

PRIZE DOGS ON PARADE.

Man's Best Friend" Draws the Crowds.

San Francisco Shuts Out Glevalvin's Giant Angels.

Oakland Knocks Off a Few Notches of Its Average—Result of the Games in the East—On the Race Tracks.

Today is afforded the last opportunity to visit the fourth annual bench show of the Southern California Kennel club. There was a capital attendance all day yesterday, and there is every reason to believe that the club will make some money. The exhibition given by Professor Samuel's performing dogs has met with the popular approval of the little ones. There were quite a number of up-sets during the present week, especially in the fox terrier class, where the small terrier did not fare so well at the hands of Judge Mortimer as he did with Judge Davidson last year. In the mastiff class for dogs, Amado suffered defeat for the first time in Los Angeles. The winner turned up in S. Tyler's Draco. The blue ribbon mastiff bitch Phyllis has been much admired. San Francisco very justly carried off the honors in the St. Bernard class. Republican is a grand specimen of the breed. He won first at both the Los Angeles and San Francisco shows last year. He is now owned by J. B. Martin of San Francisco, who is to be congratulated for coming so far away from home. John Heffernan of San Francisco captured the second prize with Grand Chancellor, quite a handsome dog. The genial J. B. Banning, of course, got a first premium for his Newfoundland dog Scott. Matt Bunker also got a blue ribbon for his Newfoundland puppy Rover. Rhona A., the property of A. C. Freeman of Inglewood, was adjudged the best specimen of the Great Dane. Trojan, who won the prize as the best Newfoundland in the country. He is owned by Miss H. W. Vail, and secured the blue ribbon over Chris Krepel's Cervus, who won the first at the San Francisco bench show last year. Chris Krepel's Flora won the coveted honor in the deerhound bitch class. There is a large entry in the greyhound dog class, and G. W. Gordon is to be complimented upon being such a fine field with Leo. Leo has won the blue ribbon at every show held in Los Angeles.

S. Tyler's Lap was greatly admired. J. D. Schieck's Nemo was very highly commended. There are seven entries in the greyhound bitch class. S. Tyler's Pronto won the blue and J. B. Proctor's Silk the red ribbon.

There were some fine specimens of greyhound puppies to be seen. W. F. Barber's Charleston was much admired, and the general opinion was that he deserved the blue ribbon. J. M. Cota surprised the talent in the greyhound bitch puppy class by walking away with the blue ribbon with Lilly-baha over a capital entry. Mrs. G. Ross's brindle Dutchess secured second prize and the victory was well deserved. Captain A. B. Anderson's Yoicks won the blue ribbon as expected. Yoicks beat all San Francisco last year.

In the foxhound bitch class, Thad Stone of Pasadena secured the honors with Music and Patty. They are both fine specimens. Kan Koo, the handsome pointer, attracted much attention. He got the blue ribbon in the challenge class and Mr. Benchley was kept busy receiving the congratulations of his friends.

H. M. Tonner, the young enthusiast from North Ontario, is very happy over his pointer dog, Ah Sing, was awarded the blue ribbon over A. P. Kerckhoff's Jap and M. M. Conn's Hindoo. Mr. Tonner also won with his pointer bitch, Amariyllis. Judge Mortimer decided that Frank W. Ingalls was entitled first premium for Ko Ko as the best pointer dog under fifty-five pounds. J. H. Keifer's Istone Bang was placed second. It will be remembered that Mr. Keifer's dog won the blue ribbon last year.

It was generally conceded that Redlands would get the blue ribbon for the best pointer bitch, as H. Y. Evans' Tip-petta is a magnificent specimen of her class. E. K. Benchley came in a good second with Kito. The pointer dog puppy was another fine class. J. W. England won with Spot, and Ed Tuffs got the red ribbon with Lemon. The other classes will be reviewed tomorrow. In the meantime all should remember that today will be the last time to visit the show.

THE ANGELS SHUT OUT.

Peacblow Hoffman's Curves Couldn't Be Hit With Safety. Special to the Herald.

OAKLAND, April 22.—The Angels suffered defeat at the hands of "Peacblow" Hoffman and his band of fielders today. The game was a short one. The Angels hit the ball into the hands of a "Frisco man nearly every time they came to the bat. Hassamaer, Glenalvin and Hanley did some nice fielding. Hoffman's work in the box was the feature of the game. Stasford also pitched a good game and was accorded good support. The Oakland grounds seem to be the Jonah of the Los Angeles club. Lohman and Smith have been let out of the Oakland club and four more will have to go next week. Wm. M. EDWARDS, By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 22.—The game at Oakland this afternoon resulted in the Los Angeles team being shut out without a run. The superb pitching of Hoffman, backed by the splendid fielding of "Frisco" was the snag that the southern men encountered. The game was well played throughout. The score:

MADAME, LULU, AND EMMA.

An Interesting Trio Who Have Left the City.

Madame Ulrich, the ladies' hair-dresser, and her daughters Lulu and Emma have left Los Angeles. It is said that the madame has gone to New York, but she neglected on her departure to leave her exact address, and the left her numerous creditors in the lurch. Mme. Ulrich first started in a delicatessen in Los Angeles with her husband about a year ago. This did not prove a great financial success. So about February last she stopped selling cooked meats and opened a ladies' hair-dressing and manure parlors on North Spring street, near First. Here she advertised to do everything that was impossible, including the restoring of gray hairs to their natural colors. After being in business about a month and not seeing enough in sight to take her to the world's fair, she began advertising for a partner with a small capital. When the much-wanted partner would put in an appearance madame would explain that her business had grown to such large proportions that it was too much for one, notwithstanding the fact that she had two daughters to assist her. She would then make an appointment for the intended purchaser to come to her place of business on a certain day to see her large trade.

In the meanwhile she would hustle around and get all her friends to call and have their hair fixed the day the partner was to come. Somehow or other she never made her play successful for the reason, it is said, that she, woman like, talked too much.

The last party whom she negotiated with law through the game, and during the store she occupied she offered Madame Ulrich about the price of the furniture that was in her manure and hair dressing parlors, and the offer was accepted. On Monday Madame tried to get her trunks out of Mrs. Jones's house, on Broadway and First street, but the lady declined to give them up till Madame pointed out what was owing her. She finally paid up and shipped her boxes east on Tuesday, and left with her daughters on Wednesday. She was very anxious that no one should know that she sold out her business, but the woman who bought her out refused to lie for her, as requested, when the numerous bill collectors were searching for her.

THE Y. W. C. A.

Opening of the Second Annual Convention. The young ladies of the Y. W. C. A. of Southern California opened the second annual convention at the university last evening. There was a large attendance and a good sprinkling of the sterner sex. The students of the university of Southern California gave a royal welcome to these delegates.

The meeting was opened with Mrs. Julia E. Whitcomb of Glendora in the chair. Blessed Assurance was sung and Mr. Bay, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. in Los Angeles led in prayer. Professor A. Hardy welcomed the delegates in behalf of the university in his pleasing manner. The university quartette, Misses Strong and Cook and Messrs. Hall and Robinson sang a song, to the edification of the convention.

Miss Nettie Ward of Pomona college, classroom, responded in a neat manner to the welcome, in behalf of the delegates. Miss Lillian Bovard of the U. S. C. rendered a piano solo.

Miss Smith, Pacific coast secretary of the Young Women's Christian association, made an address on the needs of the work. She urged the importance of strong bodies in young women, and a special work in life. The object of this association supplies the demand for the elevation of womanhood.

Miss Winans and Mrs. Carver rendered a piano duet. Dr. J. P. Widney, president of the University of Southern California, spoke on the subject, The College Women of Tomorrow. He urged the importance of the united work of the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. in their grand work. He drew a picture in eloquent words of the journey of life from Paradise Lost to Paradise Regained, the man and the woman hand in hand the whole way.

Another song was sung by the University quartette. The remainder of the evening was spent in hand-shaking and social intercourse.

The following officers were elected: Mrs. W. C. Whitcomb, president; Miss Mayhew, first vice-president; Miss Webster, second vice-president; Miss Noble, secretary; Miss Jones, assistant recording secretary.

THE CARNIVAL BALL.

Gay Times at the Santa Barbara Fiesta.

Unique Features of Last Night's Floral Ball.

Beautiful Women Arrayed as Blossoms. Some of the Participants and Their Costumes—Angelenos Who Are Enjoying the Show.

SANTA BARBARA, April 22.—Last evening was held the gorgeous floral ball at Horticultural pavilion. There were in attendance between 1000 and 1200 gaily costumed gentlemen and ladies. The dance of flowers was the prettiest thing ever presented on the coast. The arrival of little Goddess Flora in her miniature chariot, drawn by six little boys representing butterflies, was very effective.

It was 9:30 o'clock when the orchestra began peculiarly weird yet beautiful dance music, and soon there entered from the west wing of the building a gorgeously arrayed group of beautiful women, numbering twenty-eight, each representing a flower. The sight as they swayed from side to side was grand. Here towered the graceful fleur de lis, there the charming hollyhock, beneath whose swaying heads flitted the sweet little pansy, the violet, the pink and the rose. Above nodded the stately lily of the valley to the sympathetic marguerite, while from behind shone up the bright face of a smiling sunflower.

The flowers entered in quadrilles, the group led by Miss McLaren, Miss Redington, Miss de la Guerra and Miss A. Alexander, who represented the sweet peas, marguerites and buttercups. They were very well costumed and each flower was plainly distinguishable. The second group of four was formed by Miss Waugh as an orange blossom, Miss S. Redington as a lily of the valley, Miss Colt as a pink, and Miss M. Hawley as a white and pink rose. The representation of each of these flowers was beautiful and the young ladies looked charming.

Following came the flowers in groups of four, swaying from side to side, mixing their sweet shades in a charming manner. The stately hollyhock was followed by Miss Whelan, in dull red shades, followed by a bright little pansy in the person of Miss Randall. Miss de la Guerra was decked as a matilija poppy, and Miss Underhill presented the sweet-smelling white pink. Miss Rogers was wreathed from head to foot in beautiful banksias, while Miss F. Ferwald, her floral sister, was garlanded in clusters of wisteria.

Miss Bouton came next as a yellow rose, and Miss Gillman gave a grand presentation of a bright red pink. Her costume was exceptionally sweet. A bodice of green silk represented the calyx, with the flaring red petals protruding from the neck, the sleeves being an exact imitation of the flower reverse. The skirt was of red silk with carefully draped over it. Next came an immense red poppy, in the person of Miss Duremus; a sunflower by Miss P. Dibble; a little daisy by Miss Coeg, and a waterily by Miss McElroy. Miss Dibble, Miss Knight, Miss Sperry and Miss Doulton were in the first group. They represented, respectively, a white lily, duchesse rose, yellow marguerite and a wild pink rose. Their representations were very nice and are deserving of mention.

In the sixth set probably the most unique designs of the floral group was that of the white and purple fleures de lis, represented by Miss Stoddard and Miss Eaton. Miss Stoddard, as the white, was costumed in a skirt of silver-green, draped over which were thin petals of white satin veined with green. The bodice was a darker hue, over the front of which were placed three center-petals in white, and curving over the shoulders and head from behind, were three large petals, while down the beautiful green train hung the leaves. Miss Eaton's mode of dress was precisely the same as Miss Stoddard's, excepting, of course, the color. The down petals were of purple velvet, trimmed with yellow, and the up petals were of light lavender, while the center ones were dark spotted.

Miss Bouton, as a yellow rose, wore a yellow tulle skirt, beautifully draped in roses, with bodice representing calyx in green, trimmed with roses.

Miss P. Dibble's sunflower costume was beautiful to behold. The bodice was of brown velvet, edged with miniature sunflowers. The skirt was brown, with heavy flounce of yellow petals. Surrounding all she wore upon her head a mammoth sunflower.

Miss Dibble as a white lily was also most beautiful. With the Misses Dible, Miss Hoy and Miss Baxter finished the last quartette. Miss Hazard as a daffodil was costumed in pale green. Upon the skirt were grouped the gorgeous daffodil. The bodice was surmounted with an immense high collar representing the beautiful daffodil cup. Miss Baxter's costume was a dream of loveliness in itself. She wore a gracefully loose garment of white gauze, over which was garlanded the trailing smilax vine and white buds. It was not gaudy but grand.

When all the flowers had glided across the immense hall they separated, depositing wreaths in the shape of a horseshoe at the feet of the visitors. As they lined up opposite each other six little butterflies came mysteriously upon the scene, making a tour of the circle in and out among the flowers. This was a sweet little maneuver and elicited great applause from the visitors. When the butterflies departed the flowers slowly passed away among the vines and were seen no more—as flowers.

Throughout the night was indeed grand, and the spectators were very enthusiastic in their praise.

NOTES AND PERSONALS. This afternoon will be devoted to a tournament at the Agricultural fair grounds. There will be jousting of three 200-yard runs, riding wild horses,

A meeting of the city council was held yesterday. Mayor Gaty withdrew the name of Judge Day for city attorney and nominated J. J. Boyce, Santa Barbara's leading lawyer, but the councilmen refused to accept his name. A petition was introduced, signed by Maj. S. W. Kinsell, John P. Stearns, J. F. Short, W. H. Norway, J. H. Summers, R. M. Dillard, Chas. Pierce, E. Iverson, J. K. Fisher and about a dozen others, requesting the re-nomination of Thos. McMilton for the office. The petition was tabled. There is slight ill-feeling among the councilmen concerning the actions of the mayor in not nominating its men for office whom they want, and though just concessions on the part of Mayor Gaty have been offered, the board will not meet him half way, but seemingly wish to all or nothing. The affair is becoming quite complicated.

Old Mother Gerry, a notorious female pickpocket, was yesterday arrested in this city while in the act of robbing a victim. Her capture was a timely one, and thanks are due Detective Bosqui of Los Angeles, who "put our officers onto" the woman before she got fairly at work.

A Pioneer's Experience With Hood's Sarsaparilla. "I am a pioneer in this county, having been here 30 years. Four years ago my little son Elery became blood-poisoned by impure virus vaccination. His arm swelled terribly, causing great agony; physicians said the arm must be amputated, and even then his recovery would be doubtful. One day I read about a blood purifier, new to me, and was surprised to learn that it was prepared by C. L. Hood, with whom I used to go to school in Chelsea, Vt. I decided to have my boy try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and was much gratified when it seemed to help him. He continued to grow better as we gave him the Sarsaparilla, and having used 8 bottles is now entirely cured. As Hood's Sarsaparilla has accomplished such wonderful results, I recommend it all possible cases."—JAMES M. SLEEFER, Upper Lake, Lake Co., Cal.

The City Treasurer. Of Lowell, Mass., says: "The above is from my brother, whose signature I recognized. I am also glad to testify to the excellence of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and to say that C. L. Hood & Co. are considered one of the most reliable firms in New England."—VAN B. SLEEFER, City Treasurer, Lowell, Mass.
