

Have You Seen the BROOKLYN BRIDGE YET?

It is well worth seeing, bringing to mind some of the artistic features of the World's Fair. The bridge is made of Castile Soap p. It is a pure White Castile, and is a floating Soap; made only from pure vegetable oils. We are selling it at the unheard of price, 2 Cakes for 5c.

We are enabled to put the Soap on sale at this low price by special arrangement with the manufacturer, who is anxious to introduce it to the trade in Scranton!

It is already having a big sale, and we may have to pull the bridge down in a few days in order to supply the demands; therefore, if you wish to have a look at it make your visit as early as possible. Bring the children with you; such a sight is always welcome to the little ones.

GORMAN'S GRAND DEPOT

Montrose.

Hiram Hibbard has been obliged to stop work on account of a badly swollen knee. George B. Twitch, deputy postmaster, and W. A. Tisworth, deputy postmaster, were honorably discharged from the Company G. N. G. P., on Monday last. The boys were obliged to give it up on account of their duties in the office. L. R. Herrick, of Nash, will spend Sunday next with his parents here. Dr. W. W. Smith attended the funeral of his brother in the South. Rob. Brown, clerk at H. P. Beada, is spending a two weeks' vacation at Blenheim, Hart Lake and other places. Mr. Beada gives each of his clerks a two weeks' vacation each year and pays them full wages during the time. A young deputy recorder has come to live with Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Tisworth. A letter from W. A. Noble, who is a missionary in Korea, states that the published accounts of the war in that country is greatly exaggerated, and also says that the Americans in Seoul are perfectly safe.

Olyphant.

Miss Mary Grimes, of Scranton, called on her sister, Mrs. Joseph E. Kennedy, yesterday. Miss May Wahl has resigned her position as stenographer in the office of Davis & Haupt, architects, of Scranton. A large crowd of young people from the West Side went to Lake Winola yesterday to make a visit of two weeks. Miss Parker, of Hyde Park, is visiting her parents, Miss Louise Davis, of Fourth Street. Mrs. J. W. O'Brien and Mary Clancy attended Father Melley's excursion to Farview Monday. At Burke, of Green Ridge, was in town yesterday. Mrs. James Feeley, of Archbald, is visiting her parents on Susquehanna street. A game of ball was played here on Tuesday between Montrose and Lehighville, resulting in a score of 14 to 17 in favor of Lehighville. The Montrose boys say the umpire did it. Our boys seem to have lost their nerve. The first of the season they played good ball and were successful in nearly every game played, but the tables seem now to be turned. The armory was filled with people last night to listen to Dr. Logan's lecture on Gettysburg. Every one was pleased, and the members of Company G know a good deal more about the place they are soon to visit than they did.

A Million Friends

A friend in need is a friend indeed, and not less than one million people have found just such a friend in Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. If you have never used this Great Cough Medicine, one trial will convince you that it has the most powerful curative powers in all diseases of Throat, Chest and Lungs. Each bottle is guaranteed to do all that is claimed or money will be refunded. Trial bottles free at Matthews Bros. drug store. Large bottles 50c. and $1.00.

Stroudsburg.

G. Claus, C. D. Arner, C. B. Bowman, C. A. Hank, formerly of the Yellow Jacket quartette, of Lehigh, were in Stroudsburg yesterday. Miss Edie Hank, of Scranton, is visiting Sheriff Kreago and wife. F. D. Fenner, of Allentown, is the guest of David Keller, of Main street. J. S. Staples, aged 57, employed in the ash and blind factory of William Wallace, died Monday morning. Mrs. E. W. Slack and Ida Slack, of Trenton, are being entertained by Mrs. M. M. Burnett, of Center street. Lewis Slutter, after spending a week at Scranton, returned home yesterday. J. H. Shotwell, of East Stroudsburg, is spending a couple days in Scranton on business. C. D. McKelvey, general superintendent New York, Susquehanna and Western railroad and Wilkes-Barre and Eastern railroad, was in town yesterday. H. E. Hibelman, a member of the senior class, Princeton seminary, arrived home yesterday to spend a week with his father, Rev. Mr. Hibelman. Harry Archibald, left yesterday for Massena. The shower Saturday afternoon did much damage throughout the county, especially in Smithfield township. Miss Edith Wedman, of Easton, is the guest of Loretta Snyder, of Lehigh. Miss Mamie Dunn, of East Stroudsburg, is in Scranton visiting friends.

Pittston.

The Mount Lookout colliery at Wyoming, operated by Simpson & Watkins, was the scene of an accident that came near proving fatal to Frank Ohlinski, aged 30 years, residing in Sturmerville, employed as a miner. He had prepared a blast for firing and after igniting it Ohlinski waited for the result, but upon its failure he proceeded to investigate. He no sooner did so than it went off with terrific effect. The flying coal struck Ohlinski on the back, face and body. The injured man was removed to the Pittston hospital, where proper treatment was given him. Yesterday Dr. Bevan, who has been the attending physician at the hospital during June and July, was succeeded by Dr. McFadden, who will officiate for the ensuing two months. Patients in hospital July 1, 20; admitted during the month, 17; cured and discharged, 30; unimproved and died, 0; remaining in hospital Aug. 1, 8; largest number any day, 24; smallest, 15; average number daily, 19; Catholics, 10; Protestants, 7; single, 19; married, 18; widowed, 1. The Gazette says: Tomorrow or Friday will probably see the electric cars on the East Side, the running to the center of town. The work of stringing the trolley wire began this morning, and by noon it was in place as far as the People's bank and center street, with the exception of a few connections. By night the work will probably be completed to the point above mentioned. For several days past a big force of men have been at work replacing the old cobbles along the sides of the track, and the street has been put in pretty fair shape as far as Water street. Manager Graham is in town this morning, and he said that just as soon as the street is cleared the cars will be run to the center of town. This evening the members of Company H, Ninth regiment, will appear in uniform at the armory at 8.30 o'clock, to hold an election to fill vacancies caused by the expiration of service of First Lieutenant M. J. Buckley and Second Lieutenant M. J. Brennan. A party of cock fighters from all parts of the county were present at the quiet presence of Avoca Tuesday and held several matches without being molested by the authorities of that sanctimonious borough. John Cowan, employed in No. 10 shaft as a miner, was injured by a fall of rock while at work yesterday morning. He was removed to his home on Butler street, where he is being attended to. He is summoned and made him as comfortable as possible under the circumstances. The following comprised a party of picnickers at Falling Springs, yesterday: Misses Nellie Albright, Anne Shelley, Lizzie Thorburn, Anna Bird, Francis Crawford, Marie Grube, Mary Wyke and Mrs. J. H. Davis; Messrs. David and James Moulton, William Bird, Herbert Bush, Alexander Bode, Seward and James. Frank Marriot, a Polish tailor, of George street, who has been showing signs of mental derangement for some time past, became violent Tuesday, and had to be locked up. Yesterday morning he was taken to the Holston Home. The coroner's jury empaneled to investigate the West Pittston shaft accident will meet at the shaft at 3 o'clock on Friday afternoon to begin the investigation.

Carbondale.

Last evening about 8 o'clock occurred the marriage of Miss Mary J. Thomas to Thomas Lewis, both of this city. The bride-maid was Miss Minnie Simmerel and the groom was attended by Thomas J. Thomas, brother of the bride. The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. E. Jepson of the Baptist church. The newly wedded couple will at once commence housekeeping in this city. Frank E. Lewis and family returned yesterday afternoon from Ocean Grove. During the month of July twenty-eight deaths occurred in this city. Mr. and Mrs. Christian Carlson, of Hopkinton, are mourning the loss of their son, Frank, a boy 5 years old. The funeral will be held this afternoon at 3.30 o'clock. Interment will be made in St. Rose cemetery. It was only last Friday when they buried their son, Christian. Miss Hattie Berry and Mabel Carr, of Canaan street, are visiting friends in Port Jervis.

Archbald.

Patrick Finnegan, an aged resident of this borough, died at his home on Rock terrace yesterday morning. Mr. Finnegan had been sick only since Sunday when he was obliged to go to bed owing to a severe pain in his side. He was a quiet and industrious man who was esteemed by everyone. He had lived in this borough for nearly forty years. He is survived by his wife and two daughters, Miss Maggie Finnegan and Mrs. James Fitzpatrick. His funeral takes place tomorrow. Miss Anna Connell and Calla Nellen left for Atlantic City, N. J., to spend a two-weeks' vacation. Mrs. Tom Burke, of Cherry street, is remodeling her house with a new coat of paint. Messrs. P. F. Cussick and M. F. Judge, who have been rusticating at Lake Ariel for the past week, will return home today.

Electric Bitters.

This remedy is becoming so well known and so popular as to need no special mention. All who have used Electric Bitters since the introduction of this pure medicine do not deny it is guaranteed to cure all that is claimed. Electric Bitters will cure all diseases of the Liver and Kidneys, will remove Pimples, Boils, Salt Rheum and other eruptions caused by impure blood. Will drive malaria from the system and prevent as well as cure all malarial fevers, torpidity of the bowels, constipation and indigestion. Try Electric Bitters—Entire satisfaction guaranteed, or money refunded.—Price 50c. and $1 per bottle at Matthews Bros., Drug store.

Buryea.

Misses Kane and Walsh, of South Scranton, are visiting friends here. P. J. Gilbey spent Monday at Priceburg. Sheriff Langa was at Scranton yesterday on business. Martin Foley, after spending several days with friends here, has returned to his home at Scranton. Miss Fannie Webber, the popular postmistress, will leave today on a two-weeks' trip to Philadelphia and Atlantic City. The merry-go-round came to town last evening and is located on Main street. Dan Richards has a carbuncle on his arm. Miss Snow, of Taylor, was the guest of friends in town last evening. Mrs. James Bury, who has been returned to their home in West Pittston, after a pleasant visit to Mrs. Thomas Keating.

Honesdale.

William Muir, of Atlantic city, is spending a few days at his home here. A large number of Wilkes-Barre excursionists who were at Farview yesterday held Honesdale picnic. John Young, of West Pittston, was in town yesterday. Mrs. L. O. Rose, Martha Jenkins and Lucy Edgett left for Erie lake yesterday. A number of the Scranton Press Club were in Honesdale yesterday making arrangements for the special train from here to carry excursionists to their regatta at Lake Ariel. Fare for the round trip is 75 cents.

Peekville.

Marion Finch, of Canaan Corners, was a caller in town Tuesday. O. D. Secor, our tonorial artist, has removed his barber shop to the Dunlap building on Cemetery street. The Young People's society of the Methodist Episcopal church will hold an avoirdupois social on the lawn of C. C. White next Friday evening. Miss Anna Schaffer, of Varton, is visiting her sister, Mrs. V. S. Bloss. The members of James J. Starnes' Post 34, Grand Army of the Republic, are requested to be present at their hall next Saturday evening, as business of importance to the post will be transacted. The Grassy Island breaker worked seven days last week. J. G. Bell is digging the cellars for two tenant houses on his lots on Hickory street.

Minooka.

One of the most elegant and distinguished social affairs of the season was given by the members of Branch No. 184, Young Men's Institute, on Tuesday evening the lawn adjoining their rooms. A beautiful fountain stands in the center of the lawn, surrounded by a small basin of water. From the center of that stood a perpendicular pole about 100 feet high, with double cross bars at the top and beautifully decorated with fragrant flowers. From the end of each cross were suspended Chinese lanterns of varied hues. In the same manner near one end of the lawn stood a table containing the numerous fruits which were served by waiting waitresses. The whole was brilliantly illuminated with torches and gasolene jets and gave a most charming and fascinating appearance to the scene. A very merry young maid assisted in serving the menu and in making the affair a grand success. About twenty-five couples were present. They were the following: Mr. and Mrs. F. E. O'Hara, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Egan, Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Mulvihill, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Mulderig, the Misses May King, Maria Winters, John Egan, Cassy Shields, Hollera Eitz, Loughey, May Ryan, Anna Fitzhenry, Kate Connell, Anna Corne, Winnie Joyce, Kate Joyce, Elsie Kelly, Mrs. Annie Barrett, Anna Cusick, Mary Padden, Elia O'Hara, Anna Joyce, B. Beamish, Anna Beamish, Julia Grimes, Maria Nallen, Gella Nallen, Maggie McCreary, John Egan, Cassy Shields, Messrs. M. H. McDonough, M. C. Cusick, James Powell, Danie Sues, C. W. Gallagher, John Egan, H. J. Casey, John Casey, D. J. Quinn, John Thoma, Patrick Walsh, James Nallen, Thomas Connell, J. B. O'Malley, Andy O'Hara, Joseph Walsh, Patrick Cawley, William Kivlen, John Joyce, Martin McCreary, John Langan, Maloney and Graham orchestra furnished the music.

A "RUN DOWN"

"I can truthfully say that I believe your Golden Medical Discovery saved my life. When I began your treatment two years ago I had been given up by the doctor, and my friends had lost all hope of my recovery. I had suffered for years with torpid liver, I had chronic pleurisy and catarrh of the lungs, and I was tormented with hemorrhages—was confined to my bed, and was unable to do anything. A few days after beginning your medicine I could perceive a slight change for the better. In three months I felt almost like a new person. Yours very gratefully, Mrs. MARGIE DEAN-FORD, Williamsburg, W. Va.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

An apparently well-authenticated report says the construction proceedings instituted by the Cumberland Valley railroad company to obtain possession of a certain valuable section of the South Pennsylvania railroad route between Harrisburg and Riverton, located opposite Harrisburg, is the first step toward the consummation of a scheme to build a great railroad between the city and the coast. The suggested line is not in competition with the Pennsylvania railroad, but to form a part of its system. While it is not doubtless a project of the Pennsylvania railroad company to run its freight train into Harrisburg without passing through the Union station, there is nothing in the project to interfere with the existing railroad schemes. The building of such a line would develop a country rich in natural resources and the Pennsylvania Railroad company, in view of its great freight business, would find it advantageous to do it. If the route surveyed and partly built by the South Pennsylvania Railroad company be followed, the railroad line between Harrisburg and Pittsburgh would be lessened nearly fifty miles. The South Pennsylvania company was chartered nearly forty years ago. The building of the proposed line was begun several times, but it did not assume tangible shape until 1881, when the Vanderbilt interest secured control of the route. About $4,000,000 were expended in exploring mountains and purchasing rights of way, but the West Shore deal put an end to the colossal enterprise.

Forest City.

Professor J. L. Morgan was a caller in the city of Carbondale yesterday. Hugh McCollum, deputy internal revenue collector of this district, was in Forest City. A handsome oak advertising clock has been placed in the post office by Jeweler E. D. Bradley. The "old" revolve. A social was held by the Presbyterian church last evening. A slight change has been made in the time of the Erie "flyer." The following is a correct schedule of the arrival and departure of passenger trains from this station: Trains east, 8.30 a. m., 11.25 a. m., 11.27 a. m., 2.15 p. m., 4.35 p. m., 10.31 p. m.; trains west, 6.37 a. m., 8.40 a. m., 9.34 a. m., 3.16 p. m., 7.14 p. m.

Like a New Woman

I am feeling since I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, I was suffering from Indigestion, Catarrh of the Stomach, and other troubles. Several declarations have recently been made at various leading places in the region, the pith of most of which is that the people would have to work like white men hereafter, and that divers little privileges that the negroes have enjoyed as inducements to get themselves into the region, will be taken away in most cases. The negroes have changed markedly since their introduction into the region. They are no longer the idle, shiftless, and dishonest people who have brought in a great number of them, they have little or no individuality, and they all go together in any given direction. "I have perhaps seen as big a fool as any of the other operators," said he, "but I'm already satisfied that the negro, particularly the southern brand, will never do the work at the mines or in the fields in this region. Why they are the most trifling, mercurial, childish lot of fellows in the shape of men that I have ever heard of."

THE TROLLEY SOAP

In the first six months of 1894 only 625 miles of new railroad were built in the United States—distributed in twenty-three states. In twenty-five states no new miles of new track was laid. The 625 miles of new track was put down by fifty-one roads, showing an average addition to each of less than ten and one-third miles. This is the smallest amount of new track constructed in a like period in thirty years. In 1893, which was considered a very bad year, the new construction amounted to 2,265 miles, and in 1892 it aggregated 4,200 miles, while in 1887, it reached about 13,000 miles. The second half of 1894, if possible, less promising in this respect than the elapsed half of the year, is nevertheless the year 1894 will probably mark the minimum limit of railway construction in this country—at least for many years.

They are no longer the idle, shiftless, and dishonest people who have brought in a great number of them, they have little or no individuality, and they all go together in any given direction. "I have perhaps seen as big a fool as any of the other operators," said he, "but I'm already satisfied that the negro, particularly the southern brand, will never do the work at the mines or in the fields in this region. Why they are the most trifling, mercurial, childish lot of fellows in the shape of men that I have ever heard of."

THE TROLLEY SOAP

In the first six months of 1894 only 625 miles of new railroad were built in the United States—distributed in twenty-three states. In twenty-five states no new miles of new track was laid. The 625 miles of new track was put down by fifty-one roads, showing an average addition to each of less than ten and one-third miles. This is the smallest amount of new track constructed in a like period in thirty years. In 1893, which was considered a very bad year, the new construction amounted to 2,265 miles, and in 1892 it aggregated 4,200 miles, while in 1887, it reached about 13,000 miles. The second half of 1894, if possible, less promising in this respect than the elapsed half of the year, is nevertheless the year 1894 will probably mark the minimum limit of railway construction in this country—at least for many years.
