

THE POST.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 5, 1870.

CHAS. & BENJ. PROPRIETORS.

The Independent Farmer.

Let suffering of the window deep, Let soldiers praise their armor, But in my heart this I'll keep—
The Independent Farmer.
When first the rose in robe of green Unfolds its crimson lining;
And around his cottage porch is seen The honeysuckle shining; When banks of bloom their sweetness yield To bees that gather honey, He drives his team across the field, When skies are soft and sunny.

The blackbird clucks behind the plow,
The quail pipes loud and clearly, You orchard larks behind in bow
The home he loves so dearly;
The gray and old barn doors unfold, His ample store in measure More rich than bleas of hoarded gold, A precious, blessed treasure:
While yonder in the porch there stands His wife, the lovely charmer, His sweetest rose on all his lands—
The Independent Farmer.

To him the spring comes dancingly, To him the summer blushes,
The autumn smiles with yellow ray, His sleep old winter hushes.
He cares not how the world may move, No doubts or fears confound him,
His little flock is linked in love,
And household angles round him;
He trusts to God and loves his wife, Nor grieves nor ill may harm her, He's nature's nobleman in life—
The Independent Farmer.

THAT'S ME.—We heard a good story of a "pet" youngster, whose existence on this portion of the moral vineyard would extend over the period of five long years. His mother expecting to receive company, had fixed him up so sweetly, arranging his hair and attire only as a mother can. As a sort of finishing touch she sprinkled on his clothing and handkerchiefs a few drops of Jockey Club, greatly to the youngster's delight. He went around puffing and snuffing like a wild deer when the haunter approached him. The visitors arriving he was confined to the care of a servant, but managed to escape and bounced into the parlor proud of his appearance and proud of his performance. He went through the regular amount of kissing and petting like a hero, but to his astonishment no one seemed to notice the Jockey Club, though he waved his handkerchief that their noses might catch the fragrance. Human nature five years old couldn't stand that, you know, so he broke out with: "Folks, if any of you smells a smell, that's me."

OLD Sam Wilson, of Vermont, who earned his living trading tin ware with the honest farm wives, was sadly addicted to indulging in a little "old New England" occasionally. On one occasion, feeling a little sleepy, he got off his cart, and staggering to the roadside laid down to take a snooze.
Some mischievous boys coming along shortly after, discovered Samuel in the situation described. Leading his horse a short distance out of the road they built a row of fires around him, and getting behind the fence waited until the fire began to close around him, the best becoming intense; indeed, the boys feared they would burn the old fellow up. But old Sam had no idea of that. Waking up hastily, his face almost scorched, he exclaimed:
"In hell, as I expected."

DR. TYNO met an emigrant family going West. On one of the wagons hung a jug with the bottom knocked out.
"What is that?" asked the doctor.
"Why that is my Taylor jug."
"And what is a Taylor jug?" asked the doctor again.
"I had a son in General Taylor's army in Mexico, and the General always told him to carry his whiskey jug with a hole in the bottom, and that's it. It is the best invention I ever met with for hard drinkers."

A YOUNG PHILOSOPHER.—During a fine twilight evening lately, Willie, a three-year old philosopher, after a silent and apparently profound scrutiny of the heavens, asked his mamma where the stars came from.
"I don't know, Willie," she immediately replied.

Willie—"Yes, you do, too." Mamma—"No, Willie, I don't know where the stars came from." Willie—"Well, you bet I do. The moon laid 'em! That's what the matter."

A ghost drove an entire family tu-multuously from a house in Oswego at a late hour on a recent Sunday night. After a while their excitement was allayed, and on investigation they found that a cow, on a foraging raid, had made her way into a rear kitchen and inserted her head into an empty barrel. The barrel became fast in her horns, and, unable to escape her embarrassment, the terrified animal commenced a frantic rampage about the apartment, with the result above described.

A SPIRITUAL medium has been visiting Allentown. He made one convert to a late hour on a recent Sunday night. After a while their excitement was allayed, and on investigation they
found that a cow, on a foraging raid,
had made her way into a rear kitchen
and inserted her head into an empty
barrel. The barrel became fast
her embarrassment, the terrified animal
commenced a frantic rampage about
the apartment, with the result above
described.

This is called a Colorado romance; even miners, exploring the mountains, found an enormous piece of gold, they fought for its possession till all were killed but one. It was too heavy for him to carry off, so he sat down side it and starved to death.

Tonching and irresistible was that vision of the rustic maiden to her sain:—"Come over and see me; we are a new camp at our house, that can turn down, down, down under there isn't scarcely a bit of light in the room.

Here is a conundrum: If a man say shoot his wife's lover, why may

Hair Vigor, For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and essential for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth.
This hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and laidness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed.
