David Whealan, of the South Side, and Miss Catherine Boland, of Minooka, were united in marriage yesterday afternoon in St. Joseph's church. Miss Kate Burns, of Irving avenue, was bridesmaid, and Martin Cannon acted as groomsmen. The ceremony was performed by Rev. D. H. Green.

A very pleasant surprise party was tendered to Miss Maggie McCray last night at her home on Main street, by her many lady friends. The party assembled at an appointed place and proceeded to the house, where dancing and other amusements were resorted to until a late hour.

One of the leading events of the social season occurred last evening at the home of Miss Anna Lovering, of Greenwood, in the way of a lawn party. The house was tastefully decorated and brilliantly illuminated for the occasion. Owing to rain the party was held indoors. The following are the names of those present: Misses Margaret Walsh, Margaret Barrett, B. McTige, May McTige, Margaret and Mary Geary, Hattie Evans, Martha Williamson, Lizzie McCourt, Nettie and Rose Grambs, Edith and Ida Barnes, Anna McGowan, Lizzie Lovering, Ida Cardwell, Dela Knapp, Ray and Jessie Morgan, Eliza Rawson, G. B. W. Doud, Harry Doud, Dave Lovering, Harry Cardwell, Dory Grambs, Fred Hollenback, Tom Murray, Samuel Mahedy, William Richards, William Rogers, Bert Towler, John Kelly and C. W. Gallagher.

The Marks on the Pillar.

At an old homestead in Plenix there is a piazza running along the house, and stout pillars are there at intervals to uphold the piazza. On one of these pillars is an autograph collection representing four generations of the family, besides the names of many who have been guests at the house. Opposite each name is a horizontal mark, which denotes the height of the person named there. When at times the old house has been painted the names and signs have been carefully retraced.

Away down at the bottom of the pillar are marks with quaint names beside them, where the little people measure the height of the dogs and cats of the place, and, like ascending steps, are marks and dates, year following year, of those whose stature was registered from time to time till manhood or womanhood was reached.

The other day there came over a kin of the family, who, forty years ago, stood up to be measured at the pillar, then he was a youngster, about a yard high, and there was the measure mark and the name, with the date, 1851. When the gray haired man looked at it he cried: "Why, you know I am a positive simpleton over this, but I can't help it. I go right back to the time when I stood there, and my mother bent over me and marked above my head that line, and wrote the words: then she said so gently, 'Sometime, when your head gets away up the post, you'll be a man and take care of mother, won't you?'"

Then the man dropped his head and choked up, while tears fell on his clasped hands. "And before I ever got to be more than a jannetson, she dominated her poor mother died. When I think of her, it is as she looked then, standing there, with a white dress on, and bending over me with the sweetest smile I ever saw or ever will see."—Providence Journal.

The Traction company sent a car over the new line from Wilkes-Barre to the West End yesterday. It reached here at 12:48, having on board Superintendent Graham, and J. D. Birmingham, of the Wilkes-Barre Leader. The trip was made in 38 minutes. Superintendent Graham in speaking of the trip, said it was merely a trial one to see if the road was in good condition. In response to the query as to when the road would be opened for traffic, and the probable cost of fare, he replied that he was unable to state positively. The car while passing along the route was hailed with cheers by large crowds of men, women and boys.

The Gazette of last evening devoted a column and a half space on the views of a large number of citizens regarding the proposed improvements. With one or two exceptions all, as was expected, were decidedly in favor of having the work done regardless of cost.

The feeling appears to be general with few exceptions. The chief point debated by many is an explanation from those supposed to be in a position to know how it is proposed to raise the amount of money between the actual cost, which a low estimate places at $74,000, and the $20,000 which it is conceded is as much as the council can lawfully borrow. If the committee can make a satisfactory explanation as to how they propose to do this, to the satisfaction of the public before election there is no question but the borough will go for the improvements by a large majority. If not it is doubtful if the movement will carry, as it is upon such an explanation that the question hinges.

Will Baby Get Through the Summer in Safety?

Many Little Lives Depend on Proper Diet.

Cholera Infantum is Most to Be Dreaded.

Lactated Food the Best Preventive Known.

Approaching summer casts its shadow on many a mother's heart. Every summer safely passed is a golden milestone in baby's life.

But think of the countless little lives that in June, July and August are to swell the list of infant deaths under five years.

How many a mother would like to hide her baby in her bosom till the danger is passed. But she must know that only intelligent, thoughtful care can keep the baby well.

High temperature with improper feeding now brings dread cholera infantum, diarrhoea and convulsions.

With the use of proper food, and there is nothing so absolutely good as lactated food, these dangers may be avoided.

Reports from homes all over the country, and especially from the large institutions where the great number of infants are kept, are of accurate judgment, show that babies thrive best upon lactated food.

The supreme importance of pure, nutritious nourishment, and the long study by many of the most prominent physicians in the country of infant disorders from mistakes in diet, led to the preparation of lactated food. Next to pure mother's milk, it is the most nourishing, strengthening, readily digested, and most palatable food that can be given a baby.

It more closely resembles mother's milk than any other food known. Its basis is sugar of milk, which is the basis of mother's milk. With this is combined the nutritive elements of wheat, barley and oats in such proportion as best meets the requirements of the rapidly growing child.

Baby must not only keep up strength and resist disease. When teething is added to the fretfulness due to hot weather many babies refuse all other nourishment except lactated food, which they take with a decided relish.

In the preparation of lactated food not only has absolute purity and freedom from possibility of contagion, as well as a remarkable nourishing power been secured, but also a pleasant taste that induces babies, especially when being weaned, to take food when nothing else will tempt them.

It is when the strength is not kept up and the child is allowed to grow nervous, thin and fretful that a slight increase in heat brings on the exhausting diarrhoea or fatal cholera infantum. No household where there are children should be a day without lactated food, especially in June and July.

With lactated food and a reasonable care in keep the baby's dishes carefully scalded, parents may watch baby with delight as it grows every day stronger and healthier.

Summer after summer testifies to the power of lactated food to make plump, rosy cheeks and sturdy little legs and arms and bodies, and days full of noise and glee and nights of sound refreshing sleep.

The prettiest babies are the healthy, chubby, rosy ones. Lactated food gives babies solid flesh and bones and saves their lives when threatened with wasting diseases. It is to be had at any drug store, and is so inexpensive that no mother need be without it.
