

FAMOUS AS A STORY WRITER.

An Appreciative Sketch of the Life and Work of James Lane Allen.

During the past half dozen years a score of brilliant writers have sprung up in the south. One of the latest to attract attention...

After acting as tutor in several American colleges, however, he gave up academic life and began to write. The scenes of the touching tales he has told are laid in Kentucky...

Speaking of the motives of his work recently, Mr. Allen said: "My literary aim in writing the articles descriptive of life and nature in Kentucky has been to train my eye to see, my hand to report, things as they were, as a preparation for imaginative work..."

JAMES LANE ALLEN.

Mr. Allen is a charming man to meet. He is a brilliant conversationalist and a ripe scholar. He has been giving a series of readings through the south lately with great success.

A Young Woman's Triumph.

Another member of the so-called weaker sex has just distinguished herself. The triumphant prize of $300 offered by the Cobden club to the Victoria university at Manchester for the best essay on an economic question has been awarded to Miss Victorine Jeans for an essay on the "Industrial and commercial effects, actual and prospective, of the English factory act legislation."

Gordon-Cumming's Beautiful Bride.

Lady William Gordon-Cumming was Miss Florence Josephine Garner, of New York, and bravely married the baronet immediately after the conclusion of the baronet trial in which she fared so badly. She is the daughter of an extremely independent race.

LADY WILLIAM GORDON-CUMMING.

Her father was left an orphan. The oldest, then but eight, is now the Marquise de Breteuil; Florence was then six, and the third, then a baby, is a young lady of seventeen. Mr. Garner left a fortune of some millions, which greatly increased before the two older daughters came of age.
