

THE NATION'S DEAD.

A Fresh Mound in Arlington Cemetery.

Ex-Secretary of War Belknap Laid to Rest.

Funeral Services Over the Remains of Justice Miller.

Paymaster Deering Found Dead in Bed. Admiral Porter Lying at the Point of Death.

(Associated Press Dispatches.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—The remains of the late ex-Secretary of War, William W. Belknap, were today interred in Arlington national cemetery, in grounds tendered by the war department. The services were conducted in St. John's Episcopal church. The remains were taken to the church under escort of veteran military organizations. The honorary pall-bearers were: Secretary Noble, ex Postmaster General A. J. Creswell, General L. A. Grant, Assistant Secretary of War General Cyrus Bussey, Assistant Secretary of Interior ex-Representative John A. Kasson, General Batchelor, General Benet, General Vincent, Senator Manderson, General Killbourn, General H. V. Boynton, General W. C. Veasey, commander-in-chief of the G. A. R., Colonel Emmet, general commander of the department of the Potomac G. A. R., James Worthington, Joseph K. McCammon. The active pall-bearers were a detachment of six non-commissioned officers from Washington barracks. The church was filled by friends of the dead general. The services were conducted by Rev. Douglass in an impressive manner. The remains were conveyed thence to the cemetery and interred.

At the grave the Grand Army services were conducted, after which Colonel Michael, of Crocker's famous brigade, made a touching address and placed a wreath of oak leaves on the coffin. The remains were lowered into the grave and a firing party of the old guard fired three volleys, and the ceremony was over.

Justice Miller's Obsequies.

The funeral services over the remains of the late Justice Miller took place this afternoon in the supreme court chamber. The remains were escorted by the supreme justices, the president and members of the cabinet, the bereaved family and a few intimate friends, to the capitol, and the casket placed in front of the bench upon which Justice Miller sat so many years. The chair of the dead justice was draped in black, and flowers sent by his friends and associates were placed along the railing near the bench. The president sent a handsome design of crossed swords encircled by a wreath. Seats were reserved for the mourners, supreme justices, the president, cabinet officers and attorneys practicing before the supreme court.

Resting against the supreme court bench, immediately in front of the casket, was a large open book, inscribed on a bank of ferns, "The loving remembrance of the lady managers of the Garfield hospital," of which the dead was a warm friend and patron. There were also floral tributes from the law school of the national university, of which Justice Miller for many years had been chancellor; from Secretary Noble, Chief Justice Fuller and a number of other friends.

The president was accompanied by Mrs. Harrison and by Secretary and Mrs. Blaine, Secretary and Miss Windom, Secretary Tracy and Secretary and Mrs. Noble, Attorney General and Mrs. Miller, Secretary and Mrs. Rusk and Private Secretary Halford. Others in the room were ex-Attorney-General Garland, Senators Manderson and Paddock, Solicitor-General Taft, Assistant Attorney-General Maury, Chief Justice Bermudez, of Louisiana, and Judge Dillon.

A few minutes after the arrival of the president, the funeral cortege arrived at the capitol from the residence of the late justice. The funeral procession, headed by the officiating clergyman, entered the capitol by the east entrance, and the court room through the main door. The justices of the court and Justice Strong, who is on the retired list, followed the clergyman and seated themselves on the left of the casket, which was borne in by the pall bearers. The family a few moments later passed in. Mrs. Miller was supported to a chair at the right of the coffin by her daughter, Irene Miller. Mrs. Touzalin and Miss Corbitt, daughter and granddaughter of Justice Miller, were immediately behind them, and with Mrs. Reeves and Mr. Adams were seated in the first row to the right of the casket. The other members of the funeral party consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Davis, Mrs. McKenney, Miss Perry and Miss Kate Perry, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. Page, Mr. Jones and Mr. Woodforth of Omaha, and the ladies of the families of the supreme court justices.

The services opened with the singing of the hymn "Abide with me," by a quartette of male voices. Rev. Dr. Shippen, of the Unitarian church, then read the burial ritual; the quartette sang "Come unto me," and the simple services were closed with a short address by Rev. Dr. Bartlett, of New York-avenue Presbyterian church, and the benediction.

Dr. Bartlett sketched the life and character of the dead man, dwelling particularly upon the great service he had rendered to the cause of freedom to all men.

The heads of all those present bowed for a moment while Dr. Bartlett prayed God to comfort those who had been bereaved by Justice Miller's death. Mrs. Miller was deeply moved, and after the ceremonies were over, Mr. McKenney, clerk of the court, and her son escorted her from the chamber. The others soon followed and all went to their homes, leaving the casket in the room. At 7:40 tonight the train bearing the remains, left the city for Keokuk, Iowa, accompanied by the family and a few friends of the late justice, Justice Fuller, Justice Brewer, Marshal Wright, Mr. Faust, Justice Miller's page, and a few others.

THE BROTHERHOOD'S ANNUAL OPEN MEETING.

Addresses by Chauncey M. Depew and Chief Engineer Arthur—The Federation Question and Other Matters.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 16.—The International Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers held its annual open meeting in the Grand opera house this afternoon. A number of letters were read from prominent gentlemen, expressing regret at their inability to be present. Among them were Governor Campbell, of Ohio; Governor Beaver, of Pennsylvania; George W. Childs, of Philadelphia; President Roberts of the Pennsylvania railroad, and other prominent railroad officials. After prayer by Grand Chaplain Sorriety, Mayor Gourley welcomed the delegates to the city. Chairman Adams then introduced Hon. Chauncey M. Depew, president of the New York Central railroad company. The appearance of the distinguished gentleman was a signal for the wildest applause. When order had been restored, Mr. Depew proceeded to deliver an address, which was listened to with great interest. Several times he was compelled to pause, owing to the deafening applause of his hearers.

Grand Chief Engineer Arthur was next introduced and enthusiastically received. He congratulated the brotherhood on the healthy condition of its affairs, and said in part: "Though there is an oneness of purpose, there is a diversity of opinion, and we hope during the course of our debates to find an equation by which the problem of our difficulties and differences may be solved. It is by honorable action that we have achieved success as a labor organization, not by might, not by loud boastful assertions of what, owing to our number, we might compel corporations to do. No, that has never been our policy. We ask but our fair, just dues; nothing more. If there have been those who would array labor against capital, I am not one of them, or with them. If there be those who regard the interests of labor and capital as naturally and properly antagonistic, I do not agree with them. The interests of labor and capital are identical, or, to be more accurate, reciprocal. Any argument respecting labor topics which does not distinctly recognize and concede the truth of this proposition, must needs be fallacious, and, as a matter of fact, it is recognized and conceded by all eminent authorities on the subject."

The insurance feature of the brotherhood was touched upon at length by the speaker. During the last fiscal year the brotherhood has paid to widows and orphans and disabled members, $322,500, making a grand total of $3,122,650. Addresses were also made by a number of delegates.

Referring to a Chicago telegram stating that a party of western engineers had left for this city to champion the cause of federation, First Grand Assistant Engineer Hayes said: "I know nothing about them. We anticipate no trouble when the time comes for considering the question of federation. I understand a majority of the western delegates favor such a plan, but as to what the outcome will be, I will not venture an opinion."

There were four cases on the Thomas and seven on the McCullum. The men said that during the 154 days' passage they had not tasted vegetables of any sort, and the meat given them was putrid. During the voyage Second Mate Cooper of the Thomas was lost overboard.

Stanford Talks Tariff.

Senator Stanford, in an interview today, said: "The recent tariff legislation is a most excellent thing for the people all the way through. This bill has kept steadily in view the great principle of protection to our labor, and that principle which teaches we should as far as possible do our own work. In that respect it is a greater protective tariff than any other. There is a vast number of idlers in the country. Our war took away two million young male laborers of the country, but it acted as a great stimulus to labor, and we had a greater productive power at the end of the war than when it commenced. Though the effect of the tariff is to maintain wages throughout the country, and though we may have to buy many things of our own production at a higher rate than that for which we could buy them abroad yet the money is never lost to us; it is merely transferred from one citizen to another. All we do in that way is so much saved. The bill will stimulate manufactures throughout the United States."

A Freight Wreck.

A freight wreck occurred at West Oakland today, in which a number of cars were badly smashed and several trainmen had a narrow escape. An east-bound fast freight was standing on the track near Sixteenth street station, when a train of eight cars which was being backed up from the yard and was running at a lively rate of speed, telescoped the caboose and rear cars. One of the trainmen on top of the train, called to those inside to escape, and then jumped from the train. A freight car piled upon the caboose, which was crushed. Three trainmen, who were inside at the forward end, had a narrow escape, but were uninjured.

THE IOWA W. C. T. U.

THE NON-PARTISAN QUESTION WARMLY DISCUSSED.

Mrs. Foster's Forces Carry the Day and Go In For Partisan Non-Partisanship. The Malcontents Reorganize.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Oct. 16.—There was a warm time at the state convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, today. The non-partisan question was brought up. Mrs. J. Ellen Foster, who with others left the national convention last year, warmly championed the non-partisan course. There was a bitter discussion in which some of her opponents attacked her for her sympathies with the Republican party. Mrs. Foster replied that she, as an American woman, clung to her right to exercise her liberty under the constitution. She was an intense Democrat, and yet be a non-partisan in the work for temperance. A lady arose and asked if a woman's opinions as a partisan should not be recognized in this convention, and Mrs. Foster replied emphatically: "No; there is absolutely no politics in this convention." Finally, after an all day struggle, the Iowa union voted to be no longer identified with the national union, headed by Miss Willard. The vote was 315 to 68. The dissenters withdrew with the intention of forming an Iowa union on the third party basis.

AN IMMENSE FAILURE.

Michigan's Leading Lumber and Salt Baron Assigns.

MANISTEE, Mich., Oct. 16.—R. Y. Peters assigned today. It is the largest financial crash in this state in years, and comes from a source least expected. Peters was a leading spirit in a score of big enterprises, and was a baron in the lumber and salt trade. The assignment covers millions of dollars' worth of property and will be far-reaching in its effects. No schedule of assets or liabilities has yet been filed here. From outside reliable sources it is said the liabilities will be fully $3,000,000, with assets in various banks, lumber companies, salt mines, etc. The plant here has made enormous profits but the outside ventures as a rule have been disastrous, especially Alabama and North Carolina lumber ventures. It is thought the assets in Manistee, Grand Rapids, and lands of the northern peninsula and southern states, lumber, etc., if judiciously handled will cover the liabilities. It is stated that the only banks likely to suffer are in Manistee, Muskegon and Grand Rapids, as it is said the Detroit banks for a short time past have declined Peters' paper.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Oct. 16.—The first effects of the great Peters failure were felt here tonight, when it was announced that the firm of Arthur Meigs & Co., in which Peters is interested, had filed mortgages aggregating nearly $300,000, covering all their property.

THE FUGITIVE M. P.'S.

Mr. Dillon's Account of the Escape.

They Will Remain in France Eight Days.

Four Months Will Be Spent on the American Tour.

Then They Will Return to Ireland and Give Themselves Up—General Foreign News.

(Associated Press Dispatches.)

PARIS, Oct. 16.—O'Brien and Dillon arrived here this morning. In an interview today, Dillon said after the yacht on which he and O'Brien escaped had been out two days the supply of illuminating oil ran out, in consequence of which it was impossible to light the yacht's lights. This made it dangerous sailing in such a crowded waterway as the channel, and several times they narrowly escaped being run down by passing vessels. O'Brien's sole object in refusing to face his accusers to the end in Tipperary, was to keep his engagement to speak in aid of the Irish cause in America. He was confident the mission to that country would meet with success. The Nationalist party was in perfect accord, and Ireland had implicit confidence in Parnell. The death of Gladstone or the bankruptcy of the National league were the sole hopes of the Tories in their fight against parliamentary agitation for Irish home rule.

Dillon and O'Brien will remain in Paris eight days, when they will take passage for New York.

Dillon said he and O'Brien will remain in America four months and then return to England and surrender themselves to the police. He laughingly added that they have been prisoners so often that a few months more or less doesn't frighten them.

Upon being asked what course he thought the British government would pursue with regard to himself and O'Brien, he said: "The government will be ashamed to ask for our extradition. I believe we furnish the only instance of English members of parliament being refugees in a foreign country."

They are well made, and were bought at the London Clothing Co.

READY-MADE CLOTHING has kept up with the times. They have improved in style and workmanship until it is now almost impossible to tell a ready-made suit from a custom-made. The time was when a tall, slim man or a stout man found it impossible to obtain a ready-made suit. That day has passed. Today you will find on our counters suits specially made for the tall men and the stout men. In Overcoats likewise, we fit the tall, slim and stout. We have the latest styles in fabrics and cuts. There are firms that deal in clothing as merchandise in bulk, like the groceryman sells flour. Anything with them that is sewed together is called a coat or a vest. They care not whether it wears. The idea with them is, the garment will bring so much profit. Not so with us. We take pride in our business and welcome every improvement. Well made clothing is our specialty. We take the same pains to secure good wearing and well made goods, when buying 100 suits, that you do to buy one. We aim to make a steady customer of every man that purchases of us. That can only be done by selling well-made goods at popular prices. Give us a trial. Satisfaction guaranteed.
