CITY JUSTICES.

R. W. READY, W. P. HYATT.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1890.

That Los Angeles is on the up grade is shown by the report of the city superintendent of schools, who says that there are five hundred and seventeen more scholars in this city today than there was this time last year.

The health officer has fallen foul of the Citizens' Water company on the ground that that corporation is furnishing its patrons foul water. He insists that their reservoirs shall be properly lined with cement and that other precautions shall be taken for the public health. Right you are.

MAYOR HAZARD and the California Sewer Pipe company have locked horns. The mayor has refused to audit a bill of the company on the ground that the price of the article furnished to the city is fully three times as high as that of an equally good article delivered on the cars at the east. There is much food for reflection in this statement of the mayor.

There is a great deal in knowing how to scratch a ticket if you desire to make your work effectual. If you simply wish to scratch Markham without voting for Pond, draw a line through his name and write on the margin of the ticket, opposite the erasure, "No Vote."

The "stuffers" have been at work in Los Angeles in fine shape, as the well-informed know. A practical illustration of this fact was afforded yesterday by the advent of Frank B. Schutz and Joseph D. Ford. They were promptly arrested and bailed out in the sum of $500 each. Bail was given by Colonel H. G. Otis. We would remind all persons contemplating any infraction of the election laws that the doors of the penitentiaries of California are constructed on a generous plan, and will admit an average individual without any friction. Go slow, voter of the illegal guild, or you will run counter of much travail. "Stuffers," beware!

any dickering or trading. In this connection we will just add that while there will be no trading on the Democratic side it is pretty well understood that the whole Republican ticket, from top to bottom, from all the indications, is to be traded off for Martin Aguirre for sheriff and Jabez Banbury for county treasurer. The Express's article is the old, old device of "stop thief," and "Woodson's little game" will scarcely work in this instance.

FORWARD TO VICTORY.

Today the great battle for the redemption of California from misrule will be fought. The Herald has no fear of the issue. On one side are money and corporation influence; on the other stand the masses. It is entirely in the power of the unbought voter to throw the hosts of arbitrary power prone to the earth. Stanford and his sack can do much, but it is impossible to buy a whole people. Scrutinize your ticket. See that it is Democratic from top to bottom, and put it in the box early. Spurn any proposition to trade a name on it. The Democratic state ticket is invincible and every man on it should receive an equal show. Pond will be the next governor and his own city will give him a majority of from 7000 to 12,000. Stand by your local nominees and all will be well. Victory is in the air!

A CAPITAL CASHIER.

It will be interesting to watch the way Dr. Joseph Kurtz runs for county treasurer. When a man has lived for a long time in a community he has either made a host of friends or a multitude of enemies. Dr. Kurtz enjoys the pleasing distinction of counting the former by troops, and it would require a ninety million magnifying glass to discover a single enemy he has made that an honest man should not have. As against Jabez Banbury, who is a mere ideal to most Angelenos, he presents a concrete personality, most attractive and commanding. Rich through the practice of his profession, and incapable of wrongdoing, he appeals to the voter as an old timer, and as a man who has signalized every decade of his residence in Los Angeles by good deeds and pleasant associations with our people. We can see no reason why Dr. Kurtz should not be triumphantly elected. His intelligence is of the highest order and his business experience extensive. The man who has managed his own business affairs with such signal success is very apt to conduct those of the people with equal ability. Thus rally to the support of Kurtz, and crown an honorable and successful career with this decisive mark of the confidence of his fellow-citizens.

There is a certain merit in frankness which has been recognized in all ages of the world and in all races. It is allied to bravery, and it might fairly be called a twin brother of valor. We are told that a frank confession is good for the soul, but we admit that it is possible to please us too much. Thus, the Hon. John James Ingalls, in the following paragraphs, succeeds in satiating our appetite for this kind of entertainment. He says:

The purification of politics is an iridescent dream. The decalogue and golden rule have no place in a political campaign. The object is success. This modern cant about the corruption of politics is fatiguing in the extreme. It proceeds from the tea-custard and syllabub dilettantism, the frivolous and desultory sentimentalism of epigrams. In war it is lawful to deceive the adversary, to hire Hessians, to purchase mercenaries, to mutilate, to destroy. The commander who lost a battle through the activity of his moral nature would be the derision and jest of history. Patronage will allure the ambitious, force will coerce the timid, demagogism will gull the credulous, fraud will rob the weak, money will buy the mercenary.

By somewhat extending the charming methods of Ingalls, about everything detestable in the annals of history might be gloried in or at least palliated. Admirers of Ingalls may think that he is original, but he is simply following in the footsteps of Machiavelli, who wrote a book called the "Prince," which subtly and diplomatically developed the gross and degrading ideas with which Ingalls is not ashamed to identify himself in the nineteenth century and in a republic. The avowal of such sentiments simply shows that a party which reaches out after absolutism, and which rejects the sober safeguards of constitutional government, demoralizes its members. We are sorry to say that Mr. Ingalls is himself a sorry instance in point.

The Republicans who think they are all the people, and who rely so much on Saturday night's fanfare, buckram, noise and lavish display of the sack in politics, might well reconsider their decision if they saw the gathering at the pavilion last night. No trainloads were brought in from Santa Barbara and other remote points to swell the numbers. No rockets were sent up to swell the multitude. No foreign attractions were imported to make the mouths of the unthinking gape at a man distinguished merely by being rich. A few plain citizens of our own city, relying on their popularity and brains, made a quiet announcement that they would discuss the issues of the campaign before their neighbors, and lo! the great building was filled with an intelligent and enthusiastic assemblage of voters whose ballots will be backed today by brain and conscience, and who were not there last night to scent the sack for today. For, maugre the fact that Saturday night's assembly contained a very large number of most respectable and highly honest voters, yet the rest of it was a motly multitude, whose sole interest in politics is self-interest, and whose minds can be reached by no argument except a $2 bill. Mr. White and Mr. Del Valle held the people last night by the force of logic, and by a plea for honest government. Surely these phases of the campaign must have weight at the polls today with men who love their country, and who regard its welfare more highly than party ties.

The programme of Mr. Bob Northam, in announcing, in reply to a respectful appeal of the Democratic county central committee, that Mr. Markham would read no letters, may suit a portion of the Republican party, but it certainly will not please the more intelligent, conscientious and manly portion of that organization. Who is Mr. Markham that, in his aspirations for office, he should be dispensed from the ordinary obligations of a candidate, to meet his fellow citizens and frankly respond to their interrogatories? Upon what meat has this modern Caesar fed that he should set himself above an immemorial rule which Clay and Webster did not disdain to respect? He has failed to meet the "Old Pard" letter issue because he has so enmeshed himself in indecision and falsehood that he is hopeless of emerging from the ordeal with honor. The people have got Markham's gait.

By its matchless news-gathering facilities in the Associated Press, the Herald this morning is able to lay before its readers a most intelligent summary of the issues at stake in today's elections in all the states where the results are not foregone conclusions. The great Northwest is the arena where the battle is most fiercely fought. There are numerous new elements in the contest this year whose effects on the results will be studied with interest by all those who pay attention to politics. The farmers' organizations in many states afford a subject of profound interest. The canvass of General Palmer, in Illinois, and the combination of 130,000 Kansas people to keep lank and bitter John James Ingalls at home, the effect of the McKinley bill on the mind of the country, are all points of great importance.

THE "G. O. M."

Honors Showered Upon Gladstone by His Scotch Admirers. LONDON, Nov. 3.—Mr. Gladstone has declined to stand as a candidate for the rectorship of the University of Aberdeen. He gives his advanced age as his reason for declining the nomination.

Gladstone started on his return from Scotland today. At Montrose, a large number of friends gave him an enthusiastic reception. The scene was repeated at Arbroath. His Dundee admirers presented him a walking-stick and a luncheon basket. When at Peebles, a delegation of workmen presented him a traveling rug. At this place Gladstone delivered a short speech, and referred to a speech by Lord Hartington, at a Liberal-Unionist meeting at Edinburgh, Friday. Hartington, Gladstone said, was evidently not well satisfied with the result of his directness. The only doubt in Hartington's mind was whether the time had arrived to surrender the Liberal-Unionist party. Gladstone declared that Hartington was broken down and his followers dreadfully broken up by the results of the recent elections for members of the house of commons, which were most satisfactory to the Liberal party.

THE MARINE DISASTER.

Captain Allen Claims That He Did Not Desert His Crew.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 3.—Captain John Allen, of the schooner Hargraves, reached the city today, and corroborated the story told by First Mate Ferrin, throwing the blame for the collision entirely on the Spanish steamer. He emphatically denies the charge that he abandoned Second Mate Walker and some of the seamen. He says that as he pushed off he told them to jump overboard, and they would pick them up; but they didn't do it. He returned with the long boat to the vessel. Other Spaniards would, in their craze, have jumped in and swamped the boat, and drowned all.

FOOT HILL ECHOES.

Monrovia Democrats Enthusiastic For the Whole Ticket.

MONROVIA, Nov. 3.—[Special.]—The streets are crowded tonight; business houses are illuminated with colored lanterns; bands of music and shouts and cheers are making the foot hills fairly echo with enthusiastic sounds, for Pond and the entire Democratic ticket. Hon. George S. Patton, the able advocate of Democratic principles, made a masterly address on national and state issues, convincing many of his Republican listeners that the Democrats are right and the Republicans wrong, and that tomorrow's vote will show it.

A POMONA STRAW.

H. B. Westerman Draws a Larger Audience than Markham.

POMONA, Nov. 3.—[Special.]—H. B. Westerman is addressing a much larger audience here tonight than greeted Colonel Markham today.

Supreme Court Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—The supreme court of the United States today granted a motion to advance the case of Tuiunga Guzro, under sentence of death by electricity in New York, and assigned the case for argument on the third Monday in November.

The vacancy in the assignment of justices, as to circuit court duties, caused by the death of Justice Miller, has been filled by the assignment of Justice Brewer to Justice Miller's old circuit.

The Redondo Beach Road.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3.—The last report filed with the railroad commission is that of the Redondo Railway company, which was organized April 10, 1889. The line extends from Los Angeles to Redondo Beach. The total cash capital is $181,000; total indebtedness, $20,554; equipment up to date, $50,580; and $132,360 has been expended on construction; making the total cost of construction and equipment $182,940.

Markham at Home.

PARADISE, Nov. 3.—Colonel Markham was given a reception at his home tonight, upon his return from Pomona. He was met by a reception committee and a number of citizens, who escorted him to his home. Soon after there was a street parade, and speeches followed in Haymarket square before a large number of people.

The Next House Democratic.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—The congressional committees have completed their campaign work, and have figured out the possible results of tomorrow's elections. The Democratic committee estimates the Democratic majority in the next house at thirty. The Republican committee concedes to the Democrats 153 districts, and claims 159 districts, leaving twenty districts doubtful. Of the latter they claim enough to give the Republicans a majority of seven.

Energetic Work of Women.

The Chicago Women's Moral and Educational society met in Farwell hall. More than a hundred women were present. Mrs. Ezra A. Cook, who presided, said that two weeks before a few women had met at the Palmer house to see what could be done in the matter of having the Bible read in the public schools. It had been determined by the women to make a strong effort to have the Bible read in the schools, and this union had been formed. Miss Stevens reported that several of the Baptist ministers had signed the petition, and Mrs. Cragin said she had received the signatures of forty-two Congregational ministers.

Mrs. Cook said one of the great needs of having the Bible read in the schools was the alarming increase of young criminals. She believed the absence of religion was one cause of it.

The reports of the women who had charge of the petitions in the churches were then called for, and twenty-five churches showed between three and four thousand signatures. Of this number one church, the Swedish Baptist, represented by Mrs. Nelson, furnished 1,050 names.—Chicago Herald.

The Wife of the Speaker.

The wife of Speaker Reed, alongside of her big husband, looks like a little girl. Like her husband she is well-endowed with mental qualities. Mrs. Reed's maiden name was Susan Merrill, and she was born in Center Harbor, Me. Her father, Rev. S. H. Merrill, was an eloquent minister of the Congregational church in that section of New England. Previous to her marriage she taught school for several terms. The only child of Mr. and Mrs. Reed is Catherine, a girl of fifteen. The Reeds have one of the handsomest houses in Portland, and at Washington they live at the Shoreham.—Washington Letter.

The new Japanese parliament contains 1 minister of state, 3 senators, 27 local government officials, 37 mayors, 143 provincial administrative officials, 18 journalists, 19 lawyers, 10 school teachers, 4 priests of Buddha and 14 professors. Of the 399 members 114 are Radicals, 55 Independents, and only 4 Conservatives.

Professor Tyndall, now in his seventieth year, is an expert Alpine climber, and there are not many guides in Switzerland more intrepid than he. He is now among the glaciers with Mrs. Tyndall, and reports from them say they are enjoying excellent health.

The chief of the police of Moscow has issued orders that those who sell papers or other printed matter in the streets shall not be allowed to pursue their vocation if they are not dressed in proper uniform, or if they do not appear clean and tidy.

An association for the colonization of Palestine has been successfully established in Whitechapel, London. The society sends shiploads of poor Jews from London to Palestine, and will provide them with funds with which to purchase farms.

5 CENT DEPOSIT STAMPS.

A New Feature in Savings Bank Deposits.

The Security Savings Bank & Trust Co.

At 148 South Main street, has for the past six months been receiving Children's Deposits in sums as low as 25 cents and issuing to each depositor a pass-book.

As an aid to this department of our Savings Bank and for the purpose of encouraging small Savings by all persons both old and young, we have decided to introduce what is known as the

5-CENT DEPOSIT STAMP.

We will issue a 5-cent Stamp, about the size of a U. S. Government stamp, bearing the name of our Bank. To the purchaser of two of these stamps will be given a blank book containing ten leaves, each leaf ruled for twenty stamps. On presentation to the bank of one of these leaves with 20 stamps, a pass-book will be issued to the depositor showing a deposit of one dollar, which will at once begin to bear interest according to the rules of the bank. Every time a leaf filled with twenty stamps is presented, a dollar credit will be entered in the pass-book, and so on.

In order to facilitate the working of the system and in order to enable all desiring to avail themselves of its benefits to secure the stamps and blank books we will have agents in various and convenient parts of the city and county, who on the purchase of two or more stamps, will give to such depositors a blank book. The depositor, when he has purchased twenty stamps, may fill one leaf, can send or bring the same to the bank and secure his pass-book. This 5-cent feature of Savings Deposits has been successfully operated in many of the European and several of the prosperous and progressive American Savings Banks; notably the Citizens Savings Bank in Detroit. Believing that it is the province of a Savings Bank to receive and encourage the making of small deposits by both children and grown people as well as to receive the larger accounts of the more well-to-do, we have decided to adopt this 5-cent Stamp System as the simplest and most effective way of obtaining the end desired. We are pleased to announce to the public that in a short time we will publish in the daily papers a complete list of our agents of whom these 5-cent stamps and blank books can be obtained.

VOTERS!

WHO OWNS AMERICA? WHO GETS THE PRODUCT of your labor? Do you get all your product, or do you not give up nearly all that which your labor produces to those who hold in their selfish grasp the natural wealth of this your own country, which by rights should be the common property of all?

Less than ten men practically own the United States. The aggregate surplus income of the Vanderbilts, the Astors, the Rockefellers and Jay Gould, is now practically combined, forcing all smaller property owners to give up a hopeless struggle against overwhelming odds.

All things point but to one issue, namely: Whether we Americans shall sanction the transfer of our country to a plutocracy, or whether we shall assume possession of it ourselves.

Shall the trusts and railway corporations own the people or shall we, the people, own the trusts and railways?

The issue is plain. You have the ballot. Express your wishes.

If you desire that the ownership of your country shall vest in Vanderbilt, Gould, Huntington & Co., vote the old party tickets.

If you wish to own your own country for yourselves and your posterity, there is but one way to express that wish,
