Mrs. Martha Roth, wife of Henry Roth, of South Main street, died very suddenly at 9 o'clock on Wednesday night. She had been about the house working a few minutes before her death. Feeling her sickness approaching she summoned her family and bade them good-bye. Her husband ran for Dr. Van Doren, but before he returned she was dead. Death was due to heart failure. Mrs. Roth was formerly Miss Martha Ott, a sister of Henry Ott; and also of the late Peter Ott. She was born here and spent all her life among our people by whom she was held in the highest esteem. She was a kind neighbor and devoted mother and wife. She is survived by her husband and seven children, the eldest being about 30 years old. Her funeral will take place at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Services will be held at the house by Rev. Mr. Shaw and interment will take place in the Protestant cemetery. Mrs. Roth's death occasions great sorrow to those who knew her and much sympathy is felt for her afflicted family.

PITTSION.

The directors of the Miers' bank have awarded the contract for the erection of their new building to E. T. Long, of Wilkes-Barre, for $38,073. The following proposals were received from prominent contractors and builders in the valley: E. T. Long, $38,073; William O'Malley, Wilkes-Barre, $41,500; W. H. Sheppard & Son, Wilkes-Barre, $39,930; J. A. Schmitt, Wilkes-Barre, $40,340; Conrad Schraus, Scranton, $40,980; J. B. Wolsey, Scranton, $38,913; Mr. Long being the lowest bidder was awarded the contract. His bid, however, does not include the heating apparatus, gas fixtures, plumbing, elevator and the deadening of the different floors, which, it is claimed, will make the cost of the building when finished, ready for occupancy, $50,000. Contractor Long will begin work on the new building next Monday morning, the first move in that direction being the securing of a clerkship in the local company's old office. It is expected that the building will be ready for occupancy by Jan. 1, 1895.

INFANTS ARE STARVED.

Babies Die from Want of Proper Food. Parents' Neglect Keeps Up the Fearful Infant Death Rate in July—Use Lactated Food.

Parents do not understand how completely the lives of their babies are in their own hands these hot days. Starving the babies is a harsh phrase to use in speaking of fathers and mothers. But this is what exact scientific men call it. Parents must use their utmost intelligence if baby is to get safely through the summer. Cholera infantum never attacks properly nourished children, no matter how heated the season. Only the weak, drooping babies succumb to summer complaints.

At the country house of fully nourishment, indigestion or diarrhoea, the prudent mother will look after baby's diet. If she is trying to nurse baby herself through the hot summer, she will make sure that her milk is capable of fully nourishing the little one. But if she finds that baby is getting thin, lactated food should be given either as an additional nutriment or for a complete diet.

No less an authority than Dr. Guernsey, the senior editor of the New York Medical Times, says that he uses lactated food with children. He says it is pleasant to taste and easily assimilated. The famous Dr. Agnew, as is well known among physicians, was one of the first to publicly recommend the food. Dr. J. Lewis Smith, perhaps the greatest authority in the country in the diseases of children, professor in Bellevue Hospital college, New York, also commends its use. There are hundreds of physicians in New England, says the Boston Journal, who prescribe lactated food invariably as the nearest approach to healthy mother's milk, and as a rich baby food that builds up the strength and bodies of young children and invalids.

Lactated food is an ideal infant nutriment. Babies like it. They grow fat and ruddy when fed on it as an exclusive diet. It makes the impoverished blood of young children strong, rich and capable of making growing bone and flesh. All fear of cholera infantum may be dismissed after baby is put on a diet of lactated food; for the essential elements of this dread complaint—impurity and lack of nourishment in the food—are absolutely removed. Mothers may sleep peacefully without fear of being awaked by a feverish cry by night that may tell of some grave intestinal disorder.

Babies fed on lactated food gain steadily in weight and escape summer sickness. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Soutar, who live on Campbell street, Sandusky, Ohio, owe their happiness to lactated food. They write:

"When our baby, Ruth, was sick there was nothing that would do her any good. The doctor advised the use of lactated food, and very thankful we are, for in a short time it worked wonders. She is now a large, healthy child. Her age is one year and four months. We are convinced that if it had not been for the timely use of lactated food our baby would have died. We now have another little one that we are raising on lactated food, and we have such faith in it, and we also recommend it to all our friends."

Minooka, and the Electric, of Taylor, at the Riverside grounds. Wynemo council, No. 53, Daughters of Pocolatans, Improved Order of R-4 Men, of Mosaic, will hold an ice cream social on Monday night, July 23.

Hon. John H. Fellows, candidate for congress, was in town on Wednesday. The people of this vicinity are unanimous for Fellows for congress and John W. Reese for recorder. Both have also been endorsed by the McKinley club for the nomination.

MINOOKA.

The school directors of Lackawanna township decided at a recent meeting to erect a school house in Minooka at a cost of $8,000, and they adopted the plans drafted by Professor L. H. Davey, principal of the Strick's Patch school. Mr. Davey is also an architect. The taxpayers of the rest of the township outside of Mosaic are complaining that it is an imposition on them to burden them with heavy taxes for the benefit of a district that in a few years may drift away from the township and form itself into a borough. Furthermore, it is argued that the school now at Mosaic is too valuable to tear down and also that it is as good as other communities are accommodated with. Court will be asked to issue an injunction restraining the directors from tearing down the old school and possibly from building the new one.

BARRING ANNOYING FIGHTERS. Boston Express. There is a growing sentiment among newspapers against publishing communications other than over the real names of the writers. The Allentown Leader, Scranton Times, Scranton Truth and Williamsport Times have adopted the rule. Writers of communications who hide behind a non-descript name are apt to become persons who also hide their faces when they strike a man in the dark does not cause them any compunction; nor does the responsibility of the newspaper for their work give them any concern. To throw out all communications which the writers will not consent to have published over their names might now and then prevent the appearance of some valuable article of public good, but this loss would be fully compensated by the barring out of a class of men who have no respect for decent journalism and who show no regard for the honor that the world would have existed between man and man.

IS A DOUBLE CRIME. Judge Crossen's Charge. Neither the torch of the incendiary nor the weapon of the assassin, nor the inflamed tongue of him who incites to fire and sword is the instrument to bring about reforms. To the mind of the American people, to the calm, dispassionate, sympathetic judgment of the race that is not afraid to face deep changes and responsibilities, there has, as yet, been no appeal. Men who appear as champions of great changes must first submit them to discussion—discussion that reaches not simply the parties interested, but the wider circles of society, and must be patient as well as persevering until the public intelligence has been reached and a public judgment made up. An appeal to force before that time is a crime, not only against the government of existing laws, but against the cause itself, for what man of intelligence supposes that any settlement will be made in a crisis of this kind under the light of the torch or the shadow of an overpowering threat?
