

WRIGHT AGAIN WAS WRONG.

Judge Smith Yesterday Remanded the Officer.

Ora Dahlitz Preferred a Chinaman to Her Husband.

Yesterday's Doings in the Courts-The Whittier Incorrigible Question. Notes—New Cases—Marriage Licenses.

Humane Officer Wright managed to secure for himself a sharp reprimand from Judge Smith yesterday, in department No. 1 of the superior court. It was in another of those cases of alleged incorrigibility, which are becoming so numerous, and to which the HERALD has had occasion to refer more than once in the last few days.

The complaint in this case was made by Officer Wright, and the boy whom he sought to send to the reform school was Morris Hill, the boy who figured in the escapade at Mother Brown's road house with some young girls, a month or two ago. At that time young Hill, who is 16 years old, made promises that he would mend his ways. Officer Wright arrested him day before yesterday, claiming that he is as wild as ever. The parents of the boy retained R. A. Ling to defend him, and all parties were in court yesterday morning.

Officer Wright told his story, which was to the effect that two nights ago he was going down Spring street, and when near the Salvation Army headquarters he saw some boys coming out of the stairway leading up to the rooms of the army. They were making a noise, and he recognized young Hill among them. He stopped and spoke to him, and after a word or two Hill called him a vile name. He told him never should have been brought, and warned him that he had a warrant for him, which was being carried. After some additional punky language he arrested the boy. He testified that the boy was not doing as he promised; that he is reckless, and should be sent to the reform school.

Morris was put on the stand and testified that he had not been away from home late at night since the trouble he was in before, with one or two exceptions, one of them being the night his brother Ed was hurt by the electric car. He had a steady place to work and had been working right along. His testimony in regard to Officer Wright was anything but creditable to him. He said he and the boys were in the Salvation Army meeting, and made no noise, neither were they asked to leave. He did call Wright a name, but it was after he had slapped him on the shoulder. He further said that the humane officer got mad, and before his companions told him he had better be careful; that he was one of Mother Brown's chickens, and he was carrying a warrant for him.

Officer Wright hit near the witness stand and asked Morris a number of questions, which were more in the nature of a justification of himself than questions put to develop the truth in the case.

Finally Mr. Ling wished to put Mr. and Mrs. Hill on the stand, but Judge Smith said it was not necessary. He said the complaint never should have been brought. The evidence showed that the boy had been steady at work; that he was trying to be a man, and the action of the officer was decidedly wrong. It was wrong in the boy to have called names, but when he retaliated for holding him up to the people around, many of them did not know him as a kind or criminal, and apply the epithet to him that he did, it was something which no officer should do. He was supposed to be there, acting without prejudice or spite, and to display such, as he evidently had done, was not creditable to him. Judge Smith then dismissed the charge against the defendant, and he was discharged.

Two other incorrigible cases were taken before Judge McKinty yesterday morning, but went over, owing to another case having precedence. One of them is the case of Wm. Colon, 16 years old, Officer Gridley having sworn to the complaint. Mr. Crawford has been retained to defend the boy, and has asked for a jury trial. The case was continued until Saturday next.

The other case is that of Lonie Casolo, 13 years old, and it was continued until next Monday. The boy's mother is the complainant in the case.

THE LITTLE GIRL'S EXPERIENCE IN A LIGHTHOUSE.

A divorce was granted by Judge Wade yesterday to Paul Dahlitz, a baker, from his wife, Ora Dahlitz, the ground being adultery. Two co-respondents were named, a white man, called George, the last name unknown, and a Chinaman, Mr. and Mrs. Dahlitz were married in 1886. The woman is a Mexican and her husband a Swiss. About a year ago she applied for a divorce, on the ground of cruelty, but it was not granted. She went into a fever, and she committed the offenses charged with the two men. Finally she ran away with the Chinaman to Seattle, where they are now living together. She left two little children, a boy of 5 years, and a girl of six. The court granted the father the custody of the children.

NOTES.

The case of W. H. Holmes vs. the Los Angeles Transfer company was on trial before Judge McKinty, yesterday. It took all day to hear the testimony, and the jury was dismissed until Monday, when the arguments will be heard. Mr. Holmes wants $200 damages for the alleged failure by the transfer company to deliver his household goods at the time promised by them.

In the case of Little vs. Robinson Judge Wade yesterday, upon the statement that the defendant had been adjudged an insolvent, ordered the case stricken from the calendar.

A motion for a change of venue in the divorce suit of Rosa Lee Barnes vs. J. Barnes, was continued for a hearing by Judge Wade, yesterday, until September 3d.

A judgment of foreclosure was granted by Judge Clark, yesterday, in the case of R. Nance and Charles A. Doyle, the amount being $383.66.

An Italian named Rizzinotti was up for admission to citizenship, yesterday, before Judge McKinty. After a number of questions as to the government of the United States, he wound up by saying that the country is governed by a king. The judge denied him admission until he knows something more about the requirements of American citizenship.

NEW CASES.

Mrs. Clara H. Heilman filed a petition yesterday for letters of administration upon the estate of Carl Heilman, the estate consisting of a lot in Ivanhoe.

Joel H. Pool began suit against Nathaniel C. Carter for $5000 damages, alleging that he had been maliciously arrested in Pasadena by the defendant, and restrained of his liberty for three hours. Similar complaints were filed against the defendant by George A. Pool and Albert S. Copps, each for $5000 damages.

J. J. Wilson began a $15,000 damage suit against the Los Angeles Terminal Railway company. He alleges that August 11th, in the night time, he was driving along Kuhrt street, where the railroad intersects it, when an engine suddenly backed down on him, striking his wagon and throwing the plaintiff about fifty feet to the ground. His skull was fractured and his head and shoulders were badly lacerated, so that he became senseless and delirious, and continued so for more than a week.

Charles W. Snodgrass began suit against Martha Jane Nelson, administratrix of the estate of William Nelson, deceased, et al., to quiet the title to lot 2, block I, of the Los Angeles Improvement company's subdivision of lots 6 and 7, block 39, city.

C. B. Wilson filed a petition for letters of administration upon the estate of Grace M. Giles, the estate consisting of a contract for lands in the Providencia rancho, upon which $7540 is still due.

THEY ARE ALL HOME.

The Last of the Seventh's Camp at Ventura.

CAMP ANACAPA, Ventura, Aug. 27.—The Seventh regiment will break camp tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock, returning to Los Angeles on the 10 o'clock train from Ventura.

At the drum and bugle corps campfire last night, Colonel Schreiber, in response to a call for a speech, expressed himself as being well satisfied with the work accomplished by both officers and men during the encampment, and gave it as his opinion that this has been the most successful camp ever held by the Seventh. He expressed regret that more were unable to attend, and hoped the defect would be remedied before next year. At the conclusion of his speech the men gave three cheers for the colonel.

A mock parade was the order of the afternoon. About 2 o'clock the boys formed in front of their quarters, attired in the most grotesque fashion, and marched out on the parade ground under the command of officers gotten up in so far as possible to burlesque the peculiarities of their real commanders. Sergeant Lenhauer acted as colonel and Sergeant Fitch as adjutant, their costumes being especially funny. After going through some evolutions scarcely to be found among the drill regulations, the "Thirteenth regiment" marched up town headed by the Drum and Bugle corps, which consisted of the commissioned officers of the regiment, both on the parade ground and in town.

This evening at dress parade, the regiment made a fine showing. Colonel Schreiber presented the Ventura citizens' medal to Private Reilly. It is a handsome gold medal, awarded to the man who made the longest score in a four-days' shooting contest.

Company D are making great preparations for their dance tonight, which it is expected will be the event of the encampment in a social sense.

Adjutant Franklin returned to Los Angeles this morning.

A Little Girl's Experience in a Light-house.

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Trescott are keepers of the government light-house at Sand Beach, Mich., and are blessed with a daughter 4 years old. Last April she was taken down with measles, followed with a dreadful cough and burning into a fever. Doctors at home and at Detroit treated her, but in vain, she grew worse rapidly, until she was a mere handful of bones. When she tried Dr. King's New Discovery, and after the use of two and a half bottles was completely cured. They say Dr. King's New Discovery is worth its weight in gold, yet you may get a trial bottle free at O. F. Heilmann, druggist and chemist, 222 N. Main street.
