An Irishman's Will.

In the name of God, Amen! I, Timothy Deagan, of Barrydownerry, in the county of Clare, farmer; being sick and weak on my legs, but of sound head and warm heart;—Glory be to God!—do make this the first and last will, and could and new testament, first I give my soul to God, when it pleases Him to take it, share no thanks to me for I can't help it this, and my body to be buried in the ground at Barrydownerry Chapel, where all my kith and kin that have gone before me and those that live after, belonging to me are buried. Pass to their ashes, and may the sea rest lightly over their bones. Bury me near my grandfather, Felix O' Flaherty, between him and my father and my mother who lie separated together, at the other side of the chapel yard. I have the bit of ground, containing ten acres—rare and old Irish acres—to me and my son Tim, after the death of his mother, if she lives to survive him. My daughter Mary and her husband Paddy O'Regan are to get the white cow that's going to have twelve black calves.—Teddy, my second boy, that was killed in the war in America, might have got his share of poultry, but as he has gone, I leave them to his wife who died a while before him; I bequeath to all mankind fresh air of heaven, all the fishes of the sea they can take and all the birds of the air they can shoot, save to them all the sun, moon and stars. I leave to Peter Rafferty a pint of potatoes I can't finish, and may God be merciful to him.

The estate of Waterford, N. Y., who poor in this world's material good but rich in love, took his sister wife a few months ago to Gettysburg, Pa., on a wheelbarrow, hoping that she might obtain relief at the Springs, is returning from his fruitless visit. On Thursday he reached Newark with his two bright-eyed children, still heroically braving his wheelbarrow, to get to other means of conveyance and too proud to ask or accept charity.

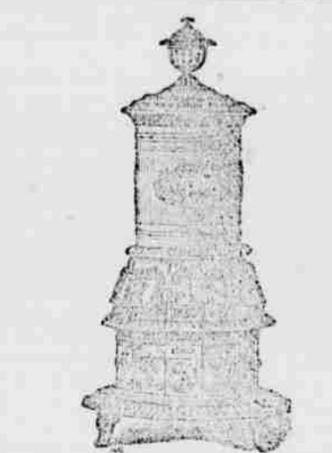

Edward H. Colton, the Adams Express agent at Springfield, Mass., who disappeared mysteriously in December, 1867, and whose absence has been the cause of much anxiety among friends, and many surmises by the curious, has returned home, after two years' sailing upon the sea, restored to health, and ready to explain matters.
