the stuff he is made of, having more than realized the anticipations of his constituents. His long residence in this county, and high character, mark him out as a vote winner. No man knows our people better than he.

The nomination of W. S. Waters, Esq., for public administrator, may be accepted as the reward for long, faithful and efficient party service. Mr. Waters has for years discharged the arduous duties of secretary of the Democratic county committee with a fidelity and ability which have rarely been equaled in that position. A young and able lawyer, he would bring to the discharge of his trust unusual intelligence and technical knowledge.

The Democratic nominees for supervisor are exceptionally qualified by great local experience of county affairs. It is really a work of supererogation to speak of the claims of Mr. Thomas E. Rowan, the present supervisor for the Third district. He has been of invaluable service in the board, and his advice has been always received with respect by his associates. The financial affairs of Los Angeles county are an open book to him. He was especially useful in the complicated negotiations which attended the segregation of Orange county. His personal popularity is a household word in Southern California, and his capacity is only equaled by his geniality. Mr. S. I. Mayo, the nominee for Fifth district, is a respected citizen who resides in the Tajuana region. He was for years a well known and popular conductor of the Southern Pacific railway, and has been latterly engaged in merchandizing at his home north of the city. He would be the right man in the right place.

W. T. Martin has represented the First district in the board of supervisors during all of the past term. He has done these duties so carefully and so conscientiously that his constituents will take no chances by making a change. His services in the future will be doubly valuable to his district for the reason that he knows every inch of the district and all its needs. Mr. Ed. D. Gibson, the Democratic nominee for sheriff, is one of the most judicious selections on the list. A native son of the Golden West, a bright, intelligent and energetic farmer's boy, he has fought his way to recognition by his sturdy manhood and integrity. He is a resident of Savannah, and the county will hail him as a special representative, and rally around him with enthusiasm. As the deputy collector of internal revenue under Hon. Asa Ellis, Mr. Gibson has gained the confidence of our business men and vineyardists to a marked degree. His sterling record will make him thousands of votes and he would make one of the best sheriffs Los Angeles county has ever had. We may be perfectly sure that in his administration of the office no Willett episodes would occur. To his other strong points, he adds comparative youth, as he has just attained his thirty-seventh year.

For auditor the party has put up W. N. Forker of Newhall. This office is one of the most important in the whole list. It is the clearing house of the county finances, and presents an opportunity to check dishonest developments in others, or opens wide the doors for wholesale robbery. The Republican party has had the office for two terms, and it has not enjoyed the confidence of the public in that time. The ex-auditor was at least very lax to allow so many raids to have been made on the treasury during his term of office, and without assistance from him or his chief deputy it is hard to see how these raids could have been made. Mr. Forker is a man whose integrity is beyond question. He has for years been confidential bookkeeper for a large mercantile house in Newhall, where he has approved himself an able accountant and a man of tried honor.

Refugio Bilderrain is so sure of being elected there is little use to speak of him. His qualifications for the important office of county assessor are so many and so well understood that to speak of them were superfluous. Mr. Bilderrain served the county so long and so acceptably in this very office, which has in Republican hands proven so disastrously burdensome to the tax-payers, that he will surprise even himself.

L. M. Grider, of Downey City, is to be recorder. He is most admirably fitted to perform his duties. Intelligent, watchful and honest, his bondsmen will not be obliged to set a watch over his actions to prevent him from falling into "minor irregularities," such as have marked the Republican incumbent's course. Another point in Mr. Grider's favor is that he has no entangling alliances with abstract offices. Mr. Kelley is a high official and a stockholder in one of these institutions, a fact that of itself ought to defeat him.

A. M. Bragg is the nominee for the assembly from the Seventy-sixth district, and General John R. Matthews from the Seventy-seventh. The former has lived at Compton so many years that he is personally known to nearly every man in his district who has acquired a vote in it. General Matthews has been in Los Angeles for the past eight years, and in that time he has made hosts of the warmest friends. Personally these gentlemen ought to draw the support of the voters in a very large measure. But there are other reasons for electing them. They are pledged by their platform to the Australian system of ballot reform, and they are pledged by party ties to vote for a good man for the United States senate. These considerations ought surely to elect them both.

The nominations for township and city justices and constables are an honor to the party. They are clean, upright men of decided standing, every one of them. Filling these minor, yet important offices, no disgraceful developments need be feared in their case. They will not become fugitives from justice, nor will they be detected concealing criminals.

THE KIDNAPING OF WILLETT.

It is astonishing how far partisanship will blind men who are otherwise fair and just in their views as to right and wrong. A Republican paper evidently believes that because Aguirre is a Republican candidate whatever he does must be justified and upheld. In the arrest of Willett that officer disregarded every consideration of justice and humanity. He seized him in his own field where he was working, hustled him into a wagon and drove him to Los Angeles, where he secreted him beyond the reach of his friends. He refused to let him get a change of clothes, although he was within a few yards of his house, or to let him bid good-bye to his wife and children. This he did on the plea that Willett was a desperate and dangerous man, and that he was afraid he would get a gun and open fire upon him and his deputy. Yet Willett had lived for nearly twenty years in the neighborhood where he was arrested and had the reputation of being a good and peaceable citizen. But why was the arrest kept so secret that Willett's friends only discovered by accident that he had been arrested when they were starting him for Texas on the cars? Every citizen has the right to appeal to the courts. Willett had the right to a judicial investigation into the legality of the papers by virtue of which he was to be taken out of the jurisdiction of the state. This right was shut out from him by Sheriff Aguirre; and when his friends accidentally found that he was being railroaded out of the state, that officer refused to take any steps whatever to serve the habeas corpus papers got out by them. This is as clear a case of kidnaping and shanghaiing as ever was committed in this state; and yet party exigencies are such that Republican papers either ignore the outrage altogether or approve of it. One of the latter very illogically points to the alleged escape of Willett from the Texas sheriff as justifying Aguirre in his refusal to let the prisoner bid good-bye to his family. When Willett saw that he could be smuggled out of the state by the minions of the law with impunity, he doubtless thought it was high time for him to free himself from their clutches. We have yet to know authentically, however, that Willett did escape. It is more than likely that word was sent to the Texas sheriff that a writ of habeas corpus would be served upon him at San Bernardino, and that before he got there he sent his prisoner by a round-about way to meet the train at a station beyond, and reported to the sheriff at San Bernardino that he had effected his escape. Many of Willett's friends now believe he is well on his way to Texas. As it is possible to trump up a criminal charge against any citizen, no one is safe from being kidnaped by the minions of the law if the Aguirre system receives public and judicial sanction. He ought to be impeached.

THE COMING DISTRICT FAIR.

On Tuesday next the big pumpkins and prize potatoes, fat hogs and sleek cattle, and the trotter, racer, and roadster from the happy valleys of the county will be on exhibition and in competition. The housewives' dainty jams and preserves, the art-struck rural maidens' paintings, well made bread and appetizing home made plats, will serve to give a vent to the talents of wives, sweethearts and daughters. It will be the occasion of the opening of the annual fair of the sixth agricultural district, and it promises to be a more than ordinary event. Owing to the skillful management of the preliminaries, it is probable that the exhibits will be more numerous than on any previous occasion, and the speed contests are an assured success. The event will be one at which the royal resources and splendid progress of the county can be fully and pleasantly realized.

AN EVENING paper publishes a communication from somebody who says that the HERALD has called all Republican officials of Los Angeles county thieves, and that he therefore intends to vote the Republican ticket, although he had previously inclined to the Democratic nominees. We pity this poor fellow. We did not call all Republican officials thieves by several removes. What we did do was to point out the fact that the Republican officials had turned out to be dishonest and profligate in numerous and lamentable instances. From the time the writer came to Los Angeles, the Republican party has always furnished, as a result of every election, at least one good, solid defaulter. This is the record of that party, and no amount of special pleading can change it. Lately this peculiar tendency has greatly increased, and that fact will probably not add to the Republican vote on the 4th of November. The people want a change.

The Democratic county central committee will meet today to name a candidate for senator from this district in place of Judge Enoch Knight, who is found to be ineligible under the requirements of the constitution. That instrument provides that representatives in the senate and the assembly must have resided for three years in the state and for one year in the district from which they are chosen prior to their election. Judge Knight has lived over three years in the state, but only six months in the district. Before he moved into the city he lived in that portion of Pasadena which is just across the northern boundary line of the district. A number of good names will be placed before the committee.

AND NOW it is said that the Republican county central committee is in danger of disruption. The chairman, before his appointment, it is stated, said that he would vote for Pond, and now claims that it was uttered as a joke. Another member, a "warhorse," had declined to serve at all, and required the strong pressure of the state central committee to force him into harness. The committee is a living embodiment of the principle of "innocuous desuetude," and faithfully reflects the condition of the party it serves.
