SOLDIERS OF THE LEGION.

They Have a Good Time at the Nadeau.

The annual banquet of the members of the military order of Loyal Legion of the United States, commandery of California, which was held last night at the Hotel Nadeau in this city, was one of the most recherche events of its kind that has occurred for some time past.

The guests, about sixty in number, most of whom were decorated with the badge of the order, a maltese cross, with the inscription "Lex Regni Armis Tuenter," suspended by a red, white and blue ribbon, were received in one of the hotel parlors by the following committee of arrangements, which was composed of local officers: President, Major H. T. Lee; first vice-president, Major W. H. Bonsall; second vice-president, Major F. E. C. Klokke; secretary, Companion Charles S. Gilbert; treasurer, Captain W. H. Seaman.

Shortly after 9 o'clock the guests were ushered into the dining room, where Chief Engineer John W. Moore, U. S. N., vice commander, was called upon to preside over the festivities.

After discussing a dinner that the Nadeau chef might well be proud of, Major H. T. Lee, as toast master, proposed "The President of the United States." "The Army" was gallantly responded to by Major-General A. McD. McCook; after which Colonel H. G. Shaw read a poem, entitled "Matilda Jane," from the pen of Major Elderkin, very effectively. In response to "The State of California," Captain W. H. Seaman read a letter from Governor-elect H. H. Markham, which evoked great enthusiasm. "The Navy" was responded to by Master T. F. Laycock, while Colonel W. R. Smedberg responded to that of "The Military Order of the Loyal Legion, Commandery of California." This last toast was followed by a song, entitled "The Loyal Legioner," in which all joined. Captain J. J. Carran replied in an eloquent speech to "The United States Volunteers," while Colonel W. R. Smedberg closed the programme by reading a poem by Colonel Horatio C. King, in response to "Our Departed Companions."

The following is a complete list of the guests who participated in the evening's festivities:

Major E. W. Jones, Captain J. A. Osgood, Col. George H. Kimball, Col. H. G. Otis, Lieutenant H. G. Shaw, Colonel W. E. Morford, Lieutenant J. C. Oliver, Dr. H. H. Maynard, Colonel W. H. Russell, Colonel E. E. Edwards, Major Ana, Major W. H. Bonsall, Major George H. Bonebrake, Colonel C. C. Allen and Major J. A. Donnell, Los Angeles; Colonel Joseph R. Smith, U.S.A.; Colonel E. T. Blackmer, San Diego; Dr. M. F. Price, Colton; Captain F. B. Gray, Alhambra; Captain W. H. Seaman, Los Angeles; Major J. E. McComas, Pomona; Captain N. D. Oyley, San Jose; J. W. Haverstick, Chief Engineer, J. W. Moore, commandery; Captain George W. Merrill, Colonel R. Parnell, Colonel W. R. Smedberg, Col. T. S. Hall, La Canada; Capt. T. E. True, U. S. A.; Gen. E. P. Toward the Setting Sun Myriads of emigrants take their way. Thousands upon thousands of acres covered by the virgin forest still await the axe of the pioneer. "Holding down a claim" on the frontier, it should be remarked, has other drawbacks besides that of disputed possession. Many an enterprising settler who, with indomitable hardihood, has cleared the waste, just as the security area is ready for village, is stricken by the fever of the frontiersman, malaria. What a boon to that man and his family is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, what wise thought has he shown, if he has obtained an adequate supply. The first fields for agricultural and mining enterprises on this continent and abroad are subject to this infection. Protected by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters it may be defied. It will not do to come in a roving constitution. Malaria prostrates the strong and weak alike. Take the Bitters, too, for rheumatism, dyspepsia, biliousness, kidney trouble.

A MODEL FLIRTATION.

A RAILROAD EPISODE THAT ENDED PLEASANTLY FOR ALL.

A Writer Tells of One of the Happiest Traveling Experiences of His Life—A Demure Little Miss Captivates Him with Her Ingenuities.

I believe some flirtations do a man positive good. The same may possibly be said of a woman, but being a man myself I am not so sure about it.

I was recently returning to Kansas City from an eastern trip. I had traveled two nights and a day, and my journey had been uneventful and tedious enough. I was in a particularly susceptible mood, I think, and perhaps too ready for any diversion that promised to make the last day of my journey a pleasant one.

It was at Roodhouse, Ill., I think, that a young lady of striking beauty entered our car. Almost every available seat was occupied. She came more than half the distance of the car and stopped opposite to me. I removed a package from the seat I was occupying and offered her a place beside me, which she at once accepted.

As she sat down I had a good opportunity to note her appearance. She was rather small and evidently quite young, though she had a manner and an expression of face that indicated knowledge and culture beyond her apparent years. She was exceedingly attractive. She had an open, ingenuous manner, an innocent soul that spoke unmistakably through her dreamy blue eyes, and the prettiest of red lips. Her hair was golden and her complexion was perfect, and she presented a picture that almost fascinated me.

Shortly after 9 o'clock the guests were ushered into the dining room, where Chief Engineer John W. Moore, U. S. N., vice commander, was called upon to preside over the festivities.

After discussing a dinner that the Nadeau chef might well be proud of, Major H. T. Lee, as toast master, proposed "The President of the United States." bank had been robbed, and warn him that he was suspected. This a number did, only they called him up about midnight, so as to give the joke a more natural appearance. After telling him that two hours before burglars had stolen $50,000 in bank notes, they added that the police were now on the way to arrest him as a suspect.

It so happened that he had but two hours before been in the vicinity of the bank, and fearful of not being able to prove an alibi, he gathered his available belongings together and caught an early morning train for the north. Of course there was a big row in the vicinity of the young fellow's home and his funny friends had to leave town. Fortunately the young fellow was a bachelor, and he was not hunted up. Recently he wrote to an old acquaintance here from Canada, and the latter in replying to the long lost youth told him the truth about the bank joke. Then the young fellow came back, but not as he went away. He rode in a parlor car and swelled around in a hack. He had gone to Montreal and after the first shock had settled down to work and gradually by lucky speculation had grown rich.—Philadelphia Enquirer.

Vancouver's Big Bridge. The great steel bridge across the Columbia river at Vancouver will be a mammoth concern. It will be 6,000 feet from the Washington to the Oregon shore. It will be double tracked, with a roadway on top for teams, and will be erected upon pneumatic piers. The pivotal pier, or draw pier, will support a draw which will give an opening of 200 feet space on either side for vessels to pass, and the span immediately south of the draw span will be 375 feet. The whole structure is to be of steel, built ten feet above the high water of 1876 and forty feet above low water.

On account of the sandy formation it will be necessary to go down eighty feet below low water to get a firm foundation. There it rests on a foundation of coarse gravel similar to that upon which the great bridges across the Missouri river are built. This gigantic structure will cost over $1,000,000, and employ hundreds of men in its erection. It will be Jan. 1, 1892, before the cars can pass over it. The company is pushing its bridge and also its road as fast as men and money and its present perfected plans will permit. It has now between here and Kalama over 2,000 men and 1,500 teams at work.—Columbian.

Anglophobia in France. It would be a pretty question whether the English or the Germans are the more heartily detested in Paris. It is certain that the rancors of Waterloo have not been softened by the humiliations of Sedan. The fact is that your Frenchman has an unlimited capacity of hatred. A newspaper has been started which is called The Union Franco-Russe, and the main object is to rake up stale fictions and to invent new libels on the English people. In curious contrast to the vulgar dislike is the undisguised admiration of English people and English customs which runs through the smart circles of Parisian society. They imitate the cut of our coats and reproduce the latest thing in London hats; they buy English horses and English guns; they talk English slang. They always did admire English girls, but that was inevitable. It is a higher compliment when they copy English dandies.—St. James' Gazette.

A Tramp with $1,400. The worshippers at St. Bonifacio's Roman Catholic church, on Norris square, were excited on Saturday evening by the discovery of a sleeping man in the organ loft. He was put out, but shortly after ward returned, when he was arrested. On being searched at the station, house $1,000 in English gold was found about his person. When he was asked where he got the money he pulled out $400 in Bank of England notes, and told the following story:

"I lived on a farm in England. My mother dying a short time ago I sold the farm and came over here one week ago. On Friday night I slept at a fifteen-cent lodging house at Ninth and Race streets with the money on my person. I don't see why you think strange that I have so much money."

The man had the look of a typical tramp.—Philadelphia Record.

Tall Story from Clarion. Near Raine's flour mill stands a hemlock tree, which is probably 100 feet high, at the base is all of six feet in circumference and is minus of limbs at least ten feet up its jagged trunk. On the extreme top of the tree a wild grape vine blossomed and bore fruit this season, and a number of the young lads have climbed the tree at various times to secure the fruit. Dr. E. M. Sloan's little daughter, 7 years old, was missed from home the other day, and her mother discovered her standing on one of the topmost limbs of the old hemlock, gathering grapes. The child came down as nimbly as a squirrel. It was a daring feat.—Clarion Republican.

Yachtsmen Threatened by a Waterspout. During the severe storm which prevailed here and over the Sound Oct. 19 a huge waterspout was seen off Charles Island. A party of New Haven yachtsmen were close to it in a naphtha launch, and for a time were in danger of being swamped. The waterspout came from a southerly direction. It drew up the water of the Sound and created additional disturbance to the turbulent sea. It finally broke between Charles Island and Burns Point by the wind changing to northwest. It would have been destructive to any boat which came in its path.—Cor. New Haven Register.

Eighteen thousand acres of land, heavily timbered with hemlock and other hard woods, the last of the famous Pennsylvania hemlock belt, has been conveyed by J. K. P. Hall, Ridgway, to Andrew Kaul, of St. Mary's; Sampson Short, of North East, and S. S. Bullis, Olean, N. Y. The purchase price was $360,000. This land lies in the vicinity of St. Mary's and Johnsonburg. Three railroads run into it.

There are 20,000,000 acres of unsurveyed land in the state of Washington, and much of that great extent of country is almost impenetrable, being covered with a magnificent growth of the finest kind of timber. Surveyors have literally to cut their way every foot, because of the thick underbrush.

IRELAND. Alas! One sin against a nation's life; One act to balk the course of mighty years; And change calm-visaged hope to fateful strife: To fill and lift again the cup of tears Quaffed to the dregs, in days of Tara's fears, O, Shamrock Isle, cannot thy fate suffice, Abetted by the hands of conquerors, That one, thy son, should ask thy peace as price Of his ignoble deed? Let shades arise Of all thy noble dead; let those who live To shame thy later dream, in potent wine Stand forth, and speak thy sterner will. Forgive, But make who leads thy hope of liberty To wear unadorned crest of purity. H. M. DU BOISE. Los Angeles, Dec. 9, 1890.

Pulled a Tooth for a Princess. Dr. William C. Boswell, a young and skillful dentist, who, coming from Baltimore, located in London last spring, had the honor of pulling a tooth from the royal mouth of the fair Princess Maud of Wales last week. It was a wisdom tooth and it hated to let go. The princess screamed like a locomotive. Dr. Boswell got $10 ($50) for the job, and of course the advertisement is a priceless one. As for the royal tooth, the doctor has mounted it and enshrined it in a velvet case.—Eugene Field in Chicago News.

Child Suficides. The Medical and Surgical Reporter is authority for the statement that from Jan. 1 to Sept. 1, 1890, 62 children—46 boys and 16 girls—committed suicide in Berlin. Of this number 24 had attained the age of 15, 14 their 14th year, 9 their 13th, while 7 were only 12 years of age and 1 had not attained the age of 7. In most of the cases the immediate cause for the act remains a secret, but it is supposed to have been due to exceptional severity on the part of servants or teachers.
