

PETITIONERS HUMBLLY PRAY That the City Council Will Grant Their Requests.

Among the documents filed with the city clerk, for presentation to the council on Monday next, are the following petitions and communications:

That of N. P. Campbell asking that the sum of $156.08 be refunded, said amount having been paid by him on eleven void tax sales, said sales being double assessments.

That of Fred Pfleger asking that the sum of $14.40, paid as an assessment upon $1200 which he had on deposit with the State Loan and Trust Co., erroneously, said amount being exempt by law from taxation, be refunded.

That of A. E. Pomeroy et al. asking that a survey and map be made of a street 80 feet wide, commencing at the present western terminus of Wabash avenue, and running westerly in the direction of the prolongation of Wabash avenue to Mission road, in a westerly direction to the Los Angeles river, at a point about 150 feet north of the northwest corner of the land of Stern, thence westerly to Alameda street opposite the junction of New Main street, as a preliminary measure to the opening of said proposed street, which would be of great public benefit, and could be done at a small expense.

That of Chas. Forman et al., to the effect that about sixty days ago the petitioners applied for a franchise for an Electric Light company to furnish incandescent light and power under the Edison electric system, which company is composed of Los Angeles men, who are ready and willing to go to work immediately.

That of J. C. Zahn, calling attention to the bad condition of the intersection of Flower and Third streets, which should be repaired and gutters laid to prevent storm water from destroying private property; also to the brick court between Fourth and Fifth, which for a distance of at least 300 feet was full of sand and will be useless for the coming winter.

The city tax and license collector reports the collection of taxes for the fiscal year 1890-91, up to and including October 22, 1890, to be $130,185.35.

ON TO BOSTON.

Beans for the Sustenance of New England's Gray Matter.

There moved Saturday, the 25th inst., from Los Angeles, the third special bean train of the season shipped by A. Levy of Hueneume, Ventura county, consisting of twelve carloads, all destined to eastern points, by way of the Southern Pacific company, Union Pacific railway and the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway.

This train will run solid on special schedule time through to destination. The beans made a special cargo for the Pacific Coast Steamship company's steamer Bonita, which left Hueneume and ran direct to San Pedro. At the same time, Wolff & Lehman of Hueneume also shipped three carloads of beans by way of the above routes, which will move with this special train. The cars all carry large banners giving the name of shipper, contents of car and point from which shipped. These heavy shipments of Pacific Coast products advertised thus will redound not only to the advantage of the shippers, but also to the credit of Southern California, as these cars pass en route from the Pacific to the Atlantic coast, through all the principal cities.

COURT NOTES.

Little Legal Happenings Jotted Down Yesterday.

H. N. Elliott was found guilty on Friday night in department six, of forgery. He passed a check on July 20th for $9 at the Southern California National bank, upon which he had forged the signature of A. E. Rice & Co. Judge Shaw will sentence Elliott tomorrow.

Herbert N. Reeves, a native of Ireland, was admitted to citizenship yesterday by Judge Shaw. Charles Powers, of Sweden, was naturalized by Judge Cheney.

Louie Tung, found guilty of robbery several days ago, will be sentenced tomorrow.

An information was filed in department one charging Charles Lawson with an assault with a deadly weapon upon the person of Captain Moody. In department three, yesterday, the sealed verdict of the jury which tried the damage suit of Mrs. Mary White against the California Central, was opened. It awards her $500.

J. A. Cowell sues N. Whittlesey for $883.33, on a contract for the sale of real estate.

FOLEY'S FOLLY.

He Goes Out Begging and is Bagged by a Constable.

James Foley, a railroad section hand, was arrested on Friday for begging. He came in on that day from the country with a time check for a small sum of money. Being unable to collect it at once, and having no funds, he concluded to "strike" people on the street for enough to live on until he could get his check cashed. Unfortunately a constable nabbed him and charged him with vagrancy. Yesterday Justice Savage sentenced him to fifteen days' imprisonment, but suspended sentence during good behavior.

A CHANCE FOR WHITE MEN.

A Land Owner Who Will Not Have Chinese Tenants.

Mr. G. J. Griffiths, in another column, advertises land to rent at the Los Feliz ranch. Mr. Griffiths has been offered $7 an acre rent for this land by Chinamen, but he does not care for Mongolian tenants, and will rent the same land to white men for $3.50 an acre. This soil and location is eminently adapted to the culture of winter vegetables for the eastern market, and is identical with that from which Chinese ranchmen make a profit of from $300 to $700 an acre. Peas, tomatoes, and all the most delicate vegetables can be grown all winter without fear of frost.

THE POMONA-ELSINORE.

Captain Cross Making Active Preparations to Operate It.

Captain John Cross is making active preparations to build the Pomona and Elsinore railroad. The first effort will be to iron and operate the section between Pomona and South Riverside, taking Riverside by the way. At South Riverside the road reaches the works of the Pacific Clay manufacturing company, and that of the Porphyry paving company. Just beyond the line passes famous tin mine is. There are now 150 men at work on the old shaft of this mine, and more will soon be put to work.

RAPID RISE TO WEALTH.

Story of the Leap to Financial Success of Adam Dudenheifer.

A party of gentlemen were talking in front of the Hotel Sandersville a few evenings ago, carrying on a running conversation about men and events. They were calling up little reminiscences of the past, when one of them remarked: "Years ago, just after the close of the war, I remember there lived in this county a man who every day walked between the plow handles, tilling his little farm for a livelihood, contented and serene, seemingly careless and unmindful of the hard life he daily led. By his fellows he was not accredited with any unusual degree of business tact, nor was it the case that his judgment in matters of finance was sought by any of his acquaintances.

"If he was overly shrewd no one knew it; if he anticipated any successful achievements beyond the sphere in which he moved he did not let any one know of this latent ambition that fired his brain. Finally he drifted away from these parts. At first he went to Savannah. Soon after reaching that city, having made a favorable impression on a lady who had some means and who assisted him in pecuniary matters, he became associated with John L. Martin in the cotton commission business. In that he prospered fairly well, and eventually married his benefactress. Retiring from the cotton trade he went to New York some time in the seventies. There he struck it, it seems, with the 'magicians of finance' in the great metropolis, and prosperity has beamed on him ever since.

"At the annual election of stockholders of the Central railroad in Savannah Gen. Alexander, the president, voted by proxy 3,700 shares of that stock, the property of Adam Dudenheifer, of New York, and that was only a meager portion of his accumulations. The Adam Dudenheifer that lived in pinched circumstances in this county years ago is now the same Dudenheifer that is accounted almost, if not entirely, a millionaire in the most populous and wealthiest city in the Union.

"His life, so far as rapid money making goes, is a marvelous success, and yet it is but the history of other men. From the bottom he has risen and worked his way through adverse circumstances to a position of security and ease. It is all in the man, after all."—Sandersonville (Ga.) Progress.

A Good Method of Copying.

Buy a piece of common factory or cheese cloth, or as many pieces as may be necessary to make the desired number of copies, each the size of the letter book page. When about to take copies wet the cloth, or several pieces if necessary, so thoroughly that there shall be no dry spots. This done wring them out as dry as possible with the hands. Now place the oil sheet in the book and the cloth thereon, and the leaf of the copy book on this. Next lay the letter or manuscript on this, and if another sheet is to be copied add another oil sheet, a wet cloth, the tissue leaf, and so on for as many sheets as there may be to copy. By this process as many as twenty sheets may be copied successfully at the same time, while the most expert with the brush, or any similar device for moistening the tissue leaves, will sometimes fail on a single copy. We retired our hair and felt brushes to make place for the cheese cloth a number of years ago. For typewriter work nothing excels the cloth. Clear copies may be procured as long as there is enough ink left on a ribbon to make an impression.—Cor. Writer.

Dyeing Roses. It is said that the process of dyeing roses is becoming a remunerative branch of industry with English horticulturists. Instead of growing new varieties of roses, which is a process of years, they simply grow ordinary white roses and dip them in a chemical solution which in a single hour converts them into the most magnificent yellow tea roses, the rare scarlet red or the peculiar shade of bluish violet which has been one of the favorites of the season. In a similar way pink roses are turned into blossoms of the deepest red. Some years ago, before this branch of "floral chemistry" was developed, the first experiments were successfully made in France with the popular pink hortensia, which, by being watered with a solution of iron, assumed a blue shade.—London Letter.

The Fly Too Big a Fool. Put a fly on the window and up he goes toward the top; he can't be made to walk downward. A St. Louis inventor hit upon an idea. Why not use that habit against them? Forthwith he made a window screen divided in half. The upper half lapped over the lower, with an inch of space between. As soon as a fly would light on the screen he would proceed to travel upward, and would thus walk straight out of doors. On reaching the top of the lower half he would be outside. Not being able to walk down he had no way to return to the room. By this means a room can be quickly cleared of flies, which always seek the light.—New York Journal.

Curability of Consumption. In a late series of experiments Dr. Koch found that certain bodies, such as volatile oils, and certain metallic salts, such as nitrate of silver and preparations of gold, even in very small doses (1 to 1,000,000, and even less), destroy the bacilli of consumption in a very short time. He therefore concludes that in the course of time some drug may be discovered that will cure the disease by destroying the bacilli without injury to the body.—Arkansas Traveler.

Milk and Oysters. The dietetic expert has analyzed the "Blue Point," and finds that, bulk for bulk, the mollusk is equal to milk in nutritive value. "Oysters," he says, "come nearer to milk than almost any other common food; their values for supplying the body with material to build up its parts, repair its wastes and furnish it with heat and energy are pretty nearly the same."—Chicago News.

Four Years on Crutches.

For fifteen years I was afflicted with rheumatism, four years of which I was compelled to go on crutches. Words are inadequate to express the suffering I endured during that time. During these fifteen years of existence (it was not living), I tried every known remedy without receiving any benefit. I finally began on Swift's Specific (S. S. S.), which from the first gave me relief, and today I am enjoying the best of health, and am a well man. I candidly believe that S. S. S. is the best blood purifier on the market today.
