PERSONAL.

Major W. H. Bonnell returned yesterday from Arizona.

John L. Pavlovich left for San Francisco on the leg night overland.

Miss Rosy Lee, who has been appointed to a clerical position in the state capital, left for Sacramento.

G. P. Deighton of St. Louis, president of the Terminal railroad, will arrive in Los Angeles this month.

Hon. J. Marion Brooks left for Sacramento yesterday afternoon to assist Mr. White in the senatorial contest.

Sam Caro, the irrepressible and jovial drummer who visits these parts every quarter, is now in the city, bent as usual on business. He hails from the metropolis of the Pacific coast.

Miss Nell C. Hill, who has been seriously ill for several days, is much better. She will soon return to her home in Alabama, to the regret of her many friends here.

C. C. Bartlett, a prominent commission merchant of Port Townsend, Wash., died Friday at the Sisters' hospital, of consumption. His remains were removed to Garrett & Sampson's undertaking parlors to be shipped north.

John G. Eagleon of Eagleon & Co., San Francisco and this city, is in town for a few days on his way east. Mr. Eagleon reports business excellent in both of his stores, more so with his place of business in Los Angeles.

A Splendid Chance. Is now offered to persons in need of fine show and side cases, counters, a beautiful mirror and all the fixtures of Mr. Klages, the retiring jeweler of 120 First street. He offers also his entire stock of the finest diamonds, silver, clocks, jewelry and everything that is kept in a first-class jewelry store, at your own prices. You can buy a watch cheaper than the jeweler or pawn shops can buy at the factories. Everything must be sold as he is going into other business; and as his reputation is beyond reproach you can rely on getting the best. His stock is all new, and no shop-worn goods are sold. Look at his prices, at Klages', 130 West First street.

Julian Mines. The San Diego Sun says: W. E. Smith and Ben Simmons have commenced running a 400-foot tunnel into the Warlock. They will have 161 feet of stopping ground overhead when they reach the ledge. Warlock was one of the best mines in the camp in the past.

Robert Gordon had a small crushing last week from the famous Blue Hill mine, which netted him $81 per ton.

George Plant and C. E. Smith, after about five months' "dead work" on the Ellis mine, reached the ledge on the 9th.

Dandruff. This annoying scalp trouble, which gives the hair an untidy appearance, is cured by skookum root hair grower, All drugists.

THE MISSION BUILDINGS.

NEITHER CHURCHES OR BELLS AS OLD AS HAVE BEEN THOUGHT.

The Dates at Which the Construction of the Various Missions Was Commenced and Facts About the San Gabriel Bells.

Mr. B. A. C. Stephens writes to the HERALD the following interesting statement:

Owing to confusion between the founding of a mission and the subsequent erection of the church buildings, now mostly in ruins, considerable error is extant as to the respective years in which they were erected. The buildings at San Luis Rey were erected in the year 1802; San Gabriel, 1804; San Juan de Capistrano and San Fernando, 1806; San Buenaventura, 1809; San Diego, 1813; Santa Barbara, 1820.

Thus the building at San Gabriel is only a little over 88 years old. The other day a jewelry store on Spring street exhibited some beautiful illuminated souvenir pictures of this building, on which was painted the date of erection as 1771. This serious error marred the beauty of the finely executed picture. This was the year the mission of the Archangel Holy Gabriel was established on the Monte lowlands, but the cold, damp ground was productive of too much malarial fever among the priests, and three or four years afterwards they moved several miles north to the present site on the warm, dry uplands.

There they first erected an adobe church, which in 1804 was replaced by the present stone structure. In the present building ex-Gov. Pio Pico, now at the age of nearly 93, a resident of West Los Angeles, began his long public career, first as an acolyte in the year 1800. There are many others yet living who were here when the San Gabriel church was built.

Even the bells are of the present generation. I recently climbed to the belfry and copied the inscriptions on them. There are four bells, and here is a verbatim copy of the lettering on each bell by separate paragraphs:

On first bell: AVE MARIA SANTISSIMA. S. FRANCO. DEPAULA X. RUKLAS. MEXICIT.

On second bell: GAST BY G. H. HOLBROOK. MEDWAY, MASS. 1828.

On third bell: AVE MARIA. SM. JUANNE POMUSENO. RV X ELASMEFEIT.

On fourth bell: FRUIT BENITUS A. REGIBUS. ANO D, 1830.

So the finely written story about Spanish ladies casting their jewels into the melting pots is not true as to the bells made by Mr. Holbrook, and probably not as to the other three. The same tradition hangs around nearly every Spanish mission bell in the Americas. Neither are the bells ancient, as one was made in the year 1828 and another in 1830. The other two bells do not look to be any older than the two bearing dates.

As history is pure truth, and the closer it comes to the facts the better is the history produced.

PLEASURE SEEKERS.

Their Choice Seems to Be the Redondo Hotel.

This is proving to be one of the best seasons for tourist travel that this section has ever experienced; and it is very fortunate, both for the visitor and the agriculturist and business man at home, that the early and abundant rains have prepared our lovely valleys to be seen at their best. With such attractions as the country now afford, with the orange trees bending beneath their loads of golden fruit, with every hillside covered with a sheet of living green, the state is rapidly filling with people from lands where all is ice and snow, and the contrast they will find here cannot be otherwise than very impressive. But these visitors will need a desirable place to locate while here, and we desire to call their attention to the advantages offered by the great hotel at Redondo Beach. This house is modern, is arranged so as to give the maximum of sunshine and air in every room, is provided with all the latest and best apparatus for securing the comfort and convenience of its guests, and is managed on the most liberal principles, giving its patrons all the advantages of a strictly first-class establishment at a cost far below that usually exacted at other houses of its class. By all means, visit Redondo Beach, the principal seaport for Los Angeles, before returning east. Take the Redondo Beach branch of the Santa Fe, or the Redondo railway, and you will be landed at the Redondo hotel in 45 minutes from Los Angeles.

REDONDO.

Many Tourists Visit the Beach—Shipping Notes.

REDONDO BEACH, Jan. 14.—A big crowd of eastern excursionists visited Redondo today. Both the Santa Fe and Redondo railways were crowded on the morning train. Many will remain over Sunday and the balance are returning to Los Angeles by the afternoon train. The mackerel fishing along the wharf has been a leading amusement for the day, as that fish continues to make Redondo Beach and wharf its place of rendezvous.

The steamship Santa Rosa, Captain Alexander, came in from the south at 12:15 p. m. today, landing eight passengers from southern ports, and departed for the north at 1:15 p. m., taking out 15 tons of merchandise, and 16 passengers for San Francisco.

The steamer Coos Bay from the north arrived at her moorings along Redondo wharf at 3 o'clock p. m. today, landing 83 tons of merchandise and 10 passengers for this port.

Officer Foyer of this precinct came across two men engaged in a severe hand to hand conflict, and secured one of the combatants, while the other rushed madly to the sea and plunged in, swimming away until two fishermen, pushing their boat after him, succeeded in catching the culprit and brought him to land. The men were hard characters, named Johnson and Frank, and were placed in the hands of Marshal Rogers and Officer Foyer.

A report has been received this morning that Emil Heiber, a resident of Redondo Beach, who was about to engage in opening a meat market here, met with a serious accident in Los Angeles yesterday, occasioned by a runaway horse he was driving in the city.

Arrivals at Hotel Redondo today are H. C. Houghton, R. B. Hutchins, San Francisco; Hammon Paine, Jr., London, Eng.; Mrs. Suley W. Mudd and nurse, Leadville; H. R. Whitman, Goshen, Ind.; Sheldon Borden and wife, Charles Durkee, wife and daughter, Los Angeles. Arrivals at Ocean View house: J. J. Hawkins, Santa Fe; P. Ostend, Los Angeles; Robert T. P. Gage, Miss Emma Gage, Buffalo, N. Y.; Samuel Osgood, Cincinnati, O.; Philip Troop, George Troop, Pittsburg; Stephen Watson, Pomona; R. R. Stacey, Santa Barbara.

EDUCATIONAL ASSOCIATION.

The Proceedings Yesterday at the January Meeting.

The January meeting of the Los Angeles county educational association was held in the high school building yesterday. President Le Roy D. Brown presided.

Superintendent of Schools Friesner delivered an address on language work in which he thought that too much is expected of the pupils. A large proportion of them are in the first three grades, and a mistake is made in not teaching them something that can be practically applied to the conditions which may confront them when they leave school.

Mrs. Frieh, the high school teacher of English, thought that too much was required of the pupils on entering the high school. They should not be kept in the school so long, but should be allowed to grow stronger and healthier by being more in the open air. Reference was made to some of the work required in the high school.

Miss Clark, another member of the high school faculty, said that the teacher should have perfect connection with the minds of the pupils, and although a study may seem hard to the teachers should not let the pupils know it. The trouble with the present methods of teaching is that they simplify everything and do not give the pupils a chance to think for themselves. If the American schools are compared with the German, French and English it will be seen that the American children accomplish less though they are more active and brighter.

Miss Mary E. Peter of Pomona read a paper on "The Tendency of Our Profession." Professor Hutton of the Normal school, and others, took part in the discussion. S. H. Suskind rendered a violin solo.

A Move to Increase the Salaries of Postal Clerks. The railway postal officials and postal clerks are out with a petition asking the general public to support the bill now pending before congress for an increase in salary in these offices. Over 30,000 signatures were secured in Chicago and in New York over 75,000, and the leading San Francisco papers, have at their offices an additional petition, which the public is endorsing. A similar petition will be presented to the people of this city at an early date. Every signature counts, and every citizen should come forward and sign it.

The postal clerks are a poorly paid lot of servants. Compared with other government employes, their salaries amount to little or nothing. A railway postal clerk is a walking geography, he having to be acquainted with the location of 70,000 offices which are in the United States. The very moment he touches a letter he is required to know to what line or office it should be forwarded. Should be missed or delayed a letter unavailably it would probably cause serious inconvenience both to the sender and recipient. It is a position requiring time and constant study to master it thoroughly and a clerk is not considered full-fledged until he has served at least two years. The business men, especially, should come forward in support of this righteous cause. Railway postal clerks are jointly benefited. A petition will be at the HERALD office in a few days and it should receive generous attention.

AT THE POSTOFFICE. A Scene Which Disclosed a Good Deal of Human Nature.

An amusing scene occurred at the postoffice yesterday. It happens every day and at intervals of 10 minutes during the days. The usual line was formed in front of one of the delivery windows. The usual woman in a great hurry rushed up. She took a look at the men standing in line, and her nerve seemed momentarily to forsake her, for she went to another window; but, as her initial letter did not belong to that window, she was referred back to the proper window.

She reached to the head of the line. A man was explaining, or trying to, to the clerk, that a letter had been written to him, and that "it ought to be here by this time." The woman in a hurry wedging herself in at the head of the line, petulantly complained at the man's delay, saying "a complaint should be made" in such cases.

"Yes," replied one of the men, "and also against those who violate the rule requiring people to form in line and take their regular turn at the letter window." The men laughed, but the woman evidently did not see the justness of the rule when applied to herself.

There are undelivered telegrams at the Western Union Telegraph office, corner of Court and Main streets, January 12, 1893, for Geo. B. McCann, A. A. Nickerson, G. W. Ellis, James J. Barry, W. S. Brassfield, J. O. Brown, Chas. A. Ploff, Mrs. Annie L. Sutherland, Judge Lutgatz.

A FAT POCKETBOOK.

AND BECAUSE OF THAT HIS WEIGHT LOANED PENN MONEY.

A Case of Conspiracy from Santa Monica—A Restaurant Keeper Who Was Entirely Too Confiding.

A man giving the name of John Doe Penn was brought up from Santa Monica last evening and lodged in the county jail to await a hearing on the charge of conspiracy. He was arrested on a warrant sworn out by Flora E. Wright, who runs a restaurant on Third street in that town. John Platt was also named in the warrant as a conspirator, but it seems that Platt has left for other pastures green.

According to the statement of John Doe Penn he met Platt and another stranger, who gave his title as the "Eastern Kid." He introduced them to the restaurant keeper, and after a hearty meal the Eastern Kid handed the woman a big, droopical-looking pocketbook, telling her that it contained $11,000 bills, and that he wished her to keep it for him until he came, as he was afraid that he might be robbed.

The woman kindly consented to act as banker. Next morning a man called at the restaurant and got from the woman seven or eight dollars "for change" on the strength of the pocketbook. Then they never came back. The pocketbook contained advertising representations of bank notes.

THE ATHLETIC CLUB.

Athletic Classes for Boys and Women. The Ladies' Night. The Athletic club has reorganized its junior and women's gymnasium classes for this year. The object is to arouse an interest in amateur athletic sports among the boys of the city. The junior class is divided into two divisions, boys from 8 to 14 years, which meets on Wednesdays from 4 to 6 p. m., and Saturdays from 10 a. m. to 12 m., and those from 14 to 18 years of age, which meets Mondays and Thursdays from 6 to 8 p. m. The women's class will meet some time within two weeks from 1:30 to 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon. The day of the week has not yet been decided. Prof. T. H. Beasing, the club instructor, will direct the classes. Those who wish to join will have to communicate with the secretary, George Beebe, at the club rooms, or with Prof. Beasing.

This is a move in the right direction by the club directors, and the boys should take advantage of the opportunity for the full privilege of the gymnasium is given them. They also can use the club bath rooms.

The members of the club are practicing hard for their exhibition on ladies' night, the 1st of February. There will be club swinging, boxing, wrestling, fencing, tumbling and general class work for that evening, to be concluded with dancing.

THE RAILROADS.

The Rate War Revolves a Set-Back. Notes. Assistant General Freight Agent Whitmore of the Santa Fe went to San Diego yesterday on a business trip.

Mr. J. N. Faithorn has been appointed general manager of Street's car line of Chicago. He is a well-known railroad man.

Mr. W. H. Gleason has been appointed commercial agent of the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe Railway company at Galveston, Texas.

On telegraphic instructions from headquarters at Chicago this morning the local freight officials of the Santa Fe issued a circular giving notice of cancellation of the cut rate on dried fruits. The cancellation takes effect January 25, on and after which date the old rate of $1.40 per 100 pounds on fruits dried (Pacific coast products), in boxes, barrels, kegs or sacks, straight or mixed carloads, will be in effect between the points named in the recent circular making a reduction to $1 per 100 pounds.

CATARRH, And all the Various Diseases of the Head, Throat and Chest Successfully Treated by M. HILTON WILLIAMS, M.D., M.C.P.S.O.

No. 137 S. Broadway, Los Angeles, Cal. By the AMERICAN System of Practice, Combined with Proper Constitutional Remedies When Required.

Consumption. The following are prominent symptoms in the first stage, and wherever any of them exist a thorough examination should always be made with a view to arrest the disease if shown to exist: There is usually a sense of weariness upon a little exercise; a disposition to remain passive and idle; despondency; or, from no apparent cause, a peculiar sensitiveness to the effect of cold, and a breathlessness upon moving quickly or ascending a hill or stairs; a slight, hacking cough, with or without expectoration, excitability upon slight occasions; flying pains through the chest or back, or under the shoulder blades. The symptoms are more noticeable toward or during the night; slight fever in the afternoon, cold feet and hands, or in many cases blue lividity of the lips and roots of the finger-nails. Sometimes spitting of blood or slight streaks in the mucus is the first indication of tubercular deposit, or it may be a chilly sensation in the back, followed by more or less heat in the palms of the hands, or an afternoon flush on the cheeks. The slow and gradual inroads of this form of consumption leave the stomach and appetite undisturbed for a considerable time. Finally, however, hectic fever and night sweats supervene, preceded by diarrhoea. Then the loss of flesh and strength becomes rapid, the chest contracts; the features sharpen, the eye assumes an unusual brilliancy, and the patient begins to realize that he is in the last stage of confined consumption.

Persons desiring treatment by this system of practice can use the remedies at home as well as at our office, and which will cause no inconvenience or hindrance to business whatever. Consultations free, and prices within the reach of all. The very best of references from those already cured.

Those who desire to consult with me in regard to their cases had better call at the office for an examination, but if impossible to visit the office personally, may write for a list of questions and circular, both of which will be sent free of charge. Address
