

WILL SEAMAN ANSWER?

SOME MORE QUESTIONS PRO-FOUNDED BY HIM.

One Who Knows Proposes Some Ticklish Conundrums—The County Superintendent of Schools Should Answer.

In the HERALD of October 14th there was a long article, consisting principally of questions relating to Superintendent Seaman's relations with the "Teachers' Employment Agency."

A week has elapsed and not one of these questions has been answered.

The Times had just struck a mine of sensations in the Boynton affair, but it fled wildly from the scene when it found that the next charge was sure to blow up the county superintendent of schools.

If Seaman were innocent he would refute such serious charges; but he knows that he can not, and he dare not attempt it for fear that the same charges may reappear, backed by an affidavit.

He knows that the charges are true, and he knows, moreover, that nearly every teacher in the county can testify to the truth thereof.

I promised to ask some more questions, and in fulfillment of that promise I propound the following:

Why was it that Seaman snubbed a certain young lady who was teaching a few miles from the city, till he found that her uncle was high in the councils of the Republican party—a member of the executive committee? Why did he immediately visit the young lady at her school and repeat the visit two or three times within a month? Why did he ask the young lady if there was any position she would like him to get for her? Why did he recommend said young lady to the city board as one specially fitted for a high position? Why is that young lady now occupying a high position in the city schools, within a few months of the time in which she was abused and snubbed by the superintendent? Would the said superintendent like me to publish the name of the lady and her uncle?

Why is it that male teachers visiting or calling at the office of the superintendent are questioned as to how they will vote at the coming election, as if it were any business with which the superintendent or his deputy have a right to question teachers?

In a certain district in this county a teacher was employed last year at a salary of $75 a month for eight months. After school had been in session two or three months the trustees concluded to reduce the salary or change teachers. They consulted Seaman, and he advised them to offer the teacher $95 a month to finish the year. The teacher refused the offer, and on consulting the superintendent, he was advised to hold out firm and appeal to the heads of families of the district. He called a meeting of the people, but the trustees came to time and agreed with the people that the teacher should teach out the school year at the salary he was promised at first.

Query: Why did Seaman try to make both parties to the above transaction think that he was doing his best for that particular side so that he would a great deal of time and money which did not belong to him?

Why was it that the same thing was repeated this year in an aggravated form in the Cahuenga district, so that the teacher kept school without any children for a month and then had to quit?

Why was it that Seaman told a certain Republican politician lately that if he had known that a certain teacher was his son, he would have given him a better school long ago?

Why was it that at the Little Lake, or Santa Fe Springs, school last year all other applicants were distanced by a man named Seaman, who had come as the special man for that place, recommended by Seaman, the county superintendent?

Why was it that the superintendent turned his back on an excellent lady teacher because she was teaching in the same school with a principal who was not friendly to Seaman?

Why is it that of the 388 teachers in this county, not one has rushed into print to defend Seaman?

Why is it that more than 100 of said teachers are paying from five to seven per cent. of their yearly salaries to the "agency," while Seaman, the county superintendent, draws $3000 a year for his efforts to benefit and advance our schools and teachers?

Why is it that at a late examination a young man who missed three out of ten examples in arithmetic, got 94 per cent. in that study?

Why is it that very few counties in Southern California will recognize Los Angeles county certificates?

Why is it that nine-tenths of the teachers in this county berate Seaman and Boynton, and would be greatly pleased to see a good, honest, educated superintendent take charge of our schools, and see that the grand school law of California is fulfilled to the letter?

If the superintendent or his friends desire it, I will give a list of fine teachers who are paying five per cent. to Boynton simply because Seaman would not tell them where to look for vacancies.

All other county superintendents in Southern California do their duty in this matter, and it has remained for the home of Lockwood and Damon, and El Hammond and Platt, etc., to furnish a superintendent who could prostitute his office and influence to aid an "employment" office to the injury of the cause of education throughout the county.

A few more questions and I have done for this time.

Why is it that the library books in the school libraries do not agree with the list made by state law?

Why is it that men will not select a good man, regardless of politics, to fill the most important office in the county?

Why was it that the superintendent made such a mess at the building of the Pico Heights school house, that the contractor absconded without paying the wages of the workmen?

Does the average man know that the expenditure of every dollar of the county school fund must be passed upon by the county superintendent, and that the amount expended last year was over $352,000?

I have more questions to ask, but as I said before, I will content myself with these for the present.

ONE WHO KNOWS.

LIBERAL CONTRIBUTION.

One Thousand Dollars Raised by the Ladies of Immanuel Church.

The ladies of Immanuel church held their jubilee in Dr. Heisler's English Lutheran church, on Monday night. There was a very large number present, representing nearly all the lady membership of the church, and a considerable sprinkling of gentlemen. It soon appeared that the so-called "ladies' jubilee" was to subserve the double purpose of celebrating their pastor's (Dr. W. J. Chichester's) birthday and to hand in their free offerings to the fund they had pledged themselves to raise for the furnishing of their new church edifice. They had pledged themselves to raise $4000, to cover the expense of carpeting, pewing and cushioning the church. Mrs. Dr. Salisbury, the president of the Ladies' Aid society, opened the jubilee in a few happy remarks, and Mrs. J. J. Ayers read a general report reviewing the work of the society from its organization, in November, 1888. The report stated that the ladies had already secured $1300 towards the sum, and suggested that the Young Men's Christian association might be induced to get up a musicale or other entertainment for the benefit of the fund. It was also hinted that a committee of ladies should canvass property holders in the neighborhood of the new church for financial assistance, on the ground that the edifice would be an architectural ornament to the city and render property in the vicinity more desirable for residences. Whilst the baskets were being passed around to receive the free offerings of the ladies, Miss Kimball sang a solo, and Mrs. Minor read some original and meritorious verses adapted to the occasion. When the offerings were counted, it was found that $646 had been handed in. This sum was raised in an even thousand by spontaneous contributions from the audience, so that the ladies have now on hand about $2,300. The assemblage then adjourned to the church parlors, where a fine collation was spread, and a social time was had for the rest of the evening. A feature of the "spread" was a huge birthday frosted cake, surrounded by lighted candles to the number of years the pastor had attained. Everybody was well satisfied with the pleasant way in which the evening had been spent, and with the very successful outcome of its financial feature.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

The Exhibit More Attractive Than Ever Before.

The chamber of commerce has reopened with a display that would be a credit to any fair ever held here. Most of the products exhibited at the fair will remain in the hall, and new features have been added. A pyramid twenty feet high, with eight glass sides, has been sent in from the Los Nietos Walnut Growers' association. It will be filled with walnuts, and on top is a spire to be faced with oranges, etc. The "Womans' Exchange" has sent in a case filled with fancy goods, and other new features are to be found. Ventura county has rented a table, and will keep it fully supplied with fresh goods. The display at present is far better than it has ever been before.

The following was received from Mr. Truman yesterday:

CHICAGO, Oct. 14, 1890.

DEAR MR. BANCHESTER:—We had a fine lot of people visit us today from 8 to 5, and all the Santa Fe officials, as well as myself, were surprised. All who wished it were served with literature. We are going to have a more direct result than I had supposed we would. It is quite a nice exhibit already and the glaziers finished up their work of putting glasses over all the dried fruits and edging the sides and ends with colored papers. Another big snag has given up the ghost, but the arrangements are all pretty firm, only two showing signs of weakness. The fresh fruits look fine and attract attention. Indeed everything delights or impresses. Very truly,

BEN. C. TRUMAN.

THE RAILROADERS.

The Proceedings at Their Convention Yesterday.

The delegates to the seventh annual convention of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen were for the most part "on time," when the convention was called to order in Illinois hall yesterday morning at 9 o'clock, and over three hundred members responded to their names when the grand roll was called for the first time. There are still more to come, and of the overdue delegations, that from Pittsburgh, Pa., was expected to arrive here last night, and others are confidently looked for today.

After disposing of the usual preliminaries the convention appointed its various committees as follows, and instructed each as to its respective duties:

Committee on Reception and Invitation—C. B. Peterson, chairman; J. L. Jewell, C. D. McPeck, J. M. Leckler, Charles Denn.

Committee on Resolutions—A. Hardy, H. J. Engleton, T. Wear, J. F. Tobin, C. Alexander.

This consumed the greater part of the morning's session, and in the afternoon nothing of importance transpired, the short time at the disposal of the convention being taken up in listening to communications and other matters of minor interest. At 4 o'clock the convention adjourned, the hall being engaged for an entertainment in the evening.

A large number of the railroad boys visited the various places of amusement last evening, the Grand opera house and W. R. C. fair claiming the majority.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR.

The Coeur de Lion Commandery Presented With a Banner.

The members of Coeur de Lion commandery No. 9 Knights Templar, and a large number of their friends, assembled at the Knights Templar hall on the corner of First and Spring streets last night to celebrate the occasion of the presentation of a new banner to the commandery. The affair was conducted under the directions of the following committee of arrangements: Sir W. A. Morgan, Sir T. J. Carran, Sir Hervey Lindley, Sir R. T. Mullard, Sir H. Z. Osborne, to whose efforts its success was mainly due. The interior of the hall was most tastefully decorated for the event, and many of the knights appeared in full Templar uniform. The guests on their arrival were welcomed by a reception committee consisting of the following knights: Sir D. E. Barclay, Sir George Seip, Sir John A. Kingsley.

The proceedings commenced with a musical selection, after which Eminent Commander Freeman Golding Teed addressed a eloquent opening address. Another musical selection was followed by the presentation of the banner, a remarkably handsome one, by the committee, consisting of the following gentlemen: E. Sir F. Jordan, E. Sir S. H. Boynton, Sir I. S. Va. Doren, S. B. Eminent Commander Freeman G. Teed on behalf of the commandery then responded, and after these ceremonies the remainder of the evening was very enjoyably spent in social intercourse, music and dancing.

COURT NOTES.

Little Legal Incidents Which Took Place Yesterday.

The information which charges Frank J. Dyer with an assault to commit murder on Mr. Taylor was filed yesterday. He will be arraigned on the 27th.

Jose Yorba, who was on trial yesterday for the murder of Jesus Figueroa, was acquitted without the jury leaving their seats. The self defence was well established.

In the case of the United States against the Vineland distillery, judgment was given for claimants today by Judge Ross.

The complaint in ejectment of W. H. George against Wm. C. Chronicle and Lavinia C. Chronicle, occupied the entire day before Judge Van Dyke. The Chronicle were all there with an array of dates to show that they were in possession of a tract of 160 acres of land in Castac County, in this county, in November, 1888, when the said W. H. George entered thereon afterwards. The case is still going on.

American Wheelmen's League.

The League of American Wheelmen has experienced a remarkable growth, having increased tenfold since its organization. Before 1891 it will probably reach a membership of 20,000. "Advancement of wheeling" has always been the motto of the league, and the good roads of the country owe their condition to the efforts of this band of cyclists. In 1890 ninety riders assembled in Newport to form an organization for their protection and for highway improvement. From this seed the league has sprung with mushroomlike growth, until its societies extend into all parts of the wheelmen. The practical advantages of membership consist in the assistance of the whole body to secure better roads in neglected localities, legal assistance when road privileges are denied riders, and reduced rates at the league hotels, which are located in all important cities of the country.—New York Telegram.

The cranberry growers of Onset and other towns on Cape Cod do not expect to get over half the usual crop. Insects and drought have made fearful inroads. The towns near Plymouth have not suffered so much, and in southwestern Massachusetts the harvest bids fair to be as good as usual.
