

MINING MATTERS HERABOUTS.

Many Enterprises About to Be Pushed.

AJ Number of Prospecting Parties Which Left Last Week.

The Colorado Desert the Objective Point. The Demand for a Smelter—Expeditious Which Have Outfitted—Notes.

During the past week quite a number of prospecting parties left Los Angeles for different sections of Southern California, the larger portion going to the Colorado desert. Each party was well supplied with provisions and tools, in most cases enough of everything necessary to last three months. The means for these prospecting tours were furnished by capitalists of this city, and the men who are out, as a general thing, are experienced miners. According to the contract between the prospectors and those furnishing the money the former are to have an interest in all the discoveries that may be made. Some went out with burros, while not a few were fitted out with wagons, while the outfit under the charge of C. J. Barber was one of the best equipped that has ever left our city. In several months at the furthest the HERALD expects to chronicle the finding of more than one bonanza. The interest in mining affairs was never greater than at present, and the time is not far distant when Los Angeles will become a mining center.

NEW DEVELOPMENTS. Judge Hollenbeck and W. B. Slawson will today organize a mining company, the object of which will be to send out a prospecting party, develop, buy and sell mines. These gentlemen are experienced in this branch of business, having spent years among the mines of New Mexico, Arizona and California. As soon as the organization is effected, an office will be opened on West First street. Mr. Slawson returned yesterday from the Baldy, where he went to inspect a mining claim. The Cajon Mining and Water company, the organization of which was mentioned a few days ago in the HERALD, is now about ready for business. Backed by a capital of $250,000, half of which amount has been paid in, the company expect to soon become possessed of valuable mining properties.

Frederick Stock, superintendent of the Gaviota Mining company, spent last week at the mines and feels flattered at the prospect. The Gaviota is an asphaltum mine, and the company has several large contracts on hand for furnishing material. Mr. Hellman, president of the company, is in San Francisco, and has sent word to the office here that he has secured three out of four contracts in that city to furnish material for work to be done there.

Major Embody and his son, O. Embody, of this city, who are owners of the most valuable mines in the Oro Grande district, are now preparing to erect a forty-stamp mill on their property. The vein of ore is about 40 feet wide, and although of a low grade, yet, on account of the large body and its free milling qualities, these gentlemen claim that it will pay them an immense fortune when the mill is put up. The ore assays on the average about $9 per ton. Major Embody is an old experienced miner, having been engaged in this business in Nevada in early days. His son is a thorough assayer, and the HERALD wishes that their anticipations may be realized.

NOTES. C. J. Barber and two other prospectors left Thursday for the desert, in the interest of a San Francisco company.

W. Duncan, an old miner from Arizona and Old Mexico, is in the city and leaves this week for the Oro Grande district.

G. B. Ford arrived Saturday from the Yuma district and reports that more than usual interest is being manifested in mining circles in that section, and that new discoveries are being reported every day. Mr. Ford will take the field this week for the new company that is being organized by Hollenbeck & Slawson.

D. G. Warfield was in last week from his claim in the Baldy district and returned again last Thursday. Darwin is hopeful that he has discovered something rich. His partner, Claude White, will join him in a week.

In speaking about a smelting plant he created here, Maj. J. C. Moreland, one of the most practical, cool and clear-headed miners on the coast, says that if Los Angeles does not get it, San Diego or San Bernardino will. He says that he is willing to be one of the ten business men to go into the enterprise, as he feels confident that the investment would be a paying one to the promoters, and of incalculable benefit to Los Angeles. "Thousands of tons of the precious metal pass through our city for San Francisco, Pueblo, Denver, Omaha, Kansas City, El Paso, St. Louis and Socorro. This ore that is continually being carried by us could be worked here, and all the money that requires for its freight, handling and working would find its way into the pockets of our people. The erection of such a plant in our midst would eventually make our city a mining center and every mining center in our country is prosperous, money plenty and business thriving." The HERALD would like to see such an enterprise started.

Major L. C. Moreland received word from the patent office at Washington Saturday that his patent for amalgamators and ore concentrators was allowed on the 5th of last month. The major claims that his invention will cause a revolution in the treatment of ore, and invites an inspection of his patent by miners and others interested in mines. He has already been offered a handsome sum for his rights in the patent.

Strong Witnesses. Among the thousands of testimonials of cures by Dr. Mearns' New Heart Cure is that of Nathan Allison, a well known citizen of Rock, Pa., who for years had shortness of breath, sleeplessness, pain in left side, shoulders, smothering spells, etc.; one bottle of Dr. Mearns' New Heart Cure and one box of Nerve and Liver Pills cured him. Peter Jacques, Salem, N. J., is another witness, who for twenty years suffered with heart disease, was pronounced incurable by physicians, died shortly after in the face, could not lie down for fear of smothering to death. Immediately after using the New Cure he felt better and could lie down and sleep all night, and he now well man. The New Cure is sold, also Free Book, by C. H. Hancock.

SEILON'S CATARRH REMEDY, a marvelous cure for catarrh, influenza, Canker mouth, and Headache. With each bottle there is an ingenious nasal injector for the more successful treatment of these complaints without extra charge. Price 50c. Sold wholesale by Haas, Baruch & Co., and all retail druggists.

ALLIANCE IN LOVE.

Scheming Jealous Fianc to Get Even with a Fickle Young Fellow.

Pauline—So we are both engaged to him? Penelope—Apparently. I know that I am.

Pauline—And I know that I am. Why, our rings are just alike. Penelope—He must buy them by the dozen.

Pauline—Why, even the dates on them are the same. Penelope—That's true. He proposed to me just before the German began.

Pauline—And to me just after. What a wretch! Penelope—It's too bad. He was the only man I was engaged to last summer that I cared to invite to call on our return to town.

Pauline—He used to say terribly disagreeable things about you. Penelope—They were nothing to the things he used to say about you. I hope, though, that this won't make us friends to any less degree.

Pauline—By no means. I wouldn't have him now if he were free. Penelope—Nor I. And yet it would be foolish for us to give him up. He was lots of fun.

Pauline (sighing)—True. How handsome he used to look when he would look down into my eyes and swear that I was the only woman in the whole wide world he ever loved.

Penelope—Yes, he was handsome when he did that. Pauline, we must punish him. Pauline—But how can we?

Penelope (with an air of confident superiority)—I'll manage that. You don't suppose that I've managed mamma and papa all my life for nothing, do you? Pauline—Well, how shall we do it?

Penelope—We will both continue to be engaged to him. Pauline—Very well. Penelope—We will inform each other when he is expected to call. On days when he has an engagement to call on you I will send him a note asking him to call on me. He can't call on both, and, of course, he will have to lie to the other. When a man lies to a girl he loses his conscience by sending her either flowers or candy. One of us will get the call and the other will get the candy. When he has an engagement to call on me you will do the same thing. Pauline, I see visions of unlimited flowers and candy this winter. What do you think about it?

Pauline—Pen, I think that you are the dearest, sweetest, most lovable girl in all New York. Penelope—Yes, I think I am—but I do hope he gets a good salary.—Life.

Joker, Then Philanthropist. The late Dr. S. G. Howe during his student life at Brown university was more distinguished for fun and practical joking than for scholarship. Perhaps not one of his college associates anticipated that their leader in frolicsome mischief would become an eminent philanthropist. For when he graduated he left behind a reputation for skill in breaking up the dull routine of college life which survived for years. Mr. Sanborn, in his biography of Dr. Howe, tells an anecdote which shows the impression he left behind him. Some years after Dr. Howe had left college, and after he had become favorably known to the public, he was in Providence attending the annual commencement.

The venerable Dr. Messer, who had been president of the university while Howe was a student, was then living in retirement. Howe thought he would call on him and apologize for the trouble he had given him while in college and for the many interruptions to his nightly repose.

The venerable ex-president received his caller with evident marks of distrust, and though he asked him to be seated he himself took a seat at a respectful distance. Dr. Howe began his apology and the good old man moved his chair a little farther back. "How," said he, explaining the movement, "I'm afraid of you now. I'm afraid there will be a torpedo under my chair before I know it."

In the museum at Pompeii are preserved the most horrid and pathetic relics of the last days of the ill fated city. Early in 1863 the workmen who were helping to unearth an immense palace struck into a cavity in the lava, the nature of which, of course, was a mystery. Without breaking further into it they poured plaster of paris down the crevices that were already opened, and as soon as the plaster had hardened, the crust of lava was carefully removed, and lo! the form of a human being in his last struggles was revealed! The outlines and form of the person were perfectly preserved, showing plainly that he had been buried in boiling lava, which had hardened about him. The intervening 1,800 years and the heat of the lava besides had reduced the body to a handful of dust, but the lava had left a cast natural as life.

Since that time several bodies have been reproduced—one of them with the features so perfectly preserved as to show the expression of the face. In some of the plaster casts parts of the skeleton are embedded. Two female casts which are clasped in each other's arms have been called "The Mother and Daughter." Persons who have seen this group say that there is nothing in all Pompeii more touching than the utter despair depicted upon the face of the "mother."—St. Louis Republic.

A Surgeon's Blunder. Eugene Sue, who in his youth was for some time an army surgeon, one day dined "not wisely, but too well," with his friend Romieu at the Cafe de Paris. Afterward, as they sauntered on the Boulevard, Romieu fell and injured his leg. Sue got a cab, put his friend in and drove home, where he carefully dressed the wound and then retired to bed. Next morning he hastened to examine the wound, only to discover that he had tended the wrong leg.—London Public Opinion.

Good Looks. Good looks are more than skin deep, depending upon a healthy condition of all the vital organs. If the liver be inactive, you have a bilious look; if your stomach be disordered you have a dyspeptic look, and if your kidneys be affected you have a pinched look. Secure good health and you will have good looks. Electric Bitters is the great alterative and acts directly on these vital organs. Cures pimples, blotches, boils and gives a good complexion. Sold at C. F. Heinemann's drug store, 5222 North Main street, 50c per bottle.

He Had His Coat Repaired.

He was one of the army who are living and seeing life in New York on an attenuated income, and one cold morning he awoke to the realization that the overcoat would be a necessary part of his garb for that day. He looked at it.

'Twas unrepresentable. He thrust his hands deep into his pockets. They were empty. Two direful fates, neither of them surprises, faced him, but he was not annoyed. He proceeded cheerily to a small tailor's shop and presented the overcoat for repairs.

"It will cost you a dollar," said Shears. "The price is no obstacle, proceed," replied the customer. Shears turned the coat over to a subordinate and sat down for a chat with the heaven-sent customer, for Shears was a Spaniard. And yet he was sufficiently Americanized to produce a deck of cards and propose a little game of poker. The heaven-sent assented. Vest buttons made admirable chips, and the cards flew for some minutes, until the coat was repaired. Then the customer paid his bill in vest buttons, and received from Shears fifty cents for the remaining buttons he had won. Then, equipped for the inclement weather, he went forth conscious of the rift in the clouds, and bought for himself a luxurious fifty-cent breakfast.—New York Times.

He is a Happy Boy at Times. There is at least one boy in this city who is overjoyed by the news of every funeral the services of which are to be held in the church to which he is attached. He is only nine years old and is a very poor lad, the child of needy parents. He sings in the church choir, and whenever the choir is called upon to sing at a funeral he is paid the sum of one dollar for his service in it. Yesterday forenoon he rushed home to tell his mamma that there were to be two funerals in the afternoon. He laughed beyond measure as he shouted, "Good news, mam! two funerals!" He danced and was filled with bliss over the prospect. He had not sung at a funeral for nearly a week, and had been disconsolate. His mother, too, was happy over the news, for she needed money and her husband was out of work. When the lad returned home with two dollars after the funerals the household was cheered up and the family got a good dinner.—New York Sun.
