Gossip at the Marine Band concert—"See Miss L.—'s new wrap! Isn't it a beauty? Wonder where she got it?" "Why, at Mosgrove's, of course. It is one of Worth's latest models." All the bon-ton of society are flocking to 119 S. Spring street, to get their first choice of European novelties.

Two bay horses strayed from their barn last night. One weighing about 950 and the other about 1100 pounds, and in the vicinity of fifteen and seventeen hands respectively. A Woman's Reason—"I like my new coat," she said, glancing admiringly at her stylish imported jacket, "and it is such a comfort to know it can't be duplicated. I hate to have other people wearing wraps like mine. It cheapens things to make them so common. That is the reason I like to buy my wraps at Mosgrove's. He never has two garments alike in stock."

The quickest time and best service from Los Angeles to the east is made by the Santa Fe route. The equipment not excelled. Tourist sleeping-car excursions, with gentlemanly agent in charge, through to Boston, leave Los Angeles every Thursday. Blockade on Spring Street. "Clear the way there," shouted a policeman yesterday in front of 119 North Spring street, as a crowd of gentlemen stood staring at a long procession of stylishly dressed women filing into Mosgrove's. "Let these ladies pass, can't you?" he continued, as the throng became more dense, "they're after those Parisian cloaks just sent over by Mr. Worth."

The gentlemen fell back in awed silence, making way for the carriage, which rolled up to the pavement discharging their precious burdens of femininity.

THE NEW YORK KITCHEN. A Pleasing Variation from the Ordinary Restaurant. C. W. Lyke has the honor of establishing the first New York Kitchen in Los Angeles. To those who have ever visited similar places of refreshment in Boston, Chicago, Philadelphia and other large cities to which the idea has spread from New York, no explanation is needed of the methods to be adopted. There are many, however, who will be pleased to learn what Mr. Lyke's kitchen is like, and, though a personal visit is needed to demonstrate its unique character fully, a brief description may not be amiss. The New York Kitchen is somewhat like the short-order chop house of the better class. It affords, however, a more varied bill of fare and better service at less cost. A glance at the dining room at 122 West First street shows that Mr. Lyke is no novice in the restaurant business. Everything is first-class throughout. The east window is given up to the "cooker," where buckwheat cakes and New York butter biscuits are baked in full view of the public. This appetizing display is balanced by an imposing array of tea and coffee urns in the west window from which the guests are served by white-jacketed and aproned waiters. There are eighteen solid oak tables, each seating four guests. All the furniture is of oak, including the cashier's counter, sideboards, refrigerator, etc. A first-class French range in the kitchen adjoining the dining hall is of sufficient capacity to provide for the cooking of all dishes served, and the only best white linen is employed. No Chinese help is used. Even the dishwashers will be Americans and the chief waiter and his entire staff will be experienced men who have "been there before" and know how it is done. Boston baked beans of the genuine Boston brand will be served, and many other dishes not often found in even the best Pacific coast hotels. The prices are below those of other first-class restaurants of the city, and the kitchen will be open at all hours day and night. The proof of the pudding is in the eating thereof. An opportunity for a critical examination of the viands will be given at the opening tomorrow, Thursday, April 14th.

WORST FORM ECZEMA. Baffled Best Medical Skill for Eight Months—Cured in Two Months by Cuticura Remedies. This is to certify that a child of mine had Eczema in its worst form, and when I failed to get the best medical skill that could be employed here for at least eight months, six months of that time its suffering was simply untold, then I began the use of the CUTICURA REMEDIES: in two months the awful disease had ceased its violence, and my darling boy had rest, and to all appearance the sores were healed, but I continued the medicine for several months after the sores could be seen of it on any part of his body. The doctor's fee here would have been much more, but I watched the disease with much interest, and could only say "Well done!" The cases known far and near, and the CUTICURA REMEDIES. Could there be anything on earth that would cause a father to rejoice if surely would be when the little innocent one could have such a remedy at hand. (See portrait herewith.) J. A. NICOLAS, Bunker Hill, Ind.
