The Annual Dog Show a Great Success.

Thousands Expected to View the Dog Aristocracy.

The Angels Beaten by San Francisco. The Local Team Plays in Hard Luck—Roach Getting His Pitching Arm.

The fourth annual bench show of the Southern California Kennel club is now in full blast at Hazard's pavilion. There was a large attendance for an opening day and there is every reason to believe that the show now being held will be as great a success financially as the ones previously held in this city.

"I am surprised at this show," said Mr. Mortimer to a Herald reporter last evening. "I did not expect to find such a fine quality of dogs and Southern California is to be congratulated for making such a creditable exhibit."

Mr. Mortimer is so delighted with Los Angeles that he will stay here several days longer than he anticipated. The arrangements this year are admirable and the dogs are not crowded together. Everything is clean and the judging ring is larger than the one at the recent New York show.

THE ANGELS BEATEN.

A Clear Case of Hard Luck from Beginning to End.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 20.—[Special to the Herald.] The "Glenavlin" lost today's game by the hardest kind of luck. They hit Hoffman hard, but nearly always into the hands of Uncle Henry's fielders. Roach pitched a magnificent game, the best he has yet pitched. In the ninth with the score a tie, "Frisco had a man on second and third. Rogers threw to catch Reitz napping, but hit him on the head, the ball bounding away, and both men scored. By this time all the balls had been knocked out of the lot and lost. When the Angels came in for their last half two old practice balls had to be used. Captain Glenavlin protested the game, for it was impossible to hit the soft balls safe. Denny Sweeney pulled down a hit from Hulien's bat that would have been good for three bases. Glenavlin got the prettiest hit yet made on the Oakland grounds. The attendance was light. Los Angeles is the best week day city in the California league. Stafford and Fanning tomorrow.

Wm. M. EDWARDS.

OAKLAND, April 20.—[By Associated Press.] Los Angeles could not bat Hoffman's pitching today, and San Francisco won by a score of 6 to 3. The game was close and was won in the ninth inning on Reitz's safe hit and Rogers's wild throw. The score:

A Popular Victory.

Castro, the 2-year-old that won the California stakes at the Blood Horse meeting at San Francisco, is owned by Charles Trenathan, a former reporter of this city, but now turf editor of the Examiner. Charley bought the colt for a couple of hundred, and must have won a thousand by his victory, which was a very popular one, as Trenathan is one of the best turf writers in the west.

A Change of Base.

J. M. Renck, the owner of the Fresno Turf, a monthly publication devoted to equine matters, is in the city. He contemplates moving his paper to Los Angeles, where the field is much larger. Captain Merry is the editor of the Turf.

Sporting News.

Both Lappold and Leland have signed with the Texas league. They will both play with Houston under the irrepressible McClosky.

Dungan made two hits in his second game with Chicago.

Manager Harris has released Pitcher Hart.

P. J. Dwyer has sold Bolero, for whom he paid $33,000 as a 2-year-old, to W. C. Daly for $20,000. He was a 2-year-old of great promise, but degenerated into a counterfeit as a 3-year-old.

ALFONSO SUSTAINED.

Company C Unanimously Approves His Course.

A short time ago a statement appeared in a contemporary to the effect that the members of company C were "disgusted" at Lieutenant Alfonso by reason of his refusal to resign in connection with the Russell matter. At a meeting of Company C last evening resolutions were adopted vigorously denying the statement and in strong terms sustaining Lieutenant Alfonso and approving his course.

Previous to Company C's drill last evening, orders were read from Lieutenant Colonel Howland assuming command of the regiment. This was received with much satisfaction by the members, who expressed their belief in an early and satisfactory settlement of the regimental difficulties.

TRIUMPHANT REVOLUTIONISTS.

A Series of Bloody Battles in Venezuela.

President Palacio's Forces Disastrously Routed.

General Crespo Conducting a Successful Campaign Against the Government—Sanguinary Encounters.

Associated Press Dispatches. New York, April 20.—The Herald's Puerto Cabello, Venezuela, cable says: The town is in great excitement over the utter rout of the government troops, April 14th. At sundown on that date, Palacio's army made a final and futile attempt to dislodge the forces of the insurgents under command of General Mora, entrenched at a spot just beyond Opolito.

Twice the government soldiers attacked the enemy and failed to drive it from its position. Discouraged over their ill-success, Palacio's troops showed signs of panic, but under the appeals of their leader they rallied and again charged the foe. The encounter was brief but furious. They were defeated all along the line, and, turning, fled in every direction. The insurgents followed in hot pursuit, and did not abandon it until the terror-stricken government troops were well on the road to this town. Many dead, dying and wounded were left upon the battle field. Some were rebels, but a large majority were followers of Palacio. The government soldiers did not stop to carry the dead and injured from the scene of the rout, but struggled into Puerto Cabello, starting the whole town with the story of their complete defeat.

Nothing definite has been learned as to the exact number of the slain, but it is officially announced that the government lost one-third of its force in the encounter. Of this loss by far the greater proportion was caused by desertion. As soon as Palacio's men saw they were overcome, many of them threw down their arms and went over to the enemy. The news of the battle's result spread terror throughout Puerto Cabello. It was almost immediately followed by a general conscription order. Every able-bodied man in town was forced into military service. The stores were all closed, there being no one to attend them. Women keep within doors, not daring to go out.

An attack upon Puerto Cabello is momentarily expected, but it is probable Mora will not at present attempt to capture the town. He will probably stay at Moron and Punta Chaves, two important points, and endeavor to hold them in this position he is enabled to cover the landing of arms and munitions of war and forward them to General Crespo. When the consignment of arms and ammunition is put in Crespo's possession, Mora will abandon his present position of advance. It is difficult to get any news out of Venezuela as the wires are cut in all directions.

Palacio's army had a severe battle April 7th with the revolutionists from Zamora and Lara, under Mazano, one of Crespo's chiefs. Mazano had captured the towns of Arare and Acarigua. He had 5000 men. The battle was a fierce one, with great loss of life on both sides. Next morning Mazano succeeded in cutting through the Nationalists' ranks, and pressed northward. He retook Araure and made a forced march on Tinqualina, where he was joined by reinforcements and marched to join Crespo.

BASELESS CHARGES.

Troops Committed No Outrages During the Garza Campaign.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—General Stanley, commanding the department of Texas, has reported to General Schofield that the grand jury of Duval county, Texas, ignored the charge made against the United States troops and state troops, in connection with the Garza campaign. The grand jury reported that they had investigated the charges and found absolutely nothing in them.

General Stanley has also forwarded a copy of a letter written to him by Capt. J. S. McNeil, of company E, frontier battalion, Texas state troops, saying he personally investigated the charges made against Capt. J. C. Bourke, Third cavalry, and found each and every charge to be false and malicious.

The czar presented to Capt. R. W. Sargent, commander of the Indiana, an enameled goblet, in recognition of his services in bringing a cargo to Russia.

IN SOCIETY.

A pretty wedding took place yesterday at St. Paul's Episcopal church, being the marriage of Mr. Eugene Riggins, a well-known business man of Los Angeles, to Miss Ella Hack, lately of Maryland. On account of the recent death of the father of the groom, the wedding was a quiet one, only the relatives and a few intimate friends of both parties being present. Mr. Edward B. Riggins and Mr. Glen W. Hack, a brother of the bride, were the ushers. The bride was attended by two little girls, Miss Jessie Baker and Miss Pearl Thornton, the latter a niece of the groom, who were both dressed in dotted Swiss, made low neck and short sleeves, with China silk sashes, each carrying a basket of flowers. The bride wore a dress of light gray Bedford cord costume, trimmed with white silk and cut steel, with hat and gloves to match, and carried a bouquet of La France roses and orange blossoms. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. Glen W. Hack. The newly-married couple took the train for Coronado Beach to remain for some time, and will then return to Los Angeles, their future home.

Stanton Relief Corps, G. A. R., went down in full force to the Soldiers' home at Santa Monica on Tuesday. The corps presented two fine easy chairs to the hospital department. Before lunch a general tour was made of the different departments, and at the noon hour all repaired to the big dining hall to see the veterans "fall in" for the noonday meal. The hall seats 500, and in two minutes every seat was occupied. The entrance of each soldier was awaiting him, and at the tinkling of a bell every plate was turned and the merry jingle of knives and forks was heard. While some of the veterans hobbled along with crutches, others limped with canes, but evidently none were lame in the region of the stomach, and the fresh ocean breeze seemed to give everyone an appetite like a sawmill. It was corn beef and cabbage day. A tin cup holding about a pint of coffee was beside every plate. The fare was tempting enough for anyone with health and a good appetite. The hall and fixtures presented a neat appearance, and the indications went to show that the "retiree" matter living than falls to the average man.

Captain Thornton kindly placed the library building at the disposal of the corps. Tables were furnished, and soon as merry a party as ever went on a picnic were enjoying the elegant lunch prepared by the ladies of the corps, to be made welcome, not for getting the drivers. A determined effort was made to secure the dining hall for the presentation of the programme, but there seemed to be as much red tape about the management of the home as other establishments of Uncle Sam, and the best that could be made was a small room, which was soon packed. The entertainment opened with the medley overture, by the post band, which was well rendered. Sergeant W. B. Clothier, of the home, in a few happy words, introduced Mrs. Hartwell, president of the corps, who took charge of the talent. Mrs. Anderson contributed a vocal solo; Mr. Harry M. Breidenbach, of Lincoln post, No. 2, Philadelphia, Pa., sang a comic song; Miss Laura Colton, gave a recitation; Parker and Holmes sang a plantation song; Miss Pearlie Blanson and Miss Haekel played a banjo duet; an address was given by Comrade Gardner, of the home, and the Highland fling was danced by the Cotton children; a recitation was given by Mrs. Furman, grand master of the order of the Eastern Star; a song by Comrade McGarvey, of the home; a poem was read by Mrs. President Hartwell, and the entertainment was closed by music by the post band.

The wedding of Mr. H. Roeder, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Roeder, and Miss Sophia Maag, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maag, took place yesterday morning at the home of the bride's parents, at Dundee, in the presence of immediate friends and relatives of both families. Mr. R. Stassforth acted as groomsmen, and Miss Sophia Prossmer as bridesmaid. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. C. Maag, Mr. and Mrs. L. Roeder, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Maag, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Maag, Mr. and Mrs. F. Maag, and their families, Mrs. L. A. Adams, Miss Roeder, Miss A. Roeder, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Joughin, Mr. and Mrs. S. Brossmer, Mr. and Mrs. M. Fischer, Miss Nora Riche and Mr. and Mrs. F. Dodds.

A DOUBLE RUNAWAY.

Two Unmanageable Teams Collide With Serious Results.

A serious runaway accident occurred at about 5 o'clock last evening on Hill street near Sixth. Mrs. Emma Hale of No. 1424 Connecticut street was in a buggy with a man named Thompson, who had been training a colt for her. The animal became frightened and ran away. Mrs. O. Thomas of Pico street, with a friend, Mrs. Johnson, were driving in another buggy, and their horse in turn became unmanageable. The two vehicles collided near the Sixth street park and were demolished, all the occupants being thrown out. All four were more or less hurt, and a call was sent to police headquarters for the patrol wagon.

Officers Stiles and Huston responded with the wagon, accompanied by Police Surgeon Bryant. Mrs. Johnson, in the meantime, had gone to her home. Thompson was looking out for the horses, which had dashed into the park. Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. Hale were taken to the station. Mrs. Hale was unconscious and had received a severe bruise over her right eye and a bad cut back of her left ear. She also sustained a dislocation of her right wrist. Her husband had been notified of the accident, and when Mrs. Hale had sufficiently recovered he took her home. In the meantime Mrs. Thomas had been sent home in the patrol wagon. She escaped with bruises, but was more hurt by the shock than otherwise.
