French Tuition, UPON AN ANALYTICAL PLAN. NICHOLAS GOUIN DUFIEF, Professor of the French Language,

HAS the honor of informing his Fellow Citizens of Philadelphia, that he will open his School on Monday the 14th of September, at No. 5, fourth Fifth street, and divide his hours of instruction in the following manner.

Attendance on Ladies and Gentlemen, at their own houses, will be given as usual, from 9 o'clock in the morning till 4 in the afternoon.

His afternoon and evening school will begin (every other day) from 4 to 6, and from 6 till 9.

Translations from either language into the other, performed with accuracy, elegance, fecundity and dispatch.

N. B.—NICHOLAS C. DUFIEF, respectfully invites the Ladies and Gentlemen, ambitious to learn the French, to agree with some of their friends or acquaintance, desirous of receiving lessons in that universal and improved language, to meet at the same hour and place for mutual instruction—they may be assured it will be to their advantage to do so, if they peruse with attention the following—

To the Lovers of the French Language. ADDRESS.

IN an age when successful efforts have been made towards the improvement of the art of Thinking, and when Analogy has been discovered the universal, and sole good method to improve all sciences, and receive instruction in them, it may be a matter of astonishment that it has not been yet generally embraced, and rendered the familiar method of learning. The extraordinary life and progress of Chyriany, within a very few years, are entirely due to analysis; but there is an art on which it should have first rested its beneficial rays.

I allude to the Teaching of Languages. In fact, Nature, this excellent analyst, was before our eyes guiding children in learning the language of their mother, and no child ever failed in acquiring it, profiting furiously by her unerring lessons—Fully convinced by reason and experience, that the same method the pursuit should be followed as nearly as possible, I adopted, in the course of my instructions, such books established on principles that least deviated from her simple dictates. I soon perceived that the method acquired from these aids was but a very irregular and imperfect Analysis—, therefore, resolved though with a very small confidence in my slender abilities, but animated with zeal for the improvement of those who may wish to learn French from me, to undertake the laborious and arduous task of writing a work, grounded on Analytical principles, which might comprehend what is withheld by those applying the rules to the study of the living languages, and an happy day, I have now nearly concluded it.

It consists of three parts. The first, is a chosen Vocabulary of words most frequently used in speech, containing 2,500—the most natural acception of each is determined by a phrase prefixed to it.

The second, contains the French verbs, both regular and irregular, from a new system in which the principal difficulties attending conjugation are first explained, and observations given on the use of each tense, illustrated by proper examples, so as to enable the learner to express himself with precision.

The third, is a complete list of those words servant de lieu ou de complement de sens entre les autres parties du discours that is to say—forming the link or completion of sense between the other parts of speech, whose principal use is to establish in speech that connection between words, which already exists in the mind between ideas. I have also fully determined the sense and acception of those important words (which are divided into appropriate classes to fix them the easier in the memory) by annexing to each examples in French and English.

As I do not intend to publish the above, for some time, and in order, nevertheless, that my pupils may reap the same advantage without it, I hasten to inform those who may be induced to put themselves under my care, that half the time of school (the other half being devoted to other exercises) will be employed in exercising them in the following manner—

We first begin with the Vocabulary; each word of which will be pronounced in English then in French, to be repeated by one or more of the scholars; and a similar repetition of the phrases before mentioned will follow.

It is worthy of observation, that in our infancy, and as we advance in years, we learn the pronunciation of our vernacular tongue, by pronouncing word by word; and Analogy accomplishes what remains to be done, in order to acquire the necessary knowledge of it. The rules given by Grammatarians to attain this object are a most useless to us, and still more so to the foreigners, struggling in vain to learn the true pronunciation of a language with the help of dictionaries and Grammar alone. Though I conceive my scholars may attain in the above manner, the accurate pronunciation of the French language, yet strict attention is paid to their reading in approved authors before we begin the foregoing exercises.

I will pursue nearly the same method in imparting to them the contents of the two other divisions of my work. I cannot conclude this address without thanking my Fellow Citizens for the liberal encouragement I have experienced from them, their six years past, in my professional career, permitting that I may be permitted to say, that I have not been altogether undeserving of it.

Candidates for the Navy.

AND others, who are desirous of becoming acquainted with the following very efficient improvements in Navigation, viz.—The method of finding the Latitude by a single altitude of the sun at any hour of the day; and of ascertaining both Latitude and Longitude at once by a Celestial observation, the Lunars, and new forms of journals for ships of war, with additional columns may hear of a person ready to instruct them at their apartments, who has composed of the above to be simplified by explanations of figures, marginal references, &c. that they may be understood in a few days; by applying at No. 93, South Second-street, opposite the City Tavern.

He engages to teach Navigation (the common method of keeping a journal at sea) in 6 days. He has taught the Mathematics, French language, &c. for many years in different universities, and ships of war, to which he has been regularly appointed—He has also had considerable practical experience in surveying and book-keeping; in which he gives private lectures.

His terms are low and accommodating. He will open

Prevention better than Cure. For the prevention and cure of Bilious and Malignant Fevers, is recommended, DR. HAHN'S Anti-bilious Pills,

WHICH have been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings, in several parts of the West-Indies, and the northern parts of the United States—particularly in Baltimore, Petersburg, Richmond, Norfolk, Edenton, Wilmington, Charleston, Savannah, &c. The testimony of a number of persons in each of the above places can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy, has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine, than columns of pompous eulogy, founded on mere assertions, could do. It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, which can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these pills, taken once every two weeks during the prevalence of our annual bilious fevers, will prove an invariable preventative; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases, their use will very generally succeed in restoring health and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is peculiarly mild and may be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid creations; to restore and amend the appetite; to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequence. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance. They are celebrated for removing habitual coliciveness, sickness of the stomach, a severe head-ache, and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing most disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

DR. HAHN'S Genuine Eye-water.

A certain and safe remedy for all diseases of the eyes, whether the effect of natural weakness, or of accident, speedily removing inflammations, distensions of rheum, dullness, itching, and films in the eyes, never failing to cure those maladies which frequently succeed the small pox, measles and fevers, and wonderfully strengthening a weak sight. Hundreds have experienced its excellent virtues when nearly deprived of sight.

Tooth-ache Drops. The only remedy yet discovered which gives immediate and lasting relief in the most severe instances.

The Anodyne Elixir. For the cure of every kind of head-ache, and of pains in the face and neck.

Infallible Ague and Fever Drops. This medicine has never failed, in many thousand cases not one in a hundred has had occasion to take more than one bottle, and numbers not half a bottle. The money will be returned if the cure is not performed.

SOLD BY WM. Y. BIRCH, STATIONER, No. 17, South Second Street, And no where else, in Philadelphia.

Where also may be had, Dr. Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, his Sovereign Elixir for coughs, &c. Restorative Drops, Essence and Extract of Mustard, Sovereign Ointment for the Itch, Dr. Hahn's infallible German Corn Plaster, Indian Vegetable Specific for the Venereal complaint, Gowland's and Perlan's Lotions, Restorative Tooth Powder, Damask Lip Salve, Churchill's Cough Drops, Anderson's Pills, &c. &c.
