The reader who recollects that the treaty with Great Britain was signed so long time ago as the nineteenth of November, 1794, will doubtless remark the accuracy of this letter writing citizen, when he speaks of it, as lately negotiated. He will wonder not, that the French people, after all the noise this treaty has made, for so long a time, should only have found out in March last, that it was so injurious, but there is a key to all this; the French government and people saw nothing wrong in this treaty, until its pernicious effects were pointed out by certain American patriots, certain political prophets, who having predicted the vengeance of France, have not ceased to labor, for the accomplishment of their own predictions.

ed here from Aux-Cayes on Saturday evening. She had a passage of thirty hours, and brought with her 201 prisoners, most of whom were put on his majesty's ship Intrepide, Alexander Donaldson, Esq. four capt. of ships, and three private gentlemen were landed here.

Three hundred of the people belonging to his majesty's ship Salisbury, wrecked on the Iles-Aves, have, we understand, fallen into the hands of Republican cruizers, who have landed them at Aux-Cayes.

Capt. Richardson, of the Niger, failed from Spithead on the 14th April, in company with upwards of 300 vessels, composing three convoys, one for the Mediterranean, another for the East Indies, and few ships and five or six transports for the Windward Islands; those for that quarter were conveyed by admiral Pole, in the Carnatic of 64 guns, a frigate, two sloops, and a bomb ketch, which after seeing the merchantmen, &c. safe to Barbadoes, are to proceed to this station. Capt. Richardson parted company with them, off the Western Islands, on the 24th of the same month, his vessel being the only one bound for this Island.

A letter has been received by his honor the Countess from Rear Admiral Parker, dated off Cape Francois, 28th May, stating the force of the enemy arrived there, to consist of two fail of the line, five frigates, and two corvettes. He adds, that he will continue with his squadron off that port to prevent their getting out, until he shall think the convoy far enough advanced to the northward to be out of danger.

Off Cow-Bay, about nine o'clock on Wednesday evening, the Marlouin fell in with the schooner Barbara, Capt. Gregg, when, each mistaking the other for an enemy, an engagement took place, which lasted for upwards of an hour, in which the Barbara had her sails and rigging much injured, and the Marlouin one man killed and three or four wounded.

MONTEGO BAY, May 28. Extra of a letter from Barbadoes, May 10. Admiral Christian is arrived with six thousand men in full health, and sailed on Sunday to join admiral Loforey, whose intention is wholly taken up in the reduction of Fort Morne at St. Lucie, the only part of that Island in possession of the enemy; who seems to fight with great resolution, well knowing they will receive no quarters. I have also the pleasure to acquaint you, that we are in quiet possession of Demerara.

Tuesday arrived the American ship Diana, Coffin, from London, Madeira, Antigua, and St. Thomas's. Passenger John Perry, Esq.

SAVANNAH, June 9. Died last Thursday noon in the city, David Montague, Esq. aged 80 years, upwards of 40 of which he lived in Savannah. He had been speaker of our house of assembly, a judge of the court of conscience and the magistrates court, naval officer of the port, vice consul of the French nation, secretary to most of the societies in this town, and notary public, which he executed literally to the last hour of his life—after having wrote and given certificates of citizenship to some seamen he lay down, and died in an instant, without pain or a groan. His age added to the ages of the six pallbearers at his funeral, all of whom are old Georgians, amounts to 487 years.—Mr. Montague was born in England of French parentage; he never used spectacles of any kind in his life; his father and mother lived to be about the same age with himself, and the old lady's life was shored at last by the cruel treatment she received upon Sapelo Island from some plunderers during our late revolution.

AN ACT Authorizing the erection of a lighthouse on Cape Cod in the State of Massachusetts. BE it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States, in Congress assembled, That it shall be the duty of the Secretary of the Treasury, to provide, by contract, which shall be approved by the President of the United States, for building a light house on Cape Cod, in the State of Massachusetts (as soon as the necessary cession of land for the purpose shall be made by the said State to the United States;) and to furnish the same, with all necessary supplies: And also to agree for the salaries or wages of the person, or persons, who may be appointed by the President for the superintendance and care of the same: And that the number or disposition of the light or lights, in the said light house, be such, as may tend to distinguish it from others, as far as is practicable; and that the light or lights on Gurnet-head, at the entrance of Plymouth harbor, be altered or diminished, if necessary: And that eight thousand dollars be appropriated here for the same, out of any monies not otherwise appropriated.

JONATHAN DAYTON, Speaker of the House of Representatives. JOHN ADAMS, Vice-President of the United States, and President of the Senate. Approved—May 14, 1796. Go: WASHINGTON, President of the United States. Deposited among the Rolls, in the office of the department of State. TIMOTHY PICKERING, Secretary of State.

BASLE, April 12. M. Barthelemy, the French minister, has delivered to our Senate the following declaration of the executive directory, dated Paris, the 6th Germinal:—"The executive directory is credibly informed, that last year a plan was formed to attack the French frontiers by marching the corps of emigrants, commanded by the prince of Condé, first into the Frickthal, and from thence through the territory from Basle, against the department of the Upper Rhine, the Mont-Terrible, Doubs and Jura: that this plan, so far from being laid aside, is again resumed; and that preparations are actually making to carry it into effect. This plan is supported by several inhabitants of Switzerland, who employ all their interest and influence to facilitate its execution. The known sentiments of several magistrates of Basle, and other inhabitants of note, are by no means qualified to appease the felicitude of the directory on this head, it being notorious that they treat with as much ill nature the friends of the French republic, as they show predilection for whatever concerns the imperial armies, and the interest of the emperor. Thus it must be supposed that if, in the execution of that plan, the enemy violated the territory of the canton of Basle, the magistrates who composed the government of this city, would endeavour by pleading the impossibility of resistance, ward off the consequences of the violated neutrality of the canton; of course, there does not exist at present sufficient security that its neutrality will be respected. Under these circumstances, the directory finds itself obliged to declare to the magistrates of the city and canton of Basle, that unless they adopt vigorous, sufficient, and un-suspicious measures for the defence of their own territory, and the maintenance of the respect due to their neutrality, it is resolved to take every step that shall be requisite for the protection of the frontier departments against every kind of insult; and the directory renders them answerable for all the unhappy consequences that may result from the military operations which circumstances may require.

At a meeting of the citizens of this town, to receive the report of the committee appointed for the purpose, the following arrangements were adopted, for celebrating the Nineteenth Anniversary of American Independence, on Monday the 4th of July next.

The bells of the town to be rung at day break and sunset—and the flag of the United States to be displayed at the flag staff.

The citizens of all descriptions, and the public teachers with their scholars, together with such of the uniform companies as may incline to parade, are requested to assemble at 10 o'clock in the morning on the common in front of the Episcopal Church.

It is recommended, that the citizens arrange themselves by professions or trades, and that each profession or trade be preceded by one person, of each order, elected for the purpose, bearing some emblem of their profession or art—the different professions and trades, to form the procession in alphabetical order, and to proceed to the Presbyterian Church as follows:

- A citizen bearing the Cap of Liberty. Detachment of Militia. The Orator of the day and a citizen with the Declaration of Independence. The public teachers with their scholars. The civil magistrates and clergy. The respective professions and trades. Citizens not associated with the professions and trades. Detachment of Militia. The service in Church to be opened by a prayer followed by an hymn. The Declaration of Independence read. An Anthem. An Hymn or Anthem. The Service to be concluded with Prayer.

After which the procession to return in the same order to the common and there to be dismissed.

As the citizens of this flourishing town, have become too numerous to assemble with any convenience or comfort, to die in one body, it was judged expedient to leave a public dinner out of the general plan of amusements, on the presumption, that the respective classes of citizens would take their own measures for evincing their gratitude to the beneficent Parent of Nature, for the unparalleled blessings we enjoy, in such manner as to them may appear most eligible. Such as choose to associate in different circles for festive purposes, may interchange congratulatory deputations to diffuse the general joy.

Mr. John G. Macwhorter was chosen Orator.
