Three of the Clubs of this City.

Their Features, Personnel and Objects.

An Interesting Account of the S. M., Apollo and Ar Ar Clubs.

The Organization of the Various Associations—Their Officers and Members—A Variety of Musical Amateurs.

Among all the musical organizations in California there is none of more widespread repute than the S. M. club of this city, to which it may be truthfully said belongs the credit of doing more for the advancement of the divine art than any of the other societies.

The club was organized three years ago, its purpose being the study of the masters, and from its motto was taken the title "S. M." Its membership is composed of both professional and amateur vocalists and instrumentalists, and is the only club in this city in which both affiliate.

The meetings of this admirable organization are held on the first and third Monday evenings of each month, and at each meeting the works of one composer are taken up and studied.

Under the rules of the club each member is obligated to serve, when called upon, on committees whose duty it is to prepare the programme for any designated evening. The works of a certain composer being selected, the committee is required to make a thorough study of the styles of composition and to arrange for the rendition of solos, both vocal and instrumental, and also concerted numbers by the composer under consideration. A paper is also prepared giving the life and works of the composer.

Such an organization cannot fail to be of incalculable benefit to its members and to those who are so fortunate as to be invited to one of its evenings.

The club has made great progress in the study of the works of the masters, and has also devoted evenings to some of the foremost American composers, among whom may be named Foote, Buck and Schlessinger.

Meetings will be resumed on Monday evening, October 5th, when the club will be entertained by Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Schaller, at their home on Eleventh street. The great composer, Bach, will be discussed and the members are looking forward to the resumption of the meetings with genuine delight. Handel's works will occupy the club's attention at the second meeting, of which Mr. and Mrs. Schaller are at the charge. At later meetings the American composers, McDowell, Chadwick, J. K. Paine and J. D. C. Parker will be taken up.

A list of the members of this club could not be obtained in time for insertion in this article, but among the members may be named: Mrs. Jirah D. Cole, who is president of the club; Mrs. J. D. Hooker, secretary; Miss Catherine Kimball, Mrs. Dr. Dorothea Lummis, Dr. Jauch, Dr. E. C. Buell, Miss Carrie Conger, Miss Willis, Miss Fanny Lockhart, Mr. J. A. Osgood, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Schaller, Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Ellis, Mr. C. C. Byram, Miss Augustine Berger, Mr. William Piutti, Miss Nora Large and Mrs. J. B. Ogilvie.

The Apollo club, the latest aspirant for musical honors, is a flourishing organization which has its first anniversary to celebrate. Though organized but a short time, the club has done some fine work and has won for itself many staunch friends and supporters.

Like the famous Chicago club of the same name, the Apollo is a mixed chorus and the only one ever organized here, unless the old Philharmonic, which existed for a short time only is taken into the category of the musical organizations of this city.

The formation of the club was brought about in much the same way as the organization of the Ellis club, an account of which was given last week. Early in the winter a quartette was formed which was the nucleus of a male chorus of sixteen which regularly organized in the latter part of January and chose Robt. L. Faulsen as conductor.

Rehearsals were held twice each week at the studio of Prof. Kent in the Zahn block, and before many weeks had passed it was decided to give a subscription concert in conjunction with the St. Cecilia, a club composed of female voices. The St. Cecilia went to pieces, however, and a woman's chorus of sixteen voices was organized and combined with the male chorus.

The first concert was given at the Los Angeles theater, April 3d, the club having the assistance of Mr. Seaman, tenor, and Miss Sargent, soprano. The house was crowded and the club scored an instantaneous success. On June 30th the second concert was given to a house crowded from pit to dome. On this occasion the club was assisted by Miss Emma Thureby and Mr. Louis Heine, violinist.

At both concerts the club has shown results that can only be accomplished by hard study, and the outlook for the future success of the organization is very bright indeed. The next concert will be given in October.

Following is a list of the members of the club: Misses Stella Kendall, Edleanor M. Joy, Anna Smith, Nettie Palmer, Lonie Ward, Lizzie Moore, Sinat Dexter, Kattie Lyons, Minnie Baker, Fidelia Anderson, Grace Hutchings, Lillius Peck, Grace Stansbury, Daisy Clark, Dr. Dorothea Lummis, Mmes. W. D. Byram, F. S. Munson, E. P. Hillman, B. Stansbury, W. A. Bonnyne, Lyndall and Mollie Meyers, Messrs. W. E. Defty, C. B. Smith, Joseph Nuelle, Joseph Newark, Fred Nay, Harry Eberle, Tom Harvey, Lon Zinnaman, J. H. Stephens, Charles Fring, Harry Wiatt, Frank Wallace, F. D. Chipman, Daniel Sheldon, W. R. Miller, Dr. E. C. Buell, F. A. Bacon, G. I. Baugh, William Manning; Mrs. Mary A. Larrabee, accompanist.

THE "AR AR" CLUB was organized in June of this year, and is composed of a number of ladies whose object is to spend one morning in each week in studying works of favorite composers.

The club is entirely unlike any of our other musical societies, its musical work extending beyond its regular meetings, to which no one not a member is admitted. It proposes to give no concerts or public performances of any kind, and is as much a social as a musical body. The meetings are held at the homes of the various members on Thursday mornings. Two hours are spent in rehearsing, and at 12 o'clock a luncheon is set by the hostess. The members are enthusiastic and declare the meetings just too delightful for anything. Each member of this select club wears a ring bearing the mystic title "Ar Ar," the significance of which has been pondered over greatly by the uninitiated. The membership of the club is made up of the following ladies: Misses Knecht, Lockhart, Dupuy, Bryant, Iriest, Mmes. Bartlett, Burdett and Wenger.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE. Notes About the Excursion to China and the Exhibit.

The officers of the chamber of commerce have been kept busy during the past three days replying to questions regarding the Chinese excursion. A statement has been published that no one but members can go on the trip. This is erroneous. The Southern Pacific company has issued a ticket good for the round trip at a cost of $2.70, but no one but members are included in the invitation issued to the chamber of commerce, and the passes and badges will not be obtainable by anyone not a member.

COUNCIL MATTERS. The Water Supply Matter—Two Chemical Engines Ordered.

At a meeting of council's committee of the whole yesterday afternoon, the question of the city's ownership of the water supply system formed the principal topic of discussion, and it was decided to instruct the city engineer at next Monday's session to act with the special water committee in formulating a plan for a system for the entire city, together with estimates of the cost of constructing the same.

The financial committee, at a regular meeting yesterday afternoon, took action on the bids submitted on chemical engines and passed a recommendation to the council for the immediate purchase of two machines.

SAN FRANCISCO Market Review. SAN FRANCISCO, August 29.—The wheat market opened less active and prices weaker, in sympathy with the decline in eastern and European markets. The market was weak, with tendency to still lower values. Oats very dull and prices lower. Corn dull and weak. Bran and middlings steady and unchanged. No change in other millstuffs.

The vegetable market is in tolerably fair condition, but is overstocked with several varieties. There is a perfect glut of corn and tomatoes, and summer squashes and cucumbers are as dull and slow of sale as they have been for the greater portion of the season. Peppers are plentiful and cheap. Prices are steady elsewhere.

Summer fruits are doing better and the receipts are not so heavy. Good Bartlett pears bring high prices, and canners are cleaning up loose stock. Melons are plentiful again, and prices lower. Grapes as a rule arrive in good condition, and prices are well maintained.

The dairy produce market is firm. Fancy butter scarce and high with corresponding depression in interior grades. Chole eggs in good demand and firm.
