

A GIRL WIFE'S FATE.

Poisoned by Her Inhuman Husband.

Carlisle Harris Guilty of a Heinous Crime.

Sensational Scene in a New York Criminal Court.

Bank-Wrecker Yards Stupendous Rascality—The Connecticut Legislature—A Second Leadville in Colorado.

Associated Press Dispatches.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—For nearly a month young Carlisle Harris has been on trial here charged with having poisoned to death his girl wife, who at the time of her death was an inmate of a fashionable boarding school in this city. The marriage of the two had been kept secret, but the mother of the girl, Mrs. Helen Potts, learned of it and pressed young Harris, a medical student, to fix the time when the marriage should be made known. The time was close at hand when the young woman died. Fifteen days later, rumors of foul play having crept out, the body was exhumed, and an autopsy held. Morphine was found in her system.

When Harris was arrested he admitted giving her capsules of morphine and quinine as a nerve, but tried to cast the blame for her death on the druggist. It transpired that the young woman before her demise was brought close to death by a criminal operation performed by Harris. It also transpired that when the young wife was almost dying on one of these occasions, Harris engaged in libertine orgies with other women. Evidence that he wished to be rid of his girl wife, and dreaded his family learning of the marriage, was introduced. It was proven that he betrayed other young women, and boasted of his power with girls.

The case was given to the jury to-night, and in about an hour they returned with a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree.

Mrs. Harris, the prisoner's mother, shrieked and fell to the floor. "My God!" she cried, "where is justice?" "There is no justice on earth," replied Harris's younger brother.

"It is a lie that he is guilty, and from such men as these!" moaned the grief-stricken woman. She was utterly overcome and it was some time before her younger son and other relatives were able to take her from the court room.

A BORTAILED HOUSE.

Democrats Have to Go It Alone in the Connecticut Legislature.

HARTFORD, Ct., Feb. 2.—The house met at 2 p. m. today. Most of the Democrats and half a dozen Republicans attended the session. A vote was taken on the question of the adoption of a special rule giving the speaker power to adjourn the house in the absence of a quorum, for a considerable length of time. Roll call disclosed the lack of a quorum, and Speaker Paige proceeded to declare the house adjourned. Walker of Hartford tried to make a motion, but the speaker proceeded. All the Republicans and the speaker left the building, but the Democrats remained. Callam was elected speaker pro tempore, and upon Clerk Eddy declining to note the proceedings on the plea that the house was not in session, Markley of New Britain was elected clerk pro tempore. Then McCarthy of Windsor was elected sergeant-at-arms and an order to compel the attendance of absent members was passed. Copies are to be mailed to all the members not present today. Then minority then adjourned to meet tomorrow.

THREE OF A KIND.

Yard was an Able Accomplish of Marsh and Bardley.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 2.—At the hearing today of Henry H. Yard, who was involved with Bardley and Marsh in the wreck of the Keystone bank, some evidence was introduced by United States Attorney Reid which created a decided sensation, and promises to unravel the mystery of the disappearance of the bank's entire capital. Government Expert Barrett testified that the bank's indebtedness at the time of the bank's closing in March last, was $493,785, including overdrafts of $278,661. Of the remainder there are many certificates of deposit, and in no instance did Yard make a deposit to meet the certificates. Four of them, amounting to $20,000, were not charged against him. There were also notes outstanding, amounting to $119,000; in the ledgers of the bank for 1888 and 1890, the leaves were torn out where Yard's individual account would have existed. Yard was held in $20,000 for trial.

A MATAMOROS SENSATION.

Mexican Soldiers Search the House of an American.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 2.—The Picayune's Brownsville, Tex., special says: A sensation was created yesterday in Matamoros by the searching by the military authorities of the residence of Don Inrique Vizzaya, a prominent merchant doing business at Mier, Mexico. His family resides in Matamoros. The military received information from some source that Vizzaya had arms and ammunition for the revolutionists concealed in his house. The square in which his house is situated was surrounded by troops and the premises were searched from cellar to roof, but nothing was found. Mr. Vizzaya is an American citizen and United States consular agent at Mier.

ALL RESCUED.

The Last Two of the Men Drift on Garbage Scows Saved.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 2.—The last two of the men washed out to sea from New York on garbage scows, were brought to this city today by a schooner which picked them up. Seven days and nights the men were on the scow, with only a few biscuits and a milk can full of water to sustain them. They were almost frantic with hunger and thirst. The skin on their faces had become hard and cracked with cold, and they presented a most pitiable sight.

A SECOND LEADVILLE.

Great Excitement in the New Mining Camp of Creede, Colorado.

DENVER, Feb. 2.—Excitement at Creede, Colo., a new mining camp on the Rio Grande railway, is intense. People are flocking from all parts of the country, and a large city of rough board houses has sprung up in a short time. The mines are something wonderful, and almost equal those of Leadville in its best days. David H. Moffatt today was offered $1,000,000 by an English company to bond the Holy Moses mine at Creede, but refused to do so. Since the first prospect hole was started at Creede, nine months ago, there have been $5,000,000 worth of ore taken from the mines there, although everything is new and undeveloped yet. Today L. J. Dickson, Henry L. Woolcott and E. O. Wolcott of Denver, Mr. Ward of New York and Jake Saunders of Leadville purchased a two-thirds interest in the Last Chance mine at Creede for $100,000. This mine is shipping ninety tons of ore a day, which averages $160 per ton.

BRICE'S SEAT.

The Ohio House Leave the Matter With John Sherman.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 2.—The house committee considering a resolution providing for an investigation of the title of Brice to a seat in the United States senate, reported today, recommending that the whole matter be left to the United States senate, with the request that Senator Sherman proceed in accordance with the rules of that body.

CARPENTER'S CARPING.

CALIFORNIA WORLD'S FAIR APPROPRIATION WASTED.

The Author of the Bill Says It Was Not Framed for the Purpose of Creating High-Salaried Stenographers—The Senator Censures the Commissioners.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 2.—Senator B. B. Carpenter, who introduced the world's fair bill in the senate, and had charge of it during the various stages of its passage, this morning said: "I understand that the California commissioners have appointed one of their number, Captain Thompson, secretary, at a salary of $3,000 a year, and four assistant secretaries under various designations, at salaries of $1800 a year each. Besides this they have provided for seven female commissioners, one from each congressional district of the state, at $600 per annum, each, and actual traveling expenses and stenographic operators at $75 per month. When the bill was under consideration in the senate, after an elaborate investigation in committee, a motion was made by Senator Crandall of Santa Clara, I think, to strike out the figures $300,000 and insert $200,000 instead. In the discussion which followed it was charged by those favoring it that secretaries, clerks and assistants would be appointed by the commission, and the amount voted, whatever it was, would be squandered in salaries. In debate I took occasion to say the act did not contemplate or provide for the appointment of any officer or assistant by the commission, that the friends of the measure expected the governor to appoint seven citizens of influence, character and patriotism, who would devote their time to carrying out the provisions of the bill, without other reward than that of having well served their state. With this understanding, on the part of the friends of the bill, and agreement, the amendment was defeated and another amendment limiting the amount of the appropriation to $250,000 was also beaten. It will be seen from the terms of the bill that the money was appropriated solely for the construction of a building and the maintaining of an exhibit, and that the commission is absolutely precluded from receiving any compensation for their services. How the commissioners can reconcile the appointment of one of their number, at a salary of $3000, with section 2 of the act, is a problem I am unable to solve. If the commissioners have a right to make the appointments they have made, no reason is perceived why they cannot carry them out to any number and amount to an extent absorbing the whole fund.

"The intention of the legislature in passing the act, as expressed in the debates, and the act itself, are alike opposed to the authority assumed by the commissioners."

Northern Pacific Interests.

HELENA, Mont., Feb. 2.—Papers were filed in the United States district court yesterday on behalf of the Northern Pacific to prevent the directors of the Montana Union from taking any action prejudicial to the interests of the Northern Pacific. At present the Northern Pacific and Union Pacific enjoy equal traffic advantages over the Montana Union, that line being owned by both companies, but the present arrangement expires shortly, and the Northern Pacific officials took this action to protect their interests, as they heard a new deal was to be made with the Union Pacific alone, which would shut them out of Butte and Anaconda.

An Inventor's Verdict.

ST. PAUL, Feb. 2.—William E. Lee, patentee of a seed separator, has been given a verdict for $16,000 against Pillsbury and others. Lee says the flour mills all over the country have been using his invention without paying him royalty, and he contemplates requiring other millers to account to him for the use of his patent.

The voyage occupied ninety-five days. It is possible that she will replace the Keweenaw in the coast trade, the latter returning to New York. Eleven Lives Lost by the Wreck of the Steamship Marie-Chinese Rebellions Quelled—Japanese Advices.

Associated Press Dispatches.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 2.—The steamship China arrived this afternoon, twenty-one days from Hongkong.

The vice admiral of H. M. S. Porpoise, which went to the scene of the sinking of the steamer Namechow, off Cupchi point, made a brief report on Swatow, January 11th, to the effect that there were 400 Chinese and six Europeans on board, and that all were lost except twenty-nine Chinese, who saved themselves in the ship's boats and were brought to Cupchi in junks. The Porpoise made a search in the vicinity for wreckage, without result.

Eleven lives were lost in the wreck of the steamship Marie, December 31st, off Chefoo. The vessel, which carried a general cargo of merchandise, struck the rocks during a fog at night, and soon began to founder. Three boats were lowered; one reached shore safely; the second capsized, but the occupants swam ashore, while the third was captured and the second officer, third engineer and nine Chinese sailors perished.

CHINESE REBELS VANQUISHED.

Chinese papers announce the issuance of an imperial decree January 4th, announcing the overthrow of the rebels at Ngo-Hon-Chi, Hoi-Chang-Koa and Pai-Tse-Fu, in northern China. The decree states that the imperial forces under General Nih Zshing and others made a combined attack on Pai-Tse-Fu, the old center of the rebellion, December 18th. The town was carried by storm and Wang Ching and other rebel chiefs were killed. Cavalry pursued the fleeing rebels, killing 300 of them and capturing a large number of guns, horses and ammunition.

At Hui-Chang-Kao the rebels fled on the cannon of the imperial forces opening fire. Wang Fan and two other rebel chiefs were killed on the field of battle, as were also 1000 of the rebels who were hunted down and put to the sword without reserve. Heng-Tek-Kwang, the strategical adviser of the rebels, was captured alive.

The emperor recommended for promotion a number of the generals who distinguished themselves on that occasion.

On January 7th a second decree was issued, stating that troops under Generals Yu Luk and Ting An had obtained a series of victories and succeeded in suppressing the insurgents at Chao Yang. The main bodies of the rebels had been exterminated and the troops were at the time engaged in hunting the fugitive rebels. From December 9th to 22d six engagements took place at various points, resulting in the defeat of the rebels in every case. Kon-Kon-Tse, their commander-in-chief of Van-Sun-Fa and 360 rebels were captured, together with great quantities of stores of war. The other rebels fled to the city of U-Fan, but with the help of the Chihli troops, who were proceeding to the scene from the eastward, it was thought the imperial forces on the ground would have no trouble in exterminating them.

The disturbances in the province of Kwei-Chow have been subdued, a number of rebels being killed. The ring leaders were captured and decapitated.

JAPANESE ADVICES.

Japanese advices state that an imperial decree was issued January 11th, calling for an election on February 1st, of members for the new house of representatives. It is reported that the new diet will convene April 15th.

A violent shock of earthquake was felt at Gifu Nagoya and vicinity, January 3d. Three houses were thrown to the ground in Nagoya; the earth was bent in a number of places, and from the fissures muddy water exuded. A number of houses were damaged but no person was injured.

On January 9th fire at Shizuoka destroyed 1500 buildings. No loss of life.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION.

The Southern Pacific Going to Build a New Line in Mexico.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 2.—Information reached Fourth and Townsend streets today from New York that the meeting there between Messrs. Crocker, Huntington and Stanford would doubtless result in the ordering of the construction of the proposed line from Toulon to Durango, Mexico, as Vice-President Crocker's report of his examination of the project during his recent tour through Mexico is very favorable. The Mexican government will aid the building of the new line by giving a large subsidy. The International railway, the Southern Pacific company's line in Mexico is making much money for its owners, and the new line, which will be an extension of the International, will, it is believed, be fully as prosperous as the old, as it will run through a rich mining country. It will afford a more direct route from New York to Central Mexico than that of any other line, and will for that reason take much traffic away from its competitors. Mr. Huntington is a firm believer in the future of the International.

An Arrival at San Diego.

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 2.—The American iron steamer Mackinaw, third of the Johnson-Loeke line, plying between New York, San Diego and San Francisco, arrived here today with 2600 tons of general merchandise. The voyage occupied ninety-five days. It is possible that she will replace the Keweenaw in the coast trade, the latter returning to New York. The Mackinaw, which left this port November 28th, bound for

New York, was passed in the Straits of Magellan, December 28th, in good condition.

THE EIDER'S MISHAP.

Captain Heincock the Last Man to Leave the Ship.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—The captain of the Eider was the last person to leave the vessel. The voyage was Captain Heincock's first one on the Eider from New York. In an interview, one of the officers of the ship says the passage was a good one. They did not see land until they sighted the Lizard, and it was difficult to recognize the points in the fog. The Eider steamed slowly along the English channel Sunday, with a sharp lookout for pilots, but none were seen. The captain had personal charge of the ship at the time of the accident. Soundings were taken every five minutes, and the vessel was at her slowest speed. "For a short time after we struck, none of us realized the real state of affairs, but presently the fog lifted somewhat, revealing the ship's position, close to the cliffs and firmly cradled in the rocks. We still expected, however, to float uninjured with the tide."

Going to Capture Garza.

AUSTIN, Tex., Feb. 2.—Adjutant-General Mayberry returned here from the scene of Garza's operations on the Rio Grande, and after a brief stay started back to camp. He claims that the rangers had located Garza in the chaparral and expressed the conviction that his arrest would be effected today.

A Savings Bank Closed.

KEARNEY, Neb., Feb. 2.—The Commercial Savings bank closed its doors this morning. It had a capital stock of $100,000, and deposits of $30,000. No statement of liabilities is given, but the officials say the depositors will be paid in full.

CHANGEABLE CHILEANS.

THEY ARE NOW HUGGING EGAN TO THEIR BOSOMS.

Surprise Created in Santiago at His Proposed Recall by the American Congress—Egan Himself Courts the Fullest Investigation of His Acts.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—The Herald's Valparaiso correspondent says: The resolution introduced in the congress of the United States requesting the president to recall Egan caused surprise in many quarters here. Without entering into a defense of Minister Egan I can safely assert that there has been an entire change toward him in this country since the settlement of the diplomatic tangles. His attitude seems better understood now, and his services in protecting many prominent members of the Congressional party from the vengeance of the late dictator, and in granting asylum to the refugees who sought the American legation after the downfall of Balmaceda, are now generally recognized as both humane and proper. All the time during the past year, from ten to thirty refugees, representing one or other of the factions of this country, were quartered in the American legation. They have been entertained and fed entirely at the expense of Minister Egan. He refused to accept a penny from those who sought his protection, whether Congressionalists or Balmacedists. He expended nearly a year's salary in behalf of the refugees whom he kept in the legation. The public appears to be getting better acquainted with these facts, and this accounts for the revulsion of feeling in regard to Minister Egan's recall. Eduardo Matte, president of the chamber of deputies, and many others whose lives were saved by Minister Egan during Balmaceda's dictatorship, favor his retention here as American minister. Augustin Edwards whose life and property were saved through Egan's influence, is the only prominent member of the old Congressional party who now seems anxious to have Egan called home. "I court a full investigation of all my acts," said Egan today. "I have no fear that anything detrimental to my reputation will be discovered."

A crowd of young men last night sacked the office of La Republica, a newspaper which vigorously opposed the present regime. The police were not present to afford any protection.

EGAN ISOLATED.

The Chileans Still Have It in for the American Minister.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—The Santiago correspondent of the Times telegraphs: The Chileans hold Egan responsible for continued war against the constitutional government of Chile, but their only communication with the other islands, caused by exceedingly stormy weather the past five weeks, the inhabitants of Foula were on the verge of starvation. They had, at the time the bottle was thrown into the water, only a few potatoes and a little meal left.

Starving Islanders.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—A bottle found floating near one of the Shetland islands on Bressay sound, contained a message from Foula, an island of the Shetland group, eighteen miles west of the other islands, stating that owing to the absence of communication with the other islands, caused by exceedingly stormy weather the past five weeks, the inhabitants of Foula were on the verge of starvation. They had, at the time the bottle was thrown into the water, only a few potatoes and a little meal left.

Narrow Escape From Lynching.

VISALIA, Cal., Feb. 2.—The disposition to hang Walter James for outraging Clara Harrington, was great during the day, and the sheriff ran the man out of town just after dark.

FRESNO, Feb. 2.—Walter Jones, a half-breed Indian, who outraged a little girl at Visalia, was brought here tonight to avoid lynching by the indignant citizens of that town.
