NEWS OF WEST SIDE

Children's Day Appropriately Observed at the Churches.

DESCRIPTION OF SERVICES

Funeral Services Over Remains of Mrs. David Thomas Conducted by Rev. J. G. Evans—Prominent West Side Ladies Who Will Make a Visit to Wales—Minor News Jottings and Personals and Notes of Interest.

The West Side office of the SCRANTON TRIBUNE is located at 118 North Main avenue, where subscriptions, advertisements and communications will receive prompt attention.

Children's Day was appropriately observed yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock in the Simpson Methodist Episcopal church. The large auditorium was well filled and around the pulpit was placed a large embankment of flowers, which sent forth a sweet odor. The services opened with singing of hymn 179, and was followed with responsive reading. The choir under the leadership of Professor William Jones rendered the anthems "Deum Laudamus." A recitation, "Mother Earth's Address," was flayed given by members of the infant class. A dialogue followed. It was entitled "Names of Flowers," and was given in a cute manner by eleven little girls arrayed in snowy white costumes. Hymn 185 was rendered. The infant class rendered the song, "We are Little Gleaners." Baptismal services were then held, and the pastor, Rev. L. C. Floyd, christened twenty-four persons. Walter Smith gave a recitation, "The Future Church." A feature was a selection by a trio consisting of Miss Cora Stornia, William Jones and Will Beck.

Miss Edith House, an abolitionist of marked ability, recited "The Legend of Sandolph." Bertie Williams recited the "Sabbath Evening Storm," and Bertha Carson gave a descriptive piece, "Neighbors." Rev. L. C. Floyd gave a fluent and able address on Education, which closed the services. The meeting was dismissed by singing hymn 230. The affair was under the direction of Superintendent of the Sunday school, C. W. Lull.

AT SCRANTON STREET CHURCH.

The auditorium of the Scranton Street Baptist church presented an attractive picture yesterday morning, the occasion being the observance of Children's Day. Numerous flowers were artistically arranged along the windows, while a veritable embankment of potted plants surrounded the pulpit. Dr. B. G. Beddoe, superintendent of the Sabbath school, was chairman of the exercises. The services opened at 10:30 o'clock with an anthem, "O Worship the King," by the choir under the leadership of Thomas G. Evans. Scripture readings followed. Many excellent solos and recitations were rendered by the older members of the school.

The most interesting feature of the day was the work of the infant class under the instruction of Miss Mattie Watkins. The primary exercises opened with an address by Miss Gertrude Powell, and was followed by the recitation, "God Made All," by Miss Annie Jones. Those who gave recitations in that department were Gertrude Moore, Annie Jones, Edna Ainsy, Jennie Thomas, Belle Kelly, Bessie Grable, Annie Williams, Clara Carpenter, Bessie Oswald, Myrtle Tapp, Cora Tesoro, Minnie Russell and Jennie M. Davis. Declarations were made by the following: Philip Hutchinson, Arthur Kime, Cora DeLong, Russell Bush, Willie Morris, Norma Lord, George Hutchinson, Willie Oswald and Verne Vale. A beautiful solo was rendered by Annie Williams, entitled "A Little Child's Hymn."

The exercises throughout were of a very interesting nature. Dr. T. M. Seuderling had charge of the young people's singing.

It has been a successful one, and there has been a gratifying increase in membership since the doors of the institution were first thrown open to the public. As the college is not yet prepared to graduate any of its pupils, there will be no public exercises. This morning an address will be delivered to the pupils by Rt. Rev. Bishop O'Hara, after which they will disperse for the summer.

NOTES OF the Guard.

Colonel E. H. Rippl issued the following orders last Monday evening: HEADQUARTERS 18TH REGIMENT THIRD BRIGADE, N. G. P. SCRANTON, Pa., June 11, 1894. Regimental orders, No. 10. I. Private William J. McDonnell, Company C, is hereby appointed sergeant and principal musician, vice Ross Watkins, appointed quartermaster sergeant. He will be obeyed and respected accordingly. II. The commanding officer of Company C will drop Private William J. McDonnell from the rolls and send his descriptive list to these headquarters. By order of COLONEL, EZRA H. RIPPLE, W. S. MILLAR, Adjutant.

The following commissions were received at headquarters last Saturday: Captain William B. Rockwell, company H, to rank from December 18, 1888; Captain Montrose Barnard, company D, to rank from March 1, 1889; Captain Frederick W. Stillwell, company A, to rank from January 22, 1894; Second Lieutenant William H. Jessop, Jr., inspector of rifle practice, Third regiment, to rank from April 30, 1894; Second Lieutenant Claude C. Conking, battalion adjutant and to rank from May 8, 1894; First Lieutenant Herbert B. Cox, company A, to rank from January 22, 1894; Second Lieutenant Fremont Pickens, company D, to rank from January 26, 1894. The above officers were all examined before the brigade examining board a few days ago and all passed a very creditable examination.

The following circular from the adjutant general's office will be of interest to every member of the regiment: HEADQUARTERS N. G. P. SCRANTON, Pa., June 11, 1894. Circular No. 1. Some slight changes have been made in the button for the National guard, and that all may be uniform, a sufficient number of buttons to replace those now on the uniforms have been sent to the different organizations. They will not be charged against the annual allowance. The commanders of the different organizations will see that the buttons sent them are put on the uniforms, and that any new uniforms that may hereafter be manufactured have only the latest pattern of button thereon. By order of ROBERT E. PATRICK, Governor and Commander-in-Chief. W. W. GREENLAND, Adjutant General.

The battalion drills the past week at the Armory were very successful taking into consideration the limited room the band box of an armory affords. Tuesday night Companies A and D formed the Battalion and Friday night Companies B and C formed the battalion. The attendance of all four companies was unusually large which made the cramped quarters all the more difficult for drilling. The heat was intense, yet the men uncomplicatedly executed the several movements for the lesson in an intelligent manner. The lesson in an intelligent manner. Major Maties, assisted by his adjutant, conducted the drill. They are both painstaking officers who thoroughly understand every movement laid down in the lesson. Adjutant Millar witnessed the drill both evenings.

It is strange how some of our marksmen misunderstand or feign to misunderstand the rules laid down for qualifying. A member can practice at the range daily if he chooses, but when he signifies to the range master that he wishes to qualify his score made immediately after must be his qualifying score, and it is so recorded. No member is permitted to say or declare that he will not take that score but will try again in the hope of making a sharpshooter's score. The Thirtieth regiment does not make sharpshooters that way. It is a positive fact, however, that several other regiments in the guard manufacture sharpshooters' scores by a such a process—and even worse. A sharpshooter in the Thirtieth means a sharpshooter both in the adjutant general's report and at the range. ***

Company C will tomorrow night elect a captain to fill the vacancy recently created by the term of office of Captain Moir, and such other vacancies that may occur by reason of such election. Captain Moir is not a candidate for re-election. He will undoubtedly be succeeded by his gifted first lieutenant, H. B. Chase.

Colonel Courson goes to Cottage City this week. Happy colonel! Colonel Rippl will conduct an election for colonel of the Ninth regiment at Wilkes-Barre next Friday evening. Major Whitney and Adjutant Conking go to Montrose tonight to conduct an examination for non. coms. warrants in Company G. ***

ALL KEPT THEIR WORD

Druggists Did Not Dispense Soda Water or Cigars. MUCH BEER AND LIQUOR SOLD. No Trouble to Obtain It if You Were Acquainted or Had Some One to Vouch for You—Some Saloon Keepers Had Watchmen at the Doors and Others Gave Keys to Customers.

If the saloon men yesterday got the tip to lay low like brer rabbit, they evidently took no exceptions to the touting, for they did lay low and were extremely cautious about selling liquor to strangers. But they did sell it—oceans of it, more perhaps than on any Sunday since the Sabbath observance movement was inaugurated. The druggists, however, stood by their expertly prepared bait. General retailing of soda water, cigars and other commodities. Mineral water, though, was sold and drank in large quantities.

The rushing business transacted by the liquor men was thought to be due to the lack of the absence of the accustomed soda water. Their vigilance was caused by the announcement that detectives had been employed by the Pastors' union and that since the trouble with the druggists had in a measure ceased, the Pastors' union would proceed to devote its attention to saloon keepers. MANY PLACES OPEN. Whatever the detectives may have accomplished, if they work at work, will come out to-morrow, the regular information day of the Union. They certainly had plenty of opportunity for spying upon the saloons. Many of the drinking places dispensed the inebriating fluid without restriction if the buyer was known or had a friend to vouch for him. Some of the saloons had watchers at the same old side door and nobody was admitted to the interior unless known or accompanied by a friend. In many cases the thirsty had to undergo a further scrutiny at the bar, and if the foxy dispenser of cocktails or the detected something queer, his disappointed thirsty man was refused with the explanation that no intoxicants were being sold. In such a case no amount of reasoning or persuasive power would the unpractical white-coated gentleman from his decision. CUSTOMERS HAD PASS KEYS. Another method was employed by several saloon men. During Friday and Saturday keys were distributed among the select, that is the habitués of the place. This anyone who gained access was probably known. In these saloons, also, a watchman was employed to guard against any mistake of the bartender, but it has not been learned that any save the select gained entry under this method.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

A Tribute to the Late Oscar Sammer. Editor of THE TRIBUNE: DEAR SIR: Permit me, a friend of the late Oscar Sammer of Little England, who was accidentally killed on the Erie and Wyoming Valley railroad on Thursday of last week, to tender a tribute to his memory. He was a young man of youth he has been called to a land more congenial to his noblest and beautiful character. Two weeks ago today it was my happy lot to meet him, and in our brief conversation he referred with youthful pride to his new position which he had recently acquired under the above company, and unquestionably by virtue of his exemplary and trustworthy character. The deceased was well worthy of the confidence reposed in him by his employer. Today the contrast is in the bloom of health and full of aspiration for the future, with scarcely the experience of eighteen summers. Today we behold the sympathy of a large number of friends in death, which was but a few days since jovial and in the enjoyment of his youthful companions today followed by them to their last resting place. The services of a large circle of friends, in the vicinity of his home neither ago or creed lament his going. Duties having brought us often together, it was my pleasure to recognize in him those who had endeavored him to all, combining a general and obliging character. While his parents brothers and sisters grief is inconceivable, they have the sympathy of a large number of friends to which must be added those holding prominent and minor positions under the company of which deceased served but so called by the deceased. It was laid to rest on Sunday afternoon following by many affectionate friends. To numerous ones who regret his going I desire to be included and bid him a tender farewell. These lines are affectionately subscribed by his friend FRED BARTSOLL, Dunmore, June 17.

S. B. DUNPHY, mate of steamer ARIZONA had his foot badly jammed. Thomas' Electric Oil cured it. Nothing equal 1 to 1 for a quick pain reliever.

DO NOT BE DECEIVED.

The following brands of White Lead are still made by the "Old Dutch" process of slow corrosion. They are standard, and always Strictly Pure White Lead. The recommendation of "Atlantic," "Beymer-Batman," "Jewett," "Davis-Chambers," "Fahnestock," "Armstrong & McKelvey," to you by your merchant is an evidence of his reliability, as he can sell you cheap ready-mixed paints and bogus White Lead and make a larger profit. Many short-sighted dealers do so. Free Columbian National Lead Co's Pure White Lead Tinting Colors, a one-pound can to a 25-pound keg of Lead and mix your own paint. Saves time and annoyance in matching shades, and insures the best paint that it is possible to put on wood.
