THE HERALD AT THE BEACH.

Persons who intend to spend the summer at the beach can have the Herald delivered to them early by special carrier from Los Angeles.

A WHILE AGO Mrs. Frank Leslie was going to marry a fictitious count of ridiculous antecedents.

GENERAL K. H. WADE, of the Southern California railway, is about to be advanced a peg in his official career.

IF ALL the people in this vicinity who wanted to visit the Charleston have not done so, it has not been for the want of opportunity.

FRENCHMEN take pride in the fact that the present military strength of France is so great that the other powers deem it necessary to form triebunds and conditional alliances to offset it.

FILES of papers received from Bolivia, Lima and other points near the scene of the Chilean revolution, confirm the charges made all along by the constitutional party of the revolting brutalities of Balmaceda.

OUR San Francisco merchants are making hay when the sun shines. That is, they are exporting vast quantities of hay to the congressional party in Chile.

WE HAVE lately had in Los Angeles quite a heated spell. In fact, for four or five days of last week the heat has been so extreme that some well nourished persons have been obliged to perspire to a somewhat undue extent.

THE flat has gone forth that we are to witness an unexampled energy of rail-have come here too late, the Herald presents a hygienic fact of the most fateful significance. During the past three years the Sisters of the Roman Catholic orphan asylum in Los Angeles have had charge of an average of two hundred and fifty children, running from one to twelve years of age.

GREAT THINGS AHEAD.

That they laugh best who laugh last has been very often shown in the affairs of this work-a-day world. The other day the Herald outlined a programme, which is now in course of accomplishment, in which Mr. C. P. Huntington will figure very largely, and which involves the purchase of the San Vicente y Santa Monica rancho, the building of a wharf above the old cañon, the inauguration of an energetic war with the Santa Fe and Southern California systems, at the personal inspiration and under the personal supervision of Mr. Huntington, and much more matter to the same purport.

The effects of the inauguration of this new departure will be manifold. In the first place, the acquisition by Mr. Huntington and the Southern Pacific railway of the San Vicente rancho will lead to its being divided and placed upon the market.

Not only will we derive benefit from the settlement of this magnificent stretch of territory, but the commercial benefits to Los Angeles of a double-tracked road running from a perfectly protected wharf to this city will be really incalculable. It will enable the Southern Pacific Railway company to land goods here and in New Orleans at a great saving of time.

These are some of the local effects which will follow the policy which is to be inaugurated by Huntington. The grand scheme of extending feeders of the Southern Pacific railway to all possible centers of production, present and prospective, in Los Angeles county and Southern California, will of itself accelerate development hereabouts in an almost incredible ratio.

The flat has gone forth that we are to witness an unexampled energy of railway development in Southern California. This means population, production and wealth. It means that the great movement of recuperation that has already begun will go forward with splendid and uncontrollable velocity.

INCOME AND SUCCESSION TAXES.

A plank in the Ohio Democratic platform calls for a graded income tax. Of course this plank will be attacked by the people of fixed incomes everywhere. It is not to be presumed that any properly graded law taxing incomes would touch the ordinary incomes of persons working for moderate salaries.

The United States government will soon be pushed to its wit's ends to raise revenue for its support. The Republican policy has not only greatly lessened its sources for obtaining public revenue, but has at the same time greatly increased the amount of its current expenditures.

The Charleston at Santa Monica. Today the Charleston will anchor at Santa Monica. There will be a magnificent display from her powerful search-lights, both from ship and shore, during the evolutions and drill at 8 p.m.

Trains as follows: LEAVE LOS ANGELES, LEAVE SANTA MONICA. 9:30 a.m. 6:30 a.m. 1:17 p.m. 7:40 a.m. 2:45 p.m. 11:35 a.m. 5:07 p.m. 3:45 p.m. 6:10 p.m. 10:00 p.m.

Imitations have been foisted upon the market so closely resembling ALCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS in general appearance as to be well calculated to deceive. It is, however, in general appearance only that they compare with Alcock's, for they are worse than worthless, inasmuch as they contain deleterious ingredients which are apt to cause serious injury.

For a fine Zinfandel, ring up telephone 44. H. J. Woolacott keeps it.

A Survival of the Fittest.

While hunting antelope on the prairies of Colorado I was the witness of a very interesting chase between an eagle and a jack rabbit. The various circles and downward sweeps of the eagle attracted my attention, and I resolved to ascertain the reason. I put spur to my horse and succeeded in gaining an elevation from which a good view of the chase could be had.

Finally the eagle, as if tired of this sport, with a vicious downward swoop and a stroke of the wing laid the rabbit out lifeless on the prairie. At this moment I gave a tremendous yell, and at the same time rode rapidly toward them, which had the desired effect of frightening the eagle away, leaving its victim in my possession, which turned out to be the only game I bagged that day.—Forest and Stream.

Cautious, but Reasonable.

Mrs. Primus—I saw you riding in the park with Willie Ross and Jack Bolton. I didn't know your papa would let you ride alone with gentlemen.

Miss Secunda—He doesn't object if the gentlemen are rival lovers.—Munsey's Weekly.

TREASURY STATISTICS.

Figures Showing the Commerce and Immigration of the Country.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—The bureau of statistics of the treasury department has issued a review of the foreign commerce and immigration of the United States during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1891. It gives also a comparison of the imports and exports of the past nine months during which the new tariff law has been in effect as compared with the corresponding nine months of the preceding fiscal year.

The total commerce of the past fiscal year was the greatest in the history of the government, and exceeded the total value of the commerce of 1890 by $82,191,803. The commerce of 1890 was the largest for any year in the history of the government up to that time, exceeding the commerce of a prior year by $159,606,063.

During the year there was an increase of our imports of merchandise in the order of their magnitude, in the following articles: Coffee, tin plates, hides and skins, fruits, chemicals and drugs, india rubber and gutta percha, sugar and molasses, etc. There has been a decline in the value of our imports of wool and manufactures thereof, silk and manufactures thereof, hemp and jute and manufactures thereof, breadstuffs and animals.

The total value of the exports of merchandise was $884,425,405, which shows an excess in favor of exports during the fiscal year of $39,919,914. There was also an excess of exports of domestic merchandise over such exports the prior year of $26,941,737. The increase in exports has been in the following articles, stated in the order of their magnitude of increase: raw cotton, provisions, refined sugar, cotton manufactures, copper and manufactures thereof, iron and steel and manufactures thereof.

The value of the leading articles exported from the United States during the past year were as follows: Cotton, $290,708,898; breadstuffs, $127,668,092; provisions, $138,176,638.

Since the new tariff has been in operation from October 6, 1890, to June 30, 1891, inclusive, the total value of exports of merchandise was $630,206,005, as compared with $598,793,905 for the corresponding period of '90, which shows an excess for nine months, of $31,432,100.

The value of the imports of merchandise admitted free during the nine months ended June 30, 1891, was $295,963,665, while the value of such imports for the corresponding period of '90 was $208,983,873, showing an increase in imports free, during the past nine months, of $86,979,792. During the same period ended June 30, 1891, the imports of merchandise paying duty was of the value of $334,242,340, as compared with $389,786,032 for the corresponding period of '90. So it appears that there has been a decrease the last nine months, in the value of dutiable imports of $55,543,692.

During the nine months since the new tariff went into effect, of the total value of the merchandise imported into the country 46.96 per cent. came in free, while during the corresponding period of '90 34.92 per cent. was admitted free. It appears that the value of the merchandise imported free during the last nine months of the fiscal year was greater by $30,000,000 than the value of such merchandise admitted during the whole of '90, and nearly $40,000,000 greater than during the same period of the fiscal year ended June 30, 1890.

The exports of gold and silver during the last fiscal year were $108,729,288, and the imports $39,212,334, an excess of exports of $72,516,954. The exports of gold during the last fiscal year were $88,362,622. The imports of gold were $18,246,512, showing an excess of exports of $68,117,110, the largest exports of gold in any year of our commerce.

There has been a large increase in the volume of immigration into the United States during the last fiscal year. The total number arriving was 555,456, as against 451,219 during the year 1890, an increase of 104,277. This increase is largely from the following countries: Italy, 23,354; Austro-Hungary, 14,861; Germany, 21,122; Russia, including Poland, 28,245.

STARBEAMS.

The sunflowers begin to turn their faces towards the sun.

They are never too old for culture in Boston. Mrs. Julia Ward Howe began Greek at 70, and now at 72 has just read the plays of Sophocles in the original.

Donald G. Mitchell was one of the class of 1841 at Yale and took part in the semi-centennial observance this year. The author of the Reveries of a Bachelor is one of the most enduring names belonging to Yale.

The Chicago Tribune has the following fling at the Alliance senator: "Kansas meteorites sell readily for $10 a pound, which is about $9.87 1/2 more than any good judge of Kansas curios would offer per pound for Senator Peffer."

Judging by a recent sale in London the author of A Woman in White is not particularly popular there. In a sale of Wilkie Collins' manuscripts The New Magdalen bought £21. The Woman in White £14, and Moonstone £1.10.

A Newport correspondent says: Mrs. William Kissam Vanderbilt is undeniably handsome. Her height is a little above medium, and she has a full rounded figure with perfectly moulded arms and shoulders. Her eyes are large, dark gray, and the white lids a trifle heavy. Her nose is short and straight, and her complexion a creamy white, while her hair is dark brown. She always dresses in the best taste.

The prince of Wales lives out before the whole world a life that will not bear close inspection, and yet almost everything about him is known. The counters used at the Tranby Croft baccarat were given to the prince of Wales by a member of parliament named Hulse. On the reverse side were the prince of Wales' feathers and his motto, Ich dien.

When changes are portending for the good of the world puny man may for the time resist them, but he cannot stop them. It was Burke who said: "If a great change is to be made in human affairs, the minds of men will be fitted to it; the general opinions and feelings will draw that way. Every fear, every hope will forward it, and then they who persist in opposing this mighty current in human affairs will appear rather to resist the decrees of Providence itself than the mere designs of men."

That Dreadful Side Issue: Wool—What is the matter with your mother-in-law that she doesn't live with you any more?

Van Pelt—I like her all right, but she can't put up with me.

You will very often find it the case that the man who is good in big things, makes up for it by being very mean in little ones.—[Atchison Globe.]
