The New Store.

The opening of the new home furnishing goods store of R. Blosser at 131 Penn. avenue on Saturday last was a grand success. It is surprising to see the articles that are sold for 8 and 10 cents. It would be impossible to mention any article of the line of goods that cannot be found at this store. We ask everyone to come and see our new store.

NEWS OF WEST SIDE

Death of Robert Coleby a Well Known and Respected Citizen.

MASONS PURCHASE BUILDING

They Will Have it Renovated and Remodeled—Death of Mrs. Julia White, of Ninth Street—Making Arrangements for the Coming Tri-County Convention—Conductor Isaac Edwards Injured.

(The West Side office of the SCRANTON TRIBUNE is located at 1049 Jackson street, where subscriptions, advertisements and communications will receive prompt attention.)

About 9 o'clock yesterday morning, Robert Coleby died at his home, 1311 Sweetland street. Mr. Coleby had been ailing for some time past, but his friends did not imagine that death was near. The result was due to a complication of diseases. Mr. Coleby was born in Yarmouth, England, and had been engaged in the meat business on the West Side for many years. He was very well known and a multitude of friends mourn his loss. The funeral will occur tomorrow at 3 o'clock. Rev. L. C. Floyd, pastor of the Simpson Methodist Episcopal church, will officiate. Interment in Forest Hill cemetery.

Death of Mrs. Julia White. Mrs. Julia White, a resident of Ninth street, died at her home at 5:30 o'clock yesterday morning. She had been ill for several weeks past with bronchitis, which finally caused her death. She was 32 years of age and had been a resident of the city for thirty years. Mrs. White is survived by nine children. They are Mrs. John McDannell, Mrs. Frank E. Ryan, Mrs. James J. Gibney, Miss Anna E. White, Miss Julia White, T. J. White, James W. White, and Edward and John White. The funeral notice will appear later.

Buried Yesterday Afternoon.

The funeral of Anthony Witzigman occurred yesterday afternoon from the undertaking establishment of M. F. Wynne on Jackson street. The services were conducted in St. John's German Catholic church on South Main avenue and were largely attended. Rev. Father Fricker delivered an eloquent sermon in memory of the deceased. The attending societies were St. Joseph's German Catholic society of this side, the German Benevolent society and Father Witzigman's Irish Catholic Benevolent union. The pall bearers were Nicholas Glesner, Christopher Glesner, William Bruesel, John Smith, Matt Flesch and William Emmett. Interment was made in St. John's cemetery.

Will Remodel the Building.

Hyde Park lodge, No. 339, Free and Accepted Masons, have purchased the property on North Main avenue known as the Masonic building. It is to be renovated throughout, with paint and paper, and somewhat remodelled. When completed it will be handsome in appearance as well as more convenient for lodge purposes.

Christian Endeavor Convention.

A meeting was held at the Plymouth Congregational church of representatives of the Christian Endeavor societies of this side yesterday afternoon. A general committee was appointed for the reception and entertainment of the delegates and visitors who will visit here during the tri-county Christian Endeavor convention to be held on May 25. Miss M. Louise Williams was appointed secretary and Charles E. Daniels president.

The News in Brief.

The funeral of the young child of Mr. and Mrs. McLoughlin, of Scranton street, will take place this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Conductor Isaac Edwards, of this side, received a painful bruise on his foot from a flying switch while running a Providence car yesterday.

Co-Operative hall was being finely decorated last evening for the convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, Board of Erie, which will be held this afternoon and evening, commencing at 1 o'clock.

Benjamin Reynolds is ill at his home on South Main avenue.

Edison's photograph will be exhibited at the Summer Avenue Presbyterian church on Thursday evening, April 20, when Professor Boyer will give an entertainment.

Can you blame people for fairly crying for those handsome Multichromes?

TOLD IN POLICE COURT

Complaints Made Against Prisoners Given Hearings.

George Williams, aged 27 years, born in Scotland, and Peter Korman, an Englishman, were intoxicated on the streets at 3 o'clock yesterday morning and affectionately embracing each other. Officers Palmer and Rothman took them in tow and at yesterday's police court Mayor Connell sentenced them each to thirty days in the county jail.

John Reynolds, 35 years old, of New York city, who without visible means of support is touring for his health's sake, told Officer Schmidt in Center street at 3 o'clock yesterday morning he wished a night's lodging. Reynolds was accommodated with a bunk at the old station house. A short time later he was again found in the same hall-way in Center street very drunk. He had escaped by going into the cellar and out through a coal hole. He was given twenty days for trespass in jail.

John Kelly, of Pottsville, 24 years old, taxed the strength of six men to hold him while crazed from drink Monday night. His mother complained against him and the mayor gave him thirty days to become sober in jail.

Taylor has fixed the following dates for holding teachers' examinations throughout the county: Carbondale, Yarrington school, April 23; Meese Principal Davy's school, May 3; Meese Principal Joyce's school, May 12; Denton, Electricville school, May 16; Jermyn, graded school, May 19; Dalton, graded school, May 22; Newton, Newton Centre school, May 24; Archbald, central school, May 29; Elmhurst, graded school, May 29; Maccow, graded school, May 31; Blakely, Miss Kenyon's school, June 2; Scott, Brown Hollow school, June 6; Old Forge, Principal Coyne's school, June 9; Taylor, Principal Foley's school, June 15; Olyphant, central school, June 23; Dickson, Principal Lloyd's school, June 29.

The examinations will begin at 9 o'clock a. m. School directors are invited to attend them.

BROCH INSTANTLY KILLED.

He Was Trying to Alight from a D. & L. and W. Field Train. Elmer Broch, of Philadelphia, was instantly killed on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad at Adams avenue at 11:45 last night while trying to get off a freight train.

Broch and Charles Winkler left Washington, N. J., on a freight train at 7 o'clock last evening. When they arrived at the Lackawanna Iron and Steel company's store they made preparations to alight before the train should reach the station. Broch was a cripple and compelled to use a crutch. In attempting to alight near the Adams avenue bridge he fell under the wheels and must have been instantly killed. He was cut in two and his body dragged to the west end of the bridge.

As he fell he called the name of his companion, who was riding a few cars in advance. The latter, fearing an accident had occurred, jumped off and walked up the track until he found the body of his companion. The police were notified and the body removed to Rauh's undertaking establishment. Broch is a barber and formerly worked in this city. For the past six years he has been in northern Idaho, where he owns property. Two weeks ago he passed through this city on his way to his home in Philadelphia. He left there Sunday night in company with Winkler. Broch was 31 years of age. His father is a shoemaker in Philadelphia.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

Henry E. Dixey and Rice's big burlesque company will be the Frothingham theater this evening in the famous burlesque, "Adonis." Henry E. Dixey is a whole show in himself. His imitation of Henry Irving, which is by far his master impersonation and has never been equaled by any imitator, is particularly well received. The song, "It's English, You Know," being recalled again and again. It is doubtful if there is another comedian on the American stage who could step into Dixey's place and in so short a time assume such a variety of impersonations, as the marble statue of "Adonis," the chevalier, Henry Irving, Wilson Barrett as "Clive," the country girl and a dry goods clerk, a druggist, a Jew clothier, the barber, etc. Mr. Dixey seems to be just as popular with the theatre-going public as ever.

ALABAMA.

The success which Augustus Thomas' American play, "Alabama," which comes to the new Frothingham on Friday evening, has secured in every section of this country is probably without parallel. All northern critics have declared it the best American play yet written. What the south thinks of this noble work can be judged from the following extract from the Nashville Herald: "It is an epoch-making drama. The author is the first dramatist that has succeeded in depicting the smooth, even flow of southern life and in presenting characters that appear to be really to the manner born."

FIRE ON WEST MARKET STREET.

House of Joseph McNamara, with Furniture, Entirely Destroyed. A fire broke out in the house of Joseph McNamara, on West Market street near the North, at 9:15 o'clock last evening. An alarm from box 33 brought several fire companies to the scene.

The building, a two-story one, was almost wiped out of existence before assistance could be rendered. Two streams were turned on by the Cambria and Excelsior hose companies, but despite their exertions everything was destroyed.

Every article of the household goods was burned up. The fire started in the kitchen and had got good headway before it was noticed. The loss which is considerable is partly covered by insurance.

The fire at McNamara's broke out a second time, with no apparent cause other than the first. The Cambria and Excelsior hose companies extinguished the second fire.

SKETCH IN RUTHER ROLE.

Fleeced Another Large Audience at Academy of Music. Thomas E. Shea was greeted by another large house at the Academy of Music last night. "The Son of New York" was the play produced.

It is of the sensational melodramatic order and received splendid treatment last night at the hands of Mr. Shea's company. As Gordon Maxwell, Mr. Shea showed his versatility and strength as an actor. Henry Tesse, Jere McAniffe, Joseph Green, Harry Brooks, Elmer Francis, Winfield Greene and Louis Perine proved by their clever work that they are competent delineators of character.

A TRIP

NOTES OF SOUTH SIDE

Some of the New Policemen Needed Badly on the South Side.

TO PUT A STOP TO ROWDYISM

Which is Assuming Alarming Proportions—No Fault of the Present Policemen—Rev. E. L. Santee Will Guide the Cedar Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church Flock for Another Year—Personals and Other News.

It is expected that at tomorrow night's meeting of the select council the names of the new police officers will be read, and it is also further hoped that the police authorities will not forget the South Side in the selection of the new officers to positions. The disregard for peacefulness among the rising youth on the South Side was never before equalled; and as a consequence the pedestrians are correspondingly subject to all manner and form of insults. This occurs after dark. There are spots along the main highways that it is unsafe to pass. This condition is not due to any remissness on the part of the present system of patrolling. There are not enough of officers and they cannot be blamed for not being everywhere at the same time. Some of the black spots are Prospect avenue in the Twelfth ward, Pittston and Birney avenues in the upper end of the Twentieth ward, running to the city line, and Washington avenue in the Eleventh ward.

Funeral of Peter Keib.

The funeral of Peter Keib, at 722 Pittston avenue, yesterday afternoon, was one of the largest since the death of the informant of Stephen Guiseppe, May Ang tribe, No. 140, Improved Order of Red Men, the Scranton Sacerdote, the Kreisgerverein and the Haymakers attended the obsequies in a way. Among the numerous beautiful floral offerings was a pillow of flowers, with the inscription "Our Brother," presented by the Haymakers. Rev. August Lange of the Hickory Street Presbyterian church conducted the services and preached an eloquent discourse. The cortege that wound its way to Pittston Avenue cemetery was over three-quarters of a mile long. This funeral was death's first invasion into the ranks of the Kreisgerverein; and members of that society, in new uniforms, fired a farewell salute of twenty-seven guns at the grave of their departed brother.

Rev. E. L. Santee Retained.

In the list of appointments to ministerial fields of the recent Wyoming conference it was observed that no change was made by Bishop Hurst in the pastorate of the Cedar Avenue Methodist Episcopal church. It is no less a tribute to the pastor, Rev. E. L. Santee, than it is a gratifying recognition to the congregation of the church. Rev. Mr. Santee has endeared himself to the heart of every member of his congregation, and has commanded the respect and good-will of those of different religious beliefs with whom he came in contact. It is to be hoped that he will be spared many years of usefulness.

Miss Westcott, Monologue Artist.

Miss Adelaide Westcott, one of America's best monologue artists, gives, as a favor to the South Side Young Women's Christian association Friday evening the monologue "New York," which was written expressly for her use by Charles Barnard, and is by far the best one written by him. Miss Westcott is graceful and wonderfully pleasing in her recitations. Too much cannot be said of this pleasing entertainment, and none should fail to see it. Tickets may be had at the rooms or from members who are selling them.

News Notes and Personals.

The condition of Mrs. Mary Fasshold, of Greenwood, remains unchanged and it is feared her death is but a question of a week at the utmost.

Thomas Garvey, of Cedar avenue, is out of doors again after a severe illness.

The funeral of Thomas J. Connell will proceed from the family residence to St. Peter's cathedral at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning.
