REFORM IN THE EMPIRE STATE

The Scales Have Fallen from the Eyes of the Voters.

A REPUBLICAN VICTORY SURE

Farmers Throw into Direct Competition with Canadian Produce Know Which Way to Vote--Not a Democrat Will Be Returned to Congress from Districts Above Harlem--Rural Citizens Have Had a Sufficiency of Free Trade.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.

CONGRESSMAN HOOKER, of New York, arrived in the city today to attend a meeting of the Republican congressional committee, of which he is a member. He is fresh from New York state and the convention which nominated Mr. Morton for governor. He has been through a number of the districts in northern New York, and in consultation with party leaders in that state, which renders his opinion upon the political situation valuable.

"I think it is very doubtful if the Democrats will be able to carry a single congressional district north of Harlem bridge," said Mr. Hooker today. "As to the situation in New York city and Brooklyn I am not very well informed, but I will carry twenty out of the twenty-four districts north of Harlem river. There is a possibility that Lookwood may save his district for the Democrats, but I would not be surprised to see the Republicans carry it."

"The Republicans of the state are united. This was demonstrated at the recent convention in Saratoga, and I have never seen a more enthusiastic or harmonious gathering of Republicans. On the other hand the Democrats are disorganized, there is a great deal of dissatisfaction among them, and there is no concealing the fact that they are disheartened at the outlook before them. Mr. Flower would have liked very well to have had a re-election, but he felt that defeat confronts the Democratic party, and he would not risk it."

Effects of the tariff bill are beginning to be felt already in northern New York. Even at this early date the farmers are feeling the ruinous competition which the new tariff law brings with Canadian products. The item of hay alone is a very considerable one in northern New York. There has been a very short hay crop this year, and accordingly the farmers should get a good price, but instead they have to meet the Canadian crop right in the Buffalo market, which is the market for all the rest of New York. Canadians have been expecting this and they saved their hay to rush it in under the new law. The farmers are feeling the effects of the law on other products and Democratic tariff reform is coming home to them with vengeance.

THREE MILLION A MONTH.

Amount of Treasury Expenses Exceeded Receipts. WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.--Two thirds of the month of September have passed and show that treasury expenses for the period named have exceeded the receipts by nearly $3,000,000, the figures standing: Receipts, $18,000,000; expenditures, $21,000,000. This difference will grow less as the month progresses, bringing the total amount together, even if the receipts do not exceed the expenditures, as all the heavy payments have been made.

The gold reserve has increased from $55,216,000 to nearly $58,000,000. This increase has come almost solely from the west, only $1,400 in gold having been received from custom dues at New York.

STEAMERS COLLIDE.

Disastrous Wreck on the Ohio River Near Pittsburgh. PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 21.--A disastrous wreck occurred today at Davis Island dam in the Ohio river, entailing a loss of several thousand dollars, as well as seriously impeding navigation. WANTED TO STAY TOGETHER.

Mrs. Belvecho Was Successful, but Her Husband Lives. WOUNDS ARE DANGEROUSLY CLOSE TO THE JUGULAR VEIN--Mrs. Belvecho Swallowed Carbolic Acid--Lower Part of Her Face Burned Brown. Her Husband Also Took Some of the Acid--He Is at the Hospital.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.--Two persons, husband and wife, attempted to kill themselves late this afternoon in their home at 84 East Tenth street. The woman succeeded and the man was taken to Bellevue hospital in a dying condition. The cause for the tragedy is a mystery.

The man is John Belvecho, an actor, and the woman was named Lilian, and the man was found dead and the man gasping for breath. His clothing was covered with blood which escaped from wounds in his neck. The woman's lips and the lower portion of her face were burned brown, as by the application of some acid. A busy survey of the situation led those who had entered to reach the conclusion that the woman had ended her life by swallowing a quantity of carbolic acid.

From the appearance of the man's lips he also had evidently taken some of the acid, but not enough to dispirit him. In his agony, and probably with a view to putting an end to his suffering, he had jabbed himself in the neck with a pair of scissors, which were found beside him, the blades covered with blood.

The wounds made by the scissors were dangerously near the jugular vein. AMERICAN MECHANICS. Resolutions Passed at the Lancaster Convention.

A resolution was also passed endorsing State Council No. 1, as well as a resolution to the River and Gallitzin school cases. NEWS FROM THE KOREAN LANDS

Reports of the Recent Naval Battle Are Somewhat Conflicting. JAPAN'S DOCK YARDS SUPERIOR

And It Is Thought the Mikado's Navy Can More Easily Recover from the Effects of the Engagement--The Chinese Made a Mistake in Hugging the Shore--The Subjects of the Emperor of the Flowery Kingdom Are Losing Faith.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21. THE Japanese minister here received an official cable message today from the Tokio government confirming the reports that the Japanese had lost no ships at the naval battle of Yalu, and briefly reciting the circumstances of the battle as given in the earlier unofficial reports.

The dispatch places the Chinese loss at four vessels sunk and one burned, and says the Japanese fleet was comparatively unharmed. The antagonism among all classes in Japan is stated to be very great. The dispatch adds that the Emperor of Japan, as chief patron of the Red Cross society in that country, is personally engaged daily with her court ladies in preparing bandages, lint, etc., for the wounded Chinese as well as Japanese engaged in the recent great battles of Ping Yang and the Yalu.

Secretary Gresham today received a brief cable message from United States Minister Dunn at Tokio, stating that the Japanese had gained an important victory in the engagement at the mouth of the Yalu river, but giving no details of the losses of ships or men.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 21.--A telegram received here from Kobe, Japan, today states the report, emanating from Chinese sources, that the Japanese lost three warships at the naval battle fought at the mouth of the Yalu river is correct. The names of the vessels lost, however, are not given.

MISTAKE OF THE CHINESE.

LONDON, Sept. 21.--Captain John Inglis, late naval adviser of Japan, comments on the report that the Chinese committed the mistake of hugging the shore in the recent naval battle. He says that the Chinese committed the mistake of hugging the shore in the recent naval battle. He says that the Chinese committed the mistake of hugging the shore in the recent naval battle.

The first point which is attracting naval attention is the great mistake the Chinese committed in not following Captain Mahan's fundamental rule not to hug the shore. At once after sighting the Japanese it was Admiral Ding's business to bring his ships into action, knowing that if he engaged in a serious battle there was no fear that the landing of the troops would be interfered with. The fatal idea of hugging the shore chiefly accounts for the Chinese loss.

It is noteworthy that the two heavy guns of the Chee-yun were disabled. These guns were placed in barbettes, close together on a deck. Yet a single shot upset the machinery and reduced the warship to the level of a small cruiser.

It is also clear that small cruisers of high speed are better than the heavy armored warships. The fleet which had the most battleships lost four of them, while the fleet which was all cruisers is reported not to have lost a vessel.

JAPAN WELL EQUIPPED.

The Chronicle this morning points out that the dock-yards of Japan are far superior to those of China, and that therefore the Japanese will be able to repair their ships more quickly than the Chinese. This will give her a distinct advantage in the future. It is safe to forecast also that the Lunans army landed by the transports on the Korean side of the Yalu river will surrender in a body after a short and ferocious defense. The paper adds that if the war continues at the present rate China will soon be compelled to seek terms of peace.

MRS. CAREY'S WOES.

Oscar Ehrsgood Beats Her and Caused Her Arrest. At 1 o'clock this morning Sergeant Davis and a squad of police made a descent on the boarding house of Mrs. Sarah Carey, on Franklin avenue, near Spruce street, and arrested the proprietress, Mrs. Dimler, Mrs. Sayers and a man who is known as "Cigarette" Kelly, for disorderly conduct.

Oscar Ehrsgood was responsible for the raid made by the police, but he succeeded in making his escape. Ehrsgood and Mrs. Carey have been good friends ever since the lady's husband died four years ago. The fact that Ehrsgood has a wife and family living at Dunmore did not prevent him from spending much of his time with the widow, who is fat but not quite forty.

Recently Mrs. Carey's furniture was sold by Constable Bates, and last evening Ehrsgood asked her to give him the receipt for it. She refused and he beat her. Before going to her house he called at the house of Mrs. Dimler, on Penn avenue, looking for Mrs. Carey. Mrs. Dimler told him that Mrs. Carey was not calling upon her whereupon he knocked her down and kicked her, she says. Over her right eye is a large lump and over the left a cut, she says. Ehrsgood is responsible for. She followed him to Carey's and was there arrested after the melee at that house which began as soon as he arrived.

Mrs. Carey was somewhat under the influence of liquor and at the station yelled in a frantic way. She declares that Ehrsgood robbed her of $700 and that she has been trying to break off with him for a year, but that he will not keep away from her.

HE HAD NO PULL.

Architect O'Rourke's Reasons for Retiring to Agricultural Pursuits in New Jersey. WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 21.--Ex-Supervising Architect O'Rourke is preparing a statement for the public giving the reasons of the friction in the treasury department which led to his resignation. He blames Logan Carlisle for the whole trouble. He says he had accepted the post of government architect to give him full control of the office as a workman could be expected to do good work only with his own tools.

He soon found, however, he declares, that the secretary's son controlled all the appointments in the office and that he had no influence in the selection of his own subordinates and that he was on this account unable to maintain an efficient force. His continuance under such circumstances had simply become impossible.

He said he would publish his letter of resignation and all the facts in the case for his own vindication. He will leave Washington for his New Jersey home tomorrow afternoon.
