Examining the Stomach by Electric Light.

"ILLUMINATING THE STOMACH BY ELECTRIC LIGHT."

"Medical electricians have recently devised a plan by which the interior of the stomach may be illuminated for examination. This patient is laid upon the operating table and a slender tube, carrying a glass bead upon its end, is introduced into the stomach. A small light inside the bead is supplied by fine wires running out through the tube and connected to a small battery. The interior of the stomach is plainly lighted, and all its parts are brought into view by a small movable mirror at the end of the tube."—(Quoted from THE TRIBUNE'S Encyclopedia Britannica.)

The above picture is photographed from an illustration on page 619 of the supplement of the TRIBUNE'S Encyclopedia Britannica. It is only one out of nearly 100 illustrations on the subject of electricity contained in the TRIBUNE'S edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica—thirty six of which can be found in no other edition of Britannica in print. Among them we mention a few of the modern specialties therein so beautifully and accurately illustrated:

"Arc Light," "Wood Dynamo," "Slatery Incandescent Dynamo," "Improved Dynamo," "Incandescent Lamp," "Edison Generator," "Securing and Alarm Ganges," "Electric Elevator," "Electric Car on a Ten Per Cent Grade," "Electric Percussion Drill," "Poles and Signal System," "The Death Penalty by Electricity," etc., etc.

The articles on electricity in its various forms in the main body of the work and in the supplement are treated in 138 pages.

Every subject known to man is treated as fully, carefully and accurately in this princely library as the subject of electricity.

Bear in mind that the full set contains 22,000 pages, 671 maps and plans and 10,000 illustrations.

Not to own this great reference library is almost as singular, in this age, as not to own the Bible. It is the possessor of this rare set of books stands a more than even show of success in life.

Can you afford to be without this great storehouse of knowledge when so small a saving will secure it?

Don't delay this important matter, but call at once at THE TRIBUNE E. B. department, 497 Spruce Street, any time during the day or Tuesday, Thursday or Saturday evening.

FOR WORSHIP OF GOD

Handsome Edifice of Plymouth Congregationalists Properly Dedicated.

SERMON BY REV. DR. L. H. COBB

Story of the First Church or Tabernacle Erected by Moses at the Command of God in the Wilderness Related and Made Applicable to the Occasion—The Other Services of the Day.

The handsome church edifice of the Plymouth Congregationalists, situated on Jackson street, near the Park avenue, was dedicated to the worship of God with appropriate services yesterday. In the morning at 10:30 o'clock the first service was held; and at 2:30 in the afternoon a congratulatory service was held. Again at 7:30 o'clock there was a regular service.

The building which the congregation has erected after five years of labor is a credit to them and an object of public admiration. It has been accurately described in the columns of THE TRIBUNE and needs no further description.

The services were opened with singing and prayer, after which Rev. C. C. Creagan, D. D., read the scriptural lesson for the day. He then offered prayer. The choir of thirty-five trained voices sang the anthem, "I Was Glad." Miss Brown Joseph singing the soprano solo. Choirmaster E. E. Evans conducted the choir and had charge of the musical part of the programme. Miss Lily Joseph, the new organist of the church, was at her post for the first time and acquitted herself admirably.

COVERED WITH GLORY.

Rev. L. H. Cobb, D. D., was the speaker, and he chose for his text Ex. 34. "Then a cloud covered the tent of the congregation, and the glory of the Lord filled the tabernacle." The last clause of the verse was dwelt upon particularly. The speaker thought that God's people could not be without public worship on their way from Egypt and that they must have both a time and a place. God fixed the time, but man should prepare the place. God would meet with any number of believers who gathered together in His name. God drew the plans and specifications of the first church building, the tabernacle. God thought out the plan and gave it over to Moses. Moses was not a carpenter, but he turned the plans over to those who could erect and superintend the work.

There was a little question of finance. Money must be raised. God suggested to all the world, through Moses, that the people should be called upon to bring Him an offering. The speaker then said:

"From that day to this I wish that had been the plan, and might be until the end of the world, a free gracious offering. God asks every man, woman and child in this church today to make Him an offering."

Through Moses word went out that an offering was to be made to the Lord. Not only on Sunday did the offering of the church does not occur very often and the speaker only knew of half a dozen similar occurrences. The men, women and children toiled and worked hard and the tabernacle gradually arose. Then the day of dedication came and a cloud hovered over the tent of the congregation.

He hoped the cloud of heaven might cover up the church at that time and fill all with the spirit. The Lord said, "I will dwell among them." He thought that the congregation had invited Christ to come and dwell with it in its sanctuary.

Christ came and lived on the earth thirty-three years. He lived as no other man had died and laid in the grave three days to take away its terrors. He then arose and was on earth the prescribed forty days.

When Christ was gone the disciples came together in an upper room to hold a prayer meeting. For nine days they prayed, but the spirit came not. The tenth day was the regular day of Pentecost. They wondered if the spirit would come to them, but did not falter in their prayer. God came to them. He came to a praying church. He came when every soul was united in prayer. There was perfect union. If the Plymouth church wished to have God it must be a praying church.

WORK IN THE CHURCH.

When the disciples had prayed ten days and were thoroughly united, the Spirit came to them with a rushing sound as of the wind. The best of it, the power of the Holy Ghost took hold of their hearts and gave them courage and boldness.

Peter's sermon and the power of the Lord added 3,000 souls to the congregation. They continued steadfastly in the church, talked over Christ, called on God and conferred with each other. The church was a benevolent one, the members of the congregation sold all their goods and possessions and parted them to all men who had need. This does not mean that we shall put together in a common treasury. It means that we shall share with the Lord what He helps us to obtain. Some say it is a sin to be rich. I don't believe in such kind of preaching. I believe that we should have riches and devote them to the use of God.

Many young people believe they will become unpopular if they are Christians. The young person who is a Christian enjoys the respect of all good men and also that of many bad ones.

You have built this beautiful house and wish that all be made comfortable. You desire that the spirit of Almighty God shall pervade this house during all seasons of prayer. May God grant your desire.

SERVICES IN THE AFTERNOON.

The afternoon session was held at 2:30 o'clock. On the platform were Rev. D. P. Jones, Rev. R. S. Jones, D. D., Rev. David Jones, Rev. D. A. Evans, Rev. Dr. Creagan and Rev. Dr. Cobb.

The service was a peculiar one. After prayer and singing the right hand of fellowship was given to fifty-two new members by Rev. Dr. Creagan. Rev. David Jones, pastor of the First Congregational church, delivered a few congratulatory remarks as did Rev. D. A. Evans. Rev. D. P. Jones, pastor of the Tabernacle Congregational church, remarked on the beauty of the church architecturally and hoped that the spirit of God would pervade the house of worship.

Miss Brown Joseph sang "The Holy City" in an excellent soprano voice.

The evening session opened with prayer and praise, and Rev. Dr. Cobb read the Scripture lesson for the evening. The choir sang an anthem, "Praise the Lord," excellently. The sermon of the evening was by Rev. Dr. Creagan, who chose for his text St. Luke xix. 8. "And Zacchaeus stood, and said unto the Lord; Behold, Lord, the half of my goods I give to the poor; and if I have taken anything from any man by false accusation, I restore him fourfold." The story of the publican was adapted to the present day and his character with that of persons met in every day life. It was announced that $2,450 had been collected during the day.

MISS JULIA KELLY'S INJURY.

A Piece of Wood That She Was Breaking Struck Her in the Eye, Causing Complete Loss of Vision—Death of James Devine—Political Tidbits.

Miss Julia Kelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel F. Kelly, of Maple street, was fatally injured yesterday morning, and in a manner that will probably disfigure her for life. With her elder sister the young lady was preparing the morning meal, and the fire not burning rapidly enough, she ran to the basement to break some kindling wood. The first blow struck with the axe resulted in serious consequences. A portion of the wood flew up and struck her squarely in the eye, bursting the cornea, or white portion. Dr. Haggerty was summoned, but when he arrived he suggested that the young lady be taken to Doctor Fry. This was done, but the latter physician could not treat the injury yesterday. The young lady is suffering no pain, but the loss of vision is complete.

Death of James Devine.

James Devine, a well known South Side citizen, died yesterday morning after a protracted illness. He had been suffering from pulmonary troubles for a long time and had but recently returned from Philadelphia, where he had been undergoing treatment. His wife and family, some of whom are given, survive. He was a brother of John Devine, the Prospect avenue merchant, and of Thomas Devine, the well known stone mason. The funeral will occur Tuesday morning.

Political Tid Bits.

The Democrats of the Nineteenth ward caucus Saturday and selected Herman Nutz and P. J. Hickey were nominated. Mr. Nutz received 231 votes and Mr. Hickey received 302. District officers will be nominated Wednesday evening.

Yesterday's Elmira Telegram in concluding an excellent article on Thomas McGrail, who opposes A. T. Connell for select council in the Twentieth ward, has this to say: "McGrail's record several years ago and his connection with the boodle cases are still too fresh in the minds of the people to give a favorable ghost of a chance." The Republicans of the Nineteenth ward, have not as yet issued any call for a caucus to nominate a school controller and common councilman. Charles Hamm, ex councilman, stated Saturday evening that if no one would run against Mr. Nutz he would, and he wanted to wager that they would get a man to defeat Mr. Hickey. Jacob Weisman, an Irving avenue merchant, is spoken of as Mr. Hickey's opponent.

Shorter Paragraphs.

The marriage of Miss Frances Storr to Peter Bohner of the TRIBUNE book binding department, is announced to take place Jan. 24 at St. Mary's church. Councilman Robert Robinson is on the sick list.

John Duggan, a steel worker, residing in the Twentieth ward, is lying in a critical condition. It was reported yesterday that he could not live. The Young Men's Polish club is an organization composed of the young men of Father Anast's parish. The officers are Michael Gryczynski, Stanislav Polenz and Vincent Naradzinski. The organization has social and beneficial features.

A 4-month old child of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Collyer, of Birney avenue, that was dangerously ill, is recovering. Miss Louise Sautler who lives along the "old log truck road" in the Nineteenth ward, was given an enjoyable surprise party Saturday evening at her home.

The funeral of Mrs. Blochman occurred yesterday afternoon. It is understood that her children will be cared for by neighbors, for the present.

AN ACCOMPLISHED ACTRESS.

Return Engagement of Miss Flora Staniford at Wonderland Theater.

Beginning today and continuing throughout the week the Henry Comedy company, supporting Miss Flora Staniford, will again be the attraction at Wonderland. It will be remembered that Miss Staniford is the lady who created such a sensation at this theater a few months ago by her artistic work.

There are not many actresses who travel that display the magnificent wardrobe that Miss Staniford does, and she takes much pride in exhibiting all of her dresses. Miss Staniford is a very clever emotional actress, and her delineation of the characters of Lady Isabel Carlisle and Madame Vime in the well known story of "East Lynne," is equal to that of Ada Gray. She will be seen in this, her favorite play, today, tomorrow and Wednesday. On Thursday, Friday and Saturday "Pride and Poverty" will be produced.

"Reese G. Brooks, treasurer of the city of Scranton, and T. H. Jones, a prominent druggist of the same place, were here yesterday in the interest of the Scranton and Pottsville Coal and Lumber company," says the Pottsville Miners' Journal of Saturday.

This company has purchased the Navigation tract, and Mr. Brooks has become the lessee. His visit here yesterday was for the purpose of locating the opening for a shaft, and the site for the breaker which is to be one of immense size."
