Scranton's Business Interests.

The Tribune will soon publish a carefully compiled and classified list of the leading wholesale, banking, manufacturing and professional interests of Scranton and vicinity. The edition will be bound in book form, beautifully illustrated with photographs views of our public buildings, business blocks, streets, etc., together with portraits of leading citizens. No similar work has ever given an equal representation of Scranton's many industries. It will be an invaluable exposition of our business resources. Sent to persons outside the city, copies of this handsome work will attract new comers and be an unequalled advertisement of the city. The circulation is on a plan that cannot fail of good results to those concerned as well as the city at large. Representatives of THE TRIBUNE will call upon those whose names are desired in this edition and explain its nature more fully.

Those desiring views of their residences in this edition will please have notices at the office.

NEWS OF WEST SIDE

Bidding Adieu to the Washburn Street Presbyterian Church.

OLD BUILDING TO BE TORN DOWN

Michael Nee, of Luzerne Street, Arrested for Abusing His Wife—John Tierney Injured by Being Kicked by a Mule—James Dunleavy Severely Injured—Personals and Many Brief Items of News.

The West Side office of the SCRANTON TRIBUNE is located at 180 Jackson street, where subscriptions, advertisements and communications will receive prompt attention.

The festivities at the Washburn Presbyterian church last evening were one of the memory of which will long remain in the hearts of the members. As stated in THE TRIBUNE before, the building is to be torn down to make way for a new and magnificent structure. Yesterday morning at 10 o'clock a number congregated in front of the church and it was sold at auction. The bidding was rather low and the church was given to J. D. Williams for the sum of $55. The last evening in the old church was spent delightfully. At 6 o'clock a supper was held, which most of the members attended. At 8 o'clock the social began. The church, despite the liveliness of the place, presented a gruesome appearance. The seats and carpets had been removed, giving the building a somewhat desolate appearance. At the close the old bell which had tolled out so many years was rung for the last time in the old place.

Michael Nee, of Luzerne street, was arrested yesterday by Constable John Davis on a warrant sworn out by his wife and issued by Alderman T. T. Morgan, of the Fifteenth ward. Nee has been in such predicaments before. He abuses his poor wife in a shameful manner, especially while under the influence of intoxicants. She appeared in the alderman's court with blackened eyes and her face was lacerated badly. After a hearing Nee was sent to the county jail to await the coming term of court in default of $200 bail. This is his third offense.

John Tierney, of Luzerne street, was seriously injured yesterday morning while at work in the Oxford mines by being kicked by a mule. Tierney is about 41 years of age, but drives an animal of a most vicious nature. When the mule kicked him the car was in motion, and Tierney was dragged several yards. He was picked up in an unconscious condition and removed to his father's home. His head was badly cut and he was otherwise injured. Dr. Carroll was summoned and attended the wound.

James Dunleavy, of Fifteenth street, employed as a driver in the Central mines, was painfully and perhaps seriously injured yesterday while at work. Dunleavy was standing on one of the tracks so numerous throughout the mine when a car came past, and before he could get to a place of safety, he was knocked down. The wheel of the car made an ugly gash over the right eye, and his head is badly bruised. Dr. Carroll is attending him.

Frank Sletter, proprietor of the Sletter house on North Main avenue, is having the pioneer hotel of the West Side, in having the house entirely renovated. New paper will be placed on the walls and the bar will be remodelled.

Daniel Mohr, of Philadelphia, is the guest of relatives on North Summer avenue.

Miss Anna Jones and Freda Rosen, students at the Bloomsburg State Normal school, have returned to their studies after a visit at the home of Contractor William R. Williams, of South Main avenue.

A meeting of Robert Morris lodge, Order of Iovites, was held last evening in Clark's hall.

E. L. Evans, proprietor of a store on South Main avenue, is having a new front put in his building. When complete it will be handsome in appearance.

Mrs. Patrick Moran, of Twenty-fourth street, underwent a successful operation yesterday by having the toes of her right foot amputated by Dr. Carroll. Mrs. Moran was troubled with a disease which made amputation necessary.

Miss Ethel Thompson, of Baltimore, is the guest of friends on this side. Ira Davies, of Washburn street, and Daniel Reese, of Fillmore avenue, have returned from a fishing trip to Gravel pond. They report a large catch of perch.

JEWISH WOMEN ORGANIZ.

Noble Principles That Animate Them in So Doing.

A large number of the best known Jewish women of the city met in the lecture room of the Linden Street temple last evening, and organized a Scranton section of the National Council of Jewish Women.

The purposes of the organization are to bring about closer relations among Jewish women, to furnish by an organic union a medium of communication and a means of prosecuting work of common interest; to promulgate united efforts in behalf of Judaism by applying means of study, and in behalf of the work of social reform by the application of the best philanthropic thought.

Rabbi Jacob Feuerlicht was chosen temporary chairman of the meeting which elected the following permanent officers: Mrs. Jacob Feuerlicht, president; Mrs. G. E. Ross, vice president; Mrs. Benjamin Sauter, secretary; and Miss B. Goodman, treasurer. Mrs. J. Freeman, Mrs. J. Kline and Mrs. M. Simmons were selected to comprise the executive committee. The meeting adjourned to meet June 15.

CONVENTION AT WILKES-BARRE.

Temperance Men Will Meet There Today and Tomorrow.

Today and tomorrow the annual convention of the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of the Diocese of Scranton will be held in St. Aloysius hall, Wilkes-Barre. It promises to be a very interesting meeting. The Scranton societies will be represented by the following: St. Leo's battalion, James McNamara, T. F. Kadgan, James H. Burnett, Father Whitely, S. H. Dugan, P. T. May; St. Paul's (G. R.), M. J. Melloy, T. W. Early; St. Paul's cadets, Martin Ferguson, F. D. Mahon; Father Mathew (Hyde Park); Father Mathew cadets, M. T.

Walsh, John D. Cronin; St. John's S. S., J. J. McGuire, W. H. Gavin; St. John's (Pine Brook), Timothy Burke, D. J. Cambell; St. Cecilia's Ladies—Maggie Burnett, May Hennigan; St. Paul's cadets, P. F. McCoy, Timothy McCoy.

THE HAND OF FATE.

It Was Produced by Miss Lester and Company at the Academy.

Miss Minnie Lester and her company gave "The Hand of Fate" at the Academy of Music last evening before a well pleased audience. During the performance Frank McNish and John A. Preston introduced their clever specialties. Tonight "Annette, the Dancing Girl," a drama of great merit, will be produced.

SOUTH SIDE.

The complimentary concert of Electric City Council, Royal Arcanum, at Germania hall last night was thoroughly enjoyed by a large assemblage of invited guests. The musical and literary programme, as it appeared in THE TRIBUNE, was followed in every detail. The principal event of the evening was the address of Dr. E. D. Doolittle, of Easton, Pa., on the "Royal Arcanum for Pennsylvania." Dr. Doolittle is an eloquent and forcible speaker and the large audience was carried away with his oratory. His theme was not entirely given to the history of the society; he spoke of public questions as well, and also frequently compelled his hearers to lose their gravity by his sharp wit and unaffected humor. It was close to midnight when the entertainment ended. Refreshments were then served, after which the guests left for home.

Patrick Finney Injured.

Patrick Finney, of Stone avenue, a young man employed at the South works, received a severe injury yesterday while at work. He was employed in running the bargies of iron on the elevator in the converting department. One of these bargies loaded with pig iron, which had been hoisted to the charging floor, was left standing near the mouth of the elevator shaft, and some one incautiously in manner lit a gas running back until it reached the opening and went peep-mail to the bottom. Finney was at the foot of the shaft and before he could get to a place of safety, one of the iron bars struck him on the face. He did not get struck severely. The bar grazed his cheek and tore a big gash in it. He was taken home and Dr. Manley dressed his wounds.

Have Secured a New Horse.

The William Connell Horse company has at last secured a new horse. Yesterday afternoon Liveryman Frank Scott sold to the company a big gray, weighing 1400 pounds. The amount paid was $150. The harness which was used on the other horse is too small to fit the new one, and it could not be hitched to the horse carriage yesterday. Foreman Andrew J. White, one of the most practical horsemen in the city, however, spent the afternoon in trying to educate the animal to rush under the harness at the sound of the alarm, and was quite successful. The William Connell will now be able to respond to calls equal to the speed and promptness of other companies.

Shower Parasol.

Patrick Kain, of Bellevue, and Miss Mary Sheridan, of Stone avenue, will be married this afternoon at 4:30 in St. Peter's cathedral.

George Hays, of 342 Birch street, and Miss Lizzie Davis, of Wood street, were married on Monday afternoon at the home of Mr. Gredley's parents. Rev. Mr. Zitzmann, of the Millin Avenue Lutheran church performed the ceremony. A meeting of those opposed to the sewer in the Twentieth ward was held last night in Frank Mueller's hall on Prospect avenue. John C. Laywell was in the chair and Charles K. was recorded. The minutes of the meeting, a good deal of talk was indulged in and finally the meeting broke up in a confusion.

THAT FAMOUS ROSS CASE.

It Will Probably Be Tried at Pittsburg Today.

It is expected that the trial of the case of the government against Jennie Ross, of this city, charged on six or seven counts with sending obscene and threatening letters through the mails, will be called for trial at Pittsburg this morning. The case was awakened upon interest in the Spooky City. Miss Ross is quartered with her step-father at the Central hotel and Miss Jennie Ross is a guest at the same house. A capias was issued for Jennie Ross last week, but she had started for Pittsburg before the document was received in this city.

Miss Ross was taken seriously ill at her hotel on Sunday and a doctor summoned. She was much improved Monday, and it is thought will be able to go today to testify.

Miss Ross will be defended by Attorney W. W. Watson, of this city. She will deny that she wrote the letters.

DEATH OF A J. MAHON.

The End Came Yesterday After Two Months' Suffering.

Andrew J. Mahon, of 509 Third street, who conducted a grocery and lively business in this city for over thirty years, died at his home yesterday after a two months' illness. Mr. Mahon was a thrifty business man and amassed considerable wealth. He was about 55 years of age and for the past few years had been in poor health. The funeral arrangements are not yet completed.

DEATH OF MRS. BRIDGET O'MALLEY.

She Died Last Night After a Painful Illness.

Mrs. Bridget O'Malley, aged 54 years, wife of Michael O'Malley, of 670 Wyoming avenue, died last night shortly before midnight. She was a sister of Rev. J. J. Carner, of Forest City and of Sister Li-gouri of the Immaculate Heart of St. Cecilia's convent.

Arrangements for the funeral have not yet been completed.

A Delightful Entertainment.

On Thursday evening one of the brightest and most interesting entertainments will be given in the lecture room of the Elm Park church. It will be an evening of rare interest. General and Mrs. Tom Thumby, together with an original recital by the talented Miss Norton, will be among the attractions.

C. M. DELONG ON TRIAL.

The First Indictment Against Him Is All That Will Be Tried This Term.

THE COMMISSIONERS WERE NAMED

Attorneys W. Gaylord Thomas and W. W. Baylor Appointed to Conduct the Twelfth Ward Councilmanic Contests—The Jury Disagreed and Was Discharged—A Spicy Peckville Case on Adjournment.

The first of the series of indictments charging ex-Alderman C. M. DeLong with malfeasance in office was taken up in court room No. 1 yesterday afternoon, Judge Sittler occupying the bench.

County Detective John J. Shea was the prosecutor, and District Attorney Kelly opened the case for the county. DeLong was represented by Col. F. J. Fitzsimmons and John P. Scragg. He is charged with securing unlawfully the sum of 70 cents from the county by making false returns. In 1891 Jacob Ziegler, of the Eleventh ward, swore out a warrant before C. M. DeLong, who was at that time alderman of the Eighth ward of this city, against Daniel Hayes and his two daughters, Katie and Mary Ann, on account of some trouble that arose between the parties.

A day was set for the hearing in the case and Hayes and his daughters with their witnesses, were on hand. They waited some time beyond the hour set for the hearing, but Ziegler, the prosecutor, did not put an appearance. Accordingly DeLong dismissed the case, placing the costs on the prosecutor.

Several witnesses were called yesterday who swore that there was no testimony whatever taken by the alderman in the Ziegler case, but when the transcript of costs was returned to the commissioners there was an item of 70 cents charged by De Long for his fees swearing seven witnesses at the rate of 10 cents apiece.

De Long claimed that his clerk, a young man named Judge, was instructed with the filing out of the transcript and that he left such matters entirely in his hands. That was the reason of the error, if there were any, in this case.

All the evidence was in when court adjourned, and the attorneys will address the jury this morning.

OTHER CASES IN COURT.

The case of Martina Giarre against Clementina Marisano was finished before Judge Sittler at noon, and the jury retired to deliberate on it. When court adjourned, the jury returned a verdict finding the defendant guilty of immoral conduct and the jury discharged.

Before Judge Savage in court room No. 2 the first case was that of Christian Schuler against August Blackenberg, charging assault and battery. The case was submitted to the jury without argument.

After considering the case for three-quarters of an hour the jury returned a verdict of not guilty and placed the costs on the prosecutor.

Robert C. Willis was next called to tell why he offered insult to the body of Fred W. Stegman, Assistant District Attorney O'Neill was for the Commonwealth and E. C. Newcomb for the defendant.

Stegman was not on hand to prosecute and he will be required to settle the costs.

A FEW VILLAGE SCANDALS.

The next case was that of Alice Farr against Charles Woods, charging seduction and also the accompanying charge of carrying concealed weapons. Miss Farr, who is a pretty and intelligent young woman of 18, was put on the stand and she told the story of her relations with Woods.

When she first met the defendant, he came to her at the home of a man named McElroy living in Lehighville, at which place she was employed as a servant girl.

She became acquainted with him in three days and went to a picnic of their father's home at night, she swears that Woods became intimate with her, promising to make it right by marriage.

Subsequent to this date Woods visited her at her father's home in Peckville, where he was received by the family as her accepted lover. A date was set for the marriage, but the night previous Woods asked to postpone the event for a week, which was agreed to by the girl's father.

In the mean time the defendant married a girl from the south. He kept his marriage a secret, however, and one night while visiting the Farr residence a revolver dropped from his pocket to the floor. It was admitted by the prosecution that he did not point the weapon at any body in the house. The case was on at adjournment.

THE JURY DISAGREED.

The jury engaged in the case of the young men Munley and Gibbons, indicted for larceny at the instance of Liveryman Peter, of Clearfield, could not agree and Judge Sittler discharged them from further consideration of the case. It was learned that the jury stood four for acquittal and eight for conviction.

John Dent, who was convicted of threatening to kill Thomas Fawcett, both of Middletown, entered bail in the sum of $20 to keep the peace for one year. Martin Woyshner became his bondsman.

Court yesterday appointed W. Gaylord Thomas and W. W. Baylor commissioners to take testimony in the Twelfth ward councilmanic contests.

To Our Patrons.

While our store room will not be completed before June 1, we have as it is a great deal more room to do business and will endeavor to give our patrons the service they desire. We are very grateful for the very large patronage extended over since our fire, and propose in our present quarters to demonstrate fully that they can buy their supplies from a neat, clean store just as cheaply and with a great deal more pleasure. Our entire stock is new. Never in the history of the country were goods so low. Families, hotels and boarding houses buy of us as cheaply as from any New York wholesale house if they desire goods in quantity. We want to thank our patrons throughout North-eastern Pennsylvania for their confidence and liberal patronage and we intend to demonstrate that while we will have the handsomest store in the state, it will be conducted on such business principles and in such a liberal spirit that we will continue to grow and keep pace with this magnificent city.

MR. ALEX. PHILLIPS

A FINE GAME EXPECTED.

Cornell Will Meet Lehigh in This City Saturday.

College men are expecting one of the closest games of the season between the nine of Cornell and Lehigh next Saturday at the Scranton base ball park. Early in the season the Cornell boys went to the training table, besides doing active work in the gymnasium. Their recent victories over Amherst and the university of Pennsylvania make those formidable contestants for Lehigh's nine.

The Lehigh men however, are well equipped to meet any team and they have defeated Lafayette.
